Body Found by His Little Brother and Sister.

Lad Was Returning to His Home to Spend Sunday.

Believed to Have Been the Work of Drunken Tramps.

Samuel Jones, 32 years of age, and Emil Anteia, 24 years old, were arrested at Poplar, Wis., this morning under suspicion of having been connected with the murder.

These men were seen last evening boarding the train at Itasca, and the police sent their descriptions along the line, ordering that they be taken in custody if found.

The two were brought back to Superior, but as yet nothing has been discovered which would connect them with the horrible crime. They profess to know nothing about it. The only circumstance against them is that they were seen near the scene of the murder not long after it occurred.

An inquest over the body of the murdered boy probably will be held Monday, and a post mortem examination this afternoon.

One of the most brutal murders in police annals at the Head of the Lakes was perpetrated shortly before 6 o'clock last evening at Superior, when Rudolph Nelson, aged 16, a Blaine high school student, and formerly of Duluth, was shot down and his body thrown into a four-foot ditch near the railroad yards at Itasca, a supurb of Superior.

The boy attended school in Superior and lived two miles out of Itasca in the country. He was on his way home to spend Saturday and Sunday when the fiendish crime was committed. The discovery of the body was first made by his brother and sister, who were in the habit of meeting him every Friday afternoon to accompany him home.

Their attention was attracted to a trail in the soft sand which was smeared with blood showing where the victim had been dragged across the railroad tracks and tossed into the muddy ditch below. Recognizing the

SAY STRIKE IS AT END

French Goverment Officials Belittle the Labor Trouble.

Cabinet Approves the Dismissal of the Employes.

Paris, May 15.—The government today regards the strike of the government employes, particularly the postmen, as virtually ended. The bombastic speeches and resolutions delivered at the strikers' meeting of yesterday have had no sequel, and the threat of a railroad strike is considered as a pure bluff.

More strikers returned to work this morning. They entered the movement from professional viewpoints.

Moreover, the general federation of labor, perceiving that the psychological moment has passed and that the movement is doomed to failure, is no longer anxious to associate itself with a lost cause.

The cabinet today considered the strike of the postmen and approved the dismissal of 313 additional employes accused of inciting to revolt.

The text of a new bill definitely regulating the right of state employes to form associations, but specifically excluding the right to strike, will at once be submitted to parliament. Moreover, the cabinet has agreed to ask the senate to proceed to the consideration of the workmen's pension bill early in June.

According to official statistics, 331 postmen in Paris returned to work today. This leaves 1,917 still on strike out of a total of 24,406.

ROOSEVELT HAS BEGUN WRITING

Starts Series of Articles Describing His Africa Adventures.

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 15.—Theodore Roosevelt, who is a guest of George McMillan on the Ju Ja ranch, where he went from his camp at Machakos in the Athi river district, spent his first day on the ranch in his room resting. He has, however, begun work on a series of articles, describing his adventures to date.

Today Mr. Roosevelt continued writing and he also found time to visit parts of the estate and to discuss the prospects of sport with F. C. Selous, the well-known English hunter.

BAPTIST STUDENTS MARCH TO CONVENTION.

Louisville, Ky., May 15.—The presentation of the interests of the Southern Baptist theological seminary occupied chief place at the morning session of the Baptist convention today. The trustees and faculty with 320 students of the institution, marched from the school to the armory, where the convention is being held. The report offered by the board of trustees showed under the plan of raising a $600,000 endowment more than $250,000 in pledges had been accounted for.

HURT BY EXPLOSION

Painesville, Ohio, May 15.—Seven men were injured, four of whom may die, as the result of the explosion of a boiler on the steamer James H. Hoyt, three miles off shore, on Lake Erie today. The boat was on its way from Cleveland to Ashtabula to load.

Persons on shore noticed a vapor arising from the boat and, believing there had been an accident, obtained a physician and put out in a small boat. As they neared the steamer they were met by a yawl from the Hoyt, manned by sailors, who were in search of assistance.

BILL TO BE AS COMMITTEE WANTS

Senate Tariff Bill When Passed Will Have Slight Changes.

Washington, May 15.—The steel schedule was again before the senate today, and it is expected the action of that body in upholding the recommendations of the committee on finance in respect to the duty on round iron will be repeated when other paragraphs are voted on.

Each vote that is taken on the measure appears to verify the confident statement that has been made by Senator Aldrich and others that the committee is amply sustained by sentiment in the senate and that the bill, when completed, will be practically in the form the committee desires.

"BURNED AND BLIND," WIRES OPERATOR.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 15.—"I am badly burned and blind," was a message slowly ticked in the Panhandle railroad dispatcher's office at Logansport, Ind., last night from G. E. Frazel, an operator in a block tower near Marion. The dispatcher ordered a freight train to stop at the place, and the crew found Frazel suffering terrible agony from burns. He had been scalded by the explosion of a bottle of coffee he was heating on a stove, and had felt his way to a key to call for help. Frazel was taken to Marion, where today his physicians say they fear they cannot save his eyesight.

St. Paul, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The murder of Louis Arbogast, the wealthy butcher, who was found dying in bed at his home on West Seventh street, and whose wife, Mrs. Minnie Arbogast, is under arrest at the city hospital, continues a mystery so far as any actual confession is concerned. All the evidence is circumstantial, but so strong that the police confidently expect to connect the broken ends today. It is expected that there will be a full confession before nightfall.

Paducah, Ky., May 15.—In the presence of a great throng, a Confederate monument, surmounted by a bronze statue of Gen. Lloyd Tilgham, was unveiled today in Lang park.

The monument is to the memory of the Confederate soldiers and sailors, and is erected by the Paducah chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. The bronze figure is a gift from his two sons, Frederick B. and Sidell Tilgham of New York, who were present today. Henry H. Kitzon of Boston, who designed the figure, was also in attendance, as was Lloyd Tilgham Boyd of Milwaukee.

The principal address was delivered by Capt. William T. Ellis of Owensboro, Ky., a prominent Confederate veteran and former congressman, who paid high tribute to the soldiers who wore the gray, the Confederate daughters and the leader whose figure adorns the base.

CARS HANG OVER RIVER

Dozen Passengers Are Injured, But None Will Die.

Wabash Train Crashes Into a Steel Twin Bridge.

Kansas City, Mo., May 15.—It is believed that none of the twelve persons injured in a wreck of the Buffalo-Colorado limited passenger train, westbound, near Randolph, Mo., six miles northeast of Kansas City, last night, will die.

The train, which was Wabash No. 9, one of the first of the through trains to be used in the combination Union Pacific-Wabash trans-continental service, crashed into a steel twin bridge spanning what is known as the Rush river, a creek one mile north of Randolph. The bridge piers were undermined by recent high waters, and the fact that the train was proceeding with slow speed was all that prevented a greater disaster. The engine was nearly clear of the trestle when the structure gave way. The engine went down, landing on the bank of the stream. The mail car and the baggage car folded together and hung suspended over the river. The first passenger coach was thrown off the track and stopped, and this saved it and the cars that followed.

BALLOON SOARS; IS RAIN-SOAKED

North Adams, Mass., May 15.—With J. R. Baldwin and W. F. Whitehouse of New York, as passengers, and piloted by N. H. Arnold of this town, the balloon North Adams No. 1 made an ascension today. The netting, ropes and basket were thoroughly soaked from the heavy rain which fell during the night, making the balloon so heavy that the aeronauts were able to carry only four small bags of ballast.

The balloon started off in an easterly direction, but on account of the small quantity of ballast the aeronauts did not expect to remain in the air long.

DIES DISPROVING RUMOR OF DEATH

Man Hears He Is Killed, Then Actually Is.

Salinas, Cal., May 15.—Twelve hours before he was crushed to death beneath his overturned automobile, the rumor spread through this city that Percy Morse, a well known young seed grower, had been killed on the road between here and Watsonville.

Late yesterday, just twelve hours after the rumor was circulated, Morse was found fatally crushed beneath his wrecked machine.

He had driven into town in his machine to disprove the rumor.

After circulating about for some time to show his friends that he was really alive he departed alone in the car for Watsonville.

JAP AND BRITON GO ARM IN ARM

The Naval Celebration at Victoria Ends in Curious Parade.

Victoria, B. C., May 15.—The day's proceedings in Victoria to welcome the Japanese cruisers Soya and Aso closed at midnight with one of the strangest parades ever seen in Victoria. Four hundred bluejackets from the warships marched arm in arm with British bluejackets from the Esquimalt station and soldiers from the local garrison from the drill hall, where a smoker and concert was held, following the reception given to Admiral Ijichi, and to the officers and cadets by the Japanese colony.

New York, May 15.—Accompanied by a salute of thirteen guns, the blue ensign of Rear Admiral Caspar Goodrich, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, was hauled down this morning and the command of the yard turned over to Capt. Joseph B. Murdock. All the officers at the yard and the marine band will take part in the ceremony.

PRICE MOVEMENT VERY NARROW

Stock Market for the Week Was Animated, However.

New York, May 15.—The week's stock market, while animated and making an appearance of great stength at intervals, has been really irregular and the average price movement has been narrow.

The coalers and a wide variety of specialties have supplied the sustaining influence, under cover of which there has been extensive realizing effected. Sentiment over the business outlook has been confident and hopeful and was confirmed by metal trade conditions, the volume of bank clearings, increasing supplies of mercantile paper offering to bankers and weather propitious to crop prospects.

The realizing is prompted by the high level to which prices have attained and by the prospect of diversion of banking facilities from speculative employment to uses in commerce.

HUGE TOBACCO GIFT TO NATIVES

Kermit Roosevelt Took a Record Breaker Along With Him.

New York, May 15.—The largest shipment of tobacco ever taken from America for the personal use of a traveler was that taken by Kermit Roosevelt, when he sailed with his father for Africa. The shipment occupied a space of sixteen cubic feet.

The consignment consisted of 125 briarwood pipe, 200 shortstem clay pipes, two dozen long stemmed church wardens, 500 small packages of granulated smoking tobacco, sixty pounds of cut plug smoking tobacco, 100 tins of high grade birds eye, eighty pounds of plug chewing, eighty pounds of fine cut and 6,000 cigarettes.

The company which sold this tobacco to Kermit Roosevelt announces that he said he was taking it to Africa to give to the natives, instead of the small trinkets, which are usually expected from travelers.

AIMS TO AVOID LABOR TROUBLE

Great Falls, Mont., May 15.—An arbitration agreement of far reaching importance to this community was finally agreed to last night by the central labor body of this city and through its operation no labor disputes are likely to arise in Great Falls for the next three years.

This agreement, which was offered by the Cascade county trades and labor assembly to the board of commerce representing the employing and business interests of the city and including 21,000 union men, provides that for the next three years there shall be no increase or reduction of wages; that employers signing it shall employ union labor and that all disputes shall be submitted to a board of arbitration.

National Committeeman Harvey Barber joined Lentz in an effort to get Bryan to go to Garber's house.

International Falls, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thursday morning the funeral of Thomas Connors, who died suddenly Tuesday from heart failure, was held from the Apostles' church.

Mr. Connors was one of the old residents of the village. It is not known at just what hour death came, as he had retired to his room before noon, with a request that he be called at about 6 o'clock, at which time he was found dead.

Thomas Connors was born at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1865, where he resided until coming to this country in 1892. He spent the first years of his residence here at steamboating in summer and logging in winter.

Later he settled in a homestead two miles southwest of town, where he resided for a number of years. He leaves, besides a wife, two sisters, Miss Lilian Connors of this city and Mrs. Myles Gibbons of Cleveland, and two brothers, Joseph and James Connors, both of Cleveland.

LABOR

UNION MEN BACKSLIDE

Claimed That They Are Helping Man the Lake Vessels.

Censured at Assembly; Morgan on Commission Government.

That men holding cards in various trades unions are enlisting in non-union crews on the boats and opposing the lake seamen in their present strike was the statement made at the meeting of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly last evening by L. A. Hoffman, delegate from the Superior assembly.

The assembly had been discussing ways and means of assisting the strikers when Mr. Hoffman arose and stated that if the union men would not join "scab" crews and keep off the boats the strikers would be rendered great assistance.

He followed up this remarkable statement with the declaration that two men bearing cards in the Superior machinists' union had recently sailed on one of the non-union boats, despite the efforts of the strikers to dissuade them. He said the matter was taken up by the Superior Trades assembly but that it was too late to take the cards from the men who had deserted the cause.

Although no formal action was taken by the Duluth assembly last night, it was the sentiment of those present that the action of any union men in enlisting on the boats, against the strikers, was to be deplored, and that all such instances should be investigated and the offenders reprimanded.

Ni instances where Duluth union men went aboard the non-union boats were cited, and it is not thought that there have been any.

Members of the assembly will report to the unions on the strike and will raise money individually to assist the striking seamen, instead of through the assembly as a body.

The principal business transacted by the assembly last evening was the election of five delegates to represent the body at the annual convention of the state federation of labor, which will be held in Red Wing next month.

Four were elected on the first ballot. They are J. F. Walsh, Richard Jones, Henry Perrault and S. S. McDonald. Mrs. Katherine Dempsey and Edward Blackwood were tied for the fifth place on the delegation, but on the second ballot, Mrs. Dempsey won out.

In all there were ten nominees and five who were defeated will be the alternates. They are Edward Blackwood, P. Morando, George Northfield, Frank Heideman and P. G. Phillips.

Communications were received from A. J. Berres, secretary and treasurer of the metal trades' department of the American Federation of Labor, who is anxious to form a council of the allied metal trades' workers in Duluth.

It is planned to band all the metal trades' unions in Duluth, which are in good standing in their international organizations, in a body to consider the different needs and affairs of that branch of union labor. Mr. Berries was assured the support of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly, as well as that of the different unions.

E. M. Morgan, assistant city attorney, was present at the meeting last evening, and gave a very entertaining address on "Government by Commission." Mr. Morgan said:

"I believe that the present form of municipal government is bad. I don't mean that it is corrupt or that the officials have their hands out, but that the city government at the present time is inefficient, absolutely and entirely inefficient."

Mr. Morgan pointed out that the municipal corporation should be operated with as rigid attention to details and results as a private corporation, and he sees, in the commission form of government, a way of doing that.

He said that with the affairs of the city in the hands of a commission, and each member of that body in charge of some department and absolutely responsible for what was done by that department, better results would be attained and the day of the inefficient city officials and help would be over.

Mr. Morgan spoke of the regeneration of Galveston, Tex. He said that a few years ago that city was so rotten with grafting officials that the city was "broke." Their bonds went begging. He told of the progress that had been made under the commission government which has existed there in recent years.

The speaker, in mentioning men intended for posts as commissioners, took a slap at those class of citizens known as "eminently respectable."

"I wouldn't care to see any 'eminently respectable' citizens on any commission board," said Mr. Morgan. "They are the worst of all. They are the people who insist upon a reform administration, perhaps elect one, and when they have, kick like the dickens because an attempt is made to carry out the program, declaring that it is 'hurting business.' No, gentlemen, the people who should be placed on a commission of this kind should be plain, every day citizens, whose efforts would be sincere and whose judgment sane. To my faith in the commission form of government is pinned my faith in the common people, the average citizen of the United States."

Mr. Morgan said that the Des Moines system was the answer to the question of how to get good men on a commission of this kind. He explained the Des Moines system to some length, telling how the commissioners were elected and how much party lines and differences had been obliterated in the Iowa capital. He said that party politics had been as nearly crushed in Des Moines as anywhere in the country.

In explaining the Des Moines plan, he told the hold the people themselves had upon the government. If some action of the commission displeased them, they had but to secure a petition of protest from 25 per cent of the voters at the last election for mayor, and it would be necessary to submit the question to the vote of the people.

"The people must keep their hands on the government and the Des Moines plan is the best," said the speaker, in conclusion.

A. R. MacDonald, editor of the Labor World, will give a short address on the same subject at the next meeting of the assembly. Mr. MacDonald will take up some different phases.

LECTURES ON WALT WHITMAN.

Dr. Rubinkam of Chicago declared to the members of a naudience at the Unitarian church last evening that Walter Whitman was pure of mind and heart, and that his poems were pure in sentiment and meaning.

The doctor stated that in years past there had existed a belief that Whitman was a rake and that his works were not fit for polite reading. This idea was being proved false, according to Dr. Rubinkam, and today readers and men of letters consider that Whitman was pure of heart and mind, and that his works contain no indecency.

THE Importance of Using Pure Milk.

It is now a well-recognized fact that a large percentage of cows are affected with TUBERCULOSIS, and that consumption can be caused in the human subject from using milk containing the tubercle bacillus germ. That is not to say, every person drinking impure milk of this description will infallibly suffer from tuberculosis, but the RISK IS THERE.

Infants and children are more prone to suffer from using impure milk than adults; their diet is more largely composed of milk foods, and their delicate or frail constitutions more susceptible to injury. However, if you use BORDEN'S MILK PRODUCTS, you are spared anxiety about the purity of the milk supply.

The elaborate precautions used at Borden's Condensaries make it impossible for any impurities to enter into their products, and due to this unusual care no illness has ever been traceable to the source of supply.

The experience of half a century, thorough equipment, and strict observance of rigid sanitary regulations at the dairy and condensing plants, together with a fixed purpose to supply only the best, have resulted in products that are absolutely unequalled, the effect being that the sales of Borden's are greater than those of ALL OTHER manufacturers of milk products.

AS A FOOD FOR INFANTS---Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk Is Without a Peer.

It is specially prepared under the most scientific methods. The original pure, full cream, fluid milk undergoes no change in the process of manufacture, and positively nothing is added but the finest grade of granulated sugar. The quality is always uniform, making it the safest for infants that can be obtained. Furthermore, it is perfectly adaptable to all culinary household purposes.

UNSWEETENED MILK—Occasionally there are those who have special reasons for believing an unsweetened milk would be better adapted for a particular case, and for such we suggest.

BORDEN'S PEERLESS BRAND EVAPORATED CREAM

Highest Award
Wherever Exhibited.

Located in the world's best dairy district, modern Borden Condensaries, equipped throughout with the most sanitary milk-handling utensils known to science.

The entire milk supply comes from dairy farmers nearby, whose herds are all under the strictest supervision of their own experts.

The greatest care is taken with the cows, barns, dairies, etc. The Borden Inspectors regularly visit each dairy, and every farmer is required to constantly maintain the highest standard of cleanliness and healthfulness.

Even the feeding is on a scientific basis, and no milk is accepted that does not pass the severest test as to quality, butter fat, nutrients, temperature, and in every other particular, and this milk supply, coming as it does from such well-regulated source, and the best dairy animals, is bound to be of FULL FOOD VALUE and of even quality without variation.

Religious Department of Y. M. C. A. on a Businesslike Basis.

For the first time since the organization of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., the religious work department has been put upon a business-like basis, and committees appointed and active plans laid for a campaign in different lines of settlement and religious work among the citizens of Duluth.

The work that is laid out for the various committees includes mission study classes, foreign work fund, meetings in public halls, church meetings in public halls, church meetings for men, social service clubs, and work along these lines. Each committee will have charge of some special work, these committees being under the direction of the general committee. Albert Baldwin is chairman of this committee and C. C. Hoxie, secretary.

Secretary J. A. McGaughey of the religious work department of the Y. M. C. A., was responsible for the move. The work that will be taken up in the future has been laid out in charge of the various committees. It will be the duty of the committee members to investigate, and initiate work in the interest of the department under their charge. The members of the various committees will report progress to the general committee, which will act in the capacity of an advisory board.

Secretary McGaughey is of the opinion that there is a wide field for the work that that has been planned. It will include the co-operation of employers of labor to better the condition of their employes. It will include holding meetings in various parts of the city and in the suburban districts, meetings in shops, training schools in teh summer, meetings in public halls, securing recreation for children, and all work of a beneficial nature to the community.

At the organization meeting, Mr. Baldwin took up the organization of the various committees with enthusiasm. He informed the men appointed to the various committees that they must work and expect to work hard.

The work will be conducted upon a thorough businesslike basis, and in dealing with the problems that confront the poor of the city and in spreading the teachings of the gospel among all classes of people the members of the religious work department will expect the co-operation of the business interests of Duluth.

The committee appointments represent many of the prominent business men of Duluth. They have volunteered for the work, and in giving their service to the movement have promised to give the best of their ability to placing charitable settlement and religious work upon a sound and progressive basis.

The general committees are divided into eight departments, as follows: Promotion of prayer, Bible study, religious meetings, personal work, local extension social service, home extension and foreign extension. There are sub-departments which include almost every line of religious and charitable work.

CONCRETE BOX CULVERT.

Innovation Is Introduced on Lake Shore & Ishpeming Road.

Negaunee, Mich., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting engineering work now under construction on the L. S. & I. railway is a box concrete culvert 287 feet long under a 95-foot fill, where the road crosses Rainy creek.

This work was made necessary by the breaking of the iron water pipe that carried the water of the stream across the right-of-way. As this is a sand fill, a tunnel was first driven through, which had to be heavily timbered. The tunnel is now finished and the concrete work on the culvert has been begun. When completed, the water aperture will be three feet square.

This method of concrete culvert construction is original with Chief Engineer R. C. Young, and, so far as is known, is in practice by no other railroad in the country. This is the third structure of the kind that has been constructed under Mr. Young's direction.

IRRIGATED ORCHARD AND VINEYARD TRACTS

Free Round Trip Allowed on Each 10-acre Purchase.

In joining this party of excursionists, you will be under no obligation to us, simply you will have better service and travel, and a chance to visit on your way out, the world famous Walla Walla Valley, known for its great productiveness, unrivalled climate and beautiful location. Our service while there will be at your disposal, free of charge.

We want men and women, who are actually caring to locate where the neighbor will not be anything else but the best representation of the white race, to visit Attalia for a day, a week or longer, and to see and learn for themselves of the great advantages there over other sections. You owe it to yourself and family to recognize the element and kind of settlers, and the substantial future of your chosen spot. The Attalia lands, are fast being occupied by an unusually fine grade of settlers, not a common thing in other sections.

THE ATTALIA 5 AND 10-ACRE TRACTS, located between Snake River and the famous Columbia Gap to the south, and on the most beautiful body of water, the ever one-mile wide Columbia, are pre-eminently the most desirable and commercial fruit lands in the country, having the most to offer from every standpoint to the man of lesser or larger means.

THE CLIMATE, SOIL, WATER, RAILROADS

at Attalia, have attracted expert fruit growers from California, Oregon, Utah, New York, and from the Yakima and Wenatchee sections in Washington, these men have invested at Attalia and are already at work there, making it a beauty spot.

A recent sale to Mr. Wright of a large tract of land again shows what the greatest expert in Washington thinks of the Attalia lands. This gentleman received the Cup, together with the largest number of first prizes on apple-growing at the National Apple Show, last December. He says: "The land I bought at Attalia has great productive power and will be worth in five years not less than $1,500 an acre." Other men of sagacity and judgment, who have gone in search for a future home, having investigated every known Valley in the great West, have found the Attalia lands to possess more advantages, scenic beauty and greater tendencies for health, than any section that has come under their scrutiny, hence the reason for our great success in selling, the sales having trebled over what we had anticipated.

is selling rapidly and building up fast, and will, in a short time, be out of the market.

TERMS

are easy and prices are advancing. Settlers can obtain work at good wages.

Come and be independent for life. If for business reasons you cannot remain at Attalia now, we will plant and care for your orchard, giving a one-half of the gross receipts every year for any specified time.

REMEMBER

That Attalia has four railroads and water transportation. Is a terminal for one of the big roads. Northern Pacific, O. R. & N. and North Bank now run daily trains through Attalia. The North Coast has bought terminal grounds for shops at Attalia and is soon ready for service. The Dayton Electric will be complete by fall, and the Snake and Columbia rivers are both navigable. A study of the map will surprise you. Attalia has greater rail and water transportation facilities than any other point, having five different conveyances by rail.

THE SOIL is the deep, rich volcanic ash, the most fertile soil known to mature; free from rock, having fine subsoil and drainage, freedom from frosts, deriving a perfect air drainage from our nearness to the Columbia Gap, giving our lands the longest frostless-growing season, maturing two crops of vegetables and strawberries every year and from two weeks to a month earlier than any other section; the ideal orchard and vineyard land.

WATER by gravity with water works, conceded by experts to be one of the best in the West. We have at Attalia an excellent soft drinking water.

THE CLIMATE—The enthusiasm among the settlers in our valley is great over the results the climate has wrought in their individual health. The beautiful out-door life every day in the year and the vitalizing air, the freedom from dampness, your rheumatism, asthma and catarrh will never bother you at Attalia, your nerves will become well. The sun-kissed rays of the sun are doing wonderful things with the sickened constitution in a climate like ours.

CROPS—All kinds of fruits and berries and vegetables yield prolifically in the Attalia valley, and are first on the market. Poultry thrives amazingly.

Call for booklets and further information in regard to the West. I have spent twelve years there and perhaps can be of some use to you.

A DELAY IS REQUESTED

West Duluth Will Ask War Department for Investigation.

Indisposed to consider the Grassy Point bridge proposition as a closed incident, members of the West Duluth Commercial club will emphatically petition the war department and congress to hold up the plans of the Northern Pacific bridge until the matter is more thoroughly investigated. The club met last evening.

It is thought in West Duluth that if the railroad company is allowed to construct the bridge as the plans now stand approved by Acting Secretary of War Robert Oliver, without providing for the accommodation of general traffic between West Duluth and the Wisconsin side of the bay, that the chances for ever getting a passageway are poor, on account of the increasing navigation every year.

Members of the club have consulted a number of Duluth attorneys on the proposition, and in the opinion of many, the Northern Pacific railroad has not the right to construct the bridge under the old charter acquired by the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, which was absorbed by the Northern Pacific since the granting of the charter in 1887.

Oliver Explains.

Congressman Miller has received from Acting Secretary of War Robert Oliver a copy of the department's decision and the grounds on which the approval of the Northern Pacific plans are based.

Mr. Oliver acknowledges receipt of the communication of protest, which was signed by Mr. Miller, and also by the president of the West Duluth Commercial club, and says:

"In reply I have to advise you that the plans referred to have been examined by the district engineer officer, who is of opinion that a bridge built in accordance therewith will amply provide for the requirements of the present, as well as the probably future, commerce of the river it appearing that the bridge as built did not furnish adequate facilities for navigation and that the owners of the property proposed to rebuild the same on plans that will afford much better facilities for navigation. It further appears from the papers in the case that full opportunity has been given to the public to be heard concerning the changes proposed to be made in this structure.

"The department has heretofore approved plans for rebuilding bridges, under authority of section 18 of the river and harbor act of March 3, 1899, which confers upon the secretary of war and the chief of engineers certain powers regarding the alteration of bridges that obstruct navigation.

"With reference to the objection to the proposed bridge, based chiefly on the ground that no provision is made for foot and vehicular traffic, the department concurs in the following views of the acting chief of engineers, United States army, and action will consequently be taken in accordance with the recommendation of that officer:

Department Powerless.

"In my judgment, a combination bridge of the kind mentioned by the protestants is desirable not only as a convenience to a rapidly growing community, but also in the interest of general navigation, and if the law permitted it I should heartily commend the request of the protestants. But it will be noted that the act of congress makes it optional with the company to build a combination bridge, and the exercise of this option the company has elected to provide for railway traffic only. It is not competent for the department to require, over the objection of the company, the conditions upon which the privilege was granted by congress, nor to impose upon the company a burden which the legislative power refrained from imposing. Nor do I think that the department has the legal authority to delay action on the plans for reconstruction now presented; nor that the department would be justified in so doing if it had such authority. The bridge has been in existence for more than twenty years, during which time the commerce of the river has grown to such proportions that its immediate reconstruction purely as a railroad bridge, with larger facilities for navigation, is believed to be preferable to its indefinite retention in its present character with a view to its possible conversion into a combination structure as desired by the protestants.

"The railroad company having presented plans which conform to the requirements of the law is entitled to have them considered by the department, and as they make ample provision for present and prospective navigation there appears to be no warrant, legal or otherwise, for their rejection. I am constrained, therefore, to recommend that the plans for rebuilding the bridge be approved, and permission be granted for the construction and maintenance of the temporary bridge exhibited on the drawings until the permanent structure shall have been completed."

"The chief of engineers conclusively states the views of the department in the preceding paragraph of his report. It should be borne in mind that the only duty devolved upon the secretary of war by congress in cases of this nature is the maintenance of the navigable conditions of waterways, and under a recent opinion of the attorney general it was held that the department is without authority to consider any other question. The matter of providing adequate facilities for vehicular and foot traffic over the river is, therefore, not within its jurisdiction."

Congressman Miller has received letters from Senators Nelson and Clapp. Senator Nelson has entered a protest with the department over the hasty action in approving the Northern Pacific plans and Senator Clapp and he are now working together to have the approval reviewed and postponed. Mr. Miller said this morning: "After the war department has approved a measure it is extremely difficult to get it to reverse its decision. I am, however, inclined to believe that sufficient pressure can be brought to bear to have the matter reconsidered."

HANDLE BREAD CARELESSLY

Bakers Do No Change Gloves, Say W. C. T. U. Members.

Duluth bakers have come in for a scoring by the West Duluth W. C. T. U. and interested members of the West Duluth Commercial club, who charge the bakers with unhealthful and unCleanly handling of bread. The health board will be asked to investigate.

A member of the West Duluth Commercial club said today that the matter would be taken up before the club at its next meeting and an effort made to bring the bakers around to the use of tissue paper for every loaf of bread that leaves the shop.

It is said that some bakers make a practice of handling the loaves of bread with the same gloves that they use for driving and in caring for the horses. Considerable dirt and contagion, it is claimed, is carried on the bread when it is handled carelessly by drivers.

The members of the West Duluth W. C. T. U. are also taking up the matter in connection with the Commercial club.

BUILDING BOOM IN WEST DULUTH

The building boom has struck West Duluth and a number of houses are being erected in the residence districts this spring. The real estate men at West Duluth report a busy season this spring and everything is very favorable, they say, for a banner year.

A contract was let today to E. J. Zauft, through the agency of W. B. Getchell, for the erection of a one-story brick structure to be used for mercantile purposes at 408 Central avenue. The building, which will be completed some time this summer, will run 100 feet back from Central avenue and have a frontage of about twenty-five feet.

The small frame building, which now occupies the lot at 408 Central avenue, will be torn down and the barber shop of N. C. Norgren will be moved to other quarters. A number of real estate transfers, affecting West Duluth property, are reported this week.

He Was on His Way.

Because Gust Anderson was so drunk about 5 o'clock last evening that he didn't know where he was going, being only aware of the fact that he was on his way, he was taken in custody by an officer and given a lodging at the West Duluth police station over night.

Anderson, when the officer found him, was in a rig, and the horses were leisurely having things their own way. At Seventy-first avenue west and Grand avenue the team was stopped by an officer and the outfit taken to the police station.

Anderson lives at Cloquet, and was given a fresh start for home this morning. The police took care of his team last evening.

The battleship Superb is now receiving its final touches which will complete it for the sea. It is the same type as the Dreadnought, the ship which gives this latest type of war vessel its name, but it is even more powerful than the bearer of that name. England already has six battleships of the Dreadnought type in commission, six more are completing for sea, while two are in the first stages of construction. The greatest beverage of today is golden grain belt beer. Its purity and wholesomeness has won for it the name of the house beverage. THE ANNUAL FIELD MEET

Grade School Boys Will Compete for Herald Trophy.

Meet Will Be Held at Ball Park May 22.

Saturday, May 22, will be a big day for the school boys of Duluth, the sixth annual field meet being held on that date.

Although the weather has been a little unfavorable it has not dampened the ardor of the young athletes who may be seen any day near the respective school yards practicing for the big event. The plan of dividing the contestants into classes according to their weight, is meeting with hearty approval by the boys as it gives every school an equal chance and permits more boys to take part. The meet will be held at the baseball park this year, as the driving park has been torn up. Monday afternoon the final meeting will be held, and the committees from the different schools will get their entry blanks, and final instructions. All the contesting schools are anxious to land the big silver loving cup donated by The Duluth Evening Herald. This goes to the school winning the largest number of points. The winning school will also receive the silk banner awarded by the boys' department, and the school having the largest delegation will also receive a silk banner made in the colors of the school. The Kelley Hardware company has donated a silver medal to be given to the boy winning the largest number of points. This is in addition to the four medals to be given by the boys' department.

These medals will be given to the boy winning the largest number of points in each division, and the winners of first, second and third places will receive pins. The schools are learning their yells and songs, and the girls are busy getting the pennants and colors ready. The meet promises to be the most successful ever held.

TIME LIMIT IS EXTENDED

Entries for Glidden Tour Will Be Received Until July 1.

Chairman F. B. Hower now announces an important change regarding the dates and terms for receiving entries for the Glidden, Hower and Detroit contests of the A. A. A. tour. Owing to the fact that the Pullman company insisted on terms being reached by May 15 for the use of its dining and sleeping cars along a part of the route, it was at first announced that entries at $200 each would be received until May 15, and thereafter $300 each until June 15. Last week, however, the number of paid entries on hand was sufficient to warrant the contract with the Pullman company being closed for ports minimum number of cars it would agree to furnish, and arrangements made for increasing the number of cars to the maximum later on. Under these circumstances Chairman Hower decided promptly to act upon the suggestion of the Manufacturers' Contest association as expressed in a letter signed by Chairman H. E. Coffin, addressed to Mr. Hower, and dated at Detroit, May 10. The full text of the letter is as follows:

"Considerable comment has come to us bearing upon the entry closing date for the Glidden tour. In consequence, I should like to suggest to you that the regular closing date be postponed until June 15, entries to be received until this date at the regular fee. The excess fee of $100 could then be made to apply upon all entries received between June 15 and July 1, this latter date being made the final one, after which no entries would be accepted.

"The writer can see no objection to this rearrangement and consequently makes this recommendation. Should there be any objections with which I am not familiar, I should like to hear from you at your convenience."

Entries at $200 each will accordingly be received until June 15, and from them until July 1 at $300 each. The pathfinding trip of Dal Lewis will be completed this week, he having started on Friday, May 14, to make the last leg of the journey from Denver to Kansas City.

YALE-HARVARD MATCH LIKELY TO BE CLOSE.

New Haven, Conn., May 15.—Harvard's strength on the track is met by the exceptional ability of Yale men in the field events, so that the forecast for this afternoon's dual game between the universities on Yale field is for a close score. On performances of the men who are entered, Yale has a little the better of the crimson, but an upset in one event may alter the final score. The Yale News, which makes a forecast, event by event, claims the day for the blue, 53 to 51. The track is in excellent condition and the weather is warm enough for the men to do their best. The first heats in the dashes will be called at 3 p. m.

The universities are starting on a new series of games, the nine-year cup having been won last spring at Cambridge by Yale. A new cup is now in competition under similar rules.

JOHNSON IN FORM FOR HIS BOUT WITH O'BRIEN.

Philadelphia, May 15.—Confident he will be in fine physical condition for his bout with Jack O'Brien at the National Athletic club in this city, Wednesday night, Jack Johnson today began the final preparations for the fight. Johnson arrived late last night and went to the home of George Cole, the old-time pugilist, at Merchantville, N. J., where he will train. The weather is clear and warm.

O'Brien has been training for several weeks at King of Prussia, Pa., a few miles from this city, and is in good condition.

Mississippi River Regatta.

Burlington, Iowa, May 15.—The Launch club of this city will hold a Mississippi river regatta on July 5 and 6 that in scope and variety will be the largest motor boat race program ever given on the river. Entries have already been received from every important point on the Mississippi between Memphis and St. Paul, as well as craft from the Ohio, Illinois, Cumberland and Missouri rivers. Burlington will expend $10,000 in the entertainment of their guests. There will be a river carnival and water pyrotechnics.

VERY PROUD OF HIS PLAY-AUTO

George Berg, Cripple, Rides to Courtroom Each Day.

Little 11-year-old George Berg, who through his mother is suing the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway for $40,000 for the loss of two legs, alleged to have been sustained while playing on the company's tracks in Baraga, Mich., comes to the courtroom each day in his play-auto.

George is small for his age, and he walks with difficulty, using crutches all the time. He is as fond of his machine as any of the real buzz-wagon owners and would like to spend all his time riding about town on it.

The case has little attraction for George. He would much rather ride around in his hand-pumped cart than sit in a dingy courtroom and listen to dry testimony pumped out of the witnesses by the lawyers. Sometimes he gets very tired waiting for the noon hour to come, and especially on bright days it is hard for him to remain indoors.

A number of George's playmates are in Duluth. They are here to testify as to how he got hurt. There are also many trainmen and villagers here for the same purpose. The village of Baraga is but a small one, and the whole town is very much interested in the case.

HOTEL THIEVES' SCHOOL.

Paris, May 15.—A school for hotel thieves—this is the latest discovery of the police. It came about accidentally. A man named Chauvin, described as dangerous, was separated from his wife. He met her in the street, and asked her to return to him. She refused, and he chastised her.

The woman retaliated by stabbing him in the face. Policemen appeared on the scene, and ordered the couple to appear before the police commissary next morning. But only the woman turned up. She explained why her husband had not come. It appears that he keeps a school for training hotel thieves. After the pupils have finished their education, he accompanies them on their first thieving expeditions. He receives all the goods stolen from hotels and turns them into money. He it is who deals with the receivers. In February, he sold 300 grammes of gold, not to speak of numerous bracelets and jewels.

After these revelations, detectives went hot foot after Chauvin. They did not find him, but they discovered his school, and arrested several pupils. Four receivers were also found and ordered to hold themselves at the disposal of the police.

FIELD DAY POSTPONED

As has been the case for the last few years, it rained on the day the boys from the high school had planned to hold their annual local field meet.

They had planned to select a team today to represent the Zenith City school at the Minneapolis meet on May 28. The selections will probably be made some time during the present week, as those who are to go need all the time they can get in which to train.

The men have been practicing faithfully for the past six weeks, in spite of the unfavorable weather, and the inability of Old Sol to shine today was a keen disappointment to them.

ASKS AS TO EXTORTION

Senator Gore Wants to Know If Retail Dealers Extort.

Johnstone Rejoices That Spunk Is on Free List.

Washington, May 15.—As soon as a quorum was announced in the senate today Mr. Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma, precipitated a lively debate by asking immediate consideration of a resolution instructing the committee on finance to obtain by investigation the import prices of various articles of general and ordinary consumption and also the wholesale and retail prices of such articles when used in this country. The object of the resolution is to determine whether the retailers of the country are practising extortion.

In moving the resolution be deferred to the committee on finance, Mr. Hale said it conferred no new authority upon that committee and could only embarrass it.

Senator Gore declared that the retail dealers had been held up before the country as practising extortion and he wanted to have the facts to determine whether that was true.

"If the retail men are robbers," he said, "they should be held up to the wrath and execration of their countrymen."

Mr. Gore said he had investigated and found that pitchers that had been referred to by Senator Scott as selling at wholesale at 90 cents a dozen retailed at 15 and sometimes 10 cents each, instead of 25 cents as stated.

Consideration of the resolution was postponed until Monday.

Mr. Johnstone of Alabama treated the tariff lightly. He congratulated the majority that it had placed "spunk" on the free list and said if there was any more of that article the Republicans would make a better tariff bill.

When the steel schedule was taken up Mr. Aldrich withdrew the amendment of the committee on finances increasing the duty on structural steel from 3-10 to 4-10 of one cent a pound, and the house provision of three-tenths of a cent per pound was adopted.

Referring to an amendment to this paragraph not permitting agricultural steel to be assembled when imported, Mr. Aldrich said:

"The rates of duty in this industry has been cut nearly one-half, and I desire to place on record the great apprehension that we may be committing a grave injustice to this great industry."

He said the manufacturers of Belgium and Germany may be able under these rates to send in their structural iron and steel when they have a surplus, or when the conditions warrant such action.

Reading from the testimony of Mr. Carnegie before the ways and means committee concerning profits in steel industry Mr. Tillman declared that Mr. Carnegie had made a vast amount of money by favoritism in legislation.

"I will not say by dishonesty," said Mr. Tillman, "because he has only taken advantage of the laws we pass. But he made the more money than the entire bunch of us here put together and there are some very rich men in this senate. He has got vastly more money than all the Democrats of this body possess—ten times as much, I suppose."

Saying Mr. Carnegie had taken his great wealth from the pockets of the people, Mr. Tillman added:

"If use nails and wire fencing and other products of his corporation and when I buy those things he takes money out of my pocket and puts it in his."

Mr. Bacon in a colloquy with Mr. Aldrich on the effect of the protective tariff on prices insisted that the United States Steel corporation needed no tariff to protect it.

A CONFLICTION IN THE NEW LAWS

Are County Commissioners to Be Allowed Expense Money?

The county commissioners are pondering over conflicting laws passed at the recent session of the state legislature.

One law reads that the salary of county commissioners in counties of assessed valuation of $100,000,000, and an area of more than 5,000 square miles, the sum of $1,200 be paid as a salary, and a sum not to exceed $250 be allowed as traveling expenses.

In another bill it states that in counties of an assessed valuation of $100,000,000, $1,200 shall be both the salary of the commissioners and the traveling expenses.

There is no doubt but that the laws conflict, but it being a fact that St. Louis county is the only county in the state with an area of 5,000 square miles and the assessed valuation required, it is generally taken for granted that the legislature wished to make an exception of this county on account of its size and grant the commissioners both the salary of $1,200 and the traveling expenses of $250.

"In counties whose assessed valuation is more than $100,000,000 and the area of such county is more than 5,000 square miles, the sum of $1,200, and all actual and necessary traveling expenses, not exceeding in any one calendar year the sum of $250. Said traveling expenses may be allowed by the county upon duly verified and itemized bills in the same manner as other claims against the county."

Chapter 388 reads in part as follows: "In counties, whose assessed valuation is more than $100,000,000, $1,200. And said $1,200 shall be in full for all services upon the county and other boards and committees, and all traveling and other ex penses with the county."

QUIET MEETING.

Little Business of Importance to Come Before the Council.

Indications point to a quiet council meeting next Monday evening. The matter of telegraph, telephone and other electric wire pole lines through the East end will come up, and also the matter of conduits in the same section of the city. Condemnation proceedings to secure a pole line right of way across the rear of certain lots, may be ordered.

Health Commissioner Patton will appear before the aldermen and explain his request for a city garbage wagon and team. He asks that he be authorized to purchase such an outfit to demonstrate his theory of municipal garbage collection, which has been successfully tried in various cities of the country. He claims that municipal collection of garbage is cheaper and more satisfactory than any other kind.

HOFFMAN THE ONLY WITNESS

John P. Hoffman was the only witness examined today in the case of Hansen E. Smith and his creditors against Thomas A. Merritt and others, to have title to certain mineral lands set aside.

L. A. Barnes, the trustee in bankruptcy, who was examined yesterday in part, was unable to be present this morning, and Hoffman was called in his stead. Mr. Hoffman stated that the land was worth from $45,000 to $50,000 at the time it was sold, basing the statement on drill reports which had been seen by himself and the defendants before the transfer of title to Merritt and others.

On cross-examination Mr. Hoffman, who had qualified as an expert, caused some amusement by saying that he had never been in the business of buying, selling or leasing mining lands, not was he familiar with the working of a diamond drill. He continued under cross-examination during the afternoon and until adjournment.

Judge Edson will be unable to take up the hearing next week and a continuation to the week following will be necessary. The end of the taking of testimony is not yet in sight, and it will probably occupy several days more.

NEW AUTO LAW IS IN EFFECT

St. Paul, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The automobile law passed by the last legislature went into effect today, though the enforcement of its provisions will not begin for another month. Owners of machines have thirty days in which to comply.

The distribution of the metal tags began today. The numbers are painted on a steel plate with a red background. Those who have seen the tags do not regard them as weather-proof, but Secretary of State Schmahl says it is the best he can do in view of the low price of the license and the fact that the state furnishes two tags for each machine. To get a stamped tag, he says, would simply mean a deficit for the department.

This year's large catch of all kinds of fish, both on the grand banks and along the Nova Scotia coast, has tended to make the price of all fish products much lower than in former years, according to a report made by Consul General David F. Wilbur of Halifax. On account of the difficulty in getting men, the number of vessels sailing from ports along the south shore of Nova Scotia has decreased in the last few years.

TWO MEN MAY BE DROWNED

The Otterhead Lighthouse Keeper and Man Named Wilson Missing.

Caribou Sights Yawl From Aurania and Other Wreckage.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 15.)—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. A. A. Batten of the Booth steamer Caribou which arrived here this morning, reports Lighthouse Keeper Robert McMenemy, at Otterhead, and a man named Wilson, as missing. While at Michipicoten Island the captain learned that McMenemy and Wilson started from Otterhead a week ago Wednesday for Herron Bay to secure supplies. Shortly after they left, a fierce northeast gale sprang up.

On Thursday nothing had been heard of them at Otterhead. A man sent from there to Herron Bay found no traces. Capt. Batten also reports a couple of oars were washed up at Batchewanna Bay, bearing the name of the steamer D. M. Clemson, which sank last fall.

While between Maple and the Parisian islands the Caribou picked up a 20-foot yawl boat from the Aurania, which was crushed by ice this spring. Thursday evening the Caribou passed wreckage which appeared to be that of a captain's cabin. The interior was painted white, and a radiator was hanging on the side wall.

JOHNSONS COME HOME

Governor and His Party Make Second Call Upon Taft.

Visitors Take in the Sights of the Capital City.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor John A. Johnson and wife and party, consisting of E. L. Welsh and wife, Orrin Kepp and wife and Hope G. McCall and wife, were received by President Taft in the cabinet room at 1 o'clock today. They leave Washington late this afternoon for St. Paul, where Governor Johnson is under engagement to deliver an address at a banquet the evening of May 17.

During the day the governor's party, some of whom are making their first trip to Washington, went sight-seeing, taking in some of the more interesting department buildings and enjoying an automobile trip about the city, which, in its spring garb, has about reached the heighth of its beauty.

The visitors with Governor Johnson have had a most enjoyable time since their arrival at the capitol yesterday morning. In addition to the general sightseeing, the party has been recipients of considerable attention from friends and resident Minnesotans.

The call on the president was brief and purely social.

WAS AN OLD LANDMARK

Many Interesting Stories Centered About the Old Shack.

Over thirty years ago there was constructed in the straggling town of Duluth a hotel that compared with the best hostelries in the village. The hotel was called the La Perl hotel, and some of the leading young bucks, as well as some of the more stately solid men of the town, took their meals and tucked themselves into their little beds at this inn.

For some years the former La Perl hotel has been used for almost any purpose. A restaurant, junk shop and other forms of commercial endeavor have occupied the place of the former pride of the village. In a few days there will only remain a vacant spot to show where one of the early landmarks of the city stood.

In 1876 Henri Geriet, a Frenchman, had a little dry goods box with a canvass top in the city of Fargo. "Jim" Sargent, when a boy in knee pants and cowhide shoes, used to purchase bulging pies and oyster patties from this same Geriet. Then the pie vender went to Redwood Falls. Then he wandered to Duluth. The next trace of his progress was the opening of the La Perl hotel.

Every one has heard of the "Amen corner" of the old Fifth Avenue hotel of New York. The hotel has been destroyed. This "Amen corner" was rightly named for a certain group of politicians were in the habit of gathering in this corner in the lobby and "fixing" certain politics. When they were once fixed they were supposed to be fixed for good and all. That is how the corner received the degree of "Amen."

The old La Perl hotel had its "Ash Barrel club." This club was in the habit of meeting at the old La Perl and fixing certain things. One night, some years ago, the members of the Ash Barrel club were in very good humor. In fact they were in such good humor that they nominated Dick Cullen for mayor.

Dick accepted the nomination of his fellow club members. He made a speech later, standing upon a barrel, that was only brought to an end when some one kicked the barrel so viciously that the head fell in, permitting the orator of the occasion to crash rudely into the depths of his impromptu platform.

It was in the old La Perl that many of the plots of the Ash Barrel club were hatched, and if the walls of the old hotel had anything to say before they were demolished, they might give up some reminiscences of the city that would prove interesting reading.

WILL BOOST NO FACTION

Taft Writes Governor Stubbs and Revokes an Appointment.

President Will Not Mix In the Kansas Scrimmage.

Washington, May 15.—President Taft has written a letter to Governor Stubbs of Kansas in which he declared with emphasis that he will not permit himself to be used by any political faction for the promotion of political fortunes and at the same time, revoking the appointment of Robert Stone of Topeka, a personal friend of Governor Stubbs, to be a special assistant to the United States attorney general.

The situation grows out of the Bristow-Long senatorial fight of last year. President Taft, a friend of Senator Long, kept out of that fight because he did not want to be placed in the position of having interfered in any factional fight in any state. Governor Stubbs was allied with Mr. Bristow.

Stone Is Suggested.

When Stubbs was in Washington several weeks ago in connection with the application of the Kansas bank guaranty law to national banks, he asked the president to appoint a Kansas man to a good position in the department of justice. The president consented, supposing, it is said, that whoever was named would have the backing of the congressional delegation from the state.

After his return home Governor Stubbs suggested the appointment of Mr. Stone, who lives in Topeka, the home of Senator Curtis. It is said Stubbs is to be candidate for the United States senate against Senator Curtis. Mr. Stone was appointed as special assistant attorney general and the announcement was widely printed in Kansas. This was the first that Senator Curtis and Representative Antheny of the Topeka district, had heard of the matter and they immediately went to the White House and placed the situation before President Taft. The latter immediately wrote two letters, one to Governor Stubbs and one to Attorney General Wickersham, directing the latter to hold up the appointment of Mr. Stone and saying that Governor Stubbs "has thoughtlessly placed us in a position that is entirely indefensible."

Heralded as Humiliation.

In his letter to Governor Stubbs the president said he supposed the appointment of Mr. Stone would be credited to the entire state and that he had expected to consult the congressional delegation about it. Continuing the president said:

"To my great surprise I am now shown an article in which Mr. Stone's appointment is heralded as a humiliation to the members of the delegation and as a joke on them; not only that, but also an instrument for the defeat of one of the congressmen, Mr. Anthony. I think you must yourself, governor, see that I could not for a moment put myself in any attitude of opposition to the delegation, especially to particular friends of mine like Mr. Anthony and Senator Curtis."

The president goes on to say that if the delegation shall approve of the appointment of Mr. Stone his nomination will be sent to the senate. He winds up by saying:

"I cannot allow myself or the departments under me to be made the means of the promotion of the political fortunes of one faction or the other in a state as important as Kansas."

BOMB THROWERS OF BALKANS.

In an article entitled "The Sportsman of the Near East," Reginald Wyon, in the Wide World, declares that the Montenegrins when warring against the Turks evince a heroism and utter fearlessness that is remarkable. "The strongest men," he says, "carry bombs, or rather hand grenades—things the Turkish soldier particularly abominates. I was told once how a certain man, whom I knew well, saved his band from destruction. They were fairly cornered and the Turks closing in, when the bomb-thrower stood up amid the hail of bullets, lit the fuse with his cigarette, and rushed toward the soldiers, who, seeing his intention, promptly made tracks. It was, of course, lucky that the Mohammedan soldier, who does not much mind being sent to Paradise with a bullet, thinks his chance of eternal bliss very doubtful if he is blown up with dynamite.

"The nerve required to be a bomb-thrower is worthy of a little reflection. He must absolutely expose himself, and as the fuse is very short the ignition must be coolly considered. If premature, it means the destruction of himself and comrades; and when it is fairly alight the bomb must be thrown with mathematical exactitude. In other words, the man must leave his cover and charge an overwhelming force alone, and not throw till he is close up to it."

SENATORS VOTE AGAINST CUTTING ROUND IRON DUTY

Washington, May 15. — Again the committee on finance was upheld when the senate voted down an amendment offered by Senator Cummins of Iowa to lower the duty on round iron, etc., by a vote of 35 to 42, and upheld the house rate which was recommended by the senate committee.

Almost the entire session was given up to a debate on the profits of the United States Steel corporation, and toward the end of the day personalities were freely indulged in by senators. This occurred after Senator Root had spoken in defense of the finance committee and in criticism of senators who had complained of the failure of that committee to provide more ample information concerning various schedules. Mr. Money, addressing himself directly to the senator from New York, resented what he characterized as a lecture to the senate, and said that if the senator from New York desired less speaking in the body "he should do less of it himself."

Senator Beveridge proposed an amendment to the tariff bill increasing the tax on tobacco and its products and charged that by continuing the short-weight packages of the Spanish war period the tobacco trust was reaping a harvest of $21,000,000 a year. At 5:10 o'clock p. m. the senate adjourned.

Mr. Leavitt explained that only bona fide settlers on the lands would be given patents hereafter within the limits of the reserve. The students showed their hearty appreciation of the lecture.

The company will leave for the state encampment at Lakeview on June 14. Drills are being held every Sunday morning at present, but on the last ten days preceding their departure Capt. O'Sullivan intends to have the boys out every day. The armory and company rooms in the new city hall will be ready in two weeks.

He also paid Wilson livery $25 for the damage done to the horse, which needed medical attention.

STOCK EXCHANGE GETS LOCATION

Will Have Temporary Quarters in New Commercial Building.

At a meeting of the directors of the Duluth Stock exchange, held yesterday in the Lonsdale building, the question of securing a location was settled by an agreement with the Commercial club, whereby the exchange will take temporary quarters in the club's new building on First street and Fourth avenue west.

A committee of the exchange was appointed to look over the building and make a report, with a view to closing the contract at once. The Commercial building is now in course of construction. It has been promised for occupancy by the builders on or before June 10, and the stock exchange will move in and begin business as soon as their rooms are ready.

The arrangements made yesterday are for temporary quarters, and the exchange will occupy their rooms in the Commercial building only until a permanent home can be secured.

SUPERIOR SCHOOL BOY IS BRUTALLY MURDERED

face of their dead brother, they ran back home to notify their parents. An alarm was spread, bringing representatives from the sheriff's office, police department and Coroner Gelsen to the scene.

Mystery shrouds the killing of the school boy, and no motive, except possibly that of robbery, is thought to have actuated his slayers. A watch, a Christmas present from his father, and an empty suit case were missing, and the authorities believe that robbery might have been the incentive for the crime. He was known to have carried both the watch and suitcase when he left Superior yesterday afternoon homeward bound.

Three empty cartridges from a 32-caliber revolver, found about twenty feet from where the boy was shot down, are all the clues that the authorities have with which to solve the case. The most plausible theory that has been advanced is that the boy was the victim of a tramp. Itasca is overrun with men of that stamp at this time of the year.

Three shots were fired into the body of the boy, one of them entering his head, just behind his ear, and the other two piercing him in the vicinity of the heart.

Most of last night was spent by the police and sheriff's force in scouring the outlying districts around Itasca and Superior, in an attempt to locate the murderer. This morning they had not yet met with any marked success. It was thought that the men who committed the crime were under the influence of liquor, as two empty whisky bottles were found in the vicinity.

The boy lived with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Nelson, about a mile from the scene of the murder. The family formerly resided in Duluth. He has one brother, Leonard, aged 7 and three sisters, Tyra, 8, who was one of the children who found him, Miss Hazel, who teaches at the Webster school at Itasca, and Miss Nannie attending the Superior normal school.

MURDER OF BUTCHER IN ST. PAUL IS STILL A MYSTERY

Henry Schwan, a brewer of Eau Claire, Wis., who was Arbogast's most intimate friend, has taken charge of the house, and the girls of the family—Ida, Minnie and Babe—who were left alone by the death of their father, the arrest of their mother and removal of Louise. A trained nurse is stationed at the house to look after their comforts. Mrs. Meller, Mrs. Arbogast's mother, has arrived from New Ulm, Minn., and will remain with her daughter for some time. The funeral will be held on Sunday, and will be private.

Girl and Her Mother in Fight.

According to Ida's statement, details of which have come out with authority in spite of police injunctions, there was a terrific fight between herself and her mother when the murder was discovered. Ida said she rushed into the room to find her father dying, with his head battered in, and her mother in a dead faint by his side, while the bed was in flames. She caught her mother and pulled her from the bed.

Fell Down Stairs Together.

Mrs. Arbogast recovered instantly from her faint and began to fight to get free from her daughter's clutches. They fought out into the hall, the mother screaming to be released, so she could return to the room. Ida clung to her, shrieking for help. They reached the head of the stairs. Mrs. Arbogast made one final struggle. Ida pulling and fighting harder than ever to keep her from the room. They went over the steps that way, and rolled head over heels to the bottom. This fall accounts for a cut on Mrs. Arbogast's head.

Mother Is Muscular.

Mrs. Arbogast is a small woman, not over-strong, but so vigorous that she did all her own housework and never employed a servant. She never even allowed her daughters to work about the house. Mrs. Abrogast has been subject to nervous trouble for years.

The daughter, Louise, has not been mentally right for several years, it is said. When quite young she began to visit fortune tellers and kept it up until it amounted to a passion with her. As a result of what the fortune teller said she developed a fine hallucination that she and her sister were being pursued by a mysterious man. Her condition became such that last winter she was sent to St. Luke's hospital. She only recently returned, apparently cured of the hallucination, but at intervals her mind returned to fortune telling and such arts, until again she became thoroughly obsessed. It is reported that she was preparing to take another rest cure this summer.

Dissolving Methods Cure

The human body is more complex than any machine or device ever invented, and if anything is going wrong with any of its parts the ends of the nerves send the message by their numerous strings up to the brain, and there the danger is manifesting itself in pain because of the inflammation, pressure or decay, which impedes upon the nerves of the suffering parts. People make the greatest mistakes in constantly drugging and doping the body in order to rid themselves of the pain, and instead of going to doctors who know how to cure chronic diseases, they go to the drug stores, buy some dope, which deadens and poisons the nerves. Meanwhile the destructive work of the disease goes on and the body slowly will be destroyed. That is the reason why people lived longer in olden times when they didn't have so many drugs and pain killers. We are getting away too far from nature and that is the reason why young people are looking old and die young.

Science has made a greater advance in the last fifty years than it did in 2,000 years previously and the method of dissolving chronic pathological lesions and diseased organs is one of the greatest achievements of medical specialists. In Duluth, the Progressive Medical Specialists on Superior street and Lake avenue are the only ones who practice this method. A man don't like to have steel, sharp and cutting, put into his abdomen to get rid of his gallstones or appendix. Nor does he like to have the knife or red hot iron put into his rectum to be relieved of piles or cancers. That method of getting rid of diseases is old and barbarous. This process of dissolving is the most wonderful, though natural process. There is no pain, nor cutting, nor blood shedding, and it never fails to get results in the hands of these Expert Specialist. You can be cured by this process of cancer, RUPTURE, kidney trouble, lung and heart disease, paralysis, skin diseases, rheumatism, liver and bladder trouble, varicose veins, blood poison, lost strength, bad habits and secret vice. You can be cured and made happy. Remember that these doctors are experts in men's diseases and can cure you, no matter how long you may have had it. You may consult them without any cost from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., and it would pay you to have their opinion and advice free or charge.

THEIR WORK IS PRAISED

Reception and Banquet Given Senator Gunn and Rep. McGarry.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The reception and banquet tendered Senator Gunn of Grand Rapids and Representative McGarry of Walker last evening was one of the most enthusiastic affairs ever taking place in the history of the village.

The banquet and reception was given by the people to show their appreciation for the memorable fight the two made in the legislative session just closed that the proposed new sixth normal school might be located at Cass Lake.

Although the governor saw fit to veto the Cass Lake bill after the fight had been won, because he did not consider the school necessary now, the memory of that contest will always be looked to with pride by the loyal and patriotic Cass Lakeites.

When the fight began and it was noted that these men were going to take the field single handed against all the other normal school aspirants, success looked an impossibility. But, assisted by able colleagues, they defeated their opponents at every turn of the road in the prettiest fight ever pulled off before the lawmakers.

Met By Village Band.

The guests were met at the train by the village band and a large number of representative citizens. They were escorted to the Endion hotel, where a most sumptuous banquet was tendered them.

Senator O'Neil presided as toastmaster, in the usual entertaining manner. Mayor Lange was called upon to welcome the distinguished guests. Other speakers were H. L. Hartley, M. Larson, J. F. Niels and Receiver Wood of the United States land office. All paid a high tribute to the guests.

Senator Gunn addressed the gathering and complimented those present on the manly bunch of fighters they possess.

"Cass Lake is the place for that normal school, and you shall have it yet," said the senator.

Representative P. H. McGarry also spoke highly of Cass Lake citizens and stated that the normal fight was still in the air.

CITY COUNCILS' DAYS NUMBERED

Bill to Pass Wisconsin Legislature Allowing Commission Form.

Madison, Wis., May 15.—Within a year from this time a considerable number of Wisconsin cities will have abolished their common councils and boards of aldermen and established the commission form of municipal government.

This was made certain practically beyond peradventure when Chairman Estabrook of the assembly committee on cities announced that the Whitehead bill as passed by the senate had met with the unanimous approval of the committee on cities, upon which it was referred for consideration upon its arrival in the assembly.

So well did the senate committee do its work on this measure, that the assembly committee, after mature consideration of the subject, has determined not to propose a single amendment, and will report the bill to the assembly with a recommendation for passage.

"GOOD" INDIANS STILL LIVING

Cass Lake, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. H. F. Parshall of Cass Lake, archdeacon of the diocese of Duluth, has during the past year finished the vast amount of work which he undertook for the betterment of the parishioners of his diocese. In speaking of the diocese and the work among the Indians, he said: "The diocese of Duluth includes the northern two-thirds of the state of Minnesota, about 5,700 square miles, rich in its fields, forests and minerals.

"I have the supervision, under the direction of the bishop, of all the missionary work of the diocese. My residence has been established in Cass Lake, so as to be as near as possible to the center of my work.

"We have been able to prove to our own satisfaction, and will undertake to convince the most skeptical if he will investigate, the falsity of the very general belief that 'all good Indians are dead Indians.' With an advance of but little more than half a century in the ways of civilization, I am not able to recall another people, of which history gives us record, who have made so great an advance in the same length of time.

"The Indians are as children still; they are improvident; they are easily led into ways of right living, and just as easily led into ways of evil; they look to the white man as their natural guides, and just here lies the greatest difficulty the missionary has to contend with. The white man has too often proven himself unworthy of his civilization. Looking only to his own selfish interests, he has not hesitated to cheat, rob and defraud his red brother. Not only so, but in order to carry out his selfish schemes he has led the Indian into ways that are absolutely wrong. He has not hesitated to teach the Indian to drink liquor, in order that when drunk the Indian might fall the more easy victim to his nefarious schemes. Any sweeping charge may be unjust to some, yet it may be stated as a general rule that the treatment of our Indians by the white people of our border towns is unworthy of the civilization of this twentieth century.

"Our greatest need today, in connection with this work, is for several consecrated men to stand as pickets in these border towns, in order that we may civilize and humanize the white people. I am doing what I can. There may be some reader who will consider it a blessed privilege to help put another man or two in these places."

Originally the owners of the property asked a greater price than the government was willing to pay. The department finally placed the sum of $10,500 as the up-set price.

On Monday the owners accepted the government offer by wire through Assistant United States Attorney Barnett of Fargo, who acts for the government at this end. Wednesday, the attorney general of the United States, through instructions from the treasury department, wired official acceptance of the site on the terms agreed upon subject to approval of the title in the usual way. SEND APPEAL TO REP. C. B. MILLER

Cloquet, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Commercial club the pending tariff bill was discussed with the idea of obtaining expressions of the general sentiment, especially on that part of the bill relating to iron, lumber and paper. A committee was appointed to draw up and send to Congressman C. B. Miller of Duluth a letter embodying the general sentiment that this section of the district is not in favor of the above named articles being placed on the free list.

The letter in part is as follows: "In view of the fact that your congressional district has three vital interests, iron, lumber and paper, with subsidiary but important industries directly dependent upon the triple alliance of the development of these resources and that your congressional district is not agricultural and never will be and that the sum total of its wealth is concentered in the above named, we wish it made known to you that this whole section is not in favor of free iron, lumber or paper and the introduction of material for its manufacture.

"We feel justly alarmed at any delinquency or inertness in opposition to such legislation as proposed and, seemingly, in danger of enactment, and are amazed at any apparent acquiesence with, or advocacy, on the part of our official representatives in congress, of a measure which so strangely and so grossly intermingles high and even higher rates of tariff on essential commodities, the very necessaries of life, and then seeks to 'hamstring' the great industries by which the rank and file of the vast Northeastern region earn their daily bread."

Some of the timber claims now engaging the attention of the legal department are greatly involved, dating back fully ten years. The evidence in some of them is defective, and Mr. Simpson looks upon half a loaf as better than none. In all there are about twenty-five causes of action.

DRAIN ROW ENDED.

Richland County Citizens Have Reached an Agreement.

Wahpeton, N. D., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The drain troubles which have been stirring the residents of the western portion of Richland county have finally been disposed of, the Richland drainage board ordering work on the proposed Wild River drain discontinued. The project, if pushed through, would have meant an expenditure of approximately $30,000, which is more than the farmers interested believed it to be worth, they being of the opinion that benefits to that amount would not accrue from the work.

Several big meetings of the farmers were held at Lidgerwood and at one of these a delegation was named to appear before the board with the request that the work be stopped and this committee was successful in its mission.

Because You're Old

Is no Reason Why You Should not Enjoy Good Health—Quite the Contrary—Read What Others Say.

Old people should enjoy life and good health just as well as younger people. They can easily do so if they will but pay due attention to their bodily welfare. As old age creeps on, the vital forces are less strong and the general functions of the body are not performed as thoroughly and vigorously as they were when the body was younger. It is then that a good, gently stimulating tonic is required.

Mr. Clinton De Witt of Copemish, Michigan, who is 75 years old and works every day, praises Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the best tonic medicine for the old.

Recently Mr. De Witt wrote: "I am 75 years old, and at my time of life need a good tonic stimulant. Have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for years and find that it is the very thing I need, and am free from the pains and aches old age is subject to. I am strong and vigorous and work every day. I heartily recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to all old people as the best medicine they can take."

Thousands of men and women, who have almost reached the four-score mark, tell the same story as Mr. De Witt about what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has done toward renewing their youth and keeping them vigorous, hale and hearty and in possession of all their faculties. As a leading doctor says, the secret of the whole thing is that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, if taken as prescribed, drives out all disease germs, invigorate the brain, enriches the blood, quickens the circulation and prevents decay and old age.

This wonderful remedy has been extolled throughout the world for what it has done for suffering humanity. The success of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in curing disease has caused many unreliable dealers to put up substitutes and imitations with which to fool the people, claiming that their substitutes are just as good as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Insist on the genuine. It will cure you.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold throughout the world by druggists, grocers and dealers, or shipped direct for $1.00 per large bottle.

If in need of advice, write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a handsome illustrated medical booklet, containing some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of the world's greatest medicine.

A Universal Desire

The desire to own a piece of land All our Own, is well nigh universal, but the supply is nearly exhausted; Uncle Sam can no longer give every man a 160-acre farm, but the Florida Fruit Lands company can sell you a 10, 20 or 40-acre fruit farm that will make more money than any 160 acres of wheat, for $240; $10 down and $10 per month.

La Crosse	1	2	.333

Eau Claire, Wis., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the ninth inning yesterday, it looked as if Duluth was going to tie the score with the local team but Kick made a sensational catch and prevented the visitors from prolonging the pastime. The final score was 5 to 4 in favor of Eau Claire.

The locals were there with the rungetting ability, but they made two errors while the players from the Head of the Lakes played an errorless game throughout.

Murray started out in the capacity of delivery boy for the Duluthians, and all went well until the second inning, when the home team fell upon him for two runs. Mr. Murray underwent a similar humiliation in the third, and in the fourth Eau Claire got another tally.

At about that stage of the proceedings Murray was summoned to the bench and Mr. Thorsen was sent in to pitch. He was carrying a new line of shoots, none of the popular shades offered by Murray, and the locals did not have such a circus with him.

The visitors did not score until the fifth, when they collected two runs. They got another in the sixth, which worried the local management so that they recalled Biesser and trotted Morrow into the box. Eau Claire did not score after the fourth, and Duluth was unable to make more than one in the ninth, so that the game went to Eau Claire.

A feature of the gameswas the hitting accomplished by Kohl, the Duluth shortstop, who got two singles and a triple in three. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Eau Claire	5	6	1

Batteries—Murray, Thorsen and McKenzie; Biesser, Morrow and Neiman.

SUPERIOR LOSES TO WAUSAU.

Swampers Are Defeated By Two of Their Errors.

Wausau, Wis., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wausau took a close game from Superior yesterday, the score at the close being 4 to 3. The contest was a great improvement over the previous day's effort, although both sides committed errors. Wausau made two and the visitors had three scored up against them.

Two errors, supplemented by two hits, gave Wausau four runs and the game in the fourth inning. It was the only time the locals crossed the platter. Superior scored one in the second inning and two in the sixth. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Doomer and Johnson; Dickinson and Clapper.

WINONA IS VICTORIOUS.

By Heavy Batting Minnesotans Take Another From La Crosse.

Winona, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Winona batted Schardt out of the box in the second inning of the game with La Crosse here yesterday, netting five runs. The locals scored again in the seventh, making a total score of 6 against La Crosse's 4.

Wolford replaced Schardt after that awful second and he was not hammered as often. The locals used two pitchers, for the visitors, for the visitors caused near-heart failure among the local fans in the fifth, when they got three runs. They had previously romped away with one in the first. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Ryers and Robertshaw and Moore; Schardt, Wolford and Fogel.

St. Louis, Mo., May 15.—St. Louis sent Washington to the last place yesterday by winning the game. The score was 5 to 4. Waddell for the local team pitched grand ball up to the ninth inning. Then four hits, one for two bases, resulted in three runs for Washington. Powell took Waddell's place and retired the side. St. Louis scored three runs off Groom and two off Kelley. In the third inning Waddell made a two-base hit. Score:

FIGHTERS MEET FOR FOURTH TIME

Papke and Kelly Ready for Forty-Five Round Mix.

San Francisco, Cal., May 15.—Hugo Kelly and Billy Papke are scheduled to fight forty-five rounds at Colma this afternoon in a fourth attempt to settle the question of superiority that has puzzled fight followers for years. In their previous battles Papke was awarded the decision in the first encounter; the second was a draw and in their third meeting, which was called a draw, Kelly is said to have made the better showing. With such thorough knowledge of each other's faults both men have trained hard for today's struggle, and the vanquished cannot urge lack of preparation as an excuse for inability to go the long route. Both have reduced gradually to the stipulated 158 pounds and apparently without the loss of vitality.

In fact so favorably has each impressed close observers that opinion has remained almost equally divided as to their respective merits. Until last night the odds were at evens, but before midnight Papke was installed a 10 to 8 favorite, probably because the German is considered stronger, a harder puncher, and better able to fight three hours, should the bout be prolonged to the advertised limit. Opposed to this view of the matter are the contentions of Kelly's backers who cite his superior cleverness and all-round ring generalship.

In explaining the adverse decision in his first argument with Papke, Kelly says he broke an arm early in the contest. In regard to the 25-round fight at Los Angeles which most of the spectators thought was favorable to Kelly, although declared a draw by Referee Jeffries, Papke explains that he was a sick man and desire to not disappoint the public was all that induced him to enter the ring.

Ohio State vs. Michigan.

Columbus, Ohio, May 15.—Ohio state's track team will have one of its hardest dual meets this afternoon, when Michigan appears on the field. Michigan has one of the crack teams of the country, and all of the stars, except the relay team, will be sent.

Among the features of the meet will be May and Dell, two of the best long-distance runners in the inter-collegiate world, and who won points for Michigan at the inter-collegiate events at Philadelphia for the last three years. State will be handicapped in the short dashes, as Millions, one of the stars, is out with a sprained ankle. Coach Riley is looking for a good showing and will be satisfied if the Wolverines do not run the score too high.

College Field Meet.

Bloomington, Ind., May 15.—There is considerable interest in the dual meet between Indiana and Purdue university, which will be held on Jordan field this afternoon. While the teams seem to be evenly matched it is conceded Purdue is stronger in the track events. Indiana easily defeated Notre Dame a few weeks ago, while Purdue was overwhelmed by Illinois last Saturday.

YOUNG SHERMAN LOSES AT GOLF

Washington, May 15.—Twice yesterday Walter J. Travis, former amateur champion of the United States, demonstrated his prowess as a golf expert. Today he will play in the finals for the first prize in the opening test of the Chevy Chase Golf club.

J. B. Whigham of Garden City, another ex-champion, did not continue in the game yesterday, and C. H. McDonald of the same club, third ex-champion in the tournament, was so displeased by his defeat yesterday afternoon in the contest for first honors among the second eight that he walked to the clubhouse without turning in his score.

His opponent, A. S. Mattingly of Chevy Chase, had won three up and two to play. The other big surprise of the day was the defeat in the morning round of T. M. Sherman, son of the vice president, who won the qualification cup Thursday by turning in the best medal score.

Good-sized galleries followed the star performers, particularly Mr. Travis and his opponent. Many odd misfortunes befell the contestants. Mr. Travis's one holed his ball on the fork of a cedar tree.

Mr. Travis won his afternoon match with Reeve Lewis of Chevy Chase in better fashion than he did his morning match with Tuckerman of the same club. In the afternoon Mr. Travis won by three up and two to play. Throughout the champion played a steady game. His score for the sixteen holes was: Out, 3 4 4 3 3 4 6 4—38; in, 4 4 6 4 3 5 3 x x.

In the upper half of the first eight Allan Lard, Chevy Chase, who defeated Mr. Sherman in the morning, also won from J. C. Davidson of Columbia.

Today Mr. Lard will meet Mr. Travis in the finals.

"Scott-Graffs" Reorganize.

The Scott-Graff baseball team will open the season tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park, when they will play the Marshall-Wells team.

The Scott-Graffs have not played yet this season, as the weather has prevented practice. There are no less than twenty candidates trying for positions on the team. Manager A. Swanstrom is confident of having as good a nine as any semi-professional team in the city.

The team will journey to Iron River May 23, when they hope to win back the laurels that they lost last year. The following men will report Sunday: Piering, Flynn, catchers; Swanstrom, Mathison, Hagelan, pitchers; Bailly, first base; Smith, second base; Johnson, third base; Lelm, shortstop; Owens, center field; Churchill, left field; Jackson, right field.

Hummers Want Games.

Games can be arranged by calling old 'phone 2651-M between 6 and 7 p. m.

WHAT THEY THINK

Joe Choynski.

I fought Jeffries twenty rounds to a draw in California in 1897, and I feel that I am in a position to know what he is like today. For me, I think he is as good right now as he was then, and it will take no five months of training to fit him for battle. His work on the stage is as hard as he ever did in any gym training for a fight, and I believe when his theatrical engagements are over he will be fit to step right into the ring and defeat Johnson. Will he win? My answer is, will a duck swim? Had I not seen it with my own eyes I would never have believed that a man out of the ring so long could get back in his present shape.

Jack Curley.

Jeffries gave me the surprise of my life when I saw him box. Instead of seeing a great big fat boxer, I saw an athlete in almost perfect condition. He boxed harder with Berger and never showed the least effect on his wind. I look for Jeffries to win in easy fashion when he meets Johnson—there will be nothing to it.

Packey McFarland.

I saw Jeffries in Los Angeles when I was out that way last and he looked like a half dozen men all in one. If one had told me he could get down to fighting weight I would have laughed. My eyes told me last night that he was down to about 240 pounds, and while it is a big surprise to me, it is true. Jeff works well, and I am sure he will beat Johnson.

Harry Gilmore, Jr.

I saw Jeffries box in this city seven years ago, and I think he has improved in the meantime. One month in a training camp will fit him for the hardest kind of a fight Johnson can give him, and Jack can go some. Yes, Jeff can win in ten rounds, sure.

Lon Houseman.

Jeffries' improved condition has impressed me greatly, and I feel sure that he can win. If he is 75 per cent as good as he was four years ago, and that seems certain, he can beat Johnson. To me he looks like the same Jeffries that I saw in years gone by.

Larney Lichtenstein.

I saw Jeffries fight and I saw Jeffries train, but never has he impressed me more than now. He has lost that weight that hung to his bones and made him look big and fat. He is hard and well trained and he could fight within two weeks. In Sam Berger he has a fellow, while no champion, who is there with the mitts, and Jeff simply plays with him. Berger is a wonder. As a show man I want to laud him as a real actor. Jeffries will beat Johnson sure.

Jimmy Callahan.

I'm a baseball player and ought to stay in my field, but from what I have seen of fighters I must join my friends in saying Jeffries is a big surprise. To me he looks fit to battle tomorrow.

HANDS OUT HOT TALK

Old Timer Is Some Chesty in Chicago Newspaper Talk.

Chicago, May 15.—James J. Jeffries will fight Jack Johnson within five months after his vaudeville contract expires. He is signed with Billy Morris for nine weeks more of theatrical work, and when this is finished he will sign to battle the big black.

Jeff was not at all peeved when he got in from the East. He was in fine fettle and was enjoying his breakfast coffee in supreme content when a reporter interrupted the flow of Java.

The big fellow looked over the interloper and politely inquired what he wanted.

"All I want," was the timorous reply, "is to know whether you will receive Jack Johnson and talk fight with him."

A dark cloud overspread the countenance of the Californian. For one fleeting moment the "fighting face" that made Gus Rublin's knees knock together for mutual support appeared. The expression that broke Bob Fitzsimmon's lion heart and which struck terror to the core of Tom Sharkey flitted across Jim's face.

"If that fellow comes to see me he will get a cleaning for which he might get a lot of money later on," thundered the former king of battlers. "I don't want to see him. I don't want him to sneak any advertising at my expense. I have said I will fight him and that goes. But I won't even talk to him until I have finished my theatrical contract in June. Tell his friends to keep him out of my sight, for I'll knock his block off the first time I see him."

"Will you sign up then?" was the next question.

"Yes," said Jim.

"But will you demand an additional six months in which to prepare for the bout?"

"Well, I don't think so. I'm not prepared to say as to that. But I have said I will fight him, and that goes as it lies. I could whip him on one second's notice."

Jeffries had recovered his equanimity by that time, and was willing to go along smoothly in his conversation when the interviewer was tactless enough to refer to the statement given out here several weeks ago, in which Johnson said he would confront the bollermaker and offer him $1,000 to say yes or no and agree upon even a tentative date for the ring battle.

The Californian glowered at his visitor. He doubled his massive right fist and gazed tenderly at his left mitt, upon which was a pestiferous boil, and which was encased in soothing salve and oiled silk.

Then he glowered some more.

Finally he found utterance and said: "Under those conditions I would be glad to receive Johnson. I would welcome him. If he comes to me with that yellow-back with all those numbers on it I will take it away from him.

"Johnson, however, will keep out of my way until we meet in the ring. Jack Johnson won an easy victory over Tommy Burns in Sydney, N. S. W., on Dec. 26 of last year. Just as easy victory will I have over the negro fighter, who says he is champion of the world, but he will be a more marked fighter than Burns was. I will batter him beyond recognition. I have harbored ill-feeling for a number of the men I met in battle, but never so bitter have I been against any other living soul. I'll batter him into such a state of helplessness that he will never fight again. I'll show no mercy.

"It would not surprise me if I knocked him out in a jiffy—that is, if he'll stand up and fight. The club that offers me the best inducements will get the mill."

SAYS HE CUT DOWN ONLY THREE

Cobb Denies He Hasn't Right Regard for Players' Safety.

Detroit, Mich., May 15.—Charges that Ty Cobb sharpens his spikes and doesn't care if they dig into an opposing player have brought out the following from him.

"Now, I'm known as a rowdy and they say I purposely try to cut down a player when I am sliding to a base. They do me a great injustice," shouted Ty. "I tell you, mister, it's infamous! Why, I have never cut down but three men since I've been in he big league and they're good friends of mine right now.

"The three men I accidentally injured are Billy Sullivan, one of the finest fellows in the business, and Frank Isbell, of the White Sox, and Bradley of the Clevelands, and he came to me and said 'Ty, old boy, it wasn't your fault.' Why, your man, George Stone (and everybody knows George wouldn't hurt a chicken), has cut down six or seven men. He's an awful dangerous man on the bases. He's heavy and fast and tears into a man like a locomotive. Did anybody ever call him a rowdy? Eh? Put me right, bo! I don't mind the bleachers roasting me, but put me right, will you?

"I want to say right now I'm no man's friend on the ball field. I'm there to win. After the game is over, it's different."

Amateur Marathon Race.

New York, May 15.—Two hundred runners will take part in New Jersey's big amateur Marathon race to be run over the Hudson county boulevard today. Among them are almost every winner of an amateur Marathon held in this vicinity during the past year. The start and finish of the race will be at the Jersey City baseball club grounds and in the interval, an attractive series of athletic events will take place on the grounds. Valuable prizes will be given to the first thirty men who finish in the Marathon.

GOPHERS IN DUAL MEET

Minnesota Track Team Is Lining Up Against Nebraska.

Cornhuskers Said to Be Strong—Teams Are Well Matched.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 15.—This afternoon, Minnesota meets Nebraska in a dual field meet, the only one scheduled for Northrop field. Minnesota is hoped to take the half-mile and two-mile and has a chance in the dashes. Harold Hull, who won the half-mile a year ago against Iowa, is in the best of condition and is expected to take that event tomorrow afternoon. Reidpath, winner of the mile against Iowa this spring, and Gadsby have been training hard since the Iowa meet and should have no trouble in taking the mile. Connolly is looked upon as a sure winner in the two-mile, his record being a full minute faster than was done by the Nebraskan.

Nebraska seems to have the upper hand in the dashes, and Smiley, the university's best sprinter, will have a chance to make a record for himself by winning the events he took at Iowa. He never has been pushed very hard, so his limit is unknown.

In the field events, it is about a toss-up. Nebraska has an edge of over a foot in the broad jump, but Minnesota also has the best of the argument in the discus and the shot put. Ostrand, who has been making 140 feet daily in practice, should, with good luck, take the hammer throw.

This meet will serve to get a line on the Minnesota men at their best and serve as a forecast as to what can be expected of them at the western intercollegiate meet at Chicago, in June. This year the track work is under the guidance of Dick Grant, a well known long distance runner, formerly a member for three years of the Harvard track team and a winner of a gold medal at the Olympic games. He is still an amateur and is coaching Minnesota from pure love of the sport. Never before have the men trained under such expert eyes. He came into Minnesota athletics last October and his quiet kindliness to the students won him immediate favor and his great reputation as a runner at once fostered Minnesota track prospects. Hitherto Minnesota has been extremely weak in the track and field and at the conference of the big nine, the last five years has secured one-third and one second.

The team has been particularly unfortunate in losing its best hurdler and broad jumper, Stubb. He won his "M" two years ago, but left school for a while and is now ineligible for athletics this spring. Eligibility rules also keep out Leonard Frank, a freshman. He is a star weight man and has already broken the university record for the discus throw.

Ketchel adds golf to training stunts!

And here we have it. Tom Figg was the first champion—that is, the first champion outside of the stone age—the first guy who could beat the other fellows without the use of a big club. Tom had the knuckle scientists of his day, but Tom was but an uncouth chap, who wotted little of anything in particular, but to tuderly strike an opponent in some vulnerable spot.

In those old days, so far as any fistiana history has disclosed to us, they trained upon raw meat and sandbags. They simply trained for brute strength. In later period, they wore shoes with lead soles so as to give their limbs greater strength.

The fighters of old Tom's day were a burly bunch of mortality boosters. They knew as much about latter day training methods as a Berkshire hog on Frank Gotch's Iowa farm knows of the soul fights that have been experienced by Mary McLean.

Pipes and Greeting. That is really not an expression; it is the name of a first citizen. He—Pipes and Greeting—flourished along in 1720. He used about the same methods as his predecessor, Tom Figg. They were slow, lumbering fellows, but little removed from the stone age fighting chaps, who could swing a stone-hung weapon with point and effect.

Speed was never thought of in those rude, boisterous days of Merrie England. Those fighters used to hang around the "h ale" house when they were engaged upon some training stunt, and this habit of filling up in the forward hatch, didn't serve to increase their speed.

One of the fights that outshone politics, religious discussions and other things was the Sayers-Heenan fight. The fight occurred in April, 1860, in England. Royalty and nobility attended the fight. Heenan, our John, should have won, but a lot of cockney chaps who couldn't stand to see the pride of England beaten, busted the ropes and stopped the fight.

Our John and English Tom were about as fast as a broken-down North Dakota ox team. They were there with a lusty swing and all that stuff, but they didn't know as much about the fine points of the game as our worst examples of pugilistic production in these modern days.

Then some one, it has been accredited to Arthur Chamberlin, an American fighter with an ingenious Yankee turn of mind, thought of the plan of the punching bag. He used pig's bladders, and kept his trainers and attendants busy hanging around the Philadelphia slaughter houses collecting them for his use. That was back in centenn al year.

That little discovery led to the modern punching bag, and you have the beginning of the school of the modern fighter.

Now see the difference. Ketchel plays golf for training purposes. Philadelphia Jawn O'Brien trips the light fantastic with some charming girl, no doubt to increase the speed of his foot work. Fighters use light running shoes, and take exercises for the purpose of increasing speed.

Years ago the good village doctors used to bleed their patients for any old kind of disease. Many of the good cits passed off under this form of treatment, but the village M. D. wasn't blamed, it was the fault of the cit.

And as the science of the bloodless surgery has developed and the X-ray has been ushered in upon an astonished world, so that lesser science of the fighter has expanded and developed under the modern years.

Jim Corbett, marvel of speed that he was, marked the turning point from the second period of fighters to the modern American school.

"Let a man acquire speed and he will give you all the fight you want," was a favorite maxim of the ex-San Francisco bank clerk. Just how true that observation upon the part of James was, was shown when he faced the brawny and rather ponderous John Lawrence Sullivan.

And so we have the fighters playing golf, dancing and doing every form of exercise to develop their speed. And then, too, some of the modern fighters have been known to have brains. This would have proved a serious detriment to success in the old days.

Gentleman John Jackson, who swatted fellow-fighters along in 1795, was that cultured that he could write letters to the nobility who patronized him. John was a very wise citizen in his day, and he had an article of polished con that made the British titled boys fall for his work. John stood out in bold relief in the dark ages, although Jim Belcher, who followed him, was rightly named, for he acted the part. His head was shaped like a cocoanut that had been stunted before it reached the market, and Darwin would have gasped with glee could he have secured Jim for a theory in his missing link.

Even our big men of today have acquired speed. They have quit the ponderous training methods of the past and have taken to the form of exercise that brings speed to the limb and eye, quickness to the brain and agility to the body. No more striking example of this could be cited than James J. Jeffries.

Here was a big, lumbering mountain of a youth. They used to laugh at his efforts to hit Jim Corbett, when the latter was training for the Fitzsimmons fight, out at Carson City, Nev. But through the skillful training of Tommy Ryan, a marvel of cleverness and speed, this big man lost his awkwardness and became a really speedy and scientific man.

At Carson City in 1897 he was a slow and gawky fighter in the hands of the lightning Corbett. At San Francisco in 1903, he actually outboxed the agile Corbett.

And so we have a revolution in the training methods of fighters. They are now trained for speed—speed of action, of thought, of judgment. In that headline announcing the fact that Mr. Ketchel is playing that good old Scotch game of golf, you have the latest stunt of the modern fighters; you have bridged the chasm that separates the old, plugging, grinding methods of the old days from the light and airy methods that modern boxers combine with their more strenuous exercise to obtain speed and control of mind.

Young Joseph Abrams, who operates the machine that throws the motion pictures of the Burns-Johnson fight upon the screen, has taken pictures at some of the most important fights held in this country. He was present at the Jeffries-Sharkey fight, when the men fought in an atmosphere so intense that men at the ringside became faint. The heat came from the great candle power light that was necessary to get a perfect picture of the fighters. The young operator had to do with the securing of those pictures, one of the most perfect films ever secured.

He has been present at all of the big New York fights that flourished in the good old days of the Horton law. He has seen all of the big men of the past and present day in action, and he will tell you that James J. Jeffries was the greatest man of his day and generation, and that should the old gladiator again don the war spangles, and be anywhere like the Jeffries of old he will give one Mr. Johnson, he of a husky line, a lacing that will be measured only by the intensity of mourning in the darker settlements of this country.

Robinson, the proprietor of the St. Louis National league baseball team, has insured his star catcher and manager, Roger Bresnahan, for $50,000. Mr. Robinson figures that Roger cost him about $25,000 silver efforts to secure. Then he is paying the baseball player a salary of $25,000 for three years' work. So if Roger should get in the way of a fast, high inshoot that should cop him on the cerre bellum, whatever that is, Mr. Robinson is figuring out where he comes in.

Insurance agents probably figured out that they were not taking a very great risk. Roger wears about everything they put on a battleship. He wears shin guards, patent mask, and a few other things, besides. Yet Magnate Robinson isn't taking any chances with that flighty dame, Fate.

AUTO NEWS OF THE WEEK

Results of the Recent Pittsburg Endurance Contest.

Road to Twin Cities Is in Very Bad Condition.

Although thirty-seven automobiles were entered and twenty-four started in the Pittsburg endurance run held by the Gazette-Times and the Chronicle-Telegraph of that city, only eleven were able to finish, so difficult was the three-day trail over mountain roads, made slippery by heavy rains. And of these eleven only one, a Franklin, driven by C. S. Carris, ended the three-day run of 450 miles without penalization of a point or fraction thereof for repairs or adjustments.

The score as is finally announced by the judges several days after the contest shows that in this test of endurance not a bolt or nut had been stirred from its proper place by the racking through which the machine had been put, and there was no sign of the breakages which were the lot of a number of the entrants.

The course had been laid out with a view to providing an extreme denomination of what automobile construction would stand or fail to stand. Each day's run started at Pittsburg, and each night the cars finished in that city. Each day's route was in a different direction from that of the other days. The plan was to remove all possibility of making perfect scores; it was believed that no car would be able to go over the mountainous route without injury to some part of its construction.

The car which overturned the plans for making repairs and adjustments necessary is of the same type as the motor that won the last year two perfect scores in the Glidden tour, the Bretton Woods run, the Chicago endurance contest, the Cleveland sealed bonnet run and the Worcester reliability and endurance contest.

Carris, the driver of the car, is one of the two who three years ago took a Franklin touring car from ocean to ocean, making the run from New York to San Francisco in 15 days 2 hours and 12 minutes and establishing the trans-continental record which stands today.

Mr. Elliatrault of the Mutual Auto company has received a letter from J. J. Barclay of the Barclay Automobile company of Minneapolis, telling of the return to that city from Duluth of the scout car, with the party that came up last week to look over the roads and lay out the course for the coming endurance run.

The trip was without accident. Mr. Elliatrault and others who had taken upon themselves the entertainment of the party in Duluth, had feared that in the condition of the country road the car might be disabled. Shovels, rope and a variety of wrecking equipment and emergency tools had been placed in the tonneau. They were not needed.

According to Mr. Barclay the roads, after leaving Duluth, were in frightful shape, and numerous repairs will necessarily have to be made before the endurance run, unless the Cross Over them during the next two months serves to level them out and harden them for auto travel.

Members of the Minneapolis Automobile club and Twin Cities motorists in general, are enthusiastic over the coming run. Now that it is an assured fact, scores are planning to enter the contest.

Numerous inquiries are received from automobile owners outside of Minneapolis and St. Paul as to conditions, qualifications and terms of entry. It is impossible to predict now the number of entries, but judging from the interest expressed they will be numerous.

"The most beautiful drive I have ever seen," is the way A. M. Russell of the Russell Motor company characterizes the Duluth boulevard. Mr. Russell and a party took a trip over the new extension to West Duluth Friday. He thinks Duluth has one of the finest roadways in the United States and one that every citizen should be proud of. "At the present time," said Mr. Russell, "the extension is too new to be of much use to automobile drivers. Parts of the new roadway are practically impassable and in places so soft that even the lightest cars will sink in the soft mud a foot or more. It will take some time for the road to settle and harden."

Kansas City, Mo., May 15.—Harry Trendall of St. Louis knocked out Jimmy Devine, Eastern lightweight, in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here last night.

WILL NOT MOLEST ORAL BETTORS

Improved Conditions for Those Who Bet on the Horses.

New York, May 15.—The metropolitan racing season opened Thursday afternoon at Belmont park, under modified conditions, but with prospects that seem bright to thousands of turf followers. The passage of the Agnew-Hart measure last year was a body blow, while the enforcement of it caused no end of trouble and inconvenience for those persons who made further attempts to speculate on the races in a private, inconspicuous manner. Persons who made "oral wagers" with one another were arrested and dragged away to police stations, where they sent for bondsmen, and the next day were held for trials that have never been placed before a jury. As a result of all this so-called oppression the race tracks were soon desolate places to visit, and at the close of the season only a handful of regulars were in at the death.

Since last fall, however, the Agnew-Hart law has been taken before high official authorities, who have made certain decisions which are expected to govern the attitude of the various officers of the law in whose districts race meetings will be conducted. While the courts have made it clear that the law prohibits "bookmaking," defined as the business of "accepting and recording bets, together with the display of odds and the use of gambling paraphernalia," the point regarding the making of oral bets or wagers has been settled in this way:

The appellate division of the supreme court had ruled that a man can make an oral wager on a horserace, after which he can pay or collect the amount of his wager in cash. The appellate division also has ruled that a man can quote odds and accept as many wagers on a horserace as he may see fit without recording said wagers to keep track of his business. Both of these decisions will be passed on by the court of appeals.

From these legal rulings it is not hard to get the impression that it is not a violation of the law to make or take a bet on a horse race without passing money before the event. The recording of wagers is the hinge on which the whole betting situation turns. The court of special sessions, Justice Hoyt presiding, decided last year in the case of Charles Mahoney of the Hoffman House that it was not a violation of the law for a bettor to make a private memorandum of his own wagers. This also was the opinion handed down by Justice Gaynor in the Sterling case, tried in Nassau county in the fall.

Although this particular point has not been carried to the highest court yet, it is a prevailing opinion among lawyers that it will be finally established beyond a question of reasonable doubt that a bettor can make a record of his own bet. It will not be surprising, therefore, if a test case develops on these lines soon after the local season opens.

As the situation is today, therefore, people can go to the race tracks and bet orally on the horses without fear of arrest. Their wagers can be accepted by former so-called bookmakers provided the latter do not personally record them. Unless a former so-called bookmaker after accepting numerous wagers, jots them down in his own notebook he cannot be successfully prosecuted for violating the law. That is the whole case in a nutshell as far as it has gone.

There are other important points to be brought up later from time to time which, if favorably acted upon by the courts, will permit racing to thrive. At present the patrons of the turf can rest assured that when they visit Belmont park next Thursday they will not be molested by the county detectives in any way.

A MARATHON FOR GRANDFATHERS

Chicago Enthusiasts Dig Up a Brand New Sporting Scheme.

Chicago, May 15.—South Chicago had a grandfathers' Marathon and it was won by Charles Bittner, 52 years old, a switchman. John Kane, 51 years old, a steel worker was second and Joseph Glassner, 52 years old, a switchman, was third. The distance was five miles and there were thirty-six entries, fourteen of which finished. Entrants had to be over 50 years old.

"I'm running to let Dr. Osler and these young athletes around know that a man over 60 can still sprint," Joseph Kilduff, 67 years old, the oldest entrant, said before the start.

Joseph did not finish however.

Big Meet Today.

New Haven, Conn., May 15.—The Harvard track team, which is to compete today with Yale in the annual dual track games at Yale field, arrived yesterday. Both Yale and Harvard track men agree that the meet will be stubbornly contested, but that chances are in favor of a Yale victory by a slight margin.

BOTH MEN CONFIDENT

Kelly Says Papke Will Get His in Twentieth Round.

Papke Attributes Recent Defeats to That Swelled Up Feeling.

San Francisco, Cal., May 15.—Eddie Smith will referee the Papke-Kelly bout today. Yesterday he visited Kelly at Croll's and watched the Chicago middleweight go through his work. Kelly was in good humor. He advised Smith to do a little training on his own account.

"This is going to be a fast and vicious fight and you will need to be in good condition," said Hugo.

"How long a bout will I train for?" asked Smith.

"Well, it's likely to run along until the twentieth round," said Kelly. "I will have Papke badly beaten up by that time, and I will administer a knockout punch in the concluding round."

The nearer Kelly gets to his fourth meeting with Papke the more convinced is he that he did not receive a square deal in any of one of their former meetings.

"I beat him in Milwaukee, and they called it a draw. After that I boxed him ten rounds with a crippled arm, and they decided against me; when the worst I should have had was a draw," said Hugo. "As for the Los Angeles affair, every one there said I won a block."

Kelly, like Papke, is anxious to box Ketchel, and, as Willus Britt, acting for Ketchel, has wired Coffroth asking for the July 5 date, it is more than likely that a fight between Ketchel and the winner of the May 15 contest will take the place of the Packey McFarland and Battling Nelson bout.

Papke is in excellent spirits and talks freely of his prospects, as well as of the mistakes he thinks he has made in the past.

"When I came here to begin training for Ketchel," he said, "I weighed 148 pounds. When I started in working for Kelly this last time I was 165, which is a big difference. I'll tell you what I think was wrong with me in my last two fights. I was all swelled up, as they say, over beating Ketchel at Los Angeles, and when I went back to Kewanee I surely gave me a good time. I caught rheumatism while taking part in several coon hunts by the light of the moon on damp nights, and I was sprightly when I started for here to get ready for Ketchel. I wasn't myself, and after losing to Ketchel and then making a draw of it with Kelly, I quit fighting and did some deep thinking."

FRANK ISBELL SOLE SURVIVOR

Cleveland, Ohio, May 15.—A bald-headed man paced up and down the corridors of the Hotel Euclid.

"I don't know whether to feel puffed up, or just lonesome," he said, "but do you know that of all the old bunch that came down to Cleveland from Chicago in 1900, the first year of the American league, I am the only one left?" And Isbell was right.

The Chicago team won the pennant that year. Dick Padden was the manager. The team won eighty-two and lost fifty-three games. Cleveland and Detroit are still in the league as it existed then, but the other five cities have dropped out. They were Buffalo, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

"Wonderful are the changes that are wrought in this old game," Izzy went on. "Our pitchers that year were Denzer, Fisher, Patterson and Katoll. Not one of them is prominent in the game today.

"Sugden, Wood and Buckley were our catchers; all of them have dropped out.

"Remember our old infield? Either Joe Sugden or myself played first, according to conditions; Dick Padden was at second, Charley O'Leary and Frank Shugart alternated at short, while Fred Hartman and myself took turns at third. In the outfield were 'Dummy' Hoy, Brodie and Sharon. The next year we picked up Billy Sullivan.

It was also in 1901 that Fielder Jones went to the Sox. Clarke Griffith was another of Comiskey's pickups that season. So, too, was Eddie McFarland, the Cleveland catcher. And again in 1901 the White Sox won the American league pennant.

BOER UNHOLZ WAITS FOR DANE

New York, May 15.—Rudolph Unholz, the Boring Boer, writing from Melbourne, says that he is waiting patiently for the appearance of a gentleman from Hegewisch by the name of O. M. Battling Nelson.

Rudie says in his letter that a slamfest between him and the Dane would come close to copping $50,000. A clipping inclosed says that the bout would surely draw $25,000, but no more.

Well, if all this is true the Dane is surely overlooking a tiny bet. He won't get that much playing Uncle Tom in the bush league circuit.

Unholz states further that he will wait a month or so more and at the expiration of that time, if Nelson doesn't go down and take the championship away from him, he will come back here and trim said Dane again.

Rudie knocked out Hughie Keeghan at Melbourne in two rounds recently and says that he is some pickles there ever since. We love our Bat, but Oh, you Rudie.

Police Stops Bout.

New York, May 15.—The police put a stop to a boxing bout between Johnny Glover of Boston and Johnny Murphy of New York at the Olympic Athletic club at the end of the first round last night. The fighters, the president, secretary and doorkeeper of the club were arrested. The bout was to have been a preliminary to the go between Mike Glover of Boston and Jack Curley of New York.

ANOTHER JOKE IS COMING OVER

Pierri Thinks Americans Will Fall for Another Turkish Wrestler.

Chicago, May 15.—Hassan Morat is his name.

He is the real Turkish champion wrestler.

He will be in America next fall and will go after a match with Frank Gotch for the championship of the world.

Antoine Pierri will bring him over to this country in the fall, and although Pierri says he will be the most expensive luxury that he ever indulged in, he needs him in his business, which is that of defeating Gotch.

Pierri writes from Strasburg, Germany, where he is sojourning after his strenuous American campaign, that he has completed his plans for next fall. He announces that he is to have the real champion this time. Under date of April 30 he says:

"I arrived quite safe in London with Mahmout, and sent him home. He is to get the bigges: and best wrestler in Turkey, whose name is Hassan Morat. I will bring him and Mahmout to America next September. Morat is like Yousouf, and has beaten all the best Turkish wrestlers. He will be open for any of the Americans, Frank Gotch preferred, for $1,000 a side.

"A big pasha in Asiatic Turkey has got this fellow and I may have trouble getting him. It will cost me, oh, so much money, but I know he is the real champion. Will write again soon and let you know all the news on this side of the water. Please give my regards to all my Chicago friends."

ALREADY THE SCOUTS ARE BUSY

Eastern Teams Have Men Out Looking For Promising Players.

All the clubs have men out scouting as early as this for desirable players. The New York Nationals probably have the most men at work, for John McGraw relies on the reports of the umpires in the little leagues, and consequently his sleuths do not have to cover the territory that falls to persons like George Huff, Tom McCarthy, Louis Heilbroner, Arthur Irwin and Pat Donovan.

Just as many pippins are found in the Class C and D leagues as in the Class A and B organizations, Jim McAleer of St. Louis got Dode Criss, who led the American league in hitting last year, and Jack Spencer, heavyweight catcher, from the Texas league, and also picked up Jimmy Stephens in the Lone Star state. George Huff discovered Tris Speaker, who will be one of the greatest ball players in the country in a year or two, in the Texas league, and found Ed Ruelbach, who is the greatest warm weather pitcher in the country, in a little league in Vermont.

John I. Taylor himself is some scout. He is responsible for Frank Arrelanes and Harry Hooper being with the Red Sox, having watched them work out on the coast while he was enjoying his fall vacation. Barney Dreyfuss goes on gumshoe excursions occasionally, and on one of these found Nick Maddox. Charley Murphy's best performance as a scout was in picking Floyd Kroh as a real alarm.

FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS A PITCHER

William F. Hart of Southern League Has Brilliant Record.

Little Rock, Ark., May 15.—Twenty-five years in organized baseball, 45 years of age and still a winning pitcher in a Class A league—such is the record of William F. Hart, who in his quarter of a century on the diamond has worn the uniforms of twenty different clubs in seven leagues. Father Time seems to have stayed his ruthless hand from good old Bill Hart, who in the few times that he has tested his right arm this spring has found that it has lost none of its strength and cunning. All indications point to the veteran being as effective as he ever has been all throughout his long career upon the diamond.

Unlike the vast majority of ball players, Bill has no aversion to telling his age. In fact, he is proud of the fact that he was born in Cincinnati in 1866. In his youth he was taught the printer's trade, a vocation which he still plies during his off season. But as a boy all his spare time was spent upon the lots of Cincinnati, where he gained a considerable reputation as a pitcher.

It was in 1884 that Bill made his debut into professional baseball. He was then a sturdy youngster of 18. At that time the Union association was in existence, a baseball organization of which most of the present-day fans have never heard. It was organized to fight the National league, and, like its predecessor, the Brotherhood, it was exceedingly short-lived.

Cincinnati was one of the cities in the circuit, and the club maintained a secondary team, on which young Hart was the leading pitcher. In the middle of the season, however, the league blew, and Bill, boldly forsaking his type case, signed up with the Urbana, Ohio, independent team, with which he finished the season.

His professional career really began in the Southern league. He started with Chattanooga, and played there in 1885 and a part of 1886, when he was sold to the Philadelphia team. The Philadelphia management, however, concluded that the young pitcher needed more seasoning, and sent him to the Lincoln, Neb., team of the Western league. His work attracted so much attention that Cincinnati drafted him at the close of the season, but without a trial sent him to Buffalo in the International league.

In 1889 and 1890 Hart was with Des Moines, in the Western league, and in 1891 he helped Sioux City win the pennant in the same league. The next year he signed with the Chicago club of the newly formed American association. When this organization exploded in the middle of the season Bill caught on with the Brooklyn National league team.

With Brooklyn he pitched the greatest ball of his whole career, but near the close of the season he snapped a tendon in his pitching arm. Hart then concluded that his baseball days were over and returned to the printer's case in Cincinnati, where he remained during 1893.

The following spring, however, the injured member seemed as strong as ever, and when the season opened Bill could resist the call of the diamond no longer. His old club at Sioux City was only too glad to offer him a berth. He pitched great ball that year, his effectiveness being responsible in no small measure for Sioux City winning a second pennant.

In 1895 Pittsburg drafted him back into the big league. The following year the Pirates traded him to St. Louis for Fred (Bones) Ely, the shortstop. He remained with St. Louis through 1896 and 1897, and the following year another trade sent him back to Pittsburg.

In 1899 Pittsburg traded Hart to the Milwaukee club of the Western league for Clarence Beaumont, and he remained there until 1901, when he went to Cleveland, in the American league.

In 1902 he went to Peoria as manager, and remained there for two years. Then he was offered a position as umpire in the American association, and he worked through the season of 1905 in that capacity. The famous battle in which he laid out Manager Ed Barrows of Indianapolis is still recalled in the American association.

But an umpire's life did not appeal to Bill, and in 1905 he accepted an offer to pitch for Columbus. He had a great year. He lost his first two games, then won twelve in a row, and lost his last two, his long string of victories enabling Columbus to win the pennant.

The next year he was with Indianapolis. But they decided that he was too old and turned him loose. Mike Finn heard that Hart was free and eagerly seized the opportunity to grab the old boy.

Time has proved the wisdom of his action. Under the hot Southern sun Hart has pitched great ball. He has lost his old-time speed, but his curve ball is a thing to marvel at, and no pitcher in any league has anything on the veteran when it comes to outguessing the batter.

And, as for coolness, well—Bill has been in this business too long to be worried by taunts of the hostile bleachers or the cries of the opposing coachers.

It is one of the most delightful pastimes in the world for a lover of the national game to get Bill into a reminiscent mood and listen to his tales of old days—of stars past and present, whom he knew by actual contact on the diamond.

Fitz to Meet Burns.

London, May 15.—Bob Fitzsimmons, the former heavy weight champion of the world, has signed articles to fight Tommy Burns, ex-holder of the title, at Sydney, N. S. W., in October. Fitz has the same confidence in himself he always had and believes he can whip the Canadian. Promoter McIntosh will engineer the bout.

IMPROVEMENT IN IRON AND STEEL

Dun Sees Progress Toward Readjustment of Trade Conditions.

New York, May 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says: Further significant improvements have been made in iron and steel, and as they form a great basic base, this goes far toward establishing the long-desired readjustment of the whole industrial situation. This and the better weather for both agricultural and mercantile interests are the week's most important developments. A marked optimistic feeling therefore prevails in most branches of business, in spite of the fact that the unsettling tariff debate continues, not having yet reached its last stage—that of the conference committee.

The notable event of the week in cotton goods has been the reduction in staple prints, led by the leading producers. The declines have been more radical than anticipated, though opinions vary as to their probable duration. Print cloth and yarns have not been affected by this reduction, and prices remain fairly firm. Finished goods and bleached goods are moving slowly, jobbers being reluctant buyers, although cutters are doing more business on the latter line. Ginghams show a firmer tendency. In the export field there has been some inquiry, but no actual transactions, sellers demanding more than buyers are willing to pay. In the woolen goods division advances continue in many lines, especially in worsteds. The yarn market is irregular, low prices bringing out some business, but it is generally quiet, with prices strong in all lines.

The shoe trade is improved. Buyers in the Boston market have placed some fair-sized contracts, and trade is expected to increase as shoe buyers are confronted with a rapidly advancing hide and leather market. Most manufacturers are firm in their views. Recent operations in Chicago packers' hides have aggregated about 70,000 of all kinds. This business advanced prices still further, and an exceptionally high basis was reported on all varieties. Western country hides are also showing pronounced strength, while foreign dry hides have kept pace with the advance secured on domestic green salted stock. Trade in both sole and upper leather is satisfactory, large New England manufacturers buying freely.

THE DEPENDABLE MAN.

Somebody has sent in the following paragraph, requesting its publication but not giving its authorship:

> A reputation for being reliable is the key to most of life's successes. Friends, work, honor, all gravitate to the reliable person. Being reliable is not easy, surface work: it takes day after day and year after year of patient acceptance of responsibility, of picking up the threads that the careless drop, of being in place and on hand in emergencies where others fail; of doing uninteresting, faithful work that others tire of and slight—It takes all this to make the dependable man and woman known and valued. But how good they are to know! And how valuable! To be depended upon, and not to fail anyone who trusts us—this is worth living for, and makes life better with the living.

There isn't anything very spectacular or dramatic about being reliable. Very often the reliable people are looked upon by their more skittish and uncertain neighbors as being mere plodders. But if you want to know how reliable men stand, ask their employers. If you want to know how scarce such people are, too, you must also ask employers.

You don't have to be brilliant to be reliable. Very often brilliant people are distinctly unreliable. Genius is apt to be erratic, for Seneca didn't stretch the truth very much when he said that "there is no great genius without a tincture of madness;" a saying which Dryden borrowed to make this couplet:

Few can be geniuses, but everybody can be reliable—and it does no harm to say again what has been said many times before: your chance of succeeding is not one in a million if you don't cultivate reliability.

You may envy the striking achievements of the brilliant, but if you think over how few real achievements even the brilliant have compassed, and how much of the world's real work is done by those who are not brilliant, but are merely dependable, you will find much comfort in the thought.

When it comes to cutting down the force in your office or shop, you may be sure that the fellows that can be depended upon will stick. When it comes to taking somebody from the ranks and putting him in a place of authority, be sure that it won't be one of the erratic, unreliable ones that will advance. Employers are always looking for the kind of people that can be depended upon in season and out of season, who do their work thoroughly and reliably, who are not afraid to go outside their regular duties once in a while if it is for the good of the service, and who are "Johnny on the spot" day in and day out, year in and year out.

Don't be afraid of being called a "plodder." Plodders get lots of abuse they are not entitled to. They aren't theatrical or exciting, but they accomplish a prodigious amount of work, and it is usually good work. Just think back over your school days, and remember what has become of the brilliant pupil who is now a failure, and the dull, plodding pupil who had to work like the mischief to learn anything, but who learned what he did learn so well that now he is in an important place of high responsibility, because he is reliable.

SLEEPING IN CHURCH.

There is a conventional belief, founded upon a stock joke that is akin to the mother-in-law joke and the plumber joke, that people sleep in church a great deal, under the soporific influences of the sermon.

Prevalent as that belief seems to be, it is questionable whether anybody has ever analyzed it closely enough to determine just how much truth there is in it. The average person, if he looks back over his church-going experience, will remember seeing very few people asleep during a church service. So infrequent is it, indeed, that whenever it does happen it is always a source of great hilarity to the young people that witness it, and of much though more politely restrained amusement to the grown people.

If it was as common as the jokesmiths make out, it would be so common that it would be accepted as a matter of course. In short, we believe that current reports about it are very much exaggerated, and that as a matter of fact, very few people ever do sleep in church, no matter how ponderous and poky the sermon may be.

Nevertheless, a French psychologist has deemed the matter of sufficient importance to make it the subject of a scientific investigation, and the result is astounding. If this Frenchman is right, it is the interesting sermons that should send people to sleep, and the interested, attentive members of the congregation that should be overcome. Dull, drousy sermons should induce insomnia, and listless, inattentive auditors should be wide awake.

For, says this diverting Frenchman, sleepiness in church is caused by concentrated attention to the sermon, which produces a sort of self-hypnotism. The devout worshiper's close attention to the sermon and his concentrated gaze upon the face of the preacher cause the worshiper to hypnotize himself to sleep. Therefore the speaker should feel complimented if, from his pulpit vantage point, he observes many nodding heads and dreamily closing eyelids. It is an assurance that he has been so successful in enlisting the interest and attention of his auditors that they have succumbed to the stealthy influences of an unconscious self-hypnotism. Conversely, he who sleeps in church need not convict himself of irreverence, indifference or lack of attention—he may pride himself upon the manner in which he has concentrated his attention to the point of losing consciousness in a hypnotic sleep.

All of which is exceedingly novel, and important if true. As to its soundness, a little self-analysis by those who customarily sleep during the sermon will determine that.

But as we said before, we don't believe that many people sleep in church anyway. Having made that assertion, it is clear that an acceptance of the Frenchman's doctrine would argue the majority of sermons to be uninteresting, since they do not induce self-hypnotic sleep. So it becomes necessary to reject with vigor and emphasis this interesting theory. It is ably reasoned, but it cannot be accepted if it is going to prove that wide-awake worshipers are not attentive, and that preachers who keep their congregations awake preach dull sermons.

THE PRICE OF A NEWSPAPER.

There was a time when newspapers sold almost universally for 5 cents a copy. Then cheaper methods of printing, combined with the growth of advertising, permitted a drop to 3 cents and finally to 2 cents. Many newspapers even went to 1 cent, and some of them are there yet, but as a rule such newspapers are negligible from any viewpoint.

The American Newspaper Publishers' association recently received a report from its committee on paper, showing the proportion of 1-cent papers to the whole, and while all publishers knew that the tendency for some time had been away from the 1-cent rate and back to the 2-cent rate, the proportion of penny papers was shown to be even less than most of them had imagined. There is a popular impression in some parts of the country that the 1-cent newspapers are in the majority, but the figures compiled by this committee showed that they number about one-fourth of the total, and that they are only a little more numerous than the 5-cent papers.

The committee received reports from 862 daily newspapers published on weekdays, eliminating the Sunday editions, which are almost universally sold at a higher rate than weekday editions. Of this total 343 sold for 2 cents, 235 for 1 cent, 211 for 5 cents, and 73 for 3 cents. The proportions of the whole were as follows: 1 cent, 27 per cent; 2 cents, 40 per cent; 3 cents, 8 per cent; 5 cents, 24 per cent.

There are only eight 1-cent newspapers south of Maryland, and a similar number west of the Rocky mountains. In twenty states there are no 1-cent newspapers; there are no 2-cent newspapers in nine states, probably western states where 5 cents is the usual price; there are thirty states that have no 3-cent newspapers. Twenty-five states have 1-cent newspapers, thirty-six states have 2-cent papers, fifteen states have 3-cent papers, and twenty-seven states have 5-cent papers. There are no 4-cent newspapers at all.

Considering what it offers, a newspaper is the cheapest thing on the market. The low price is due to the advertising income, of course, since few papers make much on circulation, and many circulate at an actual loss. All 1-cent papers are published at a loss on their sales, and the larger their circulation, the larger their losses. Some 2-cent papers and all 3 and 5-cent papers, probably, circulate at a profit.

Says the Brooklyn Eagle: "These figures have a meaning of no little consequence. Each class of newspapers seeks advertising. But the 1-cent class seeks it not alone for the purpose of increasing profits, but to make good losses incurred in selling a production at less than its cost. Hence it follows that advertisers pay all the expenses. And what have you as a result? The quality of the paper is determined by the quantity of the advertising. When the quantity is large, the quality may be good. When the quantity is small, reduction of expenses naturally follows. The end is that quality is diminished." Recent increases in the cost of paper, fostered by the tariff and the paper trust it has created, accent this condition. They have reduced the profits of the higher-priced papers and increased the losses of the 1-cent papers, thereby increasing the amount to be made up by advertisers or to be offset by reductions in the quality of the newspapers. Newspaper prices have remained unchanged.

THE BEST SUMMER RESORTS.

The time is coming, shortly, when those engaged in commercial and professional pursuits will allow themselves vacations of greater or less extent, depending upon many things, including the attitude of employers toward the vacation question, the financial ability of pleasure-seekers to prolong their excursions, and the ability of employers to drag themselves away from their interesting and profitable business enterprises. As a rule the question of vacations doesn't get a fair shake in the fields of business and industry, because too many employers look too much to the time taken away from work on full pay, and too little to the profit to themselves in getting their employes back from their vacations strengthened and enlivened and in better shape for the next year's work. Anybody can do better work in a 50-week year than in a 52-week year, if the two weeks devoted to recreation is used sensibly.

But that isn't what we started out to talk about. This editorial was intended not so much as a hint to employers as advice to the fortunate ones who are assured of vacations, and who are beginning to plan them. They are looking for the best possible place to spend those vacations, and The Herald takes pleasure in informing them that there are no better vacation places in the country than there are in Northern Minnesota.

The sea shore and the mountains are all very well. Long trips by rail are interesting, but far more fatiguing than work. The chief things to be desired in a vacation are a change and an opportunity to get close to nature and to gain energy and vitality by an intimate contact with her wilder and more rugged aspects.

Northern Minnesota is full of such places. It has good fishing, good boating, good bathing. It has virgin woods in which lie lakes full of fish, and it has innumerable resorts where you can "rough it" without deprivation or lack of creature comforts.

Lake Superior offers beautifully scenic short tours and lake trout and brook trout fishing in many fascinating varieties. Along the north shore are many trout streams, still furnishing excellent sport, and brook trout are often caught in the lake from rocky bluffs at the foot of which they come to feed. St. Louis county offers many attractive outing places—Vermilion lake, the lakes back of Ely, lakes and rivers north of Duluth, and lakes north of the iron ranges. Itasca county has some of the best black bass fishing left in the country. Cass, Aitkin, Crow Wing, Beltrami, Otter Tail, Hubbard, Wadena, Morrison, Todd counties—in fact nearly every county in Northern Minnesota—have more good fishing and outing places than can be easily reckoned.

Duluth itself, handy to all these points, has a delightful summer climate, with days of genial warmth and nights of refreshing coolness. From this city there is easy access to hundreds of uncommonly good outing places of any degree of roughness or luxury desired. Northern Minnesota is the proper place to spend your vacation if you wish to make the most of it and get the most pleasure and health and rest out of it.

SOUNDING A GREAT PARTY'S DOOM.

If the present situation at Washington were to be judged purely from a political viewpoint, Democrats would rejoice and Republicans would experience the keenest alarm.

The Republican organization is playing into the hands of the Democratic party as effectually as it could if it had been secretly captured and corrupted by the Democratic organization and induced to betray its party.

What obscures this fundamentally correct view of the situation is that the masses of the people, watching these proceedings from afar, are neither Democrats nor Republicans, at the present moment. They are just citizens of the United States, who have been betrayed and insulted, who have trusted the reins of government into the hands of certain men only to find them using their trust to strengthen the control of the people's pocketbooks by the powers of greed.

At present, the public viewpoint is not that of partisanship, but that of an outraged and deceived people who are witnessing their betrayal at the hands of men whom they trusted. But if the considerations were solely political, as we said before, there is every occasion for rejoicing on the part of the Democrats, and every reason for trepidation on the part of the Republicans.

For the tariff is a vital issue, and if congress finishes its work of the special session as it is conducting it now it will be still more vital. Never has it been so clear that whatever the rank and file may think about it, the organization of the Republican party has used and is using the tariff to despoil the people and to enrich the plutocrat—to fatten the few at the costly expense of the many.

If congress passes the Aldrich bill in anything like its present form, even though it may be amended in a few particulars, the tariff will be an issue in the congressional campaign of 1910 that will obscure everything else. It will be an issue in the presidential campaign of 1912 that no amount of distortion can subordinate.

And if the Republican congress passes a bill that is acceptable to Aldrich and Cannon, and if the Republican president signs that bill, the Republican party will go into those campaigns absolutely defenseless and absolutely without a reasonable excuse for living. It is true that the Republican newspapers and Republican office holders who are speaking very boldly now about the iniquities of the Aldrich brand of tariff revision will seek to provide the party with defenses and to furnish excuses for its continued existence, but unless the people's impressions are like messages writ in water, such attempts will be useless.

It is not only the country and its people that the Republican organization in congress is plotting to betray—it is the Republican party as well. No venomous attacks from its bitterest enemies could begin to do it the harm that those high in its councils are doing it in congress today.

A NEWSPAPER MERGER.

Though expected by a few, the news that the St. Paul Dispatch had acquired the St. Paul Pioneer Press was startling indeed to many. Though it yet lacks official confirmation from either of the newspapers concerned, it comes from the editor of one of them, and is unquestionably true. The full meaning of the incident we shall not know until the parties interested announce in what fashion these two newspapers will be conducted in the future.

About the first thought that strikes the mind is that the news published by The Herald last night is a flattering tribute to the prowess of Charles H. Grasty, the newspaper man of abundant experience and success who but lately came out of the East to take charge of the Dispatch. His success in Baltimore seems in a fair way to be exceeded in Minnesota. His policy of independence in politics and public affairs is a strong one, and it has been firmly adhered to.

A knowledge of what the change means to the Pioneer Press will be awaited with interest. Under the able management of Tams Bixby that newspaper has been placed upon a firmer basis than it has enjoyed in a long time. Always a power in the state, it has held all the influence that a strictly party organ can expect to command in this day of independent thinking and independent effort for the common good. It is safe to hazard a guess that while the Pioneer Press may continue to be a Republican newspaper, under Mr. Grasty's management it will be much more than that. It is an event of large importance and wide interest, and it will receive more than passing attention from the state and the country at large.

The Austin Transcript, noting that Speaker Cannon is 73, says that "93 would sound better to the country at large." Twenty-three would sound better still.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Farmers in the extreme northern part of the country say they are being kept from their early spring work by the inconsideration of the weather man. The bad weather has lasted practically all of the present month. Last month it was not any better, and it has retarded the spring plowing up there in that part of the state where it is even colder than it is in Duluth.

Peter Wing, who has a farm north of Ray, a small town upon the Canadian Northern railway, says that what plowing he has done this spring you could put in your hat. Of course, Mr. Wing did not mean this literally.

According to Farmer Wing there has been so little good weather that many of the newcomers, settlers who came to that part of the state last fall, and deceived by our beautiful October and November weather, really believed that they had come to a paradise of weather conditions, have been given a rude awakening.

The rain, abetted by the snow, has deterred the early spring plowing to such an extent that many of the settlers have not placed a furrow upon their property.

Farmer Wing says that there will be more ground sowed to clover in that part of the state than ever before in the short history of Northern Minnesota farming. Mr. Wing says that wheat is beginning to be grown up there, and that clover is being used as a rotation. Farmers' clubs in that part of the state are doing much good in the spreading of knowledge concerning the proper kind of farming methods. Bulletins have been sent from the Northeast Experiment farm, at Grand Rapids, and other information has come from the Minnesota College of Agriculture.

The farmers up there are beginning to know what is adopted to that part of the state, and are growing those products that will thrive in the Northern climate. Information as to the adaptability of the northern part of the state has been furnished largely by A. J. McGuire at the Northeast Experimental farm. Grand Rapids is in about the same general climatic section, and the knowledge gained from the tests at that farm, have been furnished to those farmers who have written to the station.

As a result of this information, the farming methods upon some of the farms have begun to show an improvement, according to Mr. Wing. Many of the farmers in that part of the state are sowing clover and will follow this with a crop of grain. Potatoes are also being largely grown by the Northern farmers. Another encouraging result is the fact that the farmers and settlers are clearing their land. They are removing the stumps as rapidly as possible, and some settlers who have been in that part of the state for only two or three years, have according to Mr. Wing, cleared sufficient acreage to permit them to raise enough produce to supply their wants.

"I read in The Herald of the plan suggested by Supt. Hostetter of the Commercial club, that either the state or the company that sold the land, be forced to clear some of the land for the settler so that he might raise enough produce to support himself and family until he could clear his land," said Mr. Wing. It is true that many of the early settlers are forced to secure work from other sources than farming so that they can exist. It is only when some of them not employed at other work that they are able to work at clearing their land."

G. H. Dodge, a guest of the Lenox, who yesterday highly amused a large crowd by the exhibition of two cub bears, that had been captured at the Grand Portage Indian reservation, which is in the northeastern corner of this state, stated that the Indians in this part of the state live mostly by hunting and fishing, and that while some of them have cut timber off the land of the reservation, there is little hard work done by the copper colored brother. Mr. Dodge says the Indians are well provided for upon the Grand Portage reservation, and that some of the best specimens of the race that can be found anywhere in this state, are there.

An Apology Coming All Right.

Grand Marais, Minn., News-Herald: Mistakes will happen in the best of regulated families, so the saying goes; and they also occur in the best newspaper offices. In the latter case it is customary to lay the blame on the printing office "devil." In some mysterious way this paper, in announcing that a social would be held last Thursday evening by the Lutheran ladies, the word "dance" crept into the item, and it was made to read "a social dance" would be held. And in the church, too! 'Twas a gross error. The function was a simple church social. Whether the regular office "devil" is in this instance wrongfully accused or not, it seems almost certain that his satanic majesty himself must have had a finger in the "pi." Ladies, a thousand apologies.

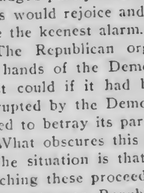
THE WEATHER.



Duluthians recognized it all right. It is a genuine northeaster. It looks like one, feels like one, blows like one. It is one. Mr. Richardson cheerfully predicts that it will last until tomorrow at least. A year ago today it was raining. The sun rose this morning at 4:31 and will set this afternoon at 7:36, making fifteen hours and five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A storm of considerable intensity is central this morning over the Mississippi valley. During the past twenty-four hours it caused light to heavy rains or thunder storms in the lake region, Western Canada, the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Western South Dakota and Southeastern Texas. Mild to warm weather prevails from the Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic coast. Rising pressures in the region lying between the Mississippi valley and Rocky mountains are attended by cooler weather."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

"One World at a Time."

"He is one of those fellows who believes in only one world at a time," commented a sagacious, elderly man upon a youth of marked ability, who is, nevertheless, an out-and-out agnostic. No Epicurean of old ever took more pains to tickle his palate or to please his esthetic sensibilities. His conception of this world where he will probably stay a few years longer is that of an orange from which he should extract all possible savory nutriment, and to which he is under no obligation to contribute anything that makes for its uplift.

There are a good many of them—these one-world-at-a-time fellows, and on the surface there is much to justify them in the attitude they take. This is a very good world, a vital, rich, throbbing world which responds in a wonderful number of ways to our craving for sensuous gratification. Science and invention are multiplying constantly the devices that add to our ease and comfort. We have but to press the button, and clever mechanisms do the rest. Moreover, we have outgrown the old-fashioned notion that we have no right to the wholesome pleasures which this world yields. We have ceased to tell young people that they are not to delight themselves in ordinary recreations lest their souls should be in danger of perdition. In the first place, young people wouldn't believe it if we told them so; and in the second place, it isn't true. The Bible itself says: "He hath made everything beautiful in its season." "God giveth to us all things richly to enjoy."

At the same time the theory of life which would limit it to interest in things seen and tangible breaks down at certain points. It does not help us in the moral struggle when our better natures assert themselves and would rise above the things that drag us down to earth. Furthermore we tire at times of incessant sounds of pleasure. Even brownstone mansions and $6,000 touring cars cannot satisfy certain moods of our minds.

Again, we cannot shut out the other world if we would. As the poet says, "It lies around us like a cloud." Something happens to bring it very near. There is a death in the family, or on the street, or our own physical powers begin to decline:

> "We long for household faces gone,

At such times the theory that there is only one world for us becomes almost intolerable. We look around and see those who have succeeded in dwelling in both worlds, to whom one is almost as real as the other, who while taking the true delight in books, music, painting, travel, human fellowship and even in good things to eat and good things to wear, find also an even higher satisfaction in the things which the eye does not see or the hand touch. They honestly believe that they are denizens of two worlds and that they lose a great deal out of their lives when they confine themselves to one.

Sometimes even the one-word-at-a-time men may wake up and find themselves woefully mistaken. We are not forecasting their plight then, but it is folly to try to wall out here and now the world of spiritual realities. The one-word-at-a-time people many not suffer hereafter in just the way the stiff theologies have affirmed they would, but how strange that country must seem to them, when they reach it having made no preparation for it while here. Certainly if one were going to Europe some time he would, if possible, make some preparation for it. He would occasionally read a book that tells about it, or talk with somebody who had been there, or let his mind in imagination some quiet Sunday evening roam toward that delectable country which he hoped to see some day. Then, when he went, he would not be altogether dazed or find the atmosphere too rare for him, or show himself at every turn in the journey a novice or an ignoramus.

TWO BRILLIANT KENTUCKIANS

BY SAVOYARD

IT WAS once the case that the Blue Grass of Kentucky furnished the statesmanship of the old commonwealth. It was the home of Clay, the Breckinridges, the Marshalls, Preston, "Duke" Bob Wickliff, Garrett Davis, the Harlans, George Robertson, Crittenden, Barry the Johnsons, Bledsoe, the Clarks, and many others of that older day. Even Hardstown, with Rowan, Wickliff, Hardin, Guthrie, Hays, Johnson, Chapese and other notable men, might be classed as Blue Grass.

And even in our day, Beck, Carlisle, Lindsay, Breckinridge, McCreary and Blackburn came from a section that a blanket might cover if its center was exactly over Lexington, the capital of the Bluegrass. In the old days the Pennyrile was content to be subordinate with the Buckners, Powell Dicks, the Underwoods, the Tompkinses, Beverly L. Clark, Hise, McCreary, John Young Brown, Henry C. Burnett, Joseph H. Lewis, James A. McKenzie, John W. Caldwell, George Alfred Caldwell, James P. Bates, and others of that caliber, never forgetting Thomas E. Bramlette and J. Proctor Knott.

But things have changed and Kentucky has fallen on times when the "Pennyrile" is about to usurp the place so long held by the Bluegrass. There are natural resources limitless in quantity and surprising in diversity. The soil is unsurpassed for all the grains, tobacco, all the grasses, and orchards bearing all the fruits known to the temperate zone. For breeding and rearing livestock of all species and for dairy and poultry products the Pennyrile is the equal of any region under the sun.

And there, too, is now lodged the political supremacy of the old commonwealth. It is the citadel of the Democratic party and furnishes the majorities that keep it in power in the state, when it is in power.

I want to write something about two of the most conspicuous political leaders of Western Kentucky now on the carpet and try to contrast them as I see them—Ollie James of the First congressional district, and Owsley Stanley of the Second. Seemingly they are much alike, actually they are as different as the hammer of Thor and the rapier of Crichton. Both were born to politics, though James is the son of a successful lawyer and Stanley is the son of a devout and beloved clergyman.

Do you know that Mr. Lincoln was wrong when he made that witty comment, after he got to be president, and was distributing the pie, that what pestered him was that too many round pegs got into square holes, and too many square pegs got into round holes? The fact is that the peg will naturally seek the hole it fits. The coal heaver was made for his job, the poet for his, the soldier for his, the orator for his, and so throughout the chapter, and all these pegs get to their appropriate places in the end, though many of them are broken in transit. Thus it is that the miser saves and the prodigal spends.

Well, James and Stanley were made for public life, for politicians, and had it been otherwise neither would now be a statesman agonizing for his country in Capitol Hill. James was born to the bar and head to politics; Stanley was born to action and steadied down to politics and to law. Both are successful men, as every man must be counted as such who represents a constituency in the American house of representatives.

And here I cannot refrain from doing what I have so frequently attempted to do before—pointing out that it is unfortunate that the design of the fathers was defeated, in that they intended that the house should be the dominant factor, not only in the parliamentary branch of our government, but of every department. To it was given the purse, and where the treasure is, there power is. It was the glory of Hampden that he brought a bloody war to deliver England for the principle that the purse was in the keeping of the direct representatives of the people, and he lost his life in battle sooner than pay a few paltry shillings of ship money, though he was a rich man. But our house of representatives having ceased to be a deliberative body, has, for all practical purposes, parted with the purse, and the senate has made every tariff since 1862.

Ollie James is from the First Kentucky district, "Jackson's Purchase"—the "Gibraltar of Democracy," as it was called thirty years before Ollie James was born. As I remarked, his father, yet living, is a prominent and a successful lawyer, though not as powerful before a jury as his son, who was a politician as soon as he was able to read a newspaper, and at the age of 13 he was appointed page in the Kentucky legislature, the memorable session of 1884, that was prolonged into the spring because of the contest of Joe Blackburn, Cerro Gordo Williams and William M. Sweeney for United States senator. Not even the long struggle John M. Palmer had for senator in 1891, or the two races of Andrew Johnson, equaled this as a sword-play of politics and the excitement of thrilling pursuit. Late in April, Blackburn was elected and it was the most skillfully played game of political chess Kentucky ever saw, and no other state ever matched it.

This was an education for young James and grave and veteran politicians consulted this boy, and were astonished at the aptitude he then discovered for "moving assembly" that has now developed into a positive genius for the forum.

Stanley is four years older than James and was born in the bluegrass. At 22 he was graduated from Center college, perhaps the most famous institution of learning in the entire Mississippi valley, judged by the number of illustrious men of which it is the alma mater. Five years later Stanley was admitted to the bar, studying meanwhile for the profession while professor of belles lettres in Christian college, and as principal of Marion academy, in Ollie James' town. He practiced law in some half a dozen counties, and finally located at Henderson, where he has since lived.

He landed in that thriving city with less money in his purse than Stephen A. Douglas had when he got to Morgan county, Ill., and that was less than $1. Two years later young Stanley was a rival, and frequently a successful rival, of the leaders of that, one of the strongest bars of Kentucky, a state so famous for great lawyers. His success came from a passion for research when the fit is on him. He is untiring and indefatigable in groping for the history and thinking out the philosophy of a thing, and if he could look the wisdom he has and the knowledge he has stored there would be no heading him whatever he went after.

Both James and Stanley are immensely popular, and the people love them as well as admire them. But that is not all—they are consumate politicians, know the game from beginning to end, and neither has yet made a serious mistake. They entered congress together—the Forty-eighth—in 1903, and they became conspicuous the very first session. James gained an enviable reputation as counsel for Goebel in the celebrated contest for the office of governor of Kentucky in 1900, and Stanley acquired equal fame as leading counsel for the defense in a celebrated criminal trial in Western Kentucky. James was repeatedly a delegate to national conventions and chairman of the Kentucky delegation in three of them. Stanley had held no political position other than presidential elector in 1900.

In the convention at Denver last year Ollie James made a speech seconding the nomination of Mr. Bryan that was a marvel of fervid eloquence and brilliant construction of language. It was at once beautiful and ornate, and as a specimen of what is called "convention oratory," it has not been equaled since Bryan at Chicago, twelve years earlier, and not surpassed by that more famous effort. Had it been delivered when "convention eloquence" was at the zenith of its popularity it would have ranked with any similar oration ever delivered in an American political convention.

Stanley, too, is the author of a notable speech—the reply to Mr. Dalzell on Jefferson and Hamilton. Dalzell had got his history from that Harvard college set—Theodore Roosevelt is one of 'em—and it is history made to order, the facts to fit the prejudices of the historian. John Sharp Williams and Champ Clark told Stanley to leave Dalzell alone, that he was the most dangerous man in congress to tackle; but Stanley persisted, worked like a Turk day and night for a week in research, and when he delivered it there was not a scrap left of Mr. Dalzell's speech.

Ollie James was made for a turbulent body like the house of representatives; Owsley Stanley was made for a sedate body like the senate. On the spur of the moment James can electrify the house; after intense study and research Stanley would captivate the senate with a new phase of an idea, or a new idea itself.

James has a life lease on his seat in the house, as much so as Alexander H. Stephens or Thaddeus Stevens. Some day he will be speaker, a successor of Lynn Boyd, also of the Gibraltar district.

The country will hear a heap about these two young fellows the next twenty-five years.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD.

It is a tensely dramatic theme upon which this, almost the last book written by this prolific and always popular novelist, is based. The story is that of the love of Giovanni Sevari, a young Italian army officer, and Angela Chairomonte, a beautiful daughter of a noble Italian family. The Marchesa Del Prato, a married thrt, plots to spoil their happiness because of her guilty love for Giovanni and her hatred of Angela, whose mother had married the man she had chosen for herself. Her plots, however, do not figure so largely in the novel as they do in the play founded on the novel, in which Viola Allen is doing such splendid work. Indeed, there are very marked differences between the play and the novel, of which it need only be said that, while the play is more convincing as a work of literary logic, the novel is much more pleasant to read, even if its end is a little less artistically plausible. Giovanni goes to the wars in Africa, and Angela, deprived of her fortune by the machinations of the Marchesa, Del Prato, enters the convent of the White Sisters as a nurse. She has no idea of becoming a nun, and seeks only occupation for her hands and distraction for her mind. In the meantime word comes that Giovanni has been killed in Africa, and Angela becomes Sister Giovanni, a nun. Five years later Giovanni, who had been captured by native, but not killed, returns, and there is an intensely thrilling situation when he, accompanying his wounded brother to the hospital, meets Angela, now a nun. The story now moves with dramatic swiftness to its conclusion, which, it may be hinted again, is far more pleasing in the story than in the play. A pleasure to old readers of Crawford's novels will be the reappearance of Ippolito, the same Saracinesca who played a prominent part in "Corleone," now a noble, wise and kindly prelate of the Catholic church. The situation created by the return of Giovanni to find his sweetheart bound by her vows to the church is a delicate one, and in handling it Mr. Crawford had the double advantage of being not only an artist, with a sure and effective touch, but a devout believer in Catholic. "The White Sister" is as strong, as absorbing and as satisfying a novel as Mr. Crawford ever produced, and it will be laid down at the finish with a sincere regret that he shall write no more.

Here is a sparkling, brilliant and absorbing novel of international politics and intrigue, in which two keen government secret service agents, a man and a woman, are the principal figures. There is a thread of subtle mystery,—involving the shooting of a minor ambassador, the robbery of $50,000 in gold from the safe of another ambassador, and the kidnaping of a third. Pitted against each other, matching brilliant wits, are Isabel, secret agent of a foreign government, and Grimm, subtle member of the United States secret service forces. Action and mystery are the prime factors that make this novel one of completely absorbing interest. The plot is original and daring, and hinges upon an alliance between the Latin countries of the world, aided by Germany, to accomplish the downfall of the United States and Great Britain. The compact is to be signed in Washington, and it is the duty of Grimm, the American agent, to prevent it, and of Isabel, the Italian agent, to bring it about. That in the play of intellect against intellect the two should come to admire each other is not surprising, though it is interesting; and that it should follow that the two fall in love with each other, and that their romance complicates the weightier matters of international politics, is logical and also exceedingly interesting. The skein of mystery is woven most cleverly, and its unraveling makes a novel of unusual appeal, especially as it is told in a sparkling literary style, and as the working out of the plot is spontaneously and ingeniously done.

SOME REMINISCENCES. By William L. Royall. New York: Neale Publishing company. $1.50 net.

The author of this book has had an important part in the making of the history of Virginia, from his service of four years in the Confederate army up to the present time, and his reminiscences deals with matters of Virginia history that have never before been told in print. The volume is important, therefore, as a matter of history, but to those not specially interested in the history of a distant state the book will appeal as a human document. Mr. Royall talks chattily and interestingly of the war, of duelling,—he was personally associated with several famous Virginia duels,—and of other matters personal and public. For instance, he tells how a disappointment in love plunged him into ten years wasted years of dissipation—a matter that must be interesting indeed to the wife whom he says is now living. In the final chapters he gives some of his personal ideas on the trust problem, and they are very sane and very sound. The matter of most widespread interest in the book, however, will be his vivid relation of the several duels in which he was concerned before that unlovely practice went out of fashion.

A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI. Founded on the play of the same name by Harrison Rhodes and Thomas A. Wise. New York: J. S. Ogilvie Publishing company. 50 cents.

Judging from the novel, the play must be a lively and vivid relation of corruption in congress, put in strongly dramatic form. The novelized play is interestingly done, and it tells an entertaining story of the inside of political maneuvers at Washington and of the workings of bosses there and elsewhere. An honest old Southern planter is elected to the senate by these bosses, but it turns out to be a case of misplaced confidence, for with the help of his secretary, a bright newspaper man, he unveils their plots and frustrates their schemes in tremendous style. Then there is plenty of sentiment and comedy, too, to make it human and real.

Variety is the spice of life.

A girl is never so surprised when a man proposes to her as he is.

As a soul companion, the difference between a husband and a bulldog is that the dog can't talk—and the husband won't.

The average husband has an idea economy should begin at home—and end at the corner cafe.

RALPH RANSCOMBE, BANKER. By Theodore W. Nevins. New York: Neale Publishing company.

This story contains the confessions of a student of human nature who as a soldier of fortune profits by the result of his studies. From a book agent, trading upon his keen preception of human weaknesses, he develops into a millionaire banker, doing the same thing upon a larger and richer scale. Conscience he has none until finally, in a dream, he appears before the bar of eternal justice and realizes that he has a heavy score to settle there, so he sets about making restitution through charity. It is an interesting story and is well told, though the author splits too many infinitives.

A BRIDE ON TRUST. By Capt. Henry Curties. Boston: Dane Estes & Co. $1.50.

Here is a good, old-fashioned, lively romance, with a cleverly manipulated mystery that keeps interest from flagging. Some of the processes of working out the plot are slightly improbable, but what's the harm of that? A young lieutenant in His Majesty's Imperial Guards makes the acquaintance of a most charming young woman under singularly queer circumstances. Royalty becomes tangled in the romance most mysteriously, and perils beset the lieutenant's path. But he dares everything for the love of his beautiful woman, and wins his reward in the end. There is plenty of excitement throughout, and the mystery back of the events is ingeniously and cleverly sustained to an outcome that is most unexpected and pleasantly thrilling.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

There is much activity on the new Cuyuna range. Much exploratory work is in progress, and it appears to be attended with a gratifying degree of success. Drills are penetrating the ground in various districts. Ore has been found in many tracts. It cannot be said that all of the deposits are sufficient in extent or in the quality of their mineral to give assurance that mines will be opened but the operations already undertaken in the way of development are such as to indicate the range has a future of much promise.

A particularly gratifying showing is that being made by the Rogers-Brown Ore company in the Rabbit lake district, near Deerwood where the work on the Cuyuna has reached its most advanced stage. Actual mining is in progress here, and were railroad facilities available some ore could be shipped even now. A fine four-compartment shaft is sinking. Ore found in this Rabbit lake district runs as high as 60 per cent iron and is of the bessemer grade. More of the mineral assays lower than that but practically all of it is reported of merchantable quality. Prospecting on the Cuyuna is attended with the disappointments and difficulties common to all new fields of which comparatively little is known, and particularly since the overburden is heavy and the dip of the iron formation is practically vertical. There are few rock exposures, and in the great majority of cases the only indications of ore are the lines of magnetic attraction.

Excellent progress is being made with the work of building the Western Mesaba range extension of the Great Northern railroad and it is expected that trains will be running over the new line by the first of August. Operations are under way at both ends of the route. While the road is being constructed primarily for the purpose of handling the ore to be mined from the Hill lands by the United States Steel corporation it will be productive of much other traffic, of which the passenger business will be no small proportion. Extending from Nashwauk, the present western terminus of the Great Northern's Mesaba division, to a connection with the main line of the Great Northern at Grand Rapids, on the Mississippi, the new stretch of railroad will put all portions of the range east of Nashwauk in direct touch with the new western territory.

A new shipper over the Great Northern this year is Joseph Sellwood's Pearson property at Nashwauk, which, although far from fully developed, is still prepared to make a good-sized production this season. The Hawkins mine, the International Harvester company's property at Nashwauk, has been breaking past records lately by forwarding close to 100 cars daily, and some fifty cars per day have been going from the same company's Agnew mine at Hibbing. Both of these prop-

GLOBE MINES LOOKING WELL

The Inspiration, Gibson, Globe Consolidated, Cactus, Live Oak, Superior & Boston and Arizona Commercial Have Made Important Ore Developments Recently—Two or Three Big Deals Pending.

Globe, Ariz., May 15.—April was a very satisfactory month for the local mining companies and the great progress and excellent results of development, together with the better inquiry for Globe mining property, had a stimulating effect upon business of all kinds. No change of consequence has taken place in the operations of the Old Dominion. The production of copper for the month was about 3,000,000 pounds, and the development was on the same comprehensive scale as in previous months, most important being the driving of the west drift on the fourteenth level which has advanced well beyond block 1, and has opened some excellent sulphide ore, and the east drifts on the tenth and twelfth levels, which are nearing the old Hoosier mine, and have opened ground rich in copper. The Inspiration, Gibson, Cactus, Live Oak, Globe Consolidated, Superior and Boston and Arizona Commercial made important ore developments, which materially improved their already good prospects. The camp has been full of mining men for several weeks and two or three big deals are pending.

Another Strike in Gibson Mine.

The deal for financing the Gibson Copper company is still pending, awaiting the working out of a few important details. Meanwhile, the mine is steadily improving. Another discovery of ore, and the first on the 600-foot level, was made recently in the south drift, 220 feet from the shaft. The drift had cut two feet of talc in which is embedded large nodules of chalcopyrite, going about 25 per cent in copper. It is probable that the drift after cutting through the talc will cut a stratum of solid ore. The drift on the 600-foot level will have to be driven about 300 feet below the 500 level and is still 220 feet to reach the locality where they are expected to encounter the ore shoot that has been opened to a considerable depth by a winze from the 400-foot level. The high grade chalcopyrite struck six weeks ago on the footwall of the vein, in a drift from the crosscut on the 400-foot level, is holding out well. This ore has been drifted on forty-five feet and has maintained an average width of two feet and value in copper of from 24 per cent to 30 per cent. Along the side of this high grade ore is a body of 8 per cent to 9 per cent ore, varying from three to four feet in thickness. These developments are highly important and encourage the expectation that the Gibson mine will soon repeat its former record as a producer of high grade sulphide ore.

Construction at Miami.

The Miami Copper company is busy grading for a mill, power house and ore bins, constructing roads and erecting additional buildings. Also the big shaft is being sunk rapidly and is now about 400 feet deep. We understand there has been some changes made in the plans for the company's reduction works. The first unit of the concentrator will be 1,500 tons capacity instead of 2,000, as at first contemplated. Although the company has considerable water in its Red Springs shaft, and has purchased water rights in Miami valley, nevertheless, as a further precaution, it has obtained an option on the surplus water from the Old Dominion mine, and it has been suggested that the Miami company may decide to divide its reduction works, placing one concentrator unit on Pinal Creek, north of Globe.

The Cactus.

The Cactus is making good headway in the development of the Arizona National property. The shaft, which is now down over 425 feet, has gone through the ore, some of which is high grade and apparently of great size. The grading his been finished and all is in readiness to start sinking on the Pinto Copper property, also controlled by the Cactus Development company. A shaft will be sunk on the Pinto 500 feet. It will be of two compartments, and it is expected that it will be put down at the rate of about 150 feet per month.

Globe Consolidated Strike.

A new strike of rich sulphide in the Geneva vein of the Globe Consolidated mine was confirmed a few days ago, causing excitement in the local stock market. A six-foot vein carrying 5 per cent copper has been opened up.

The company struck the Geneva vein some time ago, an assay showing between 5 and 6 per cent copper. There was apparently a large body of ore at hand, but on drifting it was found that the vein gradually narrowed, although not decreasing in quality until it was only a few inches in width.

Further exploration, however, has opened up a six-foot vein of about the same quality as before, and the prospects for the mine is very bright.

The Geneva vein is on the 1,200-foot level. Preparations are being made to sink a shaft 400 feet deeper, going down to a depth of 1,600 feet. This will compare with the thirteenth level of the Old Dominion mine.

President H. B. Hoyland of the Globe Consolidated has arrived and a meeting will be held to ratify the consolidation of the Globe Consolidated and Eureka properties into the Cordova Copper company.

The Gem shaft, now 1,200 feet deep, will be sunk 400 feet to the 1,600-foot level. On the 1,200 level over 1,600 feet of drifting has been done, all in commercial ore, a good deal of which is a very desirable quality of sulphide. The shaft on the Eureka will be sunk within 250 feet of the Miami company's south side line. The Eureka is one of the best-located properties in the Miami section, with a good surface

CASEY HAS QUIT THE CARMAN

Sends In His Resignation as General Manager---President Power Has Made Final Payment and Recorded Deeds to Carman Property.

Douglas, Ariz., May 15.—John P. Casey has forwarded his resignation as general manager and vice president of the Carman company to the directors of that company, and it will be acted on at the meeting to be held in Douglas on May 24. Casey is no longer connected with the company, having sold his interests, and has received the final payment due from the company.

The Mexican corporation held a stockholders' meeting the first of last week in Cananea. This meeting was nothing but a formal one to comply with the Mexican laws and nothing of importance was done. At the meeting to be held in Douglas by the stockholders in the American company arrangements are to be made to begin mining operations at the Carman which is located below Arizpe, near the famous Las Chispas. It is understood that Casey's resignation will be accepted by the company.

El Paso, Tex., May 15.—It now looks as if the Carman Consolidated is about to cast off the many difficulties that have enshrouded it for some time past. President W. J. Power was here recently and made final payments on the Casey stock, and saw the deeds of the Carman claims properly put on record in the name of the Carman Consolidated company.

The Carman company is understood to have some rich claims. The development of the Las Chispas property has proven to a very large extent that the Carman may expect good results underground. It is the same vein as the Las Chispas, which crosses the Carman ground, and from which the Las Chispas company, on its own ground, has, it is stated, extracted many millions of dollars in profits. It is claimed that the company has paid $8,600,000 in dividends, and that in at least two of its workings, at different

THE GREENWATER COMPANY

New Ore Body That Was Cut Recently Is Not Commercial --- Sinking to the 1500-Foot Level to be Resumed.

New York, May 15.—The Mining Age says: Traders who make it a specialty to operate in the stock of the Greenwater Copper Mines & Smelting company on the curb have for several weeks been sanguine that the recent workings at the 1,000-foot level of the property out in Imyo county, California, have finally been rewarded by getting into the ore which has been expected for some time. The stock has had a better market recently, rising from 4 to 9 cents a share, which has given color to the story that underground developments were more favorable.

From official sources it is learned that while the company has cut a good body of ore at the 1,000-foot level, the product encountered is not yet commercial. Those in charge of the local end of the company who receive frequent reports from Mr. McKee, the general superintendent, state that the work is going to continue right along the present lines for some time.

Sinking is quite likely to be resumed to the 1,500-foot level at any time, when drifting will again be resumed at that depth with a view of getting into the ore shoot which is believed to exist on their ground. If this new work fails to find it, then it is possible that work will be entirely abandoned and the funds in the company's treasury used to develop some other property not yet determined upon.

A local stock exchange house has been buying large quantities of the stock for weeks, orders being executed from 5,000 to 25,000 share lots, and it has been suggested that this buying has been of a kind that denoted that facts were known in that office which were evidently not so well known outside. It develops, however, that the people buying it have taken the view that at present prices the stock was selling so low as to represent almost a nominal quotation and that should anything ever be struck it would probably advance the stock considerably, making the gamble attractive.

The company has still in its treasury over $217,000 which will carry on the present work for months at the present cost of operations amounting to some $3,500 per month. It is figured that at all events there will be from 6 to 7 cents per share of stock left in the treasury for distribution, should such a course be finally adopted.

IS INCREASING ITS FORCE

Power Drills Are Running Day and Night on the 120 and 280-Foot Levels of the Vekol Company.

Tucson, Ariz., May 15.—During the last three weeks the Vekol company has been increasing its force on the mines and are now running power drills night and day on the 120 and 380-foot levels, making good headway. They expect to cut the ore bodies on the 120-foot level in less than 100 feet from the face of the present workings. This will give soping ground of more than 250 feet. They will have to make about 400 feet on the lower level to encounter the same ore body from which they are working on the upper level. Twenty-five men are now at work. This force will be increased as fast as they can make room. Work will be commenced this week on the 200-foot level of the Argosy shaft, drifting to the east to encounter the west dipping faults of ore bodies and from this point will drift to new ground when the ore body has been reached. The company has been financed in New Orleans, resulting in the settling of all bills of the company and a treasury balance sufficient to carry on the work of development for the next six months. The purpose now is to give entire attention to the development of and the blocking out of ore bodies. When this has been accomplished, the new additions to the mill and reduction plant will be made, as a more correct idea as to the character of improvements necessary can be made. About 100 people live at the Vekol camp. They are anxious to have a mail route from Casa Grande. A postoffice is established and well patronized.

The Jack Rabbit, located east of the Vekol, is now being operated under the management of Ed Zimmerman. The production is silver and gold. There is a general revival of prospecting and mining in the Vekol region. Every one is in good spirits and hope reigns supreme.

STRIKE IN BIRD PROPERTY

Butte, Mont., May 15.—A new strike of high-grade copper ore is reported to have been made in the Bird and Bacorn properties in the Corbin district, near the old town of Wickes. A. H. S. Bird and the McCornicks of Salt Lake have been the pioneer copper prospectors in the Corbin district and have carried on work by themselves. About a year ago F. W. Bacorn and H. C. Bacorn of Butte became interested with them in some of the properties and work has been pushed more vigorously since then. The England, one of the best claims of the group, has been developed by tunnel and a large vein opened within fifty feet of the surface. A drift has been extended on the vein 150 feet and all the way in ore, the high-grade streak being about two feet wide and assays 12 per cent copper. The vein carries covallite, glance and native copper. Geologist E. P. Jennings, who made an exhaustive study and report of the whole Corbin district, and the Bird section in particular, says the geology, the ore and every indication are typically Butte. In his opinion the big copper deposits will be found in what he terms the soft granite belt, south of the Great Northern railroad tracks. Much of the extensive development work that is being done in the district is on the north side of the tracks, where some good veins have also been opened. Mr. Jennings, in his report, uses parallel columns to compare the geological conditions of Corbin and Butte, and he finds them identical.

"The developments since my first examination confirm the opinion then expressed that the softened granite area, with its great lodes of quartz and altered granite, was entirely similar to the Butte surface; also that the mineralization would prove to be the same," said Mr. Jennings in his report. "The occurrence of glance in the England and in other openings indicates that the process of enrichment is the same as that at Butte. The presence of tenantite, an alteration product of enargite, which is a common copper mineral in Butte, but rare elsewhere, also tends to strengthen the analogy between the two camps. What the size of the ore bodies and the depth of the enrichment are can only be demonstrated by work. With the favorable showing exposed by the small amount of work done, I know of no undeveloped copper deposits more promising than those of the soft granite area east of Wickes."

The report comes from Corbin that James A. Murray of Butte has purchased the Lee Deever interests in the Butte & Corbin Consolidated company, and that a company called the Corbin & Minneapolis has been organized to take over another group of claims owned by Joint & Thompson, adjoining the Bird & Bacorn claims.

AN EXCEPTIONAL PROPERTY

Little Mina Getting Rich Ore at Shallow Depth — Good Ore Bodies on North Butte's Lower Levels—Butte & Superior Has Excellent Showing on 1400-Foot Level.

Butte, Mont., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—In several respects the Little Mina, the new mine of the Parrott company is an exceptional property for Butte. In the first place there is not another mine in the district that is producing such rich ore at such shallow depth. The deepest level is at the 1,000, though a new one is being opened 200 feet deeper. The 1,000 being so near the surface and being connected with some deep adjoining mines, the air and ventilation are fine, the result being that the best work by miners in the Butte district is being done in the Little Mina. The ore is easily broken down and the hoist is a short distance to the surface, so that the actual cost of mining is the cheapest in the Butte district, if it is not the cheapest of any copper mine in the world. The vein is large and the ore carries from 12 per cent copper, with silver as high as 130 ounces to the ton. One hundred ounces to the ton are frequent returns, though the average is not of course, that high. The Little Mina is the big mine of the Parrot company and is getting bigger. If the 1,200-foot level shows up well the Little Mina will be one of the biggest in Butte.

Closed Owing to Gas.

The three big mines of the Anaconda company were closed for nearly a week because of a fresh outburst of gas from the fire in the Anaconda and St. Lawrence mines, and the Anaconda, St. Lawrence and Neversweat had to be closed. The shaft of the Anaconda mine also caved considerably. It had not been in use for many months, the lower levels of the mine having been worked through the Neversweat. A large portion of the ore body is within the zone of fire and fire zone and miners can not work in it. Vigorous efforts have been put out to get control of the fire, and walls of cement are being built wherever it is possible for the fire to spread. When these walls are finished, miners will be able to work in the Anaconda with more safety and comfort. The big broke out in the St. Lawrence in 1888, but it extended to the Anaconda and for several years has been worse in that property. As the workings of the three mines are connected on every level an outburst of gas very frequently drives the miners out of the three mines. The managers of the company do not consider the present conditions any worse than they have been for a long time.

The Amalgamated Output.

B. B. Thayer, who has general supervision of the properties of the Amalgamated Copper company, has been in Butte for some days engaged in an inspection of the mines and smelters of the company. The Amalgamated mines are again shipping more low grade ores, a good indication that the men at the head of the companies see an improvement in the metal situation and are confident of the future. The Washoe smelter of the Amalgamated company is again outputting between 15,000,000 and 18,000,000 pounds of copper per month, while the Great Falls smelter maintains its production around 7,500,000 pounds. The interruption of mining at the three hill mines for some days did not affect the supply sent to the smelters, as the other mines increased their output to the extent of the loss occasioned by the fire and gas in the Anaconda, Neversweat and St. Lawrence mines.

North Butte.

The drifts on the 2,000 and 2,200 levels of the North Butte are gradually improving, and the developments are bearing out the statements of Manager Carson, who has always maintained that the North Butte was all right and that the new levels would show up satisfactorily. Good ore bodies have been opened on both levels and the conditions are getting better as the drifts progress.

Butte & Superior.

The Butte & Superior company has opened a body of copper ore on the 1,400-foot level and daily the faith of the backers of the company is being justified. There is no longer any doubt that the Butte & Superior will make a copper mine out of the Blackrock. Of course, while a good copper showing has been found the developments in no way warrant some of the extravagant stories of a strike that have been published and circulated. The company is also shipping some of its zinc ore to the new concentrator of the Butte Reduction works. Daily shipments are made and all the concentration is a complete success. From this source the company will derive a good revenue. The discovery of copper ore in the Blackrock is rather confounding to some eminent geologists and other mining "experts," who have gone on record with very profound and learned dissertations on the geology of the Butte & Superior and the Butte district in general to the effect that it was a foolish thing to expect or hope to find copper in the Blackrock. Some of these geologists are in books and court records with positive declarations that copper could not be found in Butte silver veins.

North Butte Extension.

The find in the Blackrock is highly gratifying to all the operators in the Butte district. The that section of the Blackrock vein strikes through some of the ground of the North Butte Extension Development company, and the report from the Butte & Superior is about the only real good news the stockholders of the North Butte Extension company have ever had. The directors of the latter company have decided to sell $100,000 worth of the

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Houghton, Mich., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Lake has definitely located the northern extension of two of the three so-called Adventure lodes by diamond drilling and undoubtedly will locate the third lode by a similar operation within another month. The No. 1 and No. 2 lodes, so-called, were disclosed in boring the No. 3 incline drill hole and were reached at a depth of 1,150 feet and 1,300 feet, respectively. Both lodes carry copper in commercial quantities the pay shoot in each bed apparently being confined to the footwall portion of the lodes. The No. 1 lode from which a very showy core was taken carries considerable epidote, a not altogether desirable feature, and though possibly not as valuable as the No. 2 lode, apparently is a first-class stamp rock proposition. It is thirty feet wide and shows fully twelve feet of fine shot copper. The No. 2 lode is a strong amygdaloid formation, forty feet in width, about ten feet carrying heavy shot copper in rather exceptional quantities. The No. 3 lode will be reached by the drill hole at a depth of about 1,800 feet as nearly as can be calculated from data available. A fourth lode encountered in the No. 4 vertical drill hole at a depth of 254 feet yielded small fragments of vein material carrying much heavy copper. This lode presumably is the Lake lode. The company has two diamond drill outfits in operation and a third outfit on the ground. Two complete cross sections of the property will be made in which the strike and dips of the several lodes will be determined. Until this data is available shaft sinking is not a probability.

St. Mary's.

A development of considerable importance to the St. Mary's Mineral Land company is the recent disclosure of copper in what presumably is the extension of the Baltic lode in the Challenge mine. The discovery was made by diamond drilling from the bottom of the exploratory shaft at a depth of 850 feet. The drill core shows: very fair degree of mineralization. The extent of commercial ground is yet to be proven, and future developments may prove of considerable importance to the Elm River, Wyandotte, and Erie-Ontario, which properties lying next south undoubtedly carry the underlie of this lode.

Atlantic's Section 16.

There is little new to report concerning underground developments in the Atlantic's Section 16 mine. The company continues crosscutting and drifting at various levels with results that in the past have been rather indifferent and at times discouraging. Operations more recently have been confined largely to the territory north of the shaft and though very little in the way of copper ground of commercial value is being encountered, the formation appears to grow more settled as the drifts reach out, a welcome change from the badly shattered zone in which the shaft is sinking. The shaft has attained a depth of 2,270 feet and is sinking steadily for the twenty-third level.

Superior.

Superior's operations are confined to opening work, with no attempt being made toward production other than a direct shipment to the stamp mill of all rock taken out in the course of development. The tonnage thus secured amounts to between 100 and 125 tons daily, the copper content of the rock varying greatly accordingly as the several drifts open into poorer or richer ground, the average probably being around thirty pounds mineral per ton of rock. The shaft has reached the eleventh level, where crosscutting to the lode is now in progress. The No. 2 shaft, in which operations were suspended last fall, remains idle. Heavier equipment is being installed at that point, and work is expected to be resumed this summer. A showing of copper ground is yet to be made in ground tributary to this shaft. The shaft is about 250 feet deep with about 160 feet of laterals.

Elm River.

Elm River's activity is centered in exploratory work, for which purpose a crosscut is being driven eastward from the bottom of the 170-foot vertical shaft into the probable horizon of the several Adventure lodes. The east crosscut has attained a length of about 250 feet and discloses several promising amygdaloid beds to which attention will be given after the completion of the crosscut. The No. 1 Adventure lode will quite likely be encountered within the next 250 feet east, or approximately 500 feet from the shaft. A crosscut westward at this level was driven 195 feet to the

SAN SIMON'S NEW TUNNEL

Now in About 465 Feet on Planet Claim---Sufficient Work Done to Enable Engineer to Decide on Merits of Property.

Paradise, Ariz., May 15.—The new tunnel of the San Simon is in about 465 feet. One miner only, the watchman, is engaged at work, but he spends all of his time in the tunnel and is making good progress. This tunnel was started at a point about midway between the office and the powerhouse and its direction is almost due south. It is on the planet claim, and if continued sufficiently will traverse the Little Dick fraction and then the Colonel claim, both of which extend from southeast to northwest. And, as the starting point is at least 100 feet from the east side of the Planet, it follows that the tunnel will soon pass out of Planet territory and will be passed in about 175 feet.

There are no surface croppings on either one of the three claims mentioned, though the formations and indications are right for ore. At any rate, the work now being done is effective in that it penetrates territory to the south and west never before explored.

North and east of the main shaft on the Planet, work has been done in tunnels, shafts, etc., on the following claims, all of which possess croppings more or less extensive: Oak, Victor, Comet, Magnet, Ajax, Mars and Old Pick. The most extensive outcrops are on the Comet and Magnet, being continuous from the one to the other; the next largest is on the Ajax. There is also a tunnel on Navarre, which, however, has no croppings.

The north drift from the Planet shaft at the 385-foot level was started on the claim of that name and then passed through the following territory in the order of claims as named: Magnet, Comet, Henley and Ajax, and upon cessation of operations the 300-foot incline shaft on the Mars claim had almost been reached.

Thus it will be seen that sufficient work, spread over a large area, has been done for an engineer to arrive at a definite and fairly reliable conclusion regarding the real merit of the property, and the fact that the San Simon company has secured a deed to the claims and performs the annual work on them, is evidence conclusive that the property has not been turned down.

MINES IN WARREN DISTRICT

Ore Production Normal --- Workings in Denn Show Favorable Indications---Shattuck's Ore on 600 Level Runs 15 Per Cent Copper.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 15.—There is nothing of special importance to relate concerning the operations in the Warren district, but the general conditions are reported to be entirely satisfactory. Ore production remains at about what it has been during recent months. The number of men employed in the mines of the district is approximately 4,000 and the question of curtailing the ore production or the forces have never been even considered. This information comes from the highest authority.

What is known as the Powell shaft, started about the first of the year by the Calumet & Arizona, has now reached a depth of 500 feet and indications at the bottom are quite satisfactory. Confidence in opening up important ore bodies in that section of the district is strong. Last week an electric hoist was installed at this shaft which has a capacity for sinking and exploring to a depth of 1,000 feet. The first station in this shaft will be cut at the 560 level, though this work will not be started perhaps until the shaft has been completed to the 600 level. All the big properties of the Superior & Pittsburg are continuing to prove that the ore bodies are continuous to the greatest depth yet attained.

The new crosscut started north in the Dean has proceeded sixty feet and is now in promising ledge matter, yellow altered lime and oxide of manganese, carrying a trace of copper. This drift is going under the hill in the opposite direction from the Junction. The present indications are such as to cause a buoyant feeling of confidence on the part of the controlling owners, who hope that important results may be announced in the near future.

Estimate of the value of ore in the Shattuck blocked out on the 600 level places it at not less than $1,750,000. No crosscut on the 700 level is now being run to cut this fault or ore body at this level. The value of the ore developed on the 600 is placed at not les than 15 per cent copper.

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Lucky Tiger Combination Gold Mining Company El Tigre, which was called for May 7 at Douglas, was postponed until May 21, when the principal stockholders of the company will be present, and at that time it is expected to have a definite report on the deal for the majority interest of the company, which is now pending. The annual statement of the company, including all deals for 1908, has just been issued, and it is a flattering one. The general operating statement shows a gain of $374,134.28 for the year, of which $145,175.72 is applicable to the first half and $228,958.56 to the second half of the year, as during the first period the mill was still in process of concentrates produced for the year was $714,297.25. During the year $71,500 was paid in dividends, $64,233.60 expended in improvements and the company's liabilities reduced $324,984, of which $229,700 was devoted to the purchase and retirement of bonds, anticipating the latter by eleven months. The company is now paying dividends at the rate of 24 per cent annually.

MAZATAL COPPER COMPANY

New Tunnel on East Side of Mountain in a Distance of 217 Feet and Virtually Under Croppings of Vein.

Jerome, Ariz., May 15.—General Manager Shaw of the Mazatzal Copper company reports that the new tunnel on the east side of the mountain is in a distance of 217 feet and vertically under the croppings of the vein which it is intended to cut. As the formation is pitching away from the tunnel and into the hill, a distance of thirty-five feet remains to be driven before the vein will be reached. This vein can be traced on the surface for a distance of 3,000 feet, showing everywhere good copper carbonates, with some surface sulphides, and is the one of which Mr. Woodbridge, the expert, expressed a most favorable opinion. This new tunnel is being driven at his suggestion. Supt. Bevan feels very confident that he will in a very few weeks cut a fine ore body.

There is no more interesting work going on in Yavapai county today than the drilling for oil at Del Rio by the Yavapai Development & Mining company. The success of this company means much to the future development of Yavapai county in particular and to Arizona in general. As to the work now being done at Del Rio and the success thereof, the following was given by James Gilbert, one of the directors of the company:

"The Yavapai Development & Mining company has at last demonstrated that oil exists in paying quantities in Arizona. The company has drilled their well near Del Rio to a finish at a depth of 1,980 feet. The oil sand was struck at a depth of 1,888 feet, and is thoroughly saturated with oil to the bottom, making about ninety feet of oil sand. The oil brought up by the bailer has been examined by experts and pronounced to be a high grade paraffine oil. The officers of the company are highly pleased over their success and will make preparations to begin a second well at once."

Notwithstanding that the officials of the Arkansas & Arizona have made every effort to get the diamond drill in motion on their property, to date they have been unsuccessful because of the non-arrival of certain necessary parts. They, however, hope to get it in operation within the next few days. While they are working the drill they will continue the south drift.

The Grand Island is busy installing its steam hoist and hopes to be able to commence sinking again about Wednesday next.

General Manager Hull is hurrying along preparations for the blowing in of the Cleopatra swelter. Coke and flux is being delivered daily, and he expresses confidence in being able to blow in the smelter during this month. Development continues in the Cleopatra with good results.

NORTH BUTTE HAS MADE MILLIONS FOR DULUTH INVESTORS!

The big mines on the Butte Hill have given up greater wealth than any other district in the world.

The Duluth public that got in on North Butte at $15, had the opportunity of big profits, by exercising reasonable patience and holding their stock. The public have by this time learned much of the Butte Hill and should understand now that the valuation of mining ground in the proven district at Butte is placed at millions per acre. They have also learned the ore deposits are uniform. That is, that there is no barren ground in the proven district. That two claims located along one vein system should carry the same ore values at the same depth. That should one claim produce—say, 10 millions, it would be reasonable to expect a like production from the other, with the same development.

This is the history of the Butte Hill, and similar conditions exist nowhere else in the world.

The Butte-Alex Scott and the High Ore of the Amalgamated are located on the same vein system; their end lines joining. The High Ore has produced to date over 12 millions, working in solid ore right up to the west end line of the Alex Scott. A fair valuation of the High Ore ground would be 2½ millions per acre.

Well posted mining men at Butte will tell you that the Alex Scott will produce fully 12 millions with the same development as the High Ore. This immense wealth is still intact and belongs to the stockholders.

A conservative valuation of the Alex Scott, based on the Minnie Healy on the south, the High Ore on the west, and the Leonard on the east, would not be less than 12 million dollars. With a capitalization of only 125,000 shares, the stock has an intrinsic value today of $80 per share.

We firmly believe that North Butte never offered the opportunity for big profits that Butte-Alex Scott does today.

We saved thousands of dollars to our clients by daily urging them to hold their Butte & Superior. We can not too strongly urge them to hold their Butte-Alex Scott. The day is coming soon when Butte-Alex Scott will sell as high as North Butte. With its low capitalization, unrivaled location and good management, there is every reason why it should sell at above $50, and not a single reason why it should not.

We make this prediction: Butte-Alex Scott will make more money for the Duluth people than did North Butte.

Butte, Mont., May 14th, 1909.

Martin Rosendahl, Duluth—

Just through mine; looks good; unloading new engine today. Four hundred tons of ore on stockpile ready to ship, average 6 per cent. Raise on twelve hundred in fine ore, face in drift east looks good. No doubt but Little Annie will be as big a mine as Black Rock on same ledge.

Signed—W. J. DAWSON.

BIG FLEET ARRIVING

Fifteen Ore Boats Reach Port in Twenty-Four Hours.

Officers of Peavey Reply to Statement of Aurania's Captain.

Up to noon today fifteen ore freighters and consorts had arrived in Duluth since yesterday, and as many more are due to arrive before midnight tomorrow. The vessels are being taken to the Missabe docks as fast as they can be accommodated and are being loaded for down lake ports.

Ore shipments from this time on, will be heavy. The Pittsburg Steamship company is rapidly getting all its carriers and barges in commission. The company is meeting some difficulty in securing crews, but so far the delays from this cause have not been serious.

Among this morning's arrivals was the George W. Peavey of the Wolvin line. The Peavey is the vessel which passed the Aurania while that vessel was flying signals of distress in Whitefish bay. Capt. Pringle of the Aurania intimated in interviews that Capt. Boyce of the Peavey could have come to his assistance if he had wished.

Officers of the Peavey said this morning that when they passed the Aurania that vessel was wedged in the ice nearly four miles from the open channel and that it was absolutely impossible to get to her without exposing the crew to the same dangers that the Aurania's crew encountered in crossing the open ice. The crew of the Aurania was taken up by the Bartow, which was in Duluth last week.

Marine Notes.

The steamer Rochester, which arrived in yesterday afternoon with 1,000 tons of package freight, made the run from Buffalo to Duluth in sixty-nine and a half hours. This is the quickest passage this year between the two ports.

At the meeting of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association last night, in the Manhattan building, the proposed demand for an increase in wages from the Lake Carriers' association was discussed by the members present. The sentiment was strongly in favor of asking for more pay, but a general union order to that effect will have to emanate from the head offices of the union in the East.

C. C. Galbraith, the general manager of the United Wireless Telegraph company, which is installing a lake system of wireless, is in Duluth for a few days on a business visit.

SPECIAL TERM OF DISTRICT COURT

A special term of court was called this morning in order that the attorneys might argue motions.

Judge Ensign held juvenile court, and Judges Libell and Cant were busy hearing arguments in a number of small cases.

Dr. C. B. Lenont, against whom a verdict of $300 was brought in by the jury in the case of Christ Christopherson against him, asks for judgment in spite of the verdict.

Dr. Lenont was employed by a sawmill company to treat their sick and injured men. Christopherson had a broken arm, which failed to knit after several weeks' treatment by Dr. Lenont, and he came down from the range and consulted a local physician. After the arm had started to knit he went back to Virginia and asked Dr. Lenont to treat it until it became strong.

This the doctor refused to do, saying that he had violated the terms of the contract.

Christopherson then sued for $2,000 and expenses for malpractice. The court ruled out the malpractice and the jury awarded him $300 for expenses.

Judge Dibell took the case under advisement.

BETTER SERVICE ASKED OF ROAD

Mayville and Adjoining Places to Appeal to Great Northern.

Mayville, N. D., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through a movement launched by the Mayville Commercial club it is hoped to secure a change in the passenger train and mail service along this line.

Northwood, Hatton, Blanchard, Hunter, Portland, Amenia and Arthur have united with the Mayville club and a delegation of business men from these cities will go to the Twin Cities next week for the purpose of interviewing Great Northern officials on the subject of making a change.

One of the important changes that is asked for is the inauguration of a Sunday passenger and mail service. They also ask for a more convenient time on the regular week-day trains. Delegates chosen follow: Northwood, Senator J. E. Stevens; Hatton, Hon. M. F. Hegge; Portland, Representative George A. White; Blanchard, A. A. Bruton; Hunter, J. H. Gale; Amenia, H. F. Chaffee; Col. W. H. Robinson, Mayville.

Mayville will hold a gala celebration on Monday, the 17th of May. The program arranged is an elaborate one and will keep things moving during the entire day. The principle address of the Norwegian celebration will be delivered by Anthony T. Grotte of Minneapolis. A special train will bring a large number of people from the cities north of here.

GAME WARDENS STUNG.

Seized Nets Outside of Territory and Must Pay Damages.

Menominee, Mich., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being out for less than two hours, the Marinette circuit court jury, trying the damage suits brought by three Marinette fishermen against Deputy Game Wardens Bedell and Riser of Menominee, decided in favor of the plaintiffs and held that the nets were seized in Wisconsin water, three miles from the state line. Eli Christensen was awarded $140, Charles Nylund $300, and James Peterson $170. The cases will be taken to the supreme court to officially determine the correct boundary.

NEW QUARTERS FOR CITY OFFICERS.

Finishing touches are today being put on the remodeled office rooms in the basement of the city hall, formerly occupied by the municipal court, and they will be ready for occupancy next week.

Health Commissioner Patton will move his office force and equipment Monday, and City Assessor Rakowsky will follow a few days later. The health commissioner's force will occupy the room on the west side of the basement, and the city assessor will be in the rooms on the east side. Two rooms there have been made into one.

New flooring has been put in, the walls have been refinished and everything has been cleaned up, so the basement is hardly recognizable as the former municipal court quarters.

A PROTEST TO SENATE

About fifteen or twenty men representing the lumbering interests about the Head of the Lakes met in the offices of the Virginia Lumber company in the Lyceum building this morning. The object of the meeting was to discuss the proposed new tariff as affecting the lumber industry. Congressman Clarence B. Miller was present by request.

A committee consisting of C. B. Rust, S. J. Cusson and John W. Bailey of Duluth and H. C. Hornby of Cloquet was appointed to gather statistics of the amount of standing timber in the territory covered by the lumber interests represented, and which would be affected by the new tariff.

It is said that one-third of the timber now standing is of such low grade that it would be unprofitable to manufacture it, even if the stumpage could be had for nothing. The statistics to be gathered by the committee are also to include the number of persons engaged in the lumber business who will be affected by the tariff.

A resolution of protest was adopted and signed by all the concerns represented. This resolution, a copy of which will be sent to the conference committee of the senate and to the senators of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, is as follows:

"We protest against any reduction on tariff on lumber for the reason that it would make it impossible to manufacture and market low grade timber which constitutes at least 30 per cent of the standing timber in the Lake Superior district, and would in that proportion shorten the life of the lumber business in this district and would entirely put out of business a large number of new settlers and small operators, who are handling only low grade products. It would injuriously affect the welfare of 75,000 men employed in the lumber business in the Lake Superior region, and would proportionately lessen the amount of farm products used by the lumbermen and prices paid.

"Signed by Cloquet Box company, Northern Lumber company, Alger & Smith company, Iron River Lumber company, Cloquet Lumber company, Morse Lumber company, Johnson-Wentworth company, White River Lumber company, Cloquet Tie and Post company, Manistique Lumber company, North Wisconsin Lumber and Manufacturing company, Eastern Lumber company, Virginia & Rainy Lake company."

MANY HURT IN WRECK

Nine Women May Die From Chicago & Alton Accident.

Cause Unknown—Track Torn Up Four Hundred Feet.

Kansas City, Mo., May 15.—Between thirty and forty persons were injured some probably fatally, by the wreck of the Chicago & Alton train No. 14, near Odessa, Mo., this morning. The train, which left Kansas City at 8:13 this morning was a local bound for Bloomington, Ill.

The dangerously hurt, nine in number, and all women, were from Oklahoma and Missouri. The cause of the accident is not known. The track was torn up 400 feet.

The train was made up of three cars and engine and all the cars and the tender left the track, but the engine stuck to the rails. The rear car turned over two or three time and most of those hurt were in this car. Several of the more dangerously hurt were rendered unconscious and it was a long time before their names were learned. Those of the crews and passengers not hurt immediately set to work ginving the first aid to the injured.

In response to telephone messages sent from a nearby farmhouse all the physicians in Odessa were rushed to the scene while a relief train was started out of Kansas City. All kinds of vehicles were pressed into service at Odessa and the injured were taken into that city and to farm houses.

ASSAILANT OF WOMAN SOUGHT

Pittsburg Pa., May 15.—Seriously injured about the head, assaulted and robbed of valuable jewelry, Mrs. Adolph Baldesberger, 25 years old, and a member of a wealthy family of Arnold, Pa., was found unconscious in a clump of bushes on the lawn in front of her home near New Kensington, Pa.

Today the young woman is in a critical condition and armed posses are scouring the Allegheny valley in the vicinity of Arnold for the assailants, who are said to be men. The victim was set upon last Thursday evening at 9:30 o'clock.

She was struck a number of times with a blunt instrument which cut her head. The assailants then robbed her of a gold watch, diamond ring and money. The unconscious woman was dragged to a clump of bushes and later assaulted. She remained in the bushes until Friday noon, partly regaining her senses last night and incoherently told of the attack.

Local lodges of this order are known as nests. It will not be known what the number of the Duluth nest is, until the charter is received from the headquarters of the society, which are located at South Bend, Ind. John W. Talbot of South Bend, Ind., is national president.

The following officers of the Duluth nest were installed last night at Eagles' hall: Past president, George Neff; president, Joseph Shartel; vice president, James F. Walsh; invocator, Richard Pickard; treasurer, George Thatcher; secretary, Joseph Teks; warden, M. Lind; sentinel, Bert Pease; picket, A. Lindsay Stevenson. Mayor Haven is a member.

It was decided last evening to leave the charter open for two weeks, when another meeting will be held. It is expected that about 500 names will be on the rolls by that time. The degree team from the St. Paul nest will be present to exemplify the work of the order.

The Order of Owls has been in existence for about nine years. There was some talk of organizing a branch here two years ago, but it did not materialize. The creed of the society is given on its literature as follows:

"The Order of Owls is a secret society of good fellows who believe in love, laughter and the kingdom of heaven on earth. Help the sick, bury the dead, brighten dark moments, light up the gloomy places. Sons are not saints. None are in Potters' fields. County shrouds or poorhouses. None are hungry. They do good, speak kindly, shake hands warmly and respect the honor of their women."

Only one lodge is organized in every city. There are two branches, the strictly fraternal, and the branch which embraces both fraternal and insurance features. The "insurance members" enjoy sick benefits and the like.

SUPERIOR NEWS

SUSPECTS ARE BEING HELD

But It Is Not Thought They Are Guilty Men.

That the arrest of Sam Jones and Emil Antela by the police in Superior this morning, charged with being implicated in the murder of the 16-year-old school boy, Rudolph Nelson, in the Itasca railroad yards last evening, will add nothing to solving of the mystery which surrounds the case, is the belief of the Superior authorities.

The two men were rounded up early today at Poplar, a little station on the Northern Pacific line, about twenty-five miles out of Superior. They admitted to have been at Cutler, a little station a mile or so from the scene of the murder, at 6 o'clock last evening, about a half hour before the crime was supposed to have been committed.

The men had nothing on their persons that could connect them with the deed and detectives on the case believe that the men are not the parties that are wanted for murder. They will be held, however, and will be closely questioned as to their whereabouts at the time of the murder, if possible. The authorities think, that the men might be able to put them on the trail of the parties.

Jones resisted arrest this morning and put up a desperate fight for freedom. Both men claim ignorance as to the shooting.

The inquest over the body of the dead boy is being conducted this afternoon by Coroner Geisen.

Tried to Kill Himself.

An unsuccessful attempt at suicide was made last evening by Jacob Timonen, aged 46, a laborer at his boarding house, 319 Hughitt avenue. It was stated at St. Mary's hospital in Superior this afternoon that the man would recover. The method that was resorted to was by cutting a three-inch gash in his throat with a razor. Despondency is said to have been the cause for suicidal intent. He has no relatives in Superior.

FOR MUNICIPAL 'PHONE.

Thief River Falls to Vote on Proposition on June 12.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council has passed a resolution calling for a special election to be held on July 18, to decide whether or not the people wish to take advantage of the law passed by the 1907 legislature, which provides that the city council may be authorized to purchase or build a local telephone exchange.

The present telephone recently passed into the hands of one of the largest telephone companies in the Northwest and the opinion prevails that the city might as well as the company receive the benefit of the change of ownership of the plant. The city owns its own electric plant and water works and is committed to ownership of public utilities whenever they promise to return an income to the taxpayers, as do the two enterprises mentioned above.

Lord Lyveden is an ardent peerage reformer and tells this anecdote: A famous statesman of the nineteenth century was called upon to visit his son in prison. He bitterly reproached him, remarking: "Here am I, having worked my way up from a middle class home to a great position, and when I die you will be the greatest blackguard in the peerage." The son listened quietly, and then replied, with terrible irony: "Yes—when you die."

BACK FROM BITTER ROOT

H. B. Knudsen Says There Is a "Little Duluth" There.

Greatest Trout Fishing to Be Found in This Country.

H. B. Knudsen, the well-known fruit commission man, is back in Duluth after two months spent in the Bitter Root valley of Montana, enthusiastic over that part of the West and a firm believer in its future.

"In some ways," he said, "I did not miss Duluth at all, for there are more than 100 people who fomerly claimed this city as their home now located in the Bitter Root valley. Most of these I had known here before they went West. I found them doing well, and feeling that they had located in the garden spot of the world. There are plenty of young Duluthians there, some of them looking after their father's ranches, and others who have struck out for themselves and are making a go of it.

"The fertility of the Bitter Root soil is proverbial. Twenty acres makes a good ranch—all that a man will care to look after profitably at one time. The country is well peopled with these small ranchers and the land grabbing and speculative elements so common in new countries, are not much in evidence there.

"The two problems that the settler in the Bitter Root valley has to face are rabbits and water. The man that takes up land finds himself at once long on rabbits and short on water. However, the activity of the ranchers is fast driving the rabbits out of the country and they are not the pest now that they were a few years back. About 250 miles of rabbit fencing has been put up this spring and the work is still going on.

"There is plenty of water for irrigation. The only trouble is to get it properly distributed over the land, but there are some big irrigation projects and the land that was once so unprofitable in the Bitter Root with plenty of water will become one of the richest tracts in America.

"The trout fishing is the wonder of all who visit the country. I have seen plenty of so-called good fishing, but never anything to equal the trout fishing in the valley. The streams are literally full of them."

KILLED ON DULUTH SHIP

Three Lives Lost in Explosion on the Hoyt.

She Is Property of the Provident Steamship Company.

Painesville, Ohio, May 15.—Three men were killed, four probably fatally injured and the engineer slightly hurt as the result of an explosion of a flue in the boiler on the steamer James H. Hoyt, three miles off Fairport harbor today. The names of the men killed and injured are not yet known. The four injured men were taken to a hospital here. All were badly scalded by escaping steam.

The Hoyt was on its way from Cleveland to Ashtabula to load coal. She is owned by the Provident Steamship company of Duluth and operated by Pickands, Mather & Co., of Cleveland. The boat is in charge of Capt. Frank L. Meno of St. Clair, Mich.

MORE APPLES NEEDED.

Horticulture: Radical changes are necessary in the culture of apples on this continent of the United States and Canada will be forced in a few years to import apples instead of exporting them. If it had not been for the enormous crops in the orchards of the Pacific and northwestern states and provinces this year an apple famine would have resulted.

Many of the middle western and eastern states reported small yields this season, due to failures in numerous instances, but generally because of pests. Orchards have been neglected, and in scores of places the trees have been permitted to die because of the lack of even ordinary attention.

In 1896 the total product of the crop of the country was 69,070,000 barrels, or 177,675,000 bushels. Since then hundreds of thousands of acres have been added and methods of fruit growing have improved, yet the government reports show that the aggregate crop in all the states in the Union was not more than 25,000,000 barrels, or 62,500,000 bushels, in 1908.

There will always be markets for apples. There never can be an overproduction of first-class stock. It is, in fact, impossible at the present time to produce the quantity of good apples requisite to meet the demand. This is evidenced by the fact that England, Germany, France, Denmark, Australia and the Orient are already drawing upon the orchards in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and British Columbia.

Progress: Charles Roberts, M. P., in his book on "The Time Limit and Local Option," brings out the fact, revealed by the Home Office returns, that of the 12,995 civil parishes in rural districts in England and Wales there are 3,903 (more than per cent, in which there is no license. In the county of Lincolnshire 45 per cent are no-license parishes.

Governor at Asiatic Turkey Prevents a Massacre.

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, May 15.—A total of 22,00 refugees were fed in this city yesterday. Three hundred wounded persons are being cared for at the American and other hospitals established in Adana. It is estimated that 4,000 out of the total number of refugees are ill and 400 of these are suffering from measles, dysentery and typhoid fever. On account of underfeeding and exposure the mortality is great among the children.

Massacre Prevented.

Cerarea, Asiatic Turkey, May 15.—Vigorous action on the part of the city government prevented a massacre of Armenians at Cesaren. When the governor received a telegram from Constantinople directing him to take stantinople directing him to take sharp measures against Armenians and Syrians, he tore up the communication. He then sent for the commander of the troops and asked him if he had a similar message. Upon receiving an affirmative reply he demanded that it be given over to him. The commandant demurred. The governor then took a revolver from his desk and, covering the commandant, said:

"Unless you hand that message over to me at once I will blow your head off."

The commandant surrendered the dispatch.

Red Cross Funds.

Constantinople, May 15.—Ambassador Leishman turned over $5,000 of American Red Cross funds to the relief committees today. This makes a total of $1,000 from that source and about as much more has been received from other American organizations.

The Turkish government shipped 2,000 bags of flour to Adana today and the American church is making constant contributions to the relief of the sufferers.

MORE WOMEN THAN MEN IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, May 15.—Women outnumber the men by 15,425 in the national capital and its suburbs, according to the police census announced today. The census shows a total population of 343,003 in the District of Columbia, an increase of 3,600 over a year ago. The negroes number 97,142.

REAR ADMIRAL COTTON BURIED IN ARLINGTON.

Washington, May 15.—The body of the late Rear Admiral Charles S. Cotton, U. S. N., retired, who died at Nice, France, Feb. 19 last, was interred at the Arlington National cemetery today. There was a brief service at the grave. A small military escort was present. Rear Admiral Cotton was a native of Wisconsin, and after his retirement made his home in Detroit, Mich.

The Rookman: Nine years ago this month we printed an imaginary football eleven made up of certain brawny heroes of fiction. It was a bit of harmless and whimsical absurdity, which happened at the time to be very widely quoted. In subsequent years we have received a large number of inquiries on the subject and we are reprinting the lineup in response to several personal requests.

This lineup brought to our office a great many letters of protest and suggestion. In fact quite as many all fiction elevens were presented indicating personal opinion and preference as usual at the end of every season. Elevens that find there are all American elevens that find their way into print at the end of every football season.

The most serious criticism came from Prof. J. William White, who has been so important a factor in the athletic affairs of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. White's very sound and just objection was that not an American appeared among the candidates for an all-fiction team. His suggestion for an all-fiction team, to be confined strictly to American heroes, was as follows:

A FLURRY IN WHEAT

By Henry Munsing.

When pretty Dorothy Strang induced her father to take her to the metropolis, she had no idea of making a great sensation in the business world. Indeed, she had no idea of making a sensation of any kind, her main thought being to see all the wonderful sights of the great city, go to as many theaters and operas as she could induce "papa" to take her to, do as much shopping as he would pay for, and return home with some new hats and gowns that would paralyze the feminine portion of the town with envy and the masculine with admiration.

If anybody had suggested that this petite and vivacious damsel of 18 would break the most scientifically conceived wheat corner ever planned on the board, send the oldest and wisest of the bulls and bears scurrying for cover and make and unmake scores of fortunes, the suggestion would have been received with derision—and by nobody more skeptically than the little lady herself. But this is just what happened, and it happened despite the fact that Miss Dorothy had no more idea regarding the wheat market or what transpired on the board of trade than her pet canary, and could no more have grasped the idea significance of puts and calls than she could have translated ancient Arabic.

Jerome Strang was a successful merchant and a shrewd business man. With all his hard-headed business sense he dearly loved a speculation, and it was whispered among his business associates that he frequently took a flyer in grains and stocks—and it was also whispered that he generally won.

On the occasion of his visit to the metropolis when Dorothy broke the wheat corner, truth to tell, he made the trip almost solely for the purpose of participating in that same corner, although he gave it out most solemnly in his family and to his business associates that he was making the trip to buy goods.

On the second day after their arrival he announced that a business associate to whom he had mentioned the fact that his daughter was with him, had invited them to attend the theater with him.

"Oh, how horrid," pouted Dorothy, disturbed by visions of thin-lipped old gentlemen with gray side-whiskers who talk perenially of business conditions, or of fat-faced, baldheaded salesmen with huge mustaches and much jewelry, who would tell funny stories and patronize her.

"I think you will like him," replied her father. "He's young and handsome and a very well-informed and entertaining gentleman. At any rate it is exceedingly courteous in him to invite us and we must show him that we appreciate it."

Now, if Herbert Hollister had not put himself out, much against his inclination, to do a courtesy act to a customer who had become a powerful factor in the great wheat deal he was engineering, and who promised to be a most valuable ally in the future deals, he would never have met Miss Dorothy, his wheat deal would not have been smashed to smithereens—and several other things would not have happened which did happen.

Hollister was one of the coming men on the board. Indeed he had already "come," and although well inside the thirties had engineered some very clever deals of a minor sort in which he had trimmed up the oldest and wisest of the traders and had besides been a considerable factor in some of the big deals of the past few years. His quick eye, ready judgment and lightning execution had won the respect and admiration of the "street," and it was freely predicted that he would become a multi-millionaire. Already he had acquired a very substantial fortune.

With great affairs in his head it is small wonder that he groaned inwardly at the prospect of an entire evening with a provincial maiden, probably of doubtful beauty and manifestly equipped beyond doubt charms and equipped beyond doubt to converse only upon the most commonplace affairs. An evening alone with the father would have promised substantial results, as Hollister had discovered the sound sense and far-seeing vision of Jerome Strang.

With these uncomplimentary views of each other and with mutual apprehensions of boredom did Hollister and Dorothy meet. The meeting was a shock to both. Hollister beheld the most graceful and piquant vision he had ever beheld—a jaunty little piece of femininity with all the freshness of girlhood, and country girlhood at that, and at the same time all the budding promise of a glorious womanhood; a figure beyond critism, surmounted by a face as finely chiseled as that of a Greek goddess. But the eyes were what riveted his attention—the eyes and the mouth. Her eyes were as black as night and their depths were unfathomed, while the lips were cupid's own—and over all and through all was that sauciness or rather vitality which always drives men crazy.

He came back presently and began to rally her in his teasing way.

"Well, anyway I made a big deal for you while you were out," she said.

"And I owe you a commission, I suppose," he returned gallantly. "Well, what is it?"

A trifle peaked she shoved the message received to him.

"I answered it," she said proudly.

"You did?" he said. "And what did you say?"—still chaffing.

"Oh, I said to sell all they could," she said proudly, tapping the desk with a letter opener.

He glanced at her smiling, then thoughtfully.

"Joking aside, Miss Strang, did you answer the message?"

"Certainly," she replied. "Papa always told us that it was easy enough to buy, but the trick was to sell, and the boy said he had to have an answer right away, so I just thought I would clinch the deal. Is my hat on straight, Mr. Hollister?"

But he was already out of the door, grabbing his hat on the run.

"Funny," she thought. Presently her father came in and she related the circumstance to him, complaining at Hollister's abrupt exit. Jerome Strang turned fairly green as he grasped the significance of it all.

"Come, let's go to the board," was all he said, and he hustled her to the elevator and to the gallery of the great mart of trade. The scene was something fierce even to old members. To Dorothy it was pandemonium let loose. And there among the crazy, shouting lunatics, was Hollister, half dishevled and hand in air, shouting louder than anybody.

"Principally you," replied her father, gravely.

After a time Hollister came to them. In answer to Strang's questioning look he said quietly: "I guess we have saved ourselves, but five minutes later would have wiped us out. The message had been shown to everybody and the slump had begun. All I could do was to sell faster than anybody. A lot of them suspected a trick and covered, so I figure we will come out about even—but it was a close shave and the deal is off. No corner can obtain now."

They went back to the office. Strang had some business with the bookkeeper and again Dorothy was left alone with Hollister in the private office. She felt the strained atmosphere.

"Tell me, Mr. Hollister, did I do anything bad?" she demanded.

"Well," he said, smiling a far-away smile, "you broke the strongest corner in wheat that has happened in ten years and lost something like $4,000,000 for a clique of which your father and I are allied."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," she said. "I didn't mean to."

"I am the principal loser," he said sternly, watching her closely. "I was in charge of the deal and the slip came from my office. There is only one way you can pay the damage."

"Name it," she replied dismayed and ready to cry, "how is that?"

"By giving me—yourself," he said softly.

THE FAMOUS SWAN DINNER.

Given By the Father-in-Law of the New German Ambassador.

The appointment of Count John Bernstoff as German ambassador to this country recalls the famous swan dinner, which was given at Delmonico's in the early '80s by the late Mr. Luckemeyer, his father-in-law.

This gentleman was a wealthy importer and he received from the United States government the sum of $10,000 as a refund of excessive duties exacted from him on importations.

He dedicated this sum to a gastronomic monument, and never in the history of New York restaurants, says Town and Country, has such a gorgeous entertainment for a limited number of guests been rivalled.

Seventy-two friends were asked. There was one table covered with flowers, excepting a space in the center left for a lake, and a border around the table for the plates. This lake was an oval pond, thirty feet in length by nearly the width of the table, enclosed by a delicate golden wire network reaching from table to ceiling, making the whole one grand cage.

In the lake swam four swans, brought from Central park, surrounded by high banks of flowers, which prevented them splashing the water on the table. Golden cages with canaries were hung from the ceiling and the entire room was one mass of flowers.

The hors d'oeuvre was a dinner at which only the most fashionable women of that day were present.

The menu was done in gold and was long and elaborate, after the fashion of that period. The hors d'oeuvre was timbale a la Conde, and there were two soups, a releve, three entrees, a sorbet, truffled chickens and saddle of mutton for the roasts, two vegetables, a number of sweets and ices.

FOUR FISH ON ONE CAST.

The Field: It is something after all to be the hero of a record, even if it does not mean much, and perhaps the most successful landing of four fish on one cast is not unworthy of being rescued from oblivion.

It happened with me here on the Shannon some few years ago in the last or very nearly the last of my seasons with the wet fly, and to me more remarkable as I have not fished with four flies on my cast half a dozen times in my life. I was fishing from a moat anchored at the tail of the strong broken water of the weir, and rose and hooked what I saw was a trout of about half a pound.

Presently as I was playing him his motions seemed to become most erratic; he would pull heavily down and then instantly there would be slack, or a movement down stream would become a movement up with a suddenness quite bewildering, and for a few minutes I could make neither head nor tail of the action that was going on below. At last on the line coming closer I saw there was a good-sized perch and the highest dropper, and presently I saw a second perch on the turn in a few moments. A moment later Hollister was summoned to the long distance 'phone and Dorothy found herself in entire possession of the office. She seated herself at Hollister's desk. A messenger boy came tearing in and slammed down an open message.

She glanced at the message while trying to frame a sentence to convey the idea that Hollister would be back presently. It was open and she could not fail to read the sententious sentence: "Will you sell 100,000 bushels of May wheat?"

In an instant the oft-repeated axiom of her father regarding business came to her: "It's always easy to buy goods; the trick is to sell them." She would show Hollister that she knew something of business. Anyway, had he not laughingly told her that she was in charge during his absence?

Reaching for a pad of paper, she wrote: "Sell all you can," and signed Hollister's name to it.

He came back presently and began to rally her in his teasing way.

"Well, anyway I made a big deal for you while you were out," she said.

"And I owe you a commission, I suppose," he returned gallantly. "Well, what is it?"

At last on the line coming closer I saw there was a good-sized perch and the highest dropper, and presently I saw a second perch on the turn in a few moments. A moment later I was lower, while a moment later I was astonished to see that my trout was also still on the point with a smaller trout on the dropper next to him.

None of the fish was large of course, though the perch next me was quite a pound; but I saw there was scarcely a possible chance to get all four into the boat safely, so hauling up the stone and rope which held me, I quietly started paddling for shore a hundred yards off with alternate strokes of the oars. Strange to say, I reached the low shelving shore without a single fish escaping and slipping out of the boat drew the whole string ashore in triumph.

The four fish were about two pounds in weight, and I had an applauding gallery of several young fellows on the bank, whom it took me all my time to restrain from rushing into the shallow water to scoop out the struggling fish, when they saw the extraordinary catch I was trying to drag ashore.

It has been shown by a royal commission that the present insufficient consumption of coal in Great Britain leads to a waste of from 40,000,000 to 60,000,000 tons per annum. Thirty per cent of the total British consumption of coal might be saved by employing the best known means for each purpose.

To prevent the theft of electric light bulbs a socket is now made which locks with a key, so that removal is impossible without the key.

ELIHU ROOT, a few days after he had persuaded congress to accept his plan for the reorganization of the army, was congratulated by a friend in New York city and was told that this achievement should establish for him permanent fame. The secretary of war, as Mr. Root then was, replied somewhat sadly, saying that in the United States there is no permanent fame excepting for a writer or for a military hero. No lawyer, no cabinet officer, ever gained more than a fleeting reputation, he asserted. It may be that the ambition to become famous and to be known to posterity explains why it is that so many men of the professions, and of even high business achievement, have undertaken to write books, not as a vocation, but as an avocation. Some of the most successful of recent writers are men whose business in life is the practice of law or of medicine, or the discounting of notes or directing of other banking business or politics.

Edward M. Shepard, who was candidate for mayor of New York, but was defeated by Seth Low, and who many politicians think, will be the next candidate of his party for governor of New York will probably be remembered longest by a biographical work with which he has occupied his leisure moments for many months. Where Mr. Shepard found time to write the life of Martin Van Buren has been a mystery to his friends. He is presumed to have written much of this life at his summer place on Lake George, although he is so hospitable a host that he must have stolen some hours in the late night, or have arisen early in order to prepare this biography. He wrote his life with a sense of pleasure, and without any feeling of labor. He found in its writing intellectual recreation and healthful stimulus, and more critics declared when the biography was published that undoubtedly a great historical writer was lost when Edward M. Shepard became a lawyer.

An Inventor Who Wrote a Detective Story.

One of the strangest of the impulses which lead men of active affairs to writing for pleasure or for fame was that which inspired a very successful inventor to write what proved to be one of the most popular detective stories published some years ago.

Frederick Upham Adams is often spoken of as a born inventor. The order of his intellect seems like Edison's, to center upon discovery and constructive work involving invention. Every electric lamp post in the United States represents Mr. Adams' inventive talent for these posts are standardized. He also constructed an experimental railway train which was reported to have broken speed records in the year 1900. But while Mr. Adams was busily occupied with science in the laboratory and in the workshop he was tempted to work out a detective story, whose plot as he imagined it, seemed capable of good literary development. Therefore, at odd moments, when he had a vacation of a week or two, he worked diligently at the manuscript of a story which was published under the title of "The Kidnaped Millionaires." Upon publication it attracted wide attention, and there was astonishment that the inventor, who had published various highly technical scientific treatises, and who had written somewhat upon social reform, should have had the skillful fancy and the light and yet exciting touch which made possible so fascinating a story.

A Judge Who Wrote Plays.

One of the ablest judges who ever served upon the bench of the higher courts of New York state was George C. Barrett. If ever a lawyer who seemed to be dominated by the philosophy and the practice of law sat upon the bench, Justice Barrett was that man. And yet he has ambitions to write a great play. Sometimes, after a busy day in the courtroom, when the arguments had been dry and mentally exhausting, or the issue involved presented difficult points to a justice, Justice Barrett returned to his home, went into his library, pushed his law books aside took from his desk various manuscripts and set at work upon a scene or an act in a play in which he was greatly interested. He never became a successful playwright, and yet he sometimes told his friends that he found almost as much enjoyment in the writing of a play—for his characters seemed to live and to be companionable with him—as he would have found in the production of it.

Another man who was well known in his day, and who had an ambition to write a successful play, was that lawyer who was, first, district attorney of New York city and afterward its mayor, A. Oakey Hall. And not only did Hall actually write a play and have it produced, but he further temporarily held the public eye by taking one of the parts in his play. Its title was "The Crucible," but whatever pleasure Mr. Hall may have derived from writing the play while still practicing law, the actual production of it was a real crucible test, in which failure was discovered.

The most prolific writer whose literary work is an avocation rather than a vocation, is F. Hopkinson Smith. Although an engineer by profession, and so great an engineer that he built the government sea wall around Governor's Island, N. Y., and the foundation for the Statue of Liberty, and accomplished the very difficult construction of the Race Rock lighthouse, at the entrance of Long Island sound, yet Mr. Smith has written and published, in the course of twenty-five years, twenty-five novels, every one of which gained for him some success and some of which are numbered among the so-called "best sellers." And in addition to his profession as an engineer, and his literary craftsmanship, Mr. Smith, as is widely known, has gained distinction as an artist. While he took up literature as an avocation, it has sometimes been thought that the money returns received from his novels must have equaled in the aggregate the payments made to him for his professional work as an engineer.

How Mr. Smith is able to accomplish so many things along different lines lies in his ability to economize time. If he has five minutes on a subway train, or while waiting in an office, he takes a pad from his pocket and sets down a few lines, so that in the course of the day he may have been able to save as much as an hour or two hours, and to have written a thousand words perhaps. And so, little by little, the manuscript grows, representing economy of time, until at last the novel is completed. Of course there is ultimate revision, which often means protracted labor and always much drudgery. But the point to be emphasized here is that this engineer is one of the most successful of American novelists, and is also a favorably known artist, because he has learned how to save the moments as they fly. In the writing of stories Mr. Smith finds exactly the helpful recreation which relieves his mind from the tension occasioned by concentration upon the important engineering works which he directs.

Mayor McClellan's History of Venice.

When George B. McClellan was carrying on the first of his campaigns for election as mayor of New York city, his time seemed to be so completely occupied that it was sometimes wondered whether he spared enough time each day to sleep. And yet, during that campaign, Mayor McClellan was diverting his mind by the writing of a work upon historic Venice. He found in this composition, and in the excitement of receiving and revising proof slips, such perfect change from the exhausting labors of the campaign that the work really served him as a tonic. The book was published a few weeks after its author was first inaugurated as mayor, and it at once numbered the young metropolitan executive among the successful authors of his time, although the character of the work was such as to preclude it from very wide reading. It was designed chiefly for scholars, or for those who knew Venice and are fond of delving into the history of that mystic city.

Of course Mayor McClellan's political prominence, and especially the factional disturbances in his party which he was compelled to face, distracted attention from the book. But the writing and the publication of it illustrates the disposition among men of affairs in all walks of life to enter the field of literature, seeking there an avocation, instead of a vocation. Recently President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, of which university Mayor McClellan is a graduate, spoke before 500 Princeton graduates of Mayor McClellan's scholarship and literary skill, intimating that they were acquired indentically during a very brief public life in congress and as mayor of New York.

In 1873 Robert Grant, of Boston birth, and in his childhood brought into association with that remarkable group of authors who made Boston for years the literary center of the United States, was graduated from Harvard college, and six years later from the Harvard law school. For many years he has been judge of the probate court, and of the court of insolvency for Suffolk county, Mass. On the bench Judge Grant has all of the dignity and gravity which are associated with judicial office. No one seeing him presiding over a trial would suspect him of being one of the most prolific of living American authors.

Judge Grant had been out of the law school only a year when his "Confessions of a Frivolous Girl" was published, and it was said at the time that the success of the romance would justify the author in abandoning any idea of practicing law and in devoting himself wholly to literature. But Judge Grant perceived that literature is precarious, and the law, after practice has been established, is certain. Therefore he has devoted an hour or two every day, usually in the evening, to the writing of his various stories, and recently has published a fiction comedy which is spoken of as one of the best depictions of manners that has been published in many a year. His method of work resembles somewhat that of F. Hopkinson Smith, since he, too, knows how to economize time to the last waking minute.

The readers of the present generation doubtless will fail to recognize the name of Judge Halliburton. He was for many years the presiding justice of the highest justice of the highest court in Nova Scotia. His home was in Halifax, but he made frequent visits to New England, and was almost as much at home in Boston as in Halifax. Upon the bench Judge Halliburton was the personification of dignity and sternness, being careful always to maintain rigidly the somewhat severe etiquette that prevails in the English courts. And yet he had gained an international reputation as a writer of deliciously humorous sketches. He was the creator of the character of Sam Slick, who personified a sort of Yankee shrewdness and humor. Judge Halliburton's humorous writings preceded those of Artemus Ward, Mark Twain and the American school of humorists. Even now in England the works of this judge as a humorist are read and admired.

About thirty years ago there was published a novel entitled "Guerndale," the author hiding his identity by means of a nom de plume, "J. S. of Dale." This story was recognized at once both by the public and the critics as the work of a master of fiction, and when it was discovered that "J. S. of Dale" was a young lawyer, and had been admitted to practice both before the courts of New York state and of Massachusetts, all the greater was the astonishment that one trained as a lawyer should have the intellectual gift that made it possible for him to write so fascinating a story as "Guerndale."

This lawyer-author is Frederick J. Stimson, and while writing novels he also has been assistant attorney general of Massachusetts, and at one time a candidate for congress in one of the Massachusetts districts. While serving his state as assistant attorney general he found time and delight in writing a novel that had wide circulation in its day, "The Crime of Henry Vane." With Mr. Stimson the writing of fiction has been an avocation wholly, since he finds in the work mental recreation, and healthful stimulus in the conceiving of his characters and the working out of his plots. His friends say that for him to write a story is as pleasant an experience as it is for him to witness a play. He is fond of sandwiching in, so to speak, between his novels highly technical and important law treatises.

Some three years ago an English manufacturer who had gained a considerable fortune in the manufacture of an article much used by artists published a novel entitled "Joseph Vance." This story commanded such instant and admiring attention that both in the United States and in England there were many inquiries respecting the identity of the author, for the name on the book—William de Morgan—was one unknown to literature. It was disclosed at last that the writer of this brilliant novel was somewhat that of F. Hopkinson Smith, past 65 years of age, and had no thought, until he was more than 60, of taking up the pen with literary intent. It sometimes has been said that this is an unprecedented record. But it has been matched and in the number of works of fiction surpassed by the achievement of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, who first had gained wide reputation as possibly the foremost of American men of medicine. After he had passed his sixtieth birthday there was published a novel written by him which instantly gained popular favor and established his reputation as one of the most brilliant latter-day American writers of fiction. This work was followed by others, and now, in his seventy-eighth year, Dr. Mitchell is still writing fiction. Those among his friends who should know say that Dr. Mitchell began to write because he found that the conceiving and perfecting of character and plot served to rest both his body and his mind. After a busy day, and when those of his household were asleep, he formed the custom of retiring to his library and spending an hour in composition. This work of writing was soothing, and yet healthfully exhilirating.

Another physician, who also gained high reputation as an allenist, and who was surgeon general in the army of the United States at one time, Dr. William A. Hammond, discovered that he, too, could gain mental rest, composure to his nerves and such perfect relaxation of his physical organism as led to healthful sleep if he devoted an hour or two each evening to the writing of works of fiction. He wrote one novel, entitled "Lal," which had wide circulation, and he judged by his own experience that if men greatly occupied in professional activities were to spend a half hour or an hour each day in literary work, cultivating the field to which their talents were best fitted, they would find in mental labor of this kind healthful resources.

A Lawyer-Historian.

One of the better-known historians of the present day is Frederick Trevor Hill, who was graduated from Yale in 1887 and the Columbia law school in 1889. He began the practice of law immedlately after his admission to the bar, and was not known to his profession to have any other ambition than to succeed as a lawyer. But from 1901 to 1905 inclusive there appeared from his pen three novels. These did not bring him great popular favor, although the workmanship was regarded as of high quality. Then Mr. Hill, busy though he was with his law practice, discovered that his greater literary ability lay in biography, and three years ago he had published what is regarded as the most masterly presentation of Abraham Lincoln as a lawyer. This was written by Mr. Hill during many evenings, and yet it refreshed him for the busy professional labors of the day. Since that time Mr. Hill has written a history of Wall street from the romantic point of view, and also a brief study of Lincoln, published at the time of the Lincoln centenary.

Charles H. Sherrill, Lawyer, Politician and Writer.

When in college Charles H. Sherrill recently appointed by President Taft United States minister to the Argentine republic, gained a reputation which was far more than local, since he was regarded as one of the most expert and successful of college athletes. In addition to his muscular prowess, his endurance and skill, he possessed much of the executive ability which made Walter Camp the foremost American authority upon football.

After Sherrill was graduated from Yale he came to New York, studied law and was admitted to the bar, and a professional career sure to be successful was predicted for him. He ventured into politics, became a leader in his district, and was one of the organizers of a national association of young men who took prominent part in the presidential canvasses of 1901 and 1908. In view of his legal and political activities, how Mr. Sherrill was able to find time to write a book is a mystery to his friends. This book, written during the presidential campaign of last year, and recently published, is descriptive of travels in Europe and reveals a power of narration and an artistic and true literary touch which, were its author to devote himself to literature, would undoubtedly bring him high literary honors.

A Banker-Author.

The list of the political offices held by A. Barton Hepburn, head of one of the country's most noted banks, is a long one. He was superintendent of the banking department of New York state when he was 34 years old. He was chairman of the legislative committee before whom Jay Gould was examined, and to whom Mr. Gould made his famous reply that he was a Democrat in a Democratic district and a Republican in a Republican. Mr. Hepburn was a national bank examiner, his district being the old city of New York, and he was controller of the currency at Washington in the last year of President Harrison's administration. For ten years he has been president of the Chase National bank.

Busily engaged as Mr. Hepburn has been, he has yet found time and inclination to write and to have published a history of coinage and currency and numerous articles for reviews and magazines. In what was probably the busiest year of his life he was able to prepare his history of coinage and currency, a voluminous work, which is now recognized as the authoritative history in its field. Mr. Hepburn tells his friends that although the preparation of this work involved great labor and much research, yet he found when he turned to it after a busy day in the whirl of financial life in New York city, there came composure, rest and at the same time a healthful stimulus, so that the writing of this book, which placed Mr. Hepburn among the "reference" authors, was a recreation and an avocation in the best meaning of that term.

Of course, those two multimillionaires, Andrew Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller, have written not for the money there is in writing, but for the pleasure they derived by setting down their views on various matters in black and white. But while Mr. Rockefeller can boast of having produced only one book, Mr. Carnegie could fill a little bookshelf with the books that have come from his pen, wielded by him to secure freedom from the cares that the manufacture and sale of steel by the millions of tons bring.

CHANCE FOR CHEAP PARK

City Could Have "Breathing Spot" at Very Low Cost.

First Street Property Is Owned By the County; Should Be Improved.

It has been suggested that it would be an excellent idea for the city and county to come to an understanding, whereby the common council would be at liberty to authorize the park board to expend sufficient money on the county property lying directly west of Fourth avenue west, between First and Second streets, to turn it into a park.

The entire block between Second and First street, and Fourth and Fifth avenues, is owned by the county, except for that portion of it occupied by the federal building. The plan is that ultimately the city shall erect municipal buildings in the block, purchasing the land from the county for that purpose.

With this understanding, it is expected the county will hold on to the property until the city can buy it, provided the time limit is not an unreasonable one. As there is no chance of the city building on the site offered for a few years yet, there is every prospect that it will remain unoccupied, except for what is taken up by the federal building and courthouse site.

The plot of ground just now is in an unsightly condition, but it is claimed it would require no very great expenditure to put it in shape for a temporary park. The idea isn't to make a very elaborate park of it, but it could easily be sodded over, and foot paths arranged, with benches here and there for any one who was inclined to sit down.

Earth taken out in the new courthouse is being spread on the vacant ground in question, filling in the holes, and making the whole square more level. This work is being done by the courthouse commission. As a park site there are many thing to recommend the location. It has the advantage of being very central, in the very heart of the business district, only one block from Superior street, and adjacent to the federal building and postoffice. There is an extensive residence district to the north, and there are always many people passing and repassing the place. Being so centrally located, there is every reason why steps should be taken to make it appear something other than a huge backyard, it is argued.

CAMP COOK IS AFTER A WIFE

Asks Rev. J. T. Moody to Assist Him in His Search.

A cook in a lumber camp near Taconite, Minn., encouraged by the success of James Sheehan in getting a wife by applying to a charitable organization, has asked Rev. J. T. Moody of the Bethel to assist him in finding some person of the opposite sex to share his life's sorrows and joys.

In a frank and readable letter the man explains that he is around lumber camps so much that he has no opportunity to get acquainted with girls. He recommends himself as being a faithful worker, and says he is tired of working all winter on a job and then going to the city and spending all of it where he gets no benefits.

The cook hastens to explain that he does not drink a drop, so not a cent is spent for "booze."

The writer says he never was in love, but is quick to learn a thing. He is 5 feet 11 inches in height, weighs 164 pounds, has a light complexion, blue eyes, is 28 years old, has a good disposition and good character. His wife must not be more than 30 years old, preferably younger.

The man will be through with his present job in two months, and will then come to Duluth.

MANY ORDERS IN ISHPEMING

Ishpeming, Mich., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are very few cities in the country with a population the size of Ishpeming that have a greater number of fraternal societies.

There are now thirty-nine here, with a prospect that the number will soon be increased to forty-two. W. J. Hebbard, district deputy of the Woodmen of the World, will organize a camp here some evening next week, and a little later he plans to start a Finnish camp of the society. Mrs. Sundy, an organizer of tents for the Lady Maccabees of the World, is also working in the city, and she expects to put in a branch within a few weeks. The Maccabees of the World now have three lodges in the upper peninsula, at the Soo, Manistique and Marquette.

Mr. Hebbard said that he anticipates increasing the membership of the Ishpeming camp to 100 before the close of the summer. A uniform rank will be established in connection with the lodge. The order is eighteen years old and has the largest cash surplus of any fraternal society in the country, having over $9,000,000 in an emergency fund. It is also credited with being the largest order of its age in the world. It has over 700,000 members in the United States and Canada, and is second in size to the Modern Woodmen of America.

WHEEL TAX IS ADVOCATED

Mayor Believes One Should Be Levied in Duluth.

Mayor Haven, in his address before the West End Commercial club last evening, spoke in favor of a wheel tax on vehicles, in connection with his remarks on the Garfield paving matter. He said this morning that he intended to pound away on the wheel tax proposition until it went through here in Duluth.

"A tax of this sort has worked out successfully in other big cities, and has been upheld by the supreme court," he said. "There is no reason why one should not become effective here. It is a very reasonable proposition. Every one owning a vehicle is, under this law, taxed a small amount, and the fund thus provided goes to the maintenance of the city streets. This is no more than fair. Owners of vehicles wearing out the streets should be willing to pay a part of the cost of keeping them in presentable shape."

Ministers and Laymen of Duluth District Will Meet.

Everything is in readiness at the West end for the annual conference of the sixty churches in the Duluth district of the Methodist Episcopal church, which convenes at the Grace M. E. church Monday evening at 7:45.

It is expected that over 100 delegates from all parts of the ranges and Northern Minnesota will be present, besides a number of delegates from each of the Duluth churches in the district. It is planned to have the pastor, Sunday school superintendent and the president of the Epworth league present at the conference as delegates from each church in the district.

The program Monday evening will be opened by an address of welcome given by Mayor R. D. Haven, to which W. L. Smithies will respond. After the services the Epworth league will give a reception to the visiting delegates and the older members and friends of the church.

Bridgeman, president of Hamline university, will speak in the afternoon, and S. J. Clemans of St. Paul will deliver an address in the evening. The conference will be concluded by a general deacons' meeting. Dr. E. C. Clemans will preside.

SUB-POSTOFFICE CLAMORED FOR

The West end would have a subpostoffice if the West End Commercial club had its way.

Last evening at the regular session of the club the matter came up for consideration and a committee was appointed to circulate a petition asking the postoffice to create a sub-station in that section of the city.

The following were appointed: William Benard, W. H. Leonard and Charles Benson. The petition will be drawn up at once and a campaign for the signatures inaugurated by the committee.

The club also took up the playground matter for discussion last evening, and it was understood that the park board is planning on new playgrounds for the West end school children. The club named a committee comprising Dr. Oredson, J. J. Moe and J. W. Preston to recommend a suitable site to the park board.

Mayor Haven addressed the members of the club in regard to the wheel tax. The next meeting will be held May 28.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO HOLD A MEETING.

That a meeting of the Garfield avenue property owners should be called for next Wednesday, at which time Mayor Haven, City Attorney Wilson and other interested parties should be in attendance, was decided upon last evening at the regular bi-monthly session of the West End Commercial club.

The property owners, who are expected to shoulder one-fourth of the expense connected with the paving project, will have an opportunity to talk over the matter with the city officials, and it is thought that the matter can be definitely brought to a head. Never before this year have the pupils made such a feature of debating. Since the literary societies first added debates as a part of their programs the pupils have displayed great interest. Some excellent debates have been given, too, both in the literary society meetings and in the classes. A number of the members of the junior reading class prepared a debate and delivered its yesterday during class. From the point of view of subject matter and delivery the debate was worthy of being presented before any audience at the school. The subject was, "Resolved, That a course in oratory would be more profitable to a high school student than a course in Latin." The sides were splendidly matched, Adeline Buckley, Laura Hamilton and Winifred Leonard upholding the affirmative and Rebecca Walker, Pearl Elevidge and Estelle Chase the negative.

Good arguments were brought up by each side, but the judges, Miss Pettingill, Mr. Bohannon and Miss Sadie Stevens, decided in favor of the negative by a vote of 2 to 1.

The Thalian Literary society presented another of its interesting programs yesterday afternoon in the assembly hall. Memphis, Tenn., May 15.—R. J. Rawlins, former mayor of Lennox, a suburb, was killed and half a dozen other persons were seriously injured today by a street car collision with a street paving machine near Madison avenue and Lumpkin street. Passengers in the car were mowed down as if by a reaper.

CHARITIES ORGANIZED

Forty-Five Directors Are Elected at Commercial Club.

Eugene T. Lies of Minneapolis Explains Objects of Movement.

A meeting of the Commercial club last evening resulted in the organization of Associated Charities. Forty-five directors were elected. Eugene T. Lies, general secretary of the Associated Charities of Minneapolis, T. W. Hugo and Dr. Tuohy were among the speakers. Mr. Hugo acted as chairman of the gathering.

Mr. Lies said there was urgent need for an organization such as proposed in Duluth, explaining that the phenomenal growth of Duluth within the last ten years, when it practically doubled its population, carried with it some problems that inevitably follow the expansion of industry, and which could only be properly dealt with through a system of co-operation.

The Minneapolis man was able to say from his own experience that an Associated Charities organization in Duluth would save time, trouble and money for other charities of the city. It can keep track of all the needy in the city and is in a position to prevent the charitably inclined from being defrauded. Other speakers also favored the organization. The sentiment of the meeting, in fact, was strongly in favor of the move.

Another meeting will be called within the next ten or twelve days.

The names of the forty-five directors elected are given below: Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. W. N. Cole, Mrs. J. D. Kenna, Mrs. C. S. Mitchell, Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. R. N. Marble, Mrs. W. F. Bailey of West Duluth, Miss Eleanor Thompson, Mrs. John Jenswold, Bishop McGolrick, Rev. M. Lefkovitz, Rev. C. Solomonson, Rev. Father Gullet of the West end, Rev. H. K. Madsen, Rev. Campbell Coyle, Rev. Brewer, Rev. Alexander Milne, Rev. A. W. Ryan, Dr. W. A. Coventry, Dr. E. L. Tuohy, Dr. I. T. Burnside, Dr. W. R. Bagley, Dr. Dr. E. J. Ekklund, Mayor R. D. Haven, W. E. Richardson, Capt. M. L. Fay, J. F. Killorin, J. T. Armstead, George H. Crosby, Peter S. Summers, Frank Dacey, I. Freimuth, J. J. Moe, George Stevens, A. R. MacDonald, Chief of Police Troyer, P. G. Phillips, Ira J. Ide, George Gray, F. E. House, Ward Ames, G. G. Hartley, Alfred Merritt and E. A. Silberstein.

WALKER AGREES TO OBEY TREATY

Saloonmen and Officials to Prevent Selling Liquor to Indians.

Walker, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Zollman of St. Paul, has been in town this week meeting the local saloon men and city officials, as well as the county attorney, regarding the enforcement of the Indian treaty act of 1855, relative to furnishing liquor to Indians. A meeting was held at the courthouse, all local liquor men being present, besides the mayor and county attorney, and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That we will do everything in our power and honestly cooperate with the Federal government and state authorities to prevent the sale of liquor to the Indians.

"On the part of the dealers themselves it was resolved that they would not sell to the Indians and will aid the Federal government to the fullest extent in preventing such sales, and on the part of the civil authorities, including the mayor of Walker and also including the county attorney as well as the sheriff of Cass county, it was resolved and agreed, that on their part they will as far as in their power, see to it, that the laws of the state of Minnesota, with respect to the sale of liquor to the Indians as well as the Federal laws, shall be enforced. "H. Brummund, chairman; F. A. Dare, secretary."

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKelg of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

MOTHER ATTEMPTS LIFE.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Ed Torgeson of Adams, Walsh county, was taken through Grand Forks Friday afternoon to the state asylum at Jamestown, to which she was committed by the Walsh county insanity commission. She was brought before that board after having made a sensational attempt at committing suicide.

Mrs. Torgeson resides about ten miles from Adams, her husband being engaged in farming. The fact that she had left their 10-months-old baby in a carriage just outside the house led the husband to make an investigation. Carrying the babe in his arms, he was horrified at finding his wife lying across the bed with blood flowing freely from cuts in her neck, inflicted by a razor.

Immediate medical attention was given with the result that she was saved from death. She is the mother of three children, and is 35 years of age.

Mrs. Stocker Writes New Opera.

The vocal pupils of Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker and the piano pupils of Miss Clara Stocker will appear in a recital Thursday evening of next week at the Lyceum theater. After a short recital program a new fairy operetta, "Beulah," by Mrs. Stocker, will be presented for the first time on any stage.

Those who have seen Mrs. Stocker's opera, "Gaymede," either here or in New York, will be interested in this new musical play which she has written. The caste is as follows:

Beulah	Evelyn Greenfield
Florian	Cecil Gilleland
Jack	Brayton Berry
Henry	A. B. Thompson
Mary	Ora Wallen
Hilda	Margaret Pearson
Madge	Maude Manson
Cynthia (fairy queen)	Jessie Beatty
Ungadin (Gnome king)	Knox Winton
Schoolmaster	W. C. Ross
Bertram	Stephen MacGiffert
Arnold	Ernest Pearson
Frida	Dolly Middlecoff

Synopsis of the opera follows:

First scene—In the heart of the Black Hills forest. Village maidens are holding a fair, visited by country people, school children and young men of the neighborhood. Votes are cast for the "fairest maid." Beulah is proclaimed mistress of the fete and Florian is chosen as her knight. She imposes on him the task of finding for her the blue flower which brings happiness and makes a "wish come true." Florian departs on this errand. The schoolmaster finds the children loitering at the fete and gives them a scolding.

Second scene—The children are delighted that school is over and decide to hunt for the blue flower. Some of them are caught by the gnomes. King Ungadin holds council with his gnome senators and the children are set free. Queen Cynthia and her fairy train now appear and captives are brought in, among them Florian, who has been found on enchanted ground. Queen Cynthia asks him to remain with the fairies, but he begs to return to Beulah. Queen Cynthia must test the heart of the young girl. Florian is disguised. Beulah stands the test, finds at her feet the precious blue flower; chorus of rejoicing. Tableaux, curtain.

Gives Two Recitals.

The piano pupils of Miss Elizabeth B. Morton gave a well attended recital Wednesday evening at Temple hall, assisted by Mrs. Byron Culbertson, contralto, and John Koneczny, tenor. An interesting program of wide range was presented.

Bessie O'Brien and Mahelle Moberg opened the program with Kirchner's "Polonaise" for two pianos, which was well handled. Little George O'Brien played "Dance of the Marionettes," by Adams, in dainty style. Lucile Elder rendered Biehl's "Soldiers March" in a careful, faultless manner. Edwin Jentoft played his "Ballade" with spirit and precision. Valborg Hovda gave "Youth and Old Age" with nice contrast. Astrid Hovde did especially well in "Ases Fon" and "Anitra's Dance."

Bessie O'Brien was heard in two numbers, "To a Wild Rose" and "Autumn," by McDowell.

In Godard's "Pan" Florence Denny brought out the pastorale atmosphere, suggested by the poem. Frances Berg played Chopin's "Impromptu" in a satisfying manner. The brilliant two-piano duet "Air Bohemians," by Pirani, played by George Wilton and Mabelle Moberg, elicited much applause. A feature of the program was the recitation of Mozart's Sonata in F, by Margaret Clark. The Grieg accompaniment was played at the second piano by Mrs. Morton. Mrs. Culbertson was heard in "Cradle Song," by Clutsom, in good voice and pleasing manner. John Koneczny offered "The Wanderer," by Schuman, and was enthusiastically encored.

Margaret Clark and Frances Berg were heard in a brilliant composition for two pianos by Raff, and acquitted themselves in a creditable manner. Florence Denny, in a Sinding number, showed good tone and poetic handling. Godard's "Valse Chromatique" was rendered by George Wilton in a dignified style, and Pirani's "Gavotte" for two pianos was treated by Florence Denny and Astrid Hovde with spirit.

Clemens Krantz, a youth of 12 years, played a four-movement "suite" by Olsen. His technique was remarkably clear and his diction and tonal quality mature and graceful. He was enthusiastically applauded. Frances Berg showed much advancement, giving an especially good interpretation to the dignified "Concerto in D" by Mozart. She was accompanied at the second piano by Miss Morton. Miss Florence Hyland contributed much pleasure with a beautiful number, "Love In May," by Parker, and was given a hearty encore. The Temple quartet, consisting of Messrs. Cole, Koneczny, Suffel and Dworshak, sang two pleasing numbers and were enthusiastically encored.

EDICT SAYS POLICE MUST ALL BE MARRIED.

New York, May 15.—Hereafter the policeman who swings his club along the walks and by-ways of gay Coney Island must be married and therefore supposedly proof positive against the wiles such as have proved ensnaring to the ambitious young officer of other days. Commissioner Bingham issued an order to this effect yesterday and seventy policemen, all of whom have been married at least ten years, were told to report for duty at the resort this morning.

ROCKS ARE HURLED THROUGH CAR WINDOW.

Mankato, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stones hurled through the windows of the chair car on southbound Omaha passenger train No. 11, which reached Mankato at 10:40 Thursday evening, painfully injured T. J. Gardner of the firm of Macbeth & Gardner of this city, and a little girl whose name was not learned, and the incident created much excitement among the passengers.

FARMER KILLS SELF AND THREE

Boylesville, Ill., May 15.—Henry Williamson, a well-to-do farmer, living two miles east of here, killed his wife and two little children and then committed suicide. The cause of the tragedy is not known.

Williamson arose early, got his revolver, stepped to the bedside of his wife and children and shot all of them while they were sleeping. He then poured kerosene on the floor and set it afire, after which he killed himself.

A neighbor's girl was sleeping in the same room. She was not molested. She says that when Williamson shot his wife, it awakened her and when she saw him pointing the gun at her playmates, she covered her head and believed she was unnoticed. A farmer employed by Williamson put out the fire.

TORNADOES KILL FIVE PERSONS

Fifty-Five Are Injured—One Town Is Devastated.

Kansas City, Mo., May 15.—A series of tornadoes in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma late yesterday killed at least five, injured fifty-five, devastated one town, wrecked a train and did great damage to property. Twenty-five were injured by a storm that swept over Mount Washington and Fairmount Park, suburbs of Kansas City. At least two of these are thought to be fatally injured and others seriously.

The town of Hollis, Kan., near Concordia, was swept away. Here three were killed and ten seriously injured.

The dead:

FRED JEARDOE.
JOHN CYRE.
GEORGE ECKERT.

The Eckstrom family, consisting of five persons, is missing. Their house is in ruins and it is thought they are dead.

Near Great Bend a tornado killed two and injured twenty. All wires are down in that vicinity and it is feared that the death list may be greater.

William Ackerty, a Santa Fe engineer, was killed, as was Frank Nicholson, a conductor. The tornado wrecked the work train, of which Ackerty was the engineer, and blew it into the ditch. Several members of the crew were blown 100 feet. The pile driver toppled over, crushing Ackerty to death in his cab.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, obtained by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially, and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome California blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy, and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

Lovely Lingerie Frocks for SUMMER DAYS

A Paris Model of Lawn and Lace

Pin Tucked Net with Lace

A Summer White Frock Ready for Easter Parties

Typical 1909 Lingerie Frock with Embroidery

April the Time to Make Up Thin Dresses- A Stunning Lingerie Model from Paris- One-Piece Effects Prevail - A Lingerie Bridesmaid Frock.

FURS have been packed away, the last winter word has been spoken and summer raiment is the feminine topic of the moment.

It is always best to make up the really summery things—the dimities, lawns and swisses, and the more or less elaborate lingerie frocks, quite early in the season; leaving May free for the more important street costumes of silk or linen, which should be left until styles are thoroughly established.

There is no reason why the dainty thin dresses for midsummer afternoon and evening wear should not be fashioned in April. General style lines are settled by then; it has been decided what sleeves will be; what sort of skirts will be in vogue; and one has had plenty of time to select from the wide choice of summery fabrics displayed in the shops.

White Frocks For Easter Week Dances.

For the younger society girls, many charming frocks intended for midsummer wear are ordered to be ready in April, for the Easter week dances and the gay week-end house parties. The conventional "white dress" is not referred to in this connection; but marvelous lingerie confections, infinitely more beautiful than any ordinary white dress ever thought of being, and often hailing from the hands of a Paris dress wizard.

A lovely frock of this description is shown today, and though this costume was curiously spoken of by its famous creator as "a simple little lingerie affair," it is made of materials never before combined in a "white dress" for summer-time—net and machine-made embroidery. The picture gives a better description of this exquisite frock than any written words could convey. As will be seen, a deep, ungathered flounce of eyelet embroidery is applied to a skirt of tucked white net, embroidery and net being joined by a lace insertion and frill. Embroidery forms the little fitted bodice, and under this a net guimpe with long sleeves. This frock is built over satin of such a pale blue tint that only occasional gleams of the blue are seen through the white net, and the sash, or girdle, arranged over the bodice, is also of the pale blue satin.

The Long Sleeve Inevitable.

Three things about this Parisian frock are instantly noticeable to the trained eye—the much lower waistline, which is gradually coming back in Paris, although Empire effects will hold their own through the summer here; the long, close sleeve and the fuller skirt.

It was almost inevitable that with the coming of diaphanous fabrics we should see more width in skirts. The lingerie frock, built on the scabbard lines of the winter, could not be a lovely thing, especially if it had the tight, long sleeve now in vogue. But nobody is so foolish as to make these thin frocks with skirts like a robe de nuit and almost invariably there are flounces at the foot to break the plain lines.

However skirts may be, sleeves continue uncompromisingly long and tight, are as graceful with summery white even on thinnest frocks, and one cannot admit that these long, close-fitting sleeves dresses as the gay little elbow affairs of a year ago. But everybody is falling obediently into line and the woman who independently decides that she, for one will not submit to the discomfort of long sleeves will find that it takes a deal of assurance to go with her forearms bared, when all others are discreetly covered.

In case the weather vane should swing round—at least as far as three-quarter sleeves, which some wiseacres are whispering will be worn with midsummer—the wise home dressmaker will fashion the sleeves of her lingerie frocks so that it will be possible to shorten them a bit without destroying their good lines.

Whether sleeves are long or are allowed to shrink to a kindly three-quarter length, long white or delicate colored silk gloves will be pulled up over the arm with all lingerie frocks worn out of doors. The silk gloves this year show wonderfully dainty embroideries on the wrists, and they make a very charming addition to dressy white frocks.

The Luxurious Hand Made Frock.

Nothing, of course, is so distinguished as the white dress made entirely by hand, and the woman, who can afford the time can have a frock which would cost, if the model were brought from Paris, several hundred dollars at least. The handsomest of the hand-made French frocks are really very simple in design, their chief distinction lying in the infinitely beautiful stitchery and in the skillful cut which gives clinging lines with no suggestion of tightness.

Such a frock is also illustrated today. Every stitch of this costly, yet very simple, dress was set by hand, even the rows and rows of tiny tucks which form panels between the lace bands. Two kinds of lace are used for these bands, a fine French insertion being placed between entre deux of cluny, and the crossing of the bands at the waistline makes a graceful surplice effect on the bodice. Panel medallions of very fine machine embroidery are set into the skirt from the ends of the bands to the hem, and embroidery motifs also decorate the sleeves. Of course, the embroidery, like all the rest of the trimming, is attached to the frock by tiny hand stitches.

New Lingerie Dresses of Embroidery.

The 1909 lingerie frocks are marked from those of previous seasons by their elaborate embroidery trimming. Never have machine embroideries been so beautiful as those offered this year, and most of the white summer dresses shown in the shops are lavishly trimmed with these by no means cheap machine embroideries. Laces, if used at all, are employed as entre deux between panels of embroidery or tucked lawn.

Very fine embroidery is always effective, especially if the pattern be open in character, like the English eyelet designs and the lacey batiste embroideries. The new insertions and flouncings are used in so many clever ways on white summer frocks that it is hard to pick out any one style as prettiest. A charming model is shown, and this typical 1909 embroidery-trimmed dress could easily be copied by an amateur dressmaker.

Very fine Val. lace is used in combination with the open eyelet work pattern, and beneath the scalloped flouncing which forms the lower portion of the skirt is a "hem" of insertion and lace which adds much to the grace of the costume. As in the case of most of these little embroidery-trimmed frocks for summer time, the waistline is rather high, and a princess, or one-piece, effect is given by the panel trimming. Afternoon frocks of embroidery, lawn or other lingerie fabrics will escape the ground by several inches, especially when intended for wear out of doors.

All Lingerie Dresses In One Piece.

The old-fashioned girl, with a flounced skirt and full, bebe bodice joined under a sash about the waist, is no more. Now all the summer dresses are carefully fitted to the figure, and are made in one piece, with straight trimmings from bust to knee; or if the dress is cut in two parts, skirt and bodice, they are sewed together under a band of insertion the lengthwise panel trimmings helping to give a one-piece effect. These fitted, one-piece lingerie frocks are the laundress' bete noir, and usually they must be sent to a cleaner if the right shaping is to be preserved.

When sashes are worn at all, they are placed high up around the figure to suggest Empire lines; that is, on all the American-made white frocks. As has been said in another column, Paris costumes begin to assume the lowered waistline, and the two imported models shown in today's photographs hint at this very clearly.

It is prophesied that by another summer we shall all be wearing frilled and flounced petticoats, yards wide around the feet, and that by the same token waist measure will be hovering—or trying to—around the 20-inch mark. However, there is no sign of this metamorphosis now, skirts of all the thin frocks falling quite straight and the curve of the hips is emphasized as little as possible.

Collarless Effects The Fad.

About 20 years ago there was a fancy for collarless frocks. Round and Dutch necks were seen everywhere, not only on bodices of sheer materials, but on more formal frocks of silk and like materials. Now, once again, comes the collarless fad, and it bids fair to outdo anything of the kind that ever went before. In fact, the lengths—or rather the depths—to which the new style is already being carried bid fair to be its own undoing, which is a pity, for the summer frock of lingerie material, and cut out at the top to show a pretty throat is really most charming.

The dotted swiss dress is always a satisfactory choice for summer wear, for this fabric, if purchased in a good quality, wears well and launders beautifully. Dotted swisses this year, are trimmed with the very fine and sheer embroidery insertions, and also—a decided innovation—with panels of net braided with white soutache. The prettiest way to use the dotted nets, however, is in the form of ruffles and flounces, and now that the ruffle is in such disfavor, the lover of dotted swiss will do better to set her affection on fine lawn or batiste with embroidery trimming.

Simple Lingerie Styles For Morning Wear.

Women who are planning to spend the summer in the country are having made up little morning dresses of dotted swiss or Persian lawn on very simple lines; with tucked skirt, laid in fine tucks over the hip, and joined to a simple bodice by a waistbelt of embroidery. A band of embroidery outlines a shallow square or round neck and forms cuffs on the long sleeve. Sometimes two bands of the embroidery are carried down at either side of the bodice, under the embroidery belt and over the skirt as far as the knee, where they slope to a point toward the center front. This makes a panel effect and gives length of line to the little one-piece frock. These little morning dresses are exceedingly dainty when made up in dimity, either sprigged with a color or in plain white cross-barred effects. They are easy to launder and present an especially fresh and attractive appearance on summer days.

A Bridesmaid Frock in Lingerie Style.

Somewhat more elaborate than the conventional model of regulation lingerie fabric is the lace and net frock—one of six costumes all alike, designed for the bridesmaids at an Easter wedding.

This dress is exceedingly graceful and is composed of bands of pin tucked net set between insertions of lace. The skirt with its arrangement of lace flounces, growing fuller toward the feet, is particularly attractive and this skirt fits up over the bodice to suggest a modified Empire effect. The foot of this fragile skirt is protected by a hem of white satin matching the white satin girdle at the waist. These six lace frocks are mounted over slips of cloth of gold and the leghorn hats are faced with gold cloth and heaped with choux of pale yellow chiffon.

THE "WIDOW'S COLLAR" IN NEW GUISE.

The dainty snow white bands of fine lawn or organdie which finish neck and wrists are one of the touches that make mourning frocks distinguished. The organdie bands are not hemmed, but are made of straight strips of the fabric turned and creased with the finger into wide, unsewed "hems" at both edges. These make-believe hems keep their position as long as the accessories are worn—which will be but once—fresh bands being basted to the frock each time it is donned. A maker of very smart mourning is now showing these little wrist bands of finest linen lawn, matched by a very narrow turnover collar of the Dutch sort. Collar and wrist bands are hemmed by hand with almost invisible stitches, and at the front of the collar goes a tiny bow of stiff Brussels net or of crape.

THE NEW "UNSTUDIED" COIFFURE

The Girlish Billie Burke Knot of Curls

A Low Hair-dressing with Side Parting

NO MATTER how carefully the hair is arranged it must not look so. No matter how many hours you spend massaging, shampooing, waving relentless locks, they must look to the uninformed beholder as though tossed up carelessly and caught with a ribbon, or as if the plenteous masses were held by big, artfully placed pins.

These two words, "plenteous masses," however, must not be overlooked. They express a consideration of vital importance. Only luxuriantly abundant tresses ever look presentable when tossed anywhere, either over the shoulders, en negligé, or stirred in the breeze after the sea bath, or arranged in a careless and most effective knot. The woman with thin locks may never toss them. She may achieve an effect of unstudied carelessness but it will be with infinite pains and an adequate hand glass.

How to arrive at this effect of plenteousness is the thing—and many a dollar has gone to swell the coiffeur's coffers in the direct pursuit of beautiful hair. It is surprising how often neglected hair may be made by a little effort to grow and thrive, and to take on new luster and color. The hair really responds very readily to treatment, but most women are not willing to give the time and attention necessary. Hence the professional hair dresser who charges high prices for his simple remedies makes a goodly sum.

In too many instances the hair is not given a fair chance. Day after day it is drawn over unwholesome cushions, very likely saturated with perspiration and oil from the hair, and at night it is relieved of its "rat" only to be sunk into a warm pillow. It is covered from the sunlight by big hats, often of unventilated fur, and seldom do the life-giving sun or air get at it. A thorough airing and brushing at bedtime, a strong sun bath once a week, a different arrangement on alternate days, and the gentle stimulation of a good hair tonic, such as may be purchased for half a dollar at any toilet goods store, will often make the hair respond surprisingly in vigor and beauty.

With the approach of warm summer weather, it is a wise woman who adopts a simple and easily arranged hairdressing, one not calling for constant attention with the waving iron. Wisps of frank hair that should be curly are anything but lovely under coquettish picture hats, and a well-kept, well-arranged coiffure sans curls and kinks of any sort is always neat and attractive, providing, always, that the coiffure presents the aforementioned plenteous appearance.

The unwholesome "rat," or cushion, has been abandoned by the better class of women now, the hair being kept fluffy and supple enough to hold its place in a moderate pompadour by constant shampooing and brushing. The exaggerated pompadour is fast disappearing, and if the hair is worn, drawn back from the face rather than parted—a mere modish fashion just now—its arrangement tends to show the contour of a beautiful head rather than to present an appearance exactly like every other head.

The low coiffure will prevail this summer for daytime wear, though higher arrangements of the hair will be seen in the evening. All the new spring hats are shaped to fit down over the low coiffure, and with these hairdressings, low at the neck, and the collarless bodices which are coming into such popularity, women promise to be exceedingly picturesque and artistic in appearance, even if something of trimness and smartness is sacrificed.

The Madonna style of coiffure, with a meek parting over the brow and loose waves drawn back into a knot at the nape of the neck, is becoming to some women—in fact, to all pretty women. There are faces, however, which cannot stand this severe test of sweet simplicity. The side parting is a bit more coquettish than the demure Madonna style, and in Paris this side parting is just now very popular. A beautifully arranged coiffure, showing the side parting is pictured today. This hair dressing gives the effect of great luxuriance of tresses, while as a matter of fact the hair is not at all heavy. It has been made the most of and is puffed out behind the ears in big waves that suggest heaviness, the ends being gathered into a knot at the back under a cluster of graceful puffs. A strong pin of pearl-studded shell holds the mass of hair from slipping down on the neck.

This hairdressing owes its careless grace of arrangement to the loose water wave with which it has been dressed. The water wave is as much smarter than the stiff and studied marcel wave as the marcel in turn is smarter than old-fashioned "crimps." The woman desiring a water-waved coiffure must be prepared to spend several hours achieving it, and will be wise to carry an interesting book with her to the hairdresser's.

For this wave the hair is first wet thoroughly with perfumed water and some secret concoction of monsieur, the hairdresser, who dampens each lock from scalp to tip until the hair, without being slimily wet, is just damp enough to suit him. A narrow band is then placed around the head close to the forehead and ears, the hair is pushed forward in a loose puff against this band, and another band is tied farther back. Then another puff, another band, and so on. Now the process is a third completed. Until every tendril of the hair is dry as the proverbial bone must the victim sit with the bands tied about her cranium. Sometimes it takes an hour, sometimes two, according to the heaviness of the hair and the condition of the atmosphere. Parisian coiffeurs provide huge hoods or calash bonnets with drooping veils, in which one may drive home to complete the drying process in one's boudoir; but here one spends the interim in durance vile in the hairdresser's little "parlor."

The Billie Burke hairdressing, shown in the other photograph, is a pretty style for a young face, but for women of maturer years a more formal coiffure is recommended. The gay Billie Burke hairdressing, also, is only suited to curly tresses. The fluffy hair is drawn lightly up and back, and is held around the crown of the head by a ribbon fillet. Within the circle of this ribbon band the ends of the hair are allowed to frolic in a merry mass of little curls, and if a curl escapes now and then from its confining hairpin, why, so much the prettier!

THE INDIVIDUAL CAR STRAP.

If women have to stand in the cars, there is no reason now why they should pull their bodices out of shape reaching up to the straps designed for men, or of soiling their gloves clutching soiled and germ-laden leather car straps. Some woman has invented a little individual strap provided with a hook which may be caught into the regular car strap. One's own strap may be carried in one's handbag or coatpocket, and it will be the matter of an instant to adjust it or detach it in the car.

What is more enjoyable, after a hard days work, than to sit at your own fireside and drink a glass of

Fitger's Beer

It, too, affords you supreme satisfaction, to offer this delicious, sparkling beverage to your friends who stop in of an evening. Its delicious flavor is not all—the food and tonic values derived from choicest barley malt and Bohemian hops build up wasted tissue and give you vim and a clear brain. For health and hospitality, keep a few bottles in your cellar.

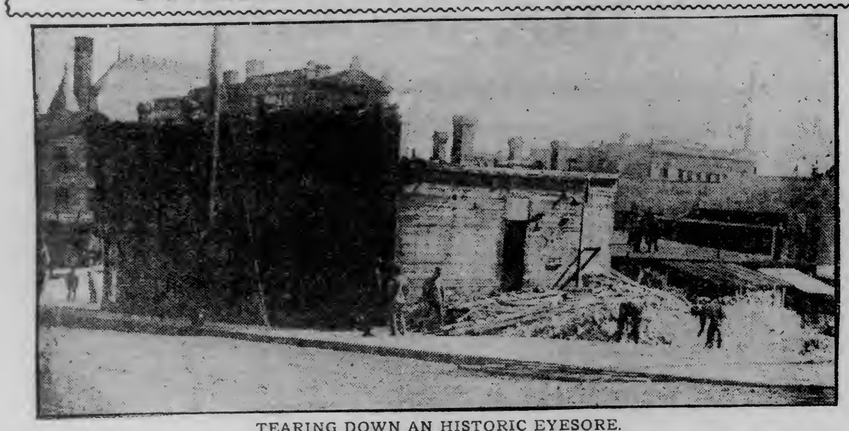
DULUTH'S HISTORIC OLD BOWERY SURELY BUT SLOWLY PASSING AWAY



TEARING DOWN AN HISTORIC EYESORE.

It should be only two or three years now before practically every trace of Duluth's historic Bowery, extending along Superior street, westward from Fifth avenue, will have disappeared.

The improvement of the southwest and northwest corners of Fifth avenue west and Superior street, now under way, is one more big step in the right direction. With new buildings on these two sites, the appearance of the block will have undergone a great change. Even with the old wooden structures intervening between Fifth and Sixth avenues, the place will hardly be recognized as the Bowery by Duluthians returning after an absence of a year or more.

These two corners will be among the handsomest in the city when the structures being erected on them, are completed. Gangs of men are now busy tearing down the unsightly building on the north side of the street, and other men, across the way, have made a start on the ten-story business block that will be built there. At present only one side of the property is being improved. As soon as the lease on the corner half expires, work on the main building will be begun, and pushed forward as fast as circumstances will permit. The structure will be a modern one in every way, very attractive to the eye.

The hotel, which will be erected across the street will be six stories in height, and will be of an appearance that will favorably impress new arrivals in the city as they walk up Fifth avenue west from the depots. With the Spalding hotel and Lyceum buildings on the other two corners, the intersection of Fifth avenue and Superior street will make a splendid showing. It can be only a matter of a short time, at the rate Duluth is growing and developing, before presentable business blocks of brick and stone replace the wooden shacks which yet remain on the old Bowery.

What few wooden buildings yet remain will look strangely out of place sandwiched in between the Lenox hotel and Wisconsin Central depot on the west, and the two new buildings on Fifth avenue on the east. The Wisconsin Central did away with about two blocks of the Bowery on the lower side of the street, west from Sixth avenue, and the Lenox hotel improvement made a big dent in the old wooden row of buildings on the north side. Struggle as it may, the Bowery must soon pass out of existence entirely.

CASES OF INTEREST

PUBLISHING PICTURE OVER NAME OF CRIMINAL.—Appellant, desiring to publish a sensational article involving a woman of evil reputation, went to her family and requested a photograph of her. He was given two pictures, one on a tintype and one on a button. The latter was a photograph of respondent, which was published. The dissimilarity was so great that a person of ordinary intelligence, before using the button picture in connection with the article would have made further investigation. Respondent recovered punitive damages in the trial court. In Burkhardt vs. Press Publishing company, 114 New York Supplement, 451, appellant complained of the admission in evidence of one picture for comparison with the other to determine whether defendant recklessly and carelessly made the print from the wrong picture. The New York supreme court held the picture admissible, and sustained the judgment for punitive damages.

LEGALITY OF COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE.—The sentence of petitioner was commuted by the governor, and he was released on the condition that if at any subsequent time he should be convicted of felony he should serve the sentence and so much of his prior term as had remained unserved owing to the commutation. Having been convicted after his first release, he served the term and sought to be discharged, but was detained by the officials. In Ex parte Kelly, 99 Pacific Reporter, 368, petitioner contended that the condition annexed to the commutation of his first sentence expired with that sentence. The California supreme court held that since the power of the governor to grant pardons and commutations is absolute, except in cases of prior conviction, the power to annex to a pardon or commutation any reasonable condition, prior or subsequent, is implied upon the principle that the greater includes the less. The detention of petitioner is not unlawful.

VALUE OF ANIMAL TRAINER'S SERVICES.—Appellant, having undertaken the education of three ponies and a goat, was denied a compensation of $15 a week, on the ground that the training was incomplete and the services of little value. While the judgments of the witnesses were not in accord, they soberly assured the jury that they saw some of the ponies "teeter-tottering, some on a pedestal, and some waltzing," and one would "answer questions," while the goat would ride a board platform strapped to a horse's back, when proper precautions had been taken to secure the goat's feet by strings passing through holes in the platform. The lown supreme court, in Mansfield vs. Mallery, 118 Northwestern Reporter, 290, was not prepared to say, as a matter of law, that these remarkable accomplishments were not without market value, and that plaintiff's services in this field of advanced education were not worth all he claimed.

WATER CHARGES DEPENDENT ON METER.—The charter of the city of New York provides that the consumer shall pay for water according to the registration of a meter. In People ex rel. McAuliffe vs. City of New York et al., 114 New York Supplement, 312, it appeared that the meter of respondent had failed for some months to record, although water was being used continuously. The city was aware of the defective meter. Some time later it sent an employe, who took the properly recorded average of several months, and from these computed a charge for the period in which the meter had failed to operate. This respondent refused to pay. The New York supreme court remarked that although the neglect of the officials of the city has perhaps given relator something for nothing, no one can tell how much water was actually used during the period of the meter's nonoperation, and it is a plain mandate of the charter that no charge can be made except for water actually used as shown by the meter, and if it showed nothing, the charter seems to allow no charge.

SEIZURE OF ADULTERATED LIQUORS IN INTERSTATE COMMERCE.—While a shipment consisting of cases and kegs, labeled "crockery," but in fact containing adulterated intoxicating liquors, was in transit between two states, it was seized by state authorities. In State vs. Intoxicating Liquors, 71 Atlantic Reporter, 758, the state, relying on the "pure food act," contended that misbranded and adulterated liquors were not lawful articles of commerce between the states, and that the federal barrier to the operation of the police power of the state upon them was removed. Having been brought into the state in violation of the act of congress, the shipment became subject to the laws of the state the moment it came within its limits. The Maine supreme judicial court held that the purpose of enacting the statute was to enforce the laws of the state, and under it the state's police officers were allowed to confiscate such liquors.

MANDAMUS TO COMPEL TAKING DEPOSITION OF CONVICT.—A building being supplied with gas was destroyed by a sudden explosion. The owner of the house recovered damages, having alleged that the explosion was caused by the ignition of gas which had been allowed to escape by the negligence of the company. A new trial was asked on the ground of newly discovered evidence, which was a statement that Harry Orchard, under sentence of death in a foreign state, would testify that he had blown up the house with a dynamite bomb in an attempt to assassinate one Bradley. A new trial having been denied, an appeal from the order was pending. The superior court had refused to have Orchard's deposition taken, and had refused also an application to perpetuate his testimony. In Gas & Electric company vs. Superior Court, 99 Pacific Reporter, 359, the California supreme court held that, where a trial court improperly refuses to issue a commission to take the deposition of a non-resident witness pending appeal for use on a new trial in the event of a reversal, mandamus will lie to compel the issuance of a commission; an appeal from the order denying the application being an inadequate remedy.

ORAL BET IS NOT PROHIBITED—The New York statute which provides that any person engaged in poolselling or bookmaking, or who receives or forwards any money bet or offered to be bet by or for any other person, or who sells pools, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, was construed in People vs. McLaughlin, 113 New York Supplement, 306. Relator was charged with violating that section by receiving $5 as the result of an oral bet upon a horse race. The New York supreme court thought that the legislature designed to prohibit bookmaking and poolselling, whether done through agents, by correspondence or personaly, and that the statute had no reference to the case of a bet made between individuals without a stakeholder, nor to the winner's receipt of the thing of value transferred to him by the loser. If relator were guilty, the court continued, the girl whose partisanship for a college has been rewarded by the winning of gloves or candy through its athletic fulfillment would be equally so. Relator was discharged.

DUTY OF AGENT WHO IS ALSO FATHER OF CHILD INJURED—A child 4½ years old was carried by her mother into a seedroom containing dangerous machinery, around which she was permitted to wander while the mother assisted the child's father, who was intrusted with the management and control of this room. The child was injured, and sought to recover. The Texas court of civil appeals in Poteet vs. Blossom Oil & Cotton company, 115 Southwestern Reporter, 289, held that the father, present as the representative of the company and in control of the seedroom for and on behalf of the company, owed the child the duty of protectin gher from danger. His parental duty was terminated. The character of his agency did not thereby cease or change. The corporation was constructively present through its representative. A person may combine within himself a dual relation or capacity; the responsibility of the particular principal for the agent's wrongful act being on the ground that his acts or omissions are within the powers of his agency and the proximate cause of the injury.

DUTY OF CARRIER TO CUSTODIAN OF ONE UNDER ARREST.—While his bondsmen were conveying him to courts, one in custody walked to the platform of the train while it was running thirty miles an hour. He was followed by his custodians, who engaged in a scuffle with him to prevent his escape. The employes of the carrier, telling them either to release the man or get off, stopped the train. Thereupon the prisoner alighted, and was followed by appellee, a bondsman. There was some objection to remounting on the prisoner's part, and the train departed, leaving him and his custodian. In Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. vs. Vaughn, 115 Southwestern Reporter, 217, the Kentucky court of appeals held that the employes were not bound to assist in the detention of the prisoner, and they had a right to stop the train and demand that these persons either go into the car or get off, and that after appellee alighted the employes were bound to give him a reasonable opportunity to reboard the train, and if their failure, and not the prisoner's disobedience, caused him to be left, the appellee can recover for time lost and expense incurred.

LIABILITY OF RAILROAD FOR DEATH OF ENGINEER CAUSED BY COLLISION WITH COW.—A Tennessee statute provides that railroad companies shall be liable for all stock killed unless their tracks are properly fenced. In Gill vs. Louisville & N. R. Co., 165 Federal Reporter, 438, an action was brought to recover for the death of an engineer caused by the collision with a cow which had come upon the track because of a deficient or absent fence. It was averred that the death was due wholly to the carelessness and negligence of the defendant in failing to erect and maintain a fence. The United States circuit court held that neither the common law nor the statute imposed any liability for the death of its employes caused by an unfenced track.

NOTICE OF GAMBLER'S LIEN.—An Ohio statute provides that any person losing money in a bucket shop or at gambling may have a lien for the amount of his loss on the premises. One Penney, having lost money in a bucket shop transaction, recovered a judgment against the operator of the place, but did not join the owner of the premises. Thereafter the premises were conveyed to purchasers without notice, for value. Following this sale Penney brought another suit and joined the owners of the premises. In Sanders vs. Penney, 86 Northeastern Reporter, 988, the Ohio supreme court held that the statute authorizes a recovery against one carrying on the unlawful business, and does not give a loser a lien upon the premises until the suit is brought. The consequences of the actions of the vendor cannot be visited upon the vendee to his detriment, where he had neither knowledge nor an accessible source of knowledge.

LIABILITY OF INDEMNITOR.—Two persons, one a minor, both driving livery teams, left them in charge of an innkeeper. By mistake the hostler gave the minor the wrong team. One of the horses died as a result of the drive, the other being injured. The owner of the injured team sued the innkeeper, who notified the minor to defend. The owner having recovered from the innkeeper he in turn sought to hold the minor for his negligence in Reynolds vs. Alderman, 114 New York Supplement, 463. The New York supreme court held that the judgment in the action against the innkeeper was not binding upon defendant, the minor, because he was an infant, and the notice which he had disregarded was ineffective, and he could not be made liable on the ground of negligence. The team was taken from plaintiff's possession by the consent of his hostler. Until defendant had refused to deliver upon demand, he was guilty of no wrong which could be made the basis of liability.

SOCIALISM AND BRYANISM

Why Bryanism, why not the Democratic party? The answer ought to be evident to every thinking man who has given any thought at all to the subject of politics within the last few years.

The Democratic party is divided upon practically every question of importance that is before the people. Take up the tariff question, watch the proceedings and the tactics there pursued. It does not require a microscope to discover that there is no straight line drawn between Republican and Democrat. Each individual is there representing some special interest. That does not mean that he is dishonest, but rather that he seeks primarily the benefit of his particular constituency rather than the benefit of all the people. That we are not as yet a co-operative nation is potent to every observer who takes just a minute view into the doings of the two branches of the legislatures of the United States, for competition certainly does reign supreme.

The writer had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Bryan at the Methodist church. It was a masterly, able talk—a clear and logical criticism of the faults of present day civilization. As a critic, Mr. Bryan is a genius, witty and serious, and yet strongly human. Bryan, the man, we can and should respect, but as a scientist—one who follows cause to effect—Mr. Bryan is very much at sea. I venture to say that there is not one person of all the audience that listened to Mr. Bryan that can point to any phase of his talk that was constructive and not destructive. He condemned many of the evils of the present system in a masterly manner, but not one word as to the cause of the evils, not one word as to the way out. Mr. Bryan as a builder falls very short and is a disappointment. We Socialists have no quarrel with Mr. Bryan in his attack upon "privilege" and upon unearned increments. We agree with him that it is better to be loved by others than to be feared by others. We agree with him that the value to society that such men as Lincoln rendered is priceless. Yes, to us, Mr. Bryan as well is doing good work for society, for every time he comes along and tells the people things they ought to know about themselves, how wrongly they are living, it means that he has planted seed that we Socialists will carefully nurture.

Mr. Bryan has no liking for John D., the monopolist, because, forsooth, he robs the people. Socialists don't stop there. We admit that Jhn D. is a beneficiary, but we demonstrate that Mr. Rockefeller is the necessary consequence of the competitive system. It is not genial, companionable John D. who is to blame. It is the system that places a premium upon dishonesty. Competition leads to monopoly. Monopoly leads to co-operation. Co-operation anticipates the benefit of the few or the many. It all depends upon the number of those who have the opportunity afforded them of getting on the inside. Monopoly after all, in economic terms, is merely another name for a trust. A trust has its uses and can be abused. Mr. Bryan sees the trusts from the viewpoint of an outsider who has not given thought to the subject of co-operation effort, which is an essential resultant from the modernization of industry. Once we grasp the principle that the trust in itself is not an evil but that the ownership by the few is, and then decide that all should own and participate in its benefits, it will not take us very much time to solve the problems economic that confront present day society. Until we do the Socialists need have no cause for complaint in the remarks of such men as Mr. Bryan and his kind. All honor to him and to those who will follow his example. "Go thou and do likewise." Let us all build, not upon hate, but upon reason. MORRIS KAPLAN.

OPTIONS ON COPPER GROUPS

Phoenix, Ariz., May 15.—Options upon the Saddle Mountain, London-Arizona, London Range and Ball Copper company properties, at Christmas, have been secured by Edward B. Kurtz on behalf of the American Finance & Securities company, of which he is president, and if the report of experts who are now making an examination is favorable, all will be purchased and consolidated under one management.

This is one of the biggest moves in the Arizona mining field made since Mr. Kurtz's concern organized the Development Company of America to take over the mines at Tombstone, Silver Bell, Poland and Congress.

Mr. Kurtz arrived here over a week ago from New York. He was met by his brother, C. L. Kurtz of Columbus, Ohio, who has charge of the mines at Guanajuato, Mex., which the American Finance & Securities company owns. With Charles F. Finney and E. W. Brooks of the London-Arizona company, Lewis S. Noble and A. H. Jones of Denver, they went to Winkelman and Christmas and spent several days in looking over the four groups which they hope to consolidate. Mr. Noble is the chief engineer of the American company and Mr. Jones is his assistant.

The American Finance & Development company was organized about eight years ago. Its first work was to organize the Development Company of America to take over the Tombstone, Silver Bell, Poland and Congress groups. Later the Kurtz brothers and their associates financed the Tombstone Consolidated Copper company and the Imperial Copper company, which operate the mines at Tombstone and Silver Bell. Going down into Mexico, they financed the Guanajata Mines company, one of the biggest copper mines in the Southern republic. In the course of their operations they have acquired the El Tiro group, adjoining the Imperial property, which is one of the most promising copper prospects in Arizona.

Mr. Kurtz is a great believer in the Silver Bell district, and predicted that more would be heard of the Imperial and El Tiro mines in the future. C. L. Kurtz came up from Mexico for the special purpose of inspecting the El Tiro.

levels, has worked clear to the Carman line.

It is learned that the Carman company is preparing to begin a very aggressive development campaign on its property. The shaft is down 385 feet and this corresponds nearly to the level of the upper workings in the Las Chispas, where high-grade ore was first encountered. It is believed that within sixty or ninety days after work is resumed that the property will begin giving a good account of itself on the Las Chispas vein.

The Las Chispas company has awarded a contract for the construction of a tram to cost $1,000,000 to connect the property with the nearest railroad station, a distance of six miles. It has for years been customary to ship the ore out on the backs of burros. The near proximity of the new railroad will be of great importance both to the Las Chispas and the Carman. Ore that was not of sufficiently high grade to send out on burros for long distances will come into the market with the comparatively short haul, and the Las Chispas company, with its tramway, will be especially well equipped for handling ores that herctofore could not be shipped at a profit.

erties are managed by Mr. Sellwood, as are the Adriatic, Bedford, Cass and Cyprus mines. The Crosby mine at Nashwauk, the only Mesaba range property of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, is adding its quota to the Great Northern's tonnage, and so is the Pittsburg Iron Ore company's La Rue mine, in the same locality.

As is the policy of the United States Steel corporation, applicable alike to all of the various districts, the Marquette range mines of that company are in excellent condition and capable of producing much heavier this season than is likely to be the case. Of the producers prepared to make heavy increases in shipments, two are the Section 21 mine at Ishpeming and the Champion mine at Beacon. At both of these properties the production has been curtailed for some years.

In the Cascade district, south of Negaunee, considerable diamond drilling will be done on the Volunteer lands for Thomas F. Cole and associates, who purchased the property from the Alger estate of Detroit last year. The Volunteer mine has not been active for the past few years, or ever since the lease to it was relinquished by the United States Steel corporation.

It is expected that the Cascade district will this season witness more than the usual degree of activity. The Empire mine of Ogilvay, Norton & Co. has recently increased its working force, and the Richmond mine of M. A. Hanna & Co. will resume operations shortly, giving employment to 100 or more men. This will be an active season in the Swanzy field, some twenty miles south of Negaunee, and where the Cleveland-Cliffs company is the principal operator. All of the mines were wrought during the winter with full forces and there is a large tonnage of ore to ship. The Swanzy district was held in little favor at the time the Cleveland-Cliffs company entered the field a few years ago and instituted a campaign of exploratory work. Now a number of new mines have been brought to the producing stage and others are in progress of development. The deposits are very large. Much the same results are looked for in the North Lake district, west of Ishpeming. Ore of high grade has been found there by the Cleveland-Cliffs company, much of it at great depth, and a start is now being made with the development of the field. A concrete shaft designed to reach some of the ores is being sunk on the shore of North lake. This particular deposit extends under the basin of the lake, a fact determined by diamond drilling conducted from the ice the past winter, and its mining may prove an annoying problem.

Alger Ironwood, Mich., syndicate has purchased a forty-acre tract in section 27, 46-2, in the Wisconsin portion of the Gogebic range, and proposes to give the property a thorough test. The land adjoins the Ottawa and Windsor mines on the north and is believed to carry a continuation of the ore-bearing formation of those properties.

company's notes for the purpose of raising a working fund. A statement issued by a committee of the board shows that 285,150 shares of the new stock have been sold for $143,190.10, and that 253,500 shares were issued otherwise than for cash. There remain in the treasury 961,350 shares, and the treasury stock is to be put up as security for the notes at the rate of 400 shares for each $10 of notes issued. The company has paid on the debts of the old company $55,455.18, and other items of expenditure up to March 6 were: Paid on real estate, $68,886.63; office fixtures, $547.50; salaries, $681.75; expenses, $1,464.37; supplies, $750; expenses at the mine, $3,896.22, a total of $131,681.65. The company had, on the date of the report, $5,526.04 cash on hand and $5,982.41 in bills receivable. The assets, according to the report, consist of the Assay and Clipper mill sites, the Black Crow fractional quartz lode claim, seven-eighths of the Overman, eleven-sixtieths of the Occidental, unexpired options on the remainder of the Occidental, the Free Trade, and one-eighth of the Overman; hoisting machinery, air compressor, engines, boilers, pumps, etc., together with good buildings and a two-compartment shaft, well timbered, 600 feet deep.

The Minnie Healy.

The lowest level of the Minnie Healy mine opened from the Tramway shaft at a depth of 1,600 feet, is opening a great ore body in the Minnie Healy. It is fully as large as on the new levels above and very much richer. The ore assays 8 to 12 per cent copper as the average for the entire vein, while there is much copper glance and other high grade ore. The Butte people have never had the faith and confidence in North Butte that Eastern investors have had, but they have always looked for great things from the Butte Coalition mines. There are not very many small stockholders of North Butte in Butte, but there are hundreds of Coalition stockholders among the miners alone.

No. 6 conglomerate bed, in which it is temporarily breasted.

Hancock.

Recent developments in the Hancock mine show a continuation at depth of the exceptionally rich ground first opened in the West lode at the twelfth and thirteenth levels of the No. 1 incline shaft. The continuation of this rich ground is being demonstrated in the winze sinking from the No. 2 vertical shaft. The ground exposed in the West lode by this work is uniform in mineralization and exceptionally rich in heavy stamp copper and "barrel" work. The No. 2 vertical, or main working shaft is sinking steadily and is expected to intersect this lode at a depth of 2,100 feet within the next ten or twelve weeks.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale's "A" shaft on the Baltic lode is temporarily bottomed at the 400 level, where a station is being cut and a pump installed to handle the surface water which has laterly interfered seriously with shaft sinking. A gradual change from the reddish Baltic rock to the "kindlier" gray rock of that formation is noted as depth is gained. The ground exposed in the bottom of the shaft at present is similar to that mined in the Superior mine next south, and is apparently as deceptive. Fine specks of copper are visible, but the general appearance of the rock is quite barren. A horizontal investigation of the lode will probably be made at a depth of 500 feet. Developments in the Isle Royale lode continue to reveal first-class copper rock at all points of attack. The showing in the No. 4 shaft has laterly bettered and now exceeds in riches any showing yet had in the newer workings. The increased activity at this end of the mine has jumped the daily rock output to around 1,200 tons compared with 700 tons during the same period a year ago. The average copper content of the rock milled also shows slight gains.

showing, and a record of production approaching $400,000; and confidence is felt that sulphides will be struck in the Eureka at a depth between 200 and 300 feet.

Arizona Commercial.

Several carloads of structural steel for the Arizona Commercial smelter and power house have arrived; construction work will now advance rapidly, and Aug. 15 will undoubtedly see the smelter completed and in operation. General Manager J. W. Bennie will soon come to Globe to personally supervise the erection of the plant and mine development, relieving Supt. Pemberly of a part of the burden. The work of unwatering the Eureka shaft below the 600-foot level has begun with good success. A 1,000,000-gallon pump for the 700-foot station has been shipped from the East and should arrive here within the next two weeks. With this addition to its pumping capacity, the Arizona Commercial will be in a position to readily handle any flow of water likely to be encountered in the Black Hawk mine. The crosscut on the 600 level has penetrated the vein about sixty feet, but has not yet reached the footwall, where the best ore is expected to be found. At the Black Hawk workings sinking of the winze was discontinued 125 feet below the 500-foot level, until the pumps at the Eureka shaft have lowered the water in the vein. This winze is in high grade carbonate ore carrying ten to twelve ounces of silver. As soon as the Eureka shaft is unwatered the development of the 600 and 700 levels will be pushed vigorously.

Superior & Boston.

At the McGraw shaft sinking and raising continues, and June 1 should see the shaft opened to the 400 level. At the Great Eastern the winze has reached a depth on the incline of 134 feet below the 400 level and is still in fine ore carrying high values in copper and silver. Stoping continues on the 400 and intermediate levels and shipments of forty to fifty tons of ore are being made daily to the El Paso smelter. At the McGraw shaft the foundations for the Sterling boilers have been completed and those for the hoist and compressor are in course of construction. The warehouse has been finished and some other improvements are being made. At the Gardner shaft the west drift on the 400-foot level is being driven as rapidly as possible to reach the ore body that was opened by the Black Oxide tunnel higher up.

National Mining Exploration.

The new shaft on the Iron Cap is down about thirty-five feet and sinking is steadily progressing.

At the National company's Fumarole mine in Graham county, the work of opening the 700-foot level continues with very satisfactory results, the drift continuing in a very good grade of gold ore. An upraise is also in ore. Prof. Prout, consulting engineer for the company, after spending several days at the Fumarole, left for Denver last Thursday, well satisfied with the property, which is now considered a proven mine.

Strike at Live Oak.

Within the week important developments have been made at the property of the Live Oak Development company, another body running 4 per cent copper having been discovered.

The strike is an improvement in the grade of the ore which has been tunneled through for the past several months.

Up to the present time, the company has tunneled about 800 feet. Before the first 200 feet had been finished a low grade sulphide was encountered, which increased in quality as the tunnel was lengthened.

The ore on the face of the tunnel is now showing 4 per cent copper. The showing had an immediate effect on investors who were watching the property and the stock of the company advanced $1.

Inspiration in Sulphide.

The Inspiration is sinking two shafts on its property, one being down to a depth of 140 and the other 180 feet. Both are in sulphide, the quality of which is showing a constant improvement.

The Taylor tunnel of the same company is showing ore of an improved quality, which has strengthened the price of the stock considerably.

Arizona-Colorado.

The Arizona-Colorado Copper company is sinking below the 800-foot level and is prospecting the ground from the end of the south drift on the 800-foot level with a diamond drill. The crosscut is 400 feet long and the drill has penetrated about sixty feet farther and is now working in clay or talc that is favorable to the occurrence of ore.

The Arizona-Michigan and Superior & Globe are both sinking and making good progress. The Arizona-Michigan shaft is down about 300 feet. Superior & Globe was at last reports in brown iron resembling hematite.

Clara's Wild Ride. By William Wallace, Jr.

CLARA was paying a visit to her uncle and aunt in the country. Clara was a little city girl, and found everything on the great Western rancho very interesting, not to say exciting. Soon after Clara's arrival at the rancho her Uncle John said: "Well, girlie, you must learn to ride a broncho. How does that strike you, eh?"

Clara clapped her hands in glee. "Oh, I'd just love to learn to ride a horse," she declared. "Wouldn't Mamma and Papa be surprised to hear that I could ride a broncho? Oh, what jolly fun!"

"Well, we'll start tomorrow," promised Uncle John.

"Be sure that you put Clara on a gentle animal," warned Auntie Dora, Uncle John's good wife. "We don't want any accidents happening to our little city girl. She's not as hardy as our country lassies, for they can ride like the wind, and if thrown to the ground, jump to their feet, remount, and are off again like wild-fire."

"And that's the way I'll ride some day —after I've learned," said Clara.

The following morning Uncle John called Clara to the ranch house door. "Come, City Girl," he said, laughingly, "here is your mount. Come and have a peep at him. Then make ready for your first ride."

Clara ran into the yard, laughed gaily to see a pretty little horse all saddled and bridled for her. And what a tame-looking little fellow he was, too. His head hung lazily, his eyes were half closed. Clara wondered why Uncle John had not bought a livelier horse for her. This one looked as though he would fall asleep at any minute.

"All right, I'll get my hat and gloves and be right here again in a minute," said Clara, running to her room to make ready for her first ride. And within five minutes she was mounted on the pretty little Texas pony, riding about the yard, Uncle John leading Swifty by the bridle. Swifty was the name of the little Texas pony, the gentlest and safest of her kind.

For half an hour Clara rode Swifty about the yard, going no farther than the cow sheds, which were a short distance from the ranch house. After the first ten minutes of being on Swifty's back, Clara begged that she be allowed to guide the horse herself, and Uncle John let her have her way, although he insisted on accompanying her about, walking close to Swifty's head.

"You're getting to be a fine horsewoman," laughed Uncle John. "Why, by this time next week you'll be galloping all over the ranch. I may employ you to help round up the cattle this fall."

"Oh, I'll soon show you that I can ride like the Western girls," bragged Clara. "I feel very safe in the saddle already. It's such fun to ride, isn't it?"

But just as she spoke there was a lightning-like whirlwind coming across the yard, and it caught at some laundry that was hanging on a clothesline to dry, tearing away a thin, white garment and hurling it over Swifty's head. The moment's blindness, the flapping of the white thing over her eyes, caused the animal sudden fright, and she reared in the air, then broke into a wild run. Down the yard towards the cow sheds she flew, the white garment still flapping about her face, for it had caught on a buckle of the bridle which held it. And there, holding on for dear life, sat Clara, her face as white as the piece of cloth which was frightening poor Swifty.

During the half-minute that Clara sat on the runaway Swifty's back she was determined to hold fast and not be thrown off. With lips firmly drawn, hands holding tightly to the saddle's horn, she was surprised to feel herself tossed into the air and to see things floating about her in a circle. And then she fell upon something soft and sank deep into that softness. For a moment she was so dizzy that she feared to open her eyes, and wondered if she had been killed. But finding that she was still conscious of things material she opened her eyes. There she lay, in the very nest of a small strawstack, only a few feet from the ground. As she raised her head from the straw she saw her uncle coming on the run towards her. "Clara, Clara!" he was calling. "Are you hurt, child?"

Then the humorous side of the whole situation came to Clara, and, rising to her feet as best she could, she called back: "Am I not a regular circus rider, Uncle John? See how I can fall right into a nice strawstack? Not one in a thousand could do that."

Uncle John laughed in spite of his excitement, and declared that she was the bravest little girl he had ever seen. "And since I find you unhurt," he went on, "it is better to laugh than to cry. And what a wise little animal Swifty was to toss you into the strawstack instead of on the ground. Come, let's go to the house and tell Auntie all about your wild ride."

"But, Uncle dear, please don't give the credit to Swifty of throwing me into the straw, but let me have the glory of knowing just when to fall off." And Clara slid from the strawstack to the ground, and, after seeing that Swifty was safe—for she had stopped running as soon as the garment fell from her face, and was standing, head down, close to the strawstack—she ran to the house to tell her aunt all about her "wild ride."

"But I'll ride better tomorrow," she said to her uncle that evening while they talked over the incident of the morning. "Next time I'll have enough presence of mind to remove the laundry from my horse's face. How stupid I was not to have thought of that."

But Uncle Ned and Auntie both declared she was the bravest girl in the world. And maybe she was.

May's Rose Garden.

DEAR little May in the garden stood
And spoke to a rosebud, near;
"I think you just the loveliest thing,
A perfectly sweet little dear.

"You're only a wee tiny bit of a bud,
But you'll be a big rose some day,
And I'll come to see you quite often then,
Whenever I'm out to play.

"But no one shall pluck you from off th' stem,
You shall live your whole life, you see,
To its very end and enjoy yourself,
For this garden belongs to me."

And the rosebud smiled and nodded low
And said, "You're a rosebud, too,
And I shall enjoy a long, long life
If it gives any pleasure to you."

Why Birdie Specklebreast Moved Away.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

MRS. BIRDIE SPECKLEBREAST sat on the limb of a tall tree, singing a morning anthem. Close beside her, in a firm network of limbs and covered by soft green leaves, rested her three little fledglings in a comfortable nest. The fledglings had not been hatched very long, but were a bright, energetic little trio, notwithstanding their tender age. There was Sharp-beak, the first hatched, and a sprightly little chap, ruler of the nest by right of his superior age of half a day. There was Bright-eye, second in age, being two hours older than the third and last hatched, by name Soft-feather. The last two were girl birds, and about the finest ever seen in a nest. So thought Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast on the morning I am telling you about.

And also there was Mr. Papa Bird, who was the provider of the family, and the real singer, for Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast only sang when her husband was away from home in quest of food. Her voice—like the voice of all female birds—was rather weak and of small range. But it was a sweet voice, because it was a mother-voice, and was employed only to sing to the wee ones in the nest. But on the instant that Mr. Papa Bird returned to the tree Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast ceased to sing in her little low warble and allowed the head of the family to almost burst his throat singing to her and the children. And how he did sing! All his heart in his voice, for he sang of genuine happiness, happiness in the love of home, wife, little ones.

So on this morning in question, while Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast sang her tender lullaby to the fledglings in the nest, Mr. Papa Bird was away in the meadows hunting worms for the family's breakfast. He had been very successful in finding a fine, fat fellow that would feed all three the nestlings, when bing-bang! went a gun not very far away. And at the same instant Mr. Papa Bird dropped to the ground, shot through the head. He would never carry food to his wife and children again, nor would he ever again fill the pure air of heaven with his song. There he lay, hidden in the high grass, and the wicked boy who took his life did not even take the trouble to hunt him out. The boy had merely been trying his marksmanship, and had proven his ability at the expense of Mr. Papa Bird's life.

And so the morning wore away, and Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast ceased her singing, for after Mr. Papa Bird had been absent a certain length of time she became anxious, and greatly feared some harm had befallen him.

"Why doesn't papa come home," she chirruped to herself. Then a little pee-wee, pee-wee came from the nest, and Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast knew her babies were calling for food. The breakfast hour had long since passed and they had not tasted a bite yet.

"I really must go and look for papa," said Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast at last, growing so uneasy about her spouse that she could wait no longer for him, and decided to go to meet him, for she hoped that she would see him coming over the meadow with a great, fine worm in his mouth. So, cautioning her little ones not to stir from the nest (they had been coming out the past three or four days for lessons in flying), she flew away toward the meadow where she know her husband always went in quest of food. And there, after a little while, she found his cold, stiff body lying in the grass. In his beak was the breakfast for the children. Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast's heart almost broke at that moment, and had it not been for her little nestlings waiting for her she would have dropped into the grass beside her mate and died there, so deep was her grief. She could see the ugly wound in the poor lifeless head, and understood that some great, powerful enemy had done this cruel thing. Oh, how her heart bled! It seemed for the time that there was naught in the bright world to live for, her beloved and loving mate taken from her. But recollection of her little helpless ones came to her and, taking the worm from the mouth of her dead mate, she said a sweet, sad, heart-breaking farewell to him and flew away, going to her nest, which was now so desolate. Oh, the cruelty of the monster who had robbed her of her loved mate!

She did her best to keep up her spirits for the sake of her young ones, and fed them tenderly, telling them in her own way that never again would they see their father, or hear his love songs. And somehow the little ones understood and were very quiet for a long, long time, fear and grief possessing them.

Then on a fine day Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast decided that she must teach her little ones to fly as quickly as possible, for she had seen other birds lying dead in the grass, just as she had seen her own beloved mate on that morning which held such grief for her. So she called from the nest little Sharp-Beak, Bright-Eye and Soft-Feather, and all day long taught them how to fly from limb to limb, and when the evening came they were a very long way from home, sitting in the top of a great, bushy tree. There they found a last year's abandoned nest and in it took refuge for the night. On the next morning they continued their journey, going slowly—so as not to tire the wings of the wee ones—from tree to tree, from shrub to shrub. Once they had quite a way to go between trees, and then the wings of the little ones gave out and they had to hop through the grass. But they were brave birdies and knew their life depended on their aptness in flying, and they put forth every energy. So, when another night settled, they found themselves in a deep forest, where a rippling brook glistened in the moonlight, which sprinkled like drops of water through the tree tops. And there all was so wild that they decided to rest for a few days before going farther. And they found plenty of food there and many, many birds, singing so loudly that the woods rang early in the morning.

"Oh, had my mate been spared," sighed poor lonely Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast, "how happily we all could have lived here! And now I shall take my little ones farther and farther away, finding some place where the great cruel mousters do not kill the birds while they are trying to provide food for their children. Ah, if only the world could live and let live!" And the mother bird dropped her head forlornly on her breast.

The following week found Mrs. Birdie Specklebreast in a new country, a country very high and beautiful, where no man's foot seemed to have pressed, and where the surrounding hills never echoed the sharp sound of a gun. Ah, here would be peace at last, peace and safety. And here she would remain with her young ones till they needed her no longer. They she would fly, and fly, and fly back to the spot in the grass where she had left her beloved mate, and lying beside him, die. For life was too lonely and sad without him.

BY MAUD WALKER.

IT was not a very happy day for Patrick on which he first saw little Florence Day. Not that little Florence Day was a naughty girl, or was ugly toward Patrick. No; she was a very kind-hearted little lady, and loved all little animals, particularly Patrick, whom she bought from a farmer.

It was during a drive with her mamma one evening that little Florence first saw Patrick. They were passing a farmhouse, and there, round and round the yard, ran the cutest woolly puppy, a stick in his mouth. "Oh, Mamma, see him! Isn't he a darling?" cried little Florence, putting her hands on the reins, and causing old Mag, the mare, to come to a stop right in front of the farmhouse gate.

"Yes, he's a dear little puppy," confessed Mamma. "I wonder if he is for sale? Would you like to own him, Florence?"

"Oh, yes, yes, Mamma dear," said little Florence. "Let's go in and ask about him. He's just too cute for anything."

The farmer was not averse to selling the puppy, whose name was Patrick. There were two others, a brother and a sister—and they would suffice for the farmer's children. They were now asleep in the barn beside their mother; but this one—the largest of the three—was such a restless fellow, always running about as though after snakes or other "dangerous beasts," and barking like a full-grown dog hardly taking time to sleep, he was so "frisky."

So a bargain was struck, and Florence had Patrick in the carriage, shut up in an old egg-basket, where he whined, snapped, scratched and barked to be free. "Oh, this jail is something terrible," he seemed to say. "Please, please, strangers, let me out. I want to go home to my mamma and sister and brother, to my snakes and other wild beasts and to my stick, which I love to carry about in my mouth like a bone."

But he was kept in the basket till Florence and her mamma arrived safely home. Then, while Mamma drove old Mag to the stable yard Florence carried the basket containing Patrick into the house. "See, see my new pet!" she cried, letting Patrick out of the basket while she called to the cook, who was just setting the table for supper. "Isn't he a love?"

"He's a dirty little scamp!" declared Ann, the cook, pausing in her work to take a look at the newcomer, who walked on four legs and wagged a bit of tail very vigorously. "He needs a bath before eating supper. While you folks are at the supper table I'll give him a scrubbing he'll remember. My, how can a pup allow himself to get so dirty!" And Ann turned up her nose in sheer disgust.

And half an hour later poor Patrick was tasting—or suffering, rather—his first soapsuds and scrubbing brush. But he did not submit without some remonstrance. He kicked, scratched, snapped; then this sort of fight having no effect on Ann, he began to cry. His whines were really pitiful to hear, and touched the heart of the scrupulously clean Ann, who gave him what she called "a lick and a promise," and Patrick, homesick and frightened, wondered what he must suffer when the promise should be fulfilled.

That night was a very miserable one for Patrick. He could not sleep in the snug basket in the corner of the big, clean summer kitchen and whined nearly all night, begging in his poor way to go back to his mother and sister and brother. In his mind there floated scenes of that barnyard home where his mother, so kind and gentle, was ever to be found; and of his sister and brother, smaller than himself, and, therefore, very obedient to Patrick's will. If either of them had a stick to Patrick's taste all he had to do was to run up and take it away, holding it in his own mouth as long as he liked. And when the farmer's children put out a pan of fresh milk for the three puppies, Patrick ate much faster than did the other two, thereby getting more than they did, and thus making himself bigger and bigger, stronger and stronger, all the time.

And then there were the jolly times when the three puppies chased the chickens and the ducks. Of course, if the farmer's wife or children saw them thus engaged they punished them by switching their little hind legs and by scolding them in very loud tones, crying: "Ah, you mischievous pups! If you dare to chase another chicken or duck you'll get shut up in the barn till a tramp comes along, and then we will give you to him."

And as he cried and cried, suffering the separation from all he loved, Patrick wondered if he had chased the chickens and ducks once too often, and as punishment had been given to these people who might be real sure-enough tramps in the disguise of a lady and little girl. "I'm very, very sorry I chased that old rooster and those five young short-legged, big-footed ducks," he mused to himself, as he recalled his past short and happy life on the farm. "I saw the farmer's wife watching me while I frightened the life nearly out of that old rooster, and sent the ducks into the pond, where they almost swam away forever. And all the time I wondered what would be done to me. Oh, oh, it's very sad to be a captive in the home of strange beings!"

But the following morning Patrick forgot for a little while all about his sad lot, for his hunger got the better of him, and little Florence fixed for him such a splendid breakfast. Really, after all, things might have been worse, so he thought. Like all doggies, Patrick was a glutton (more is the pity!) and always forgot everything but his food during a meal. But as soon as breakfast was over he began looking about for his brother and sister. He hoped that by some chance they might have been brought to this new place during the night, and that if he looked diligently about he might find them. And his mother! Oh, how he did want her! He felt that he could be perfectly happy if he might have his mother once again, even though there was not a chicken nor a duck about the place. Just his own dear, fond mother, and a dirty little stick to carry in his mouth, and some blowing grass to bark at and imagine he was after snakes and other wild beasts, would be all he cared for.

Thus meditating and wishing, Patrick lay down on the soft grass in the shade of the house and fell asleep. And while he was asleep little Florence stole softly away from him (she had been trying to entertain him all morning to no avail), and went into the house. She had heard some commotion, as of some one arriving, and wanted to see who had come to pay them a visit. To her great joy she saw her dear old grandpapa there. He had just arrived from another town many, many miles distant from little Florence's home, and was laden down with bundles, boxes and a great huge basket. The latter caught Florence's eye, and after kissing Grandpapa on each cheek she asked: "What's in the basket, Grandpa?"

"Ah, it's a present for you, Flossie," said Grandpapa, putting the basket on the floor. "Open it, dearie, and see how you like the flowers I have brought you." But as he said flowers Grandpapa winked at Mamma, who was smiling and watching Florence.

Florence opened the basket, and the instant she did so out leaped the funniest little woolly black animal, with an immense head, that she had ever seen. "What is it, Grandpa?" she cried, "Oh, isn't it a baby buffalo?"

Grandpapa and Mamma, and even Ann, who had just come into the room, laughed and laughed at little Florence for not knowing a funny fat puppy when she saw it, for the little animal was a puppy, sure enough.

"Well, he does look like a miniature baby buffalo," admitted Grandpapa, catching the frisking fellow in his arms. "He's as playful as a kitten, and I knew my little girlie would like to have him. Ah, how do you like the sort of flowers Grandpa brings to you, Missie?"

"Oh, I'm so happy, Grandpapa," declared little Florence, "for I have another puppy dog—out in the yard now—who's so lonely, and this fat little ball will be a jolly companion for him. Oh, I'm so glad you brought the——"

"Little buffalo," laughed Grandpapa. "Well, and so you'll have a pair of barkers, eh! That's all the better, for either of them would be lonely without the other. It's hard on a dog to have to associate entirely with children and grown-ups. They must have their own kind to be happy."

And when Patrick saw Buffalo (the name given to the second puppy) he jumped up and ran to greet him, saying in his own dog tongue: "I'm very pleased to see you, black fellow, with such a funny shape, for now I shall not miss my family so much. And after a while I shall love you so well, and you will love in return, and we'll forget old times in the pleasure of the new times. Welcome, Buffalo."

And Buffalo, wagging his tail loose, said: "You're a fine dog, Mister Patrick, finer than I, but not half so funny. And we'll be fast friends very soon, too, and fight over bones and sticks. But we'll be very, very happy."

"He's a dirty little scamp," declared Ann.

Tungsten

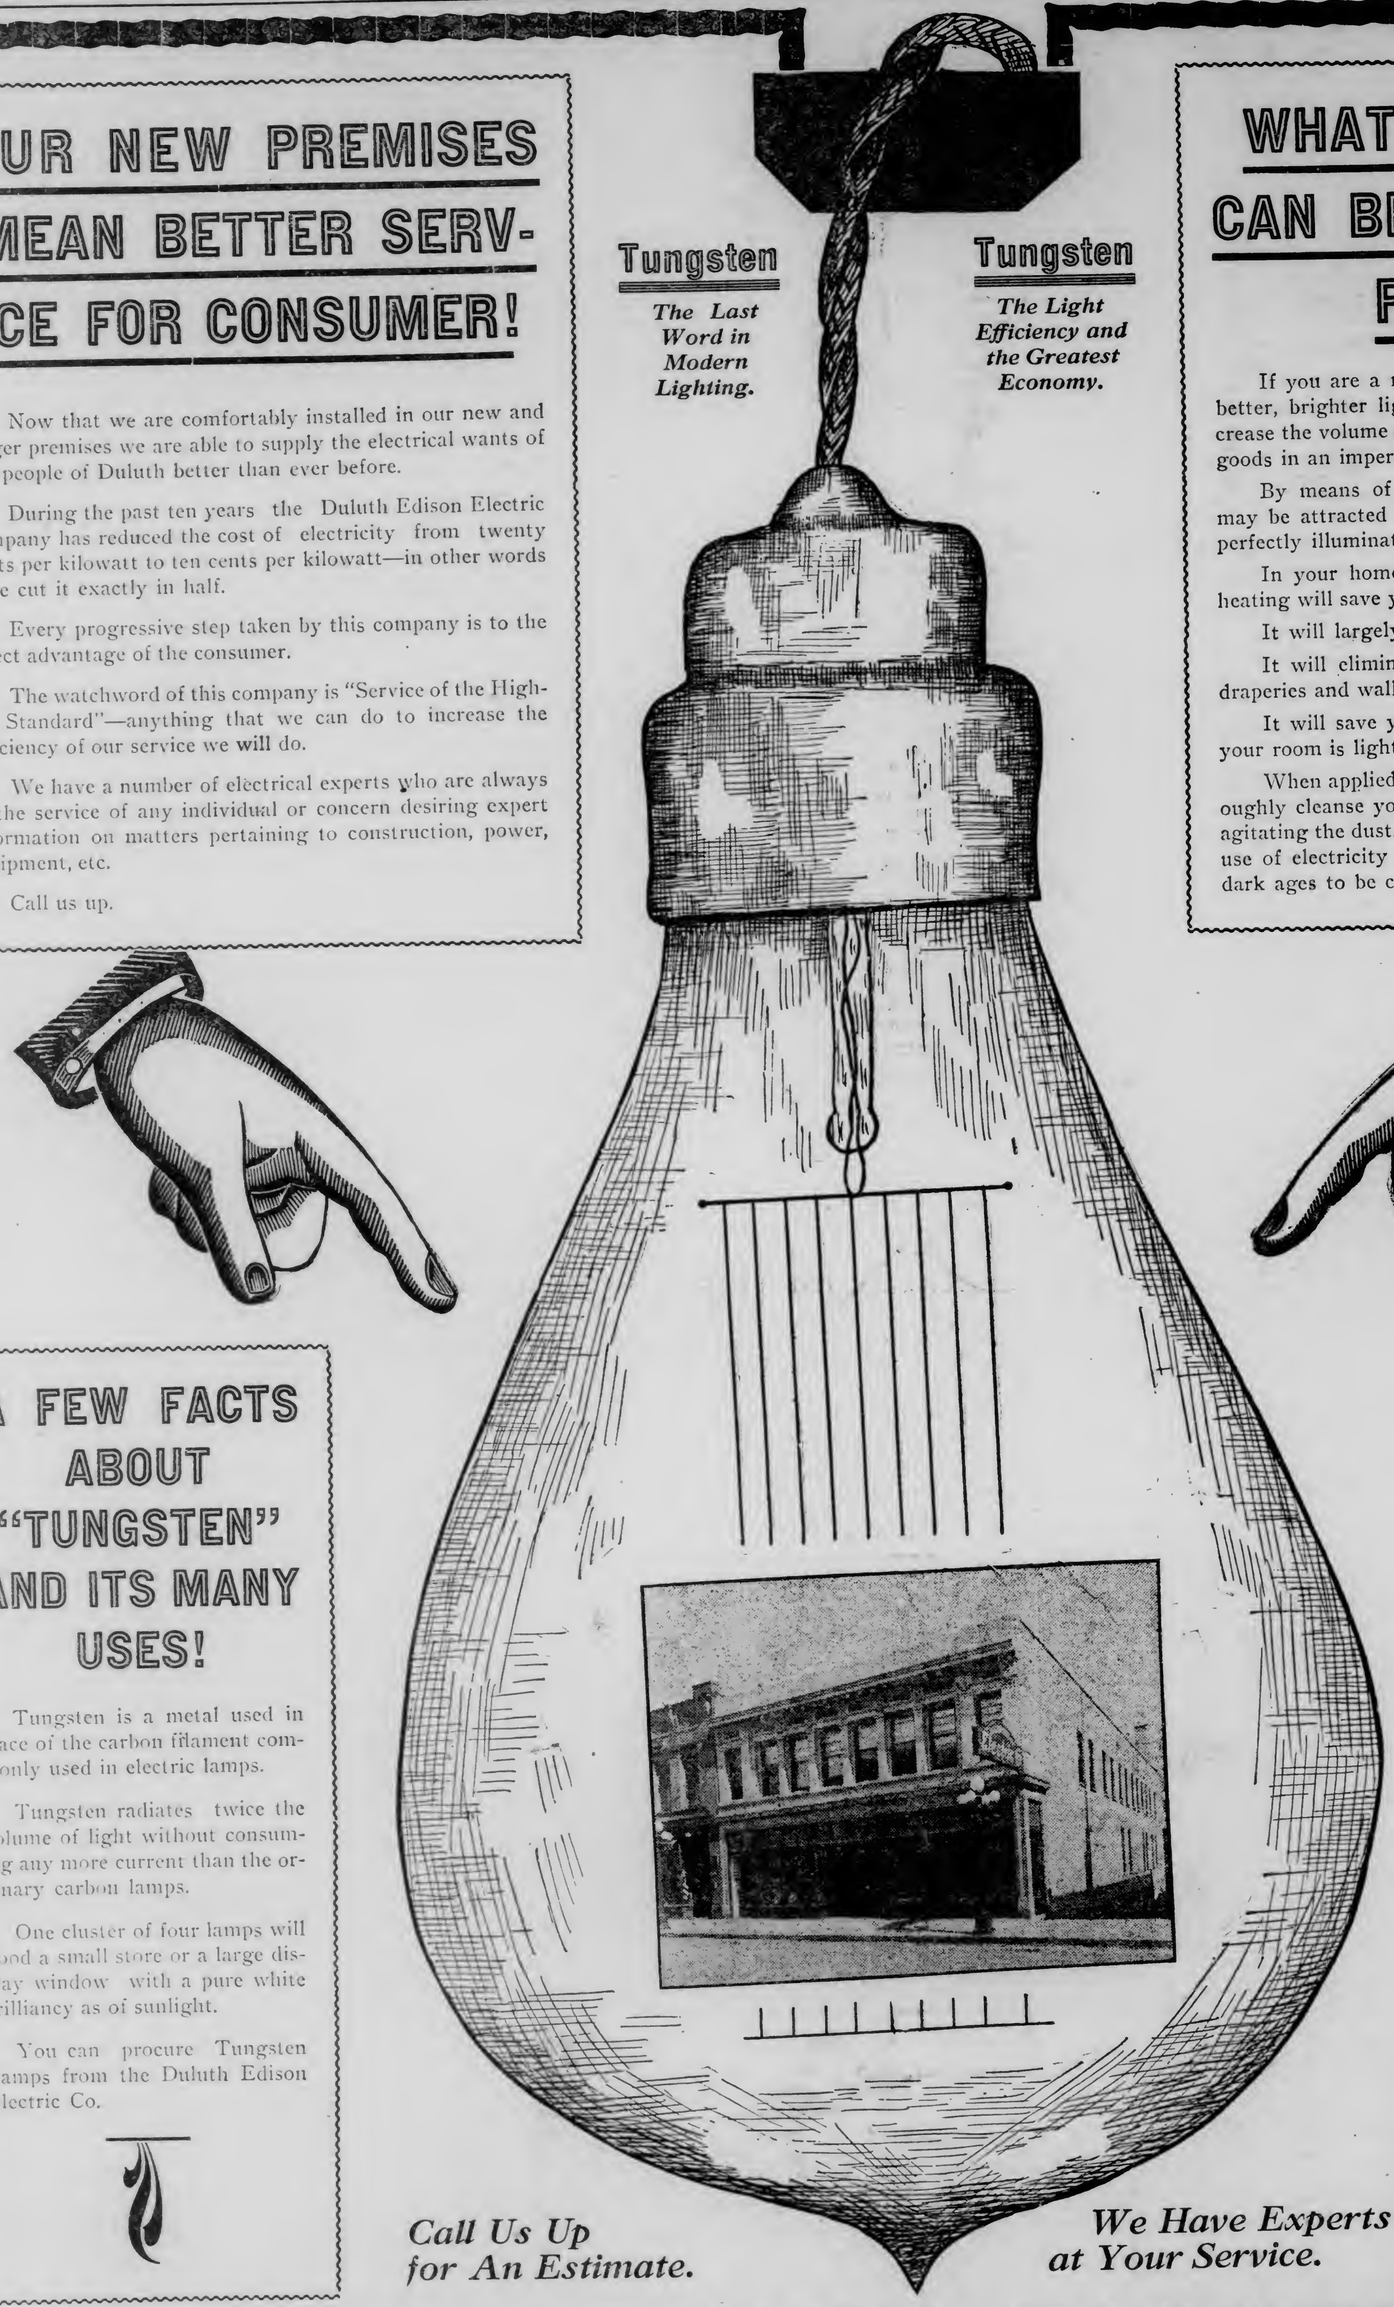
The Light Efficiency and the Greatest Economy.



WHAT ELECTRICITY CAN BE MADE TO DO FOR YOU!

If you are a merchant, electricity can, by providing a better, brighter light in which to display your goods, increase the volume of your sales. People do not like to buy goods in an imperfect light.

By means of an electric sign, prospective customers may be attracted into your store in preference to one less perfectly illuminated.

In your home the use of electricity for lighting and heating will save you money in many ways.

It will largely reduce the risk of loss by fire.

It will eliminate the destruction of delicate curtains, draperies and wall hangings by soot and smoke.

It will save you time and trouble—turn a button and your room is lighted or permeated with a glowing heat.

When applied to the new Vacuum Cleaners it will thoroughly cleanse your home from cellar to garret without agitating the dust. After once becoming accustomed to the use of electricity it would be like dropping back into the dark ages to be compelled to do without it.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT "TUNGSTEN" AND ITS MANY USES!

One cluster of four lamps will flood a small store or a large display window with a pure white brilliancy as of sunlight.

News of the Theater

AT THE LYCEUM

"The Right of Way," which comes to the Lyceum Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is a dramatization by Eugene W. Presbrey of Sir Gilbert Parker's most successful novel. It tells a story of Canadian life and introduces a number of characters that are in a way new to the American stage. The scenes are laid in Montreal, at a low river saloon a few miles outside of that city, and in a cabin on the lonely Vadrome mountain on the outskirts of a far away country village and, the last act, in the "Valley of Cooling Springs," a beautiful wooded glade in the mountains.

The play closely follows Sir Gilbert's story, departing from it only at the end. It tells the story of Charley Steele, the brilliant, but cynical and unbelieving Montreal lawyer, who finds regeneration and peace through the power of a great love. The first act is laid in Steele's office in Montreal, the moment being immediately after Steele has brilliantly defended a French-Canadian "habitant" from a charge of murder and secured his acquittal. In this Steele appears as the cynic and the questioner on his lips the constant "Who knows?" He is shown as a drunkard, a man selfish above all things, a man without a heart and without a soul. The discovery that his wife does not love him, but still loves the man from whom Steele won her, and the further discovery that his brother-in-law has stolen funds which were in his care, Steele decides to leave the old life, and if he lives at all, continue his existence at some distant place.

In the second act Steele, against the advice of his friends and the "habitant" murder, Joe Portugais, visits the Cote Dorion, a low river men's tavern, to converse with La Belle Suzon, the bar maid. While there he is attacked by the river men whose religion he insults, and is left for dead. But he is rescued by the now devoted Portugais, and in the third act is found in Joe's mountain cabin. The blow at the Cote Dorion has robbed him of all memory, and for three years he has lived in the mountains without recollection of the past. He has found work there and he has found love, and he is perfectly happy and contented. But bits of his past life having been revealed to him, he determines to submit to an operation by a famous French surgeon, who is visiting in the mountains. This operation is successful and memory returns. And with memory comes remorse and misery that almost drives Steele mad. In spite of the great love he has for Rosalie he feels that he cannot marry her for he has a wife living. In the end, however, many of the bars are removed and the conclusion is not hopeless.

In this powerful play Klaw & Erlinger present Guy Standing and Theodore Roberts in the roles of Charley Steele and Joe Portugais, in which these two sterling actors do the greatest work of their careers, and in which they are this season repeating their last season's success. The leading woman of the company is Grace Benham, who plays Rosalie, the mountain girl, in her usual delightful manner. The supporting company is one of the strongest on the road, and the scenic embellishment is of an unusual order.

LILLIAN RUSSELL.

Famous Stage Beauty Is Now Forty-Six Years of Age.

Owing to the fact that the great theatergoing public looks upon Lillian Russell more as an institution than a woman of purely feminine inclinations, there is never any hesitancy in making inquiry as to the age of this famous beauty. Miss Russell has been so prominently before the public for more than a quarter of a century, that it is often amusing to hear the wild speculation and silly opinions as to how old she really is. This is truly amusing because the real facts in her life have been extensively commented upon, that one would imagine, even the street urchins were familiar with the subject.

The mistakes that arise from these conjectures are easily traced to the general inclination on the part of outsiders to exaggerate the length of time that a famous actor or actress has been in the public eye. The very fact of the public position these stars occupy gives rise to all sorts of wild guesses as to the number of years they have been before the people. In Miss Russell's case, she has long since given up the idea of having the matter properly understood. The true facts are, however, that this wonderful woman was born in Clinton, Iowa, on Dec. 4, 1863. When quite a young girl she moved with her parents to Chicago, and at an early age developed a wonderful aptitude for music and vocalization. She studied music under the best teachers in Chicago and at 16 years of age occupied the post of principal soprano in the choir of one of the largest Episcopal churches in the Windy City. At that time, the singer was known by her own name, Helen Louise Leonard. Next to music the young choir singer possessed an inordinate love for peanuts, and when the rector one Sunday morning discovered that his pretty choir singer was munching her favorite peanuts instead of listening to a supposedly good sermon he discharged her. She then decided to go upon the stage. Drifting to New York, the young singer went the heart-breaking round of the managerial offices seeking stage employment and meeting with the usual rebuffs. One famous manager finally gave her a chance, but when she made her trial performance before her musical director the young aspirant was so frightfully nervous she couldn't sing a note, and the manager ordered her off the stage in anger over having wasted so much time. This same girl afterwards was at the head of this manager's company at a salary of $3,000 a week.

Considerably discouraged, but determined to win out, the girl applied to the late Tony Pastor for a position in his company. That shrewd manager was immediately struck by her wonderful beauty and engaged her for a small bit in a burlesque he was then rehearsing. He also, on the spur of the moment, advised her to take a stage name and suggested Lillian Russell as a suitable one, which she immediately adopted. Neither one dreamed at that time that Mr. Pastor had created a name destined to become better known than that of any other woman in America. As Lillian Russell, she made her professional debut on Feb. 7, 1881, at Pastor's old theater, in a musical burlesque of then reigning Gilbert & Sullivan operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance." Miss Russell's success was instantaneous, and in less than five weeks her salary had jumped from $50 a week to $200, which in those days was regarded as an enormous figure. Miss Russell was not quite 18 years old at that time. Any one who cares to make the calculation can easily figure out how old she is.

RICHARD CARLE'S RULES FOR HEN-PECKED HUSBANDS.

If you are afraid to go home, don't. There is safety in absence.

To insure safety, do your smoking on the fire escape.

If conversation should lag, don't start anything; learn to let well enough alone.

When playing cards with your wife, always ask her what's trumps. She may know.

Never be cross when your wife tells the point of your story before you reach it; the story may be a poor one, anyway.

Praise only the woman who weighs more than your wife and is older than her husband.

If your wife says it's raining, that settles it. It is.

If your wife likes funerals, enjoy them with her.

Always let your wife buy your neckties, she knows what you ought to wear around your neck.

Never let your wife see you shaving yourself. Ideals and lather don't mix.

Always let your wife pick out your favorite summer resort. Then she can't blame you when she gets there.

AT THE BIJOU

ONE OF THE BIGGEST SHOWS OF THE YEAR, HEADED BY THE RENNEE FAMILY OF COMIC OPERA STARS, THE BILL FOR NEXT WEEK.

THE program of vaudeville attractions that Manager Maitland offers at the popular theater, next week, should be one of the best produced this year, as it is full of action from start to finish, and each act could be classed as a headliner.

The feature card will be the Rennee family of comic opera stars, who will play their second week in this country, playing their first week in New York city. They come direct from the metropolis and open on the circuit at Duluth. The Rennees present an European character singing spectacle, and scenic production, which the New York Telegraph says is the most meritorious novelty that has ever been imported to appear in American vaudeville. The scenes and changes they introduce, are as follows: First, the Italian street singers, from the comic opera "The Veteran and His Daughter"; second change, French peasants, from the comic opera "Mamzelle Ango"; third change, German peasants, from the comic opera "Vienna Birds," by Ziehrer; fourth change, Hungarian gypsies, from the comic opera "The Gypsy Count," by Richard Strauss; dance Csardas; fifth change, United States battlefield, music "Always the Same Old Colors." Each of the above character numbers is sung in the native language. The scenic and electrical effects in the different changes are said to be very fine, and different from anything staged at the Bijou in the past.

Another big scenic sketch production will be presented by Miss Monda Glendower and Mr. Raymond Manion, whose reputation as dramatic stars is a guarantee that the public will get something that is of the highest order in the dramatic sketch line. They are presenting their big vaudeville success, entitled "A Christmas on The Comstock," by Harry D. Cottrell, author of "The Half Breed" and "A Southern Vendetta." The following is a recent notice from the Atlanta Constitution: "Monda Glendower and Raymond Manion have a great Western sketch in 'A Christmas on the Comstock,' and it is interpreted by two stars. The scene is prettily portrayed, well acted, and with enough pathos to make it a story intensely human."

What is considered the most artistic novelty in vaudeville is Mlle Alice Lorette, and her celebrated statue dog, Ben, winner of the prize medal at the bench show at Paris last season. Mlle Lorette, with her beautiful snow white setter, will present a series of reproductions of famous paintings.

Another European novelty will be the Sados, Europe's greatest jugglers, who present a juggling act that if different from all others and one of the most artistic and finished juggling acts in vaudeville.

The popular American dancer, Miss Carita Day, will be one of the leading attractions of the week, in a unique singing and dancing act. Miss Day is assisted by her Georgia dancing boys, who besides being expert dancers, have excellent singing voices.

Harry Webb, the Bijou's new singer of illustrated songs, is already a big favorite and will sing for his third week, the beautiful Irish ballad entitled "Why Must We Part?"

The moving pictures will all be new and exclusive subjects. Matinees are given daily at 2:45, and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday at 2:30, and performances Sunday afternoon and night.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

NEW YORK, May 15.—Two of the older school of actors just now are monopolizing attention more generously than any of the emotional leading women appearing at different theaters. The public is hungry for real acting, and all the eccentricities of the slap-stick comedians have been unable to arouse so much genuine enthusiasm as J. E. Dodson in "The House Next Door" and George Fawcett in "The Great John Ganton," which was put on at the Lyric for the first time last week. The play was tried out in Chicago, where the perspective was perhaps a little too near for comfort; here we know Chicago society and business conditions only by hearsay, and the way in which John Ganton runs his packing industry interests us only as a philosophical phase of contemporary life. Of course, Hartley Manners took the theme of the play from Arthur J. Eddy's novel. Some of the critics thought it lacking somewhat in originality, but most of them said the piece was interesting and all of them agreed that Fawcett's acting of the packing house king, who falls out with his college-bred son over the latter's interest in May Keating, a daughter of his old enemy, whom the packer drove into ruin and suicide, was of the highest order and ranging side by side with Dodson's old-school English gentleman at the Gaiety. The actor, who is best remembered in New York for his excellent character work as the Irish politician in "The Man of the Hour," scored a far greater and more significent success Monday evening by the method with which, free from theatrical pathos and pulpy heroics, he pictured the outwardly coarse hull of the packer and subtlely denoted the animating spirit of generous humanity and shrewd humor within that crusty exterior. The actor never stepped out of the character, and though at first flush Ganton is an unlovable character in his hardness and love of power, it became a portrait in the hands of Fawcett in which a sense of shrewd humor and marks of a noble generosity blended into a most sympathetic personality which went straight over the footlights.

For three acts the play maintains a level of well-suspended interest and the treatment differs in some particulars from the novel of "Ganton & Co." It shows up the shrewd, hard methods by which John Ganton has made himself the king of packers. These methods differ from the ideals of his son, and when the son falls in love with the daughter of the old packer's enemy and affects the company of people who are socially educated on a different basis from that of old Ganton, the fat is in the fire. These details of the framework of the play are not essentially novel. John Ganton, under various names, has figured before in the play of capital and labor, but we have never had him so artistically, so sympathetically and so normally presented as by George Fawcett. After his hardness reaches the climax in a scene in which he is overcome by physical pain, graphically played, the reaction sets in, and in the last act the mighty John Ganton sends for May and voluntarily places her hand in that of his son.

Aside from enabling Mr. Fawcett to score a decided artistic hit, the piece brought into prominence a young actress of great promise, Laurette Taylor, who played May Keating in a manner that rung so true that she gives promise of occupying a place close to the head of her profession in a few years if flattery does not spoil her in the meantime.

Bob Cole and Rosamond Johnson, the colored comedians formerly seen in vaudeville, have blossomed out at the Majestic as collaborators in the composition of a musical comedy, "The Red Moon," with considerable credit to themselves and to the obvious amusement of a demonstrative audience. The comedy is described as a musical piece in red and black, so called because it deals with the troubles of some negroes of Swampton, Va., and a tribe of Blackfoot Indians in "the land of the setting sun." It starts out with a fair show of beguiling the tedium of the early summer days which are coming upon us.

The past two weeks have been decidedly fruitful in the making and unmaking of theatrical plans. The lively shifting of positions on the checker board is almost as interesting as the recent European situation. The entente cordiale between Klaw & Erlanger, on one hand, and Messrs. Belasco and Fiske, their erstwhile implacable opponents, on the other, has been completely restored after many years of estrangement, and entirely new alignments are to be looked for in the twelve months. Indeed, we are standing on the threshold of a new theatrical era. It is not only the theatrical syndicate or Messrs. Fiske and Belasco that is involved, but the whole situation, which has long been resting on a quicksand.

No sooner had the announcement been made of the new alliance than the Shuberts, who are now recognized as the most formidable opponents of the theatrical trust served notice that they had restored the balance of power by an arrangement with the producing firm of Liebler & Co for the booking of the latter's attractions in the Shubert playhouses all over the country.

In the meantime James K. Hackett ceases to be an independent and passes under the management of Charles Frohman next season (he is just about to appear for the summer in the William Morris vaudeville houses.) And in the meantime, too, the New theater enters the field, and is followed by the private venture of Mr. Butler Davenport, while the cornerstone of the new Comedy theater has just been laid, the Broadway theater has changed from a syndicate house to a Shubert holding, the Herald Square is said to be approaching its end as a legitimate theater, destined to become a link in the chain of Morris' vaudeville circuit, the Empire is to return to its former policy of presenting repertory, two or three new temples of the drama are quietly building in various parts of the town with no announced policies—and, if things keep on at this rate, the New York public will have cause to rejoice, for, by and by there will be too many playhouses, the price of seats will come down, and the admission will be $1 instead of $2.

The bridging of the gulf that has so long divided Belasco and Fiske from the syndicate is regarded as the masterstroke in the Napoleonic career of A. L. Erlanger, to whom the title of "The Little Corporal" now passes from the brow of Belasco, and at the same time the most profitable arrangement that could have been made by the two leading independents. It is estimated that the privilege of booking his attractions in the syndicate houses all over the country represents a clear profit of $100,000 a year to Belasco.

Harrison Grey Fiske has but one or two attractions in the field; but he is the proprietor of the Dramatic Mirror. When he broke with the syndicate about a dozen years ago, all advertising controlled by that organization was withdrawn from the columns of the paper. It is expected that this will be restored in a short time, with the renewed prestige it will give the Mirror, and it follows that Mrs. Fiske, who for more than a decade courageously defied her enemies and for several years was alone in the fight, compelled to play in all manner of places, will henceforth enjoy the luxury of the properly-heated and well appointed theaters of the theatrical trust.

The contest henceforth will be between the syndicate and the Shuberts. For another year, perhaps, Belasco will maintain a quasi independent attitude. His booking contract with his late allies has still a twelvemonth to run. His explanation in the matter is interesting:

"I conceive it to be my duty to do what I can to dignify the American stage" he said in a conversation with the writer at the Sutyvesant. "I don't see what purpose can be accomplished by calling names. I have not surrendered my independence. I shall play my attractions where I please."

And when the writer commented on the prospect of the increased profits which would accrue from the new arrangement, the playwright-manager made it clear that profits did not enter into his consideration.

"I never cared for money," he said, "and I have not been actuated by any thought of making money in returning to a friendly basis with Klaw & Erlanger."

The inference was that his governing motive had been a desire for peace and extended opportunities for the exercise of his artistic energy in efforts to uplift the stage and to do what he could to give it added dignity.

The Shuberts announce that in addition to having drawn the Liebers into closer business relations, with their twenty-six attractions, they have completed a chain of sixty-three playhouses, and will have a new theater in Los Angeles, to cost $250,000, one in San Francisco, to cost $400,000, one in Portland and several others elsewhere. They have also acquired theaters in St. Paul and Minneapolis, and will build in Denver. They promise to maintain "the open door" and give every deserving comer an opportunity to book time in the houses under their control.

It is human nature, in New York at least, to pay most attention to the bizarre and sensational. We all of us succumb more or less to this tendency, and it is for this reason, perhaps, that so little attention has been paid to the splendid work which is being done by Robert Mantell at the Academy of Music. His revivals of Shakespearean plays have been works of art equal to the best traditions of the stage. While I would not class Mr. Mantell with Booth, Macready and Forrest as a tragedian he is undoubtedly an actor of sterling worth, intelligence and ability. While it has not been necessary at any time to put out the S. R. O. sign, the box office receipts indicate plainly to a play-going public in New York, who will support the best the stage can afford.

A new production by Maude Adams is a distinct event in the theatrical world. This charming actress has a personal following of which she may well be proud. Hence the announcement that she will head a cast, consisting of a 1,000 people, when she presents "Joan of Arc" at the stadium at Harvard university on June 2, is of a very general interest. A big contingent of Miss Adams New York admirers will go up to Harvard to see the production. It is given under the auspices of the German department of the institution for the benefit of the Germanic museum. This will be the biggest performance—or rather pageant—that has ever been conducted by an Eastern college. The host of supernumeraries will be directed by fifty "captains." The use of the use of the stadium was granted by the president and fellows of the university. It will accommodate 10,000 persons. An English version of Schiller's "Jungfrau von Orleans" will be given to the musical setting of Beethoven's symphony, the "Eroica."

• • •

A year from now Maud Adams will make a European tour in a cycle of Barrie's plays, also, in "L'Aiglon," "Twelfth Night" and "Romeo and Juliet." She will take her entire American company to Europe for the purpose of this tour, which will be the first American theatrical enterprize of such magnitude ever undertaken on this side of the Atlantic.

Lew Fields has engaged Miss Blanche Ring to appear under his management in musical comedy for a term of years. She will be seen in the musical comedy "The Yankee Girl," by George V. Mrs. Claire G. Oddie, former wife of Senator Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada, and a rich society woman, it is reported has been secured by Joe Weber to appear in Edward Locke's delightful little play, "The Climax." Mrs. Oddie is a relative of Senator Cannon, and the sole heiress to her father, R. H. MacDonald's fortune. She has studied music in New York with David Bispham.

A small balance in cash remains in the hands of the Twelfth Night club, and will be paid over to Miss Morris.

What appears to be a "joker" that would admit to the American market practically all foreign-made motion pictures free of duty has been discovered in the senate tariff bill. Imported pictures now pay a duty of 25 per cent, and a similar duty has been fixed in the senate bill, but there is a clause which was intended for the benefit of American tourists traveling with cameras, giving free entry to American-made dry plates or films exposed abroad. As nearly all foreign motion picture films are made on Eastman stock, this clause would admit them free of duty. Energetic steps are being taken to have motion pictures excepted from the provision.

A recent report as to the sums spent in amusements in Paris during the past year said that receipts at the theaters, music halls, concerts and public entertainments, including boxing, aggregated $9,171,400.

This sum is $20,000 in excess of that of the preceding year. But it includes some $200,000 of receipts at museums and exhibitions which did not figure in the previous year's showing.

An analysis shows that the Opera received $526,000, a decrease as compared with the previous year of $17,400. The Opera Comique, the Comedie Francaise, the Chatlet, the Gaite, Gymnase and the Odeon also showed similar decreases, while Sarah Bernhardt's theater had receipts of $224,200, a decrease of $19,440, and the Theater Rejane, with receipts of $181,000, showed a decrease of $29,400.

The other prominent theaters enjoyed increased receipts. The Varietes, which shows the greatest increase, had the very successful comedy, "Le Roi." Antoine's theater owes its increase to "Sherlock Holmes" and the Athenee to a like work, Arsene Lupin."

Music halls took in $1,154,600. The Folies Bergere heads the list with $361,000, an increase of $83,200. Cinematograph shows received $321,600, the largest being the Hippodrome, $127,800.

At the annual gambol of the Lambs, which will be held at the Metropolitan opera house, New York, on Monday, May 24, an "all-star production" of the funeral scene from Julius Caesar will be a feature.

James O'Neil will deliver the Brutus oration, and De Wolf Hopper that of Antony. William Mollison, who has not since been seen upon the stage since he appeared with McCullough, as the fighting Gaul in "The Gladiator," will be captain of the guard accompanying the bier. The four members of the guard will be Eugene Cowles, Frank Reicher, Maclyn Arbuckle and William Stewart.

In the mob, which is to be led by Dustin and William Farnum, will be such prominent actors as Wilton Lackaye, Robert Hilliard, William Courtleigh, Jr., Mr. Mayer, Arthur Byron and Cyril Scott. David Belasco will also be seen in this array of "supernumaries."

Ethel Drew, Ethel Barrymore, Otis Skinner, Francis Wilson and Marie Doro are the Charles Frohman stars that have traveled, or will have traveled, by the end of the season, from Boston to San Francisco, a tour of at least 3,500 miles, but much more than that in the zig-zag route of an ordinary theatrical company. These players, because of the length of their seasons, will, with the exception of Miss Barrymore, consequently spend their coming vacations in America, accustomed as each may be to visit Europe for the summer. As he generally visits San Francisco in alternate seasons, John Drew also usually takes his vacation abroad in the summers that do not oblige him to play upon the Pacific coast.

TWO GIGANTIC LINERS

London, May 15.—Two gigantic liners, larger than any vessel afloat, are being constructed at Harland & Wolff's shipyards at Belfast, for the White Star company. They will probably be christened the Olympic and Titanic, and they will journey between Southampton and New York. A feature of the design is that they will each have four funnels and only one mast. The total cost of the two will, it is estimated, be something like $20,000,000, and they will both be ready for their maiden voyages early in 1912.

The two gantrys, which had to be specially built at the shipyard, cost $2,500,000. The passenger accommodation will be enormous—sufficient probably for at least 2,500 and the crew will number nearly 1,000. The gross tonnage will be 45,000, as against the 32,500 of the Lusitania. The funnels of the boats will be so large that two double-decked tramway cars would easily pass through each.

WIRELESS TELEPHONE AND WIRELESS TELEGRAPH BOTH AFTER LAKE BUSINESS

Duluth Will Soon Be in Chain of Telephone Stations.

Will Be Possible to Talk to Any Boat on Lakes.

Something of De Forest and His Wonderful Invention.

Unknown to most people, a movement has been quietly going forward for several months that will make Duluth one of a big chain of wireless telephone stations encircling the Great Lakes, and putting this city in verbal wireless communication with scores of stations in as many ports, and with hundreds of fast moving vessels. The wireless telephone and the wireless telegraph are racing to appropriate the big field offered by the lake marine traffic.

This is not the idle dream of speculators or enthusiasts who promise what they never hope to accomplish, but the well-calculated move of men of business to an end that is practical and to them remunerative. The plans of the telegraph companies have already been commented on in The Herald.

The Herald yesterday published a short dispatch from Chicago stating that the wireless telephone between that city and Milwaukee is in operation. The message was received in Milwaukee clear and distinct and was as plainly hard as though transmitted through an ordinary telephone.

The event is noteworthy as being the first time in history that the human voice has been transmitted overland through the air between two commercial centers. It marks the opening of a field of possibilities that few have dreamed of.

It is fitting and proper that Milwaukee should receive the first wireless message ever sent from one state to another, for it is in that city that the inventor of the system lives, and where he first announced to the world the perfection of voice transmission without the aid of wires.

Lee De Forest.

This wizard's name is Dr. Lee De Forest. It was in 1907 that Dr. De Forest perfected his instrument to meet commercial demands. In July of that year he made his experiments public, and at Put-in-Bay the yacht races were announced over the radio wireless telephone operating at a distance of four and one-half miles.

The government became interested in the invention and after a trial on two battleships maneuvering off the coast of Massachusetts the United States government announced the installation of the wireless telephone on all the ships of the great fleet, at that time preparing for its memorable cruise around the world. When the fleet left Hampton Roads Admiral Evans was in touch with every vessel of his fleet by means of the wireless telephone.

When the fleet arrived in San Francisco the instruments on the vessels were overhauled and improved so that the equipment was brought up-to-date, for during the time that the fleet had been absent on its voyage around the globe the wireless telephone had made enormous strides and the original instruments were crude by comparison.

The wireless telephone on the battleships created great excitement at the foreign ports of call. Other governments began to investigate this innovation in nautical communication, and before the fleet had ended its journey in Hampden Roads, the Italian government had been convinced that it stood unparalleled in its own field, and the result has been that every warvessel in the Italian navy is now equipped with the wireless telephone.

Tests were made before the British admiralty, and instruments were ordered by the government for the channel fleet. The instruments, both Italian and English, were installed under the personal supervision of Dr. De Forest.

While Mr. De Forest was in Europe the French government placed the wireless station in the Eiffel tower at his disposal. This station is the highest and most powerful in the world, and it was therefore easy for Dr. De Forest to communicate with all the wireless stations in France and to send verbal messages to a French cruiser 600 miles from the transmitter. The result was the immediate equipment of the home fleet.

Record Is 600 Miles.

The record of 600 miles has never been beaten. De Forest is now experimenting from the station on the 700-foot tower of the Metropolitan building in New York and confidently predicts that he will be in connection with the Eiffel tower before the year is past.

A feature of the De Forest instrument that cannot be ignored is the fact that the same transmitter and receiver is equally at use for wireless telephone and wireless telegraph communication. Dr. De Forest was for six years closely identified with the wireless telegraph field and it was after years of patient experimenting that he was able to combine the two in one instrument.

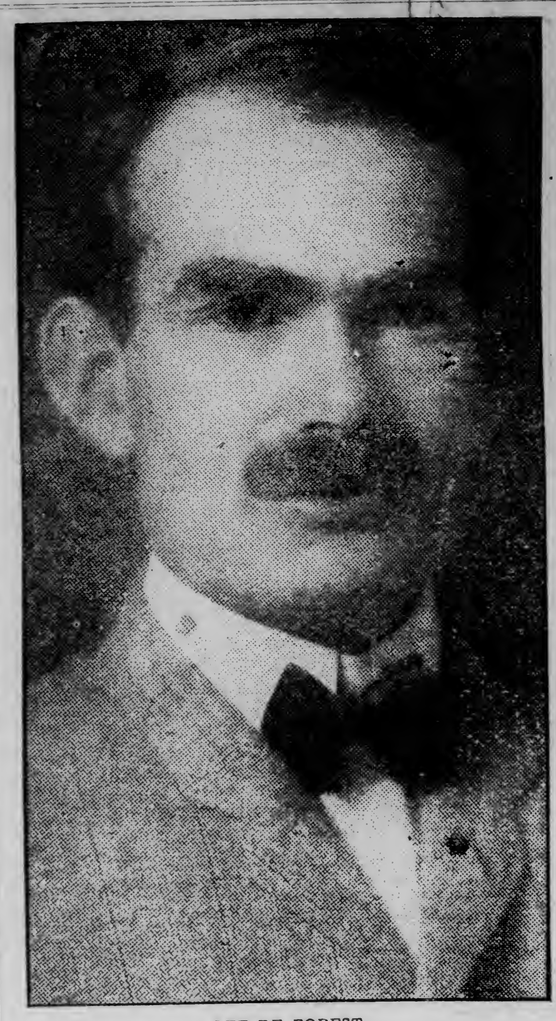
It is, however, in connection with the future usefulness of the invention as affecting the Great Lakes merchant marine that the people of Duluth and other ports of the lakes are chiefly interested.

The project of establishing the wireless telephone at all the dangerous points on the Great Lakes, and upon the thousands of vessels which carry on these inland seas 80 per cent of the water tonnage of North America, is progressing rapidly. Already a score of stations are reaching upward in the other and contracts are signed for the installation on many of the lake vessels.

Within the next few months Duluth will be in touch by wireless telephone and telegraph with at least a dozen other stations on the Great Lakes. Stations are already completed at Chicago, Milwaukee, Toledo, Cleveland and the Soo. Others are to be installed at Duluth, Superior, Ashland, Benton Harbor, Manistee, Mackinaw City, Alpena, Port Huron, Sandusky, Lorain, Erie and Ashtabula. The station at Detroit is now being erected and the roof of the chamber of commerce at Buffalo has been leased for that purpose.

Dr. De Forest is a notable exception to the general rule that inventors seldom reap the reward of their labors. Everything to the smallest detail is patented in the United States and all the principal countries of Europe. The Radio Telephone company was organized for the purpose of exploiting the invention, and it controls the entire Western hemisphere, operating under a special license granted by Dr. De Forest to use all of his patents, past, present and future, during a period of ten years.

To develop the wireless telephone, subsidiary companies have been, and are being, organized in various sections of the country. Five have already been established, and the one of special interest locally is the Great Lakes Radio Telephone company. A party of engineers, surveyors and mechanics is now slowly working its way to the head of the Lakes. They are making stops frequently, visiting all cities where it is thought likely stations may be established, looking over the available sites and in many instances leasing locations or buying them outright.



LEE DE FOREST,
Inventor of the Wireless Telephone.

Headed For Duluth.

This party will ultimately reach Duluth. They are headed for this city and Superior, and the result of the visit will be the making of arrangements for wireless stations in both cities.

The flash of a verbal wireless message from Chicago to Milwaukee yesterday is an earnest of what the future may bring forth. What is possible for ninety miles is possible for 900 miles. The promise has been held out to marine men that before the close of navigation this year the system will place the vessels of the Great Lakes in communication with land, and that from the Soo the news can be flashed at a certain time each day, giving the exact position of all the boats that are equipped.

The system is so simple, and the cost of installing the instruments so comparatively small, that vessel owners are taking to the project of equipping their fleets with enthusiasm. It has an advantage over the wireless telegraph that commends it, especially to vesselmen. Telegraphy requires a special operator, and in the event of accident to the operator, the wireless is useless. Any one who can talk can use the telephone, and the last survivor of a stricken vessel could communicate with the nearest port and call for help.

Speaking of his invention before a body of scientists recently, Dr. De Forest said:

"I have practically perfected a system of wireless transmission that will revolutionize the present method of communication. My apparatus does away with the spark, as used now, and minimizes the chance of the interruption of messages. It will permit a speed of 40,000 words an hour, as compared with the transmission of forty words a minute, which is about the limit of a first-class Morse operator. The new apparatus is to be used in connection with the new installation of the wireless telephone along the Atlantic coast.

"As to the advantage of the wireless telephone over the telegraph, the telephone is so simple in operation that any ship's officer can understand it. If Binns, the wireless operator, had been killed in the Republic's collision with the Florida, in which the wireless apartment was wrecked, there would have been no one else on board the ship to have sent out the calls for help.

"Such is not the case on ships that carry the radio telephone apparatus, for a dozen men can be ready to step into the breach if the operator is incapacitated.

Has Proper Backing.

"Never until this year," he went on to say, "have I had the proper backing. And up to this year I can say, also, that the developments in the wireless art have been almost rudimentary. The future of it will be neither I nor any one else can foretell. At present I am working on the telephone, the telegraph and ship-warning devices. The possibilities of the telephone in this latter department are almost limitless, and I confidently predict that within the next five years every ship of a certain tonnage will be equipped with the wireless telephone.

"I have succeeded in combining the wireless telegraph and telephone in one instrument. The radio telephone has also a useful field on land, principally in toll line work in connecting small towns with distant cities, as they are now connected by trunk wires. Some day you will see a wireless system installed on trains, by which one locomotive will be warned of the approach of another engine coming toward it. This will prevent all accidents which happen today when the block system fails to operate.

"A few years after Dr. Roentgen discovered the X-rays surgical operations were possible that were undreamed of before his discovery. Who can say that some such discovery will not be made in radio-telegraphy and radio-telephony at any time?"

WAS CONVICTED OF POLYLACTIE

Paris, May 15.—An interesting case, the first of its kind, came before the ninth chamber of the correctional tribunal yesterday. A dairyman, who supplies milk for babies, had to answer a charge of "polylactie"—watering his cows before milking them. It was not a case of robbing the milk of its cream or of even watering the milk, but of giving the cows a big inordinate quantity of water just before milking time.

Counsel, who defended the accused dairyman, ironically suggested that if it was an offense to give cows water before milking them, in the interest of public health, the authorities would have to institute what he described as an "inspector-curator of the abdomens of cows."

The president of the court, in giving judgment, declared that "polylactie" was not a modern delinquency, since the most celebrated of our Latin poets had sung it in verse. What the court had to decide was whether giving cows watery food or forcing them to drink a quantity of water before milking was a legal and honest method of nourishment or if it constituted a fraud. The method of nourishment, the president of the court went on, produced a large quantity of milk, but at the expense of quality. "Polylactie" was not new, since Virgil had exposed it in his Georgics. The poet set forth that salt herbs were given to cows so that they would drink the more water, with the result that their udders would become larger. The president concluded with the declaration that watering cows before milking them could not be regarded as a fraud. It was rather a deception, which could not be discovered when the milk was submitted for analysis.

For unduly watering his cows at the expense of the quality of the milk the—yielded, the dairyman was fined $60 and ordered to pay the price of inserting the judgment in four newspapers. He is not likely to appreciate Virgil after this.

Bryan at McKinley Tomb.

Canton, Ohio, May 15.—Standing in the mausoleum in the front of the sarcophagus, where rest the remains of the late President McKinley and his wife, William J. Bryan paid silent tribute to the memory of the man, who twice defeated him in the presidential race. His comments to those who were with him in regard to the great value of McKinley, the man, were short, but fraught with strong words.

RICE LAKE FARMER IS FATHER OF FOURTEEN

THE LARSON FAMILY.

Victor Larson, a prosperous farmer on rural route No. 4 out of Duluth, on the Rice Lake road, is the head of a family of fourteen children, all vigorous and in splendid health. The oldest, a son, is 22 years of age, and the baby boy is 8 months old.

Mr. Larson is a man of about 50 years of age, and his wife is possibly ten years his junior. They are both hale and hearty and take considerable pride in their large family of children. One child died in infancy a number of years ago, but otherwise death has not visited the family circle.

The above picture was taken a few days ago by a Duluth photographer. The two oldest children had decided to leave home for the coast, and it was thought advisable to have a family group taken before the members scattered.

NEWS OF THE WEEK AT THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

Only Two Weeks More School for Class of 1909.

With only two weeks of school left before graduation and only eight days more of regular work for the seniors, the eyes of the school are all turned to examinations.

The seniors are looking upon these last closing exercises with a feeling of joy mingled with sorrow at leaving all the old places and companions whom they have been associated with in their school life and have grown attached to. However, it is a great satisfaction to have it all over with, and the thought that everything has been completed successfully makes it the happiest event of the pupil's life. At the present time, though everyone is engaged in making preparations for the closing exercises and festivities, and at the same time cramming all the knowledge that they have let slip by so that they may participate in the graduation ceremonies.

Class night is on Tuesday, June 1. On that night the senior president, Robert Ely, will deliver his address, and Harlow Watkins, the class orator, will speak on the subject, "The Past Century and a Glimpse Into the Future."

The senior class will then present a play, "All Tangled Up," after which the class song will be sung and the juniors will be given a chance to express their love (?) for the seniors. On commencement night the usual exercises will be held, but it is not yet known who will take part. At both the class night and the commencement exercises admission will be by tickets only. These tickets are given to the seniors, each getting ten, which they will distribute. The juniors will also be given a ticket apiece, so that they may take part in the program. At class night the collection for a memorial fund will be taken up.

The plans for the senior farewell have all been completed and that function will be held next Friday evening. At meetings held during the week, the conclusion was reached by the boys and girls, in separate meetings, that it would make this affair more popular if the boys and girls would meet there on that evening, thus making it so that all can attend and enjoy themselves. The boys, however, may fill out the programs for the girls beforehand if they wish, but it is not likely that the programs will be made out in advance. A banquet will be served before the dance, at which toasts will be responded to. Remarks will be made by Mr. Denfeld, Mr. Sprague, Miss Wells and the class presidents. John Quinn will respond to the toast of "The Girls;" Curtis Pillsbury on "The School," and Leonard McHugh will give a class prophecy.

All the other classmen will join in the dance at about 8:30.

The sophomore-freshman division of the Philomathian society ended a very successful season by a program of dramatic and musical numbers. This club has been holding meetings all year at which literary, musical and dramatic selections were given, and they gave this program as an example of the progress they had made and of the things they could accomplish. A comedy, entitled "Six Cups of Chocolate," was the vehicle selected for the late," was the vehicle selected for the budding theatrical stars, and proved a popular success. The stage was very prettily decorated as a school girl's room. While the acting was light, yet those taking part played their roles splendidly and showed their ability in this line. The cast was as follows:

Dorothy Green, a New Englander.....
..... Gladys Lenning
Beatrix Van Kourtland, a New Yorker ..... Jean Wanless
Hester Beacon, a Bostonian.....
..... Mildred Isherwood
Marion Lee, a Southern girl .....
..... Alva Patenaude
Jeanette Durand, a French girl.....
..... Chelsie Final
Adeline Von Linden, a German girl .....
..... Lucille Hoar

Piano selections were rendered by Ruth Niemeyer and vocal selections by Winnifred Thomas.

All arrangements have been completed for the junior-senior. The committee in charge is working to get everything in readiness and give an excellent ball. Through Mr. Denfeld's efforts the new Masonic hall has been secured for this. The Masons are presenting the use of the hall to the juniors and seniors as a compliment to Mr. Custance and the choir, who have several times provided entertainment for the Masons. With such a fine hall as this, the juniors will be able to give a very elaborate ball that will eclipse the ones given at the Spalding in the past years. The invitations will be out soon for those who do not go to school. The tickets will be $1.50 except to the seniors. The junior-senior comes on Thursday night, the day before commencement.

Today the interclass track meet to decide the supremacy of the classes and also to select those who will represent the Duluth high at Minneapolis is being held. The team could not get the use of the race track this year on account of the repairing being done there. Instead the events were run off at the school and on London road. In the morning at 10:30 the weight and jumping events were held in the field at the school. In the afternoon the running and hurdling events were pulled off on London road. In order to raise funds to send the team down to Minneapolis little buttons of red and white bearing the letters "C. H. S. Duluth, Minn.," were sold for 10 cents among the pupils, all of whom bought them. Mr. Hlestand will try to arrange for a dual meet with Superior for next Saturday, and the Saturday after that, is the meet in Minneapolis. More enthusiasm has been awakened in track work this year than ever before, and despite the discouraging inconveniences it is believed that a very good showing will be made.

Next Tuesday the spelling "exam" will be held for all the classes. While this is comparatively easy yet it arouses a lot of excitement and it sometimes takes several of these "exams" before some of the seniors are presented with the much coveted "sheep-skin." Most of the pupils are excused from the "exam" on account of their high standings, but those who are not exempt are dreading it.

EXPLOSION KILLS THREE AND HURTS A DOZEN.

Key West, Fla., May 15.—In an explosion today on Quarter Boat No. 3, at Codjoss Key, twenty miles from here on the Key West extension of the Florida East Coast railway, three men were instantly killed and twelve others badly injured. The injured men were brought here for medical treatment and it is believed that others were blown to atoms, as 700 pounds of dynamite went off. Most of the men are Americans.

To Extend Primaries.

Lansing, Mich., May 15.—The lower house of the Michigan legislature, by a vote of 67 to 4, passed the conference bill to extend the primary nomination system to United States senators. Nominations of governor and lieutenant governor are continued under the primary system, and in counties and circuit court districts that have not adopted the primary election system, the question of adopting it is required to be submitted to the votors to concur in the conference report Monday.

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN REAL ESTATE CIRCLES

Duluth Dealer Compares Conditions in Duluth With Those in Coast Cities—Work Begun on New Hotel and Office Building—Good Demand for Suburban Property.

T. W. Wahl has just returned after a trip of examination through the middle and extreme western part of the country.

Mr. Wahl took particular pains to inquire into the real estate situation wherever he went, and he finds that Duluth realty, after all, offers the best of opportunities for investment of any city which he visited.

He says that the city is becoming better known and that everywhere real estate men of other towns are greatly interested in the city's future and are watching the growth with eagerness.

"I have now made a personal examination of all the cities in the United States of any size, this trip carefully looking into the reason why Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver are on the map," said Mr. Wahl today.

"Los Angeles is a city of climate, not a business city, in any sense of the word. It is aided, however, by the beautiful fruit-bearing valley in which it is located. Los Angeles will undoubtedly always be the Riviera of America, a place to visit and a place to settle down when one is ready to retire from business.

Vacant Houses in Frisco.

"San Francisco is in a very unfortunate and peculiar position on account of the earthquake. I saw more vacant houses and flats in that city than I have ever seen, and where I learned, in spite of the great 'boosting,' that their merchants are not in any too good a position.

"Portland is a good hustling business city, a city which undoubtedly will grow. It has a fine location, in fact, is a beautiful city. They have fine modern buildings and a very great many nice substantial middle class homes—homes of such people which are of great value to a city, neither shacks or palaces. The lumber business will have a great bearing on Portland's future, although in the words of a leading lumberman, the business was 'all shot to pieces.'

Seattle Leads Them All.

"Seattle is the city of the coast, and in my opinion will be the largest city. It is a first-class business city, has a good climate, but has its drawbacks, which you will find on every spot on the globe. It has a population of 250,000. I would rather live there than any place on the coast.

"Vancouver struck me very much like a good country town. Prince Rupert, about 400 miles north of Vancouver, is now being boomed the way Port Moody and Vancouver were thirty years ago.

Avoid Mining.

"I found the coast people, strange to say, speculating far more in real estate than in mining. Apparently it was a joke, when I asked them why they did not develop their immense mineral resources. Some said they allowed the Easterners to do that.

"As to real estate values, some of our Duluthians, who make such a noise when they pay $2,500 for a 50-foot lot, with all improvements made, ought to go to Vancouver and see a 50-foot corner lot—residence lot, you understand—bring $15,000, and any number of them held at $10,000.

"Duluth has but one choice residence district. Vancouver is practically as flat as a pancake, and there are any number of good residence districts. The best business property in Vancouver brings $2,500 a front foot, and there are acres of it compared with Duluth business property.

"The best business property in Los Angeles is held at $6,000 a foot, with several very good business streets, and plenty of room for expansion.

"At San Francisco I did not look into values very much, but Market street property brings $10,000 a front foot. This, I think, is high enough, earthquakes and everything else considered.

"Seattle's business section is almost identical to Duluth's, being on the water front and on a hill rising from the sound. Their Western avenue is equal to our Michigan street; their First avenue, our Superior street; their Second avenue, our First street; their Third avenue, our Second street; their Fourth avenue, our Third street, and their streets are the same as our avenues, only some are very much steeper in the heart of the business section than ours.

Six Reasons For Seattle.

"Duluth is not a Seattle yet by any means and further Seattle is going to grow, but to give an idea of what makes these two cities I will say that I asked one of the brightest real estate men to give me six of the main reasons why Seattle was on the map. I give them herewith:

"1. 'Seattle has first call on unlimited commerce with Alaska.'

"2. 'Seattle has best facilities for connecting trans-continental business with trans-Pacific trade.'

"3. 'Seattle has scenic and climatic conditions which make it the most attractive place to live in America.'

"5. 'Seattle has by reason of the extra enterprise of its citizens gotten enough start over competing cities in the Northwest to make it hard for any other city to catch up.'

"6. 'Seattle is Western terminus of Milwaukee, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Great Northern, with P. P. R. and Chicago & Northwestern entering the city by traffice arrangements with Northern Pacific.'

Six Reasons for Duluth.

"I then gave him six reasons why Duluth exists and why we are going to become one of the largest cities in the country eventually, and I give these reasons herewith:

"1. Duluth is located in the center of a region which has possibilities beyond the grasp of man. The great territory lying both in the United States and Canada surrounding the Great Lakes is one of the richest in natural resources of any part of North America. We are one of the great concentrating and distributing points of this section.

The above illustration shows how attractive a small house can be made though severely plain in outline and detail. The "L" shaped plan adds to the elongated effect of the exterior and the porch and bay window give relief to the otherwise monotonous surfaces. The exterior is treated in stucco, over metal laths on frame construction. The porch floor is of cement, the whole treatment having little exterior wood finish.

The plans show a cozy, compact little home, one "just big enough for two," with rooms for guest and servant. The living room is an especially attractive apartment, whose features are the; sunny bay and the deep-tiled ingle nook, with fireplace and seat. The dining room is of good size and conveniently connected to the kitchen through a fully equipped pantry. The kitchen is well ventilated and has convenient connections to all parts of the house. The rear entry combines with the cellar stairs and entrance and passage to front hall, and is a most compact feature.

The stairs and second story have an attractive landing, and are easy of ascent.

The second story plan and its attractive features speak for themselves. Large, light and airy bedrooms, good closets and a roomy bathroom always appeal to the home builder. The attic is left unfinished.

A home finished as above described, with hot water heat and plumbing, full basement and good grade of finish, would cost to build in Duluth or vicinity, $5,000.

being the westernmost point of deep water navigation on the Great Lakes. In point of tonnage we are the third largest seaport in the world today.

"2. We are rapidly becoming one of the greatest railroad centers of the country, having ten railroads and more coming in the immediate future.

"3. On account of our transportation facilities our wholesale business is growing very rapidly. We will be one of the greatest wholesale points in the country.

"4. A great water power right at our door, which can be developed to thousands of horse power. This will undoubtedly have a great bearing on the manufacture of iron and steel here.

"5. The immense iron ore deposits, which are the backbone of the United States Steel corporation. New ore bodies will undoubtedly be discovered in Minnesota.

"6. The United States Steel corporation is building an immense steel plant at Duluth. This is the coming Pittsburg of the country, on account of having the iron mines at our doors, and because we are the greatest distributing point in the country for the Southwest, West and Northwest.

"There is food for thought in this for any Duluthian who is dissatisfied with business conditions at home. I would rather have my property holdings at the Head of the Lakes, considering values and future, than any other city of its size in the country."

• • •

The announcement that two fine new residences would soon be under course of construction in the East end, the beginning of work on the Levine hotel, the beginning of work on the new office building at Second avenue west and Superior street, and the many transfers of suburban property have been the features of this week's real estate situation.

The inquiry is becoming steadily greater, and real estate men say they are experiencing a rushing business, after a season of comparative quiet.

Lots on the hill are in better demand than in years. While some years ago this property was in no demand, the inquiry has steadily increased until now the trading done is largely in these lots. Many are anxious to get located within walking distance of the city and as the lower streets are fairly well built up, the purchaser must necessarily go further up the hill. The lots in this part are now held at a reasonable figure, and according to the dealers, at a figure which will be laughed at two years hence.

Property in Duluth Heights is still on the move. This part of town appeals to those who wish cheap residence property, where they may buy more land for less money. Many have the farm idea on a small scale tucked away in their heads, and to those who wish to have a family cow and a few chickens Duluth Heights property appeals very strongly.

The movement on Park Point, at West Duluth, Fond du Lac, Lakeside, Woodland and other suburbs, is satisfactory and the dealers declare that the market is healthy and the business conditions satisfactory.

• • •

Contractors are as busy as are the architects, and are over their heads in work.

The movement of houses is general this spring. All over the city it seems to be house-moving time, and the contractors engaged in this sort of work say they have contracts which will keep them busy all summer. The Miller house, which occupied a site on West Second street for years and was finally crowded out by the erection of the new St. Louis county courthouse, has been divided into two sections and is well on its way to its new location on Twenty-third avenue east.

• • •

Work on the site of the new Park Point hockey rink and ball park will be commenced some time within a month, according to advices from the office of Little & Nolte.

This firm is handling the property for J. J. Desmond and his associates. They have nearly seven acres and the work will begin as soon as the council condemns a corner of the street which is required to make the park ground complete.

The filling in will begin first, and when this is done the park will be much larger than stated above. Several companies are figuring the job, the contract for which will be let soon.

The park will cost close to $50,000, according to the figures presented by the realty company. Whether or not a hockey rink will be installed the first year or not is largely problematical.

When completed, the park will be one of the best in the West, and the owners declare that expense will not be spared to make it so.

• • •

One of the largest deals in residence property made in Duluth in several months, was the sale this morning of the Henry Fee house at the corner of Twenty-third avenue east and Third street to J. H. Hearding of Eveleth.

The sale was made through the office of Whitney Wall, and the price paid was $25,000. The property is 90 by 159 feet on the corner, which is one of the finest residence sites in the East end.

It is understood that about $8,000 of the price represented the ground value. The house is a new one, having been completed but two or three years. It is thoroughly modern in every respect.

Mr. Hearding will occupy the residence in the near future, moving here from Eveleth to take the position of assistant manager of the Oliver Mining company.

• • •

J. B. McCloud, who recently opened a real estate office at 310-11 Burrows building, reports the sale of a brick building on the northeast corner of London road and Fourteenth avenue east, for Fulton & Gall to Thomas Kearney, the well-known lumberman of Winton, Minn., for a consideration of $7,100, and reports also earnest money on several other deals for people who are looking for Duluth real estate.

DREDGE DITCH IS UNPOPULAR

Norman County May Appeal to Courts to Change Work.

Ada, Minn., May 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers residing along the course of County Ditch No. 38, which is now under construction in Halstad township, are opposed to the methods employed by the contractor, John L. Baker, who is digging the ditch with a dredge machine.

They base their protest on the fact that this method of digging results in leaving a straight bank and that the cave-in of the dirt will cause the ditch to fill in and rather than the results being beneficial to those who are assessed for the ditch they will suffer irreparable damage.

The original specifications were for a ditch six feet wide at the bottom with a width of from twenty-four to thirty feet at the top. The dredge digs a ditch sixteen feet wide at both the top and bottom, and the contractor handles considerable more dirt than the original specifications.

Those who are interested in the ditch have called in legal advice, and Attorney Vaule of Crookston has been consulting with Attorney Brattland. It is probable that suit will be brought to compel the contractors to complete the work with scrapers.

BY MEANS OF HYPNOTISM

London Lady Declares She Can Reclaim Drunkards and Criminals.

London, May 15.—Keen interest has been aroused here by the declaration of Miss Marie Thermae, a local lady, that she can reclaim the drunkards and criminals by means of auto-suggestion, or hypnotism. She claims already to have cured a number of habitual drunkards and slaves to the cigarette habit. One member of a well known Liverpool family, she says, owes to her his rehabilitation, and another, who had lost his energy, and even his love for his child, is now a happy, vigorous man.

It is in realms of crime that she believes her greatest usefulness would be proved, but to that end she must have the co-operation of the authorities. The answer which the police will give to her request to be allowed to mix freely with their prisoners is awaited with intense curiosity. Miss Thermae is a refined and educated woman, and her method, she states, is to develop a wholesome faculty to counteract the influence of a criminal or harmful propensity.

ACID INTO HIS EYE.

Farmer's Wife Makes Mistake That May Cost Husband's Eyesight.

Wadena, Minn., May 15.—Eber Haight, a Becker county farmer, was struck in the eye with a twig in passing through the woods recently. He returned home immediately and asked his wife to bath the eye with an eye wash, which they had. Mrs. Haught mistook the carbolic acid bottle for the one containing the preparation for the eye and before she discovered her mistake, poured a drop of the acid into his eye. Mr. Haught came to Wadena and consulted a doctor. He is now blind in both eyes, but it is probable that his sight can be restored.

WHEAT HAS A DECLINE

Bears in Command at End of the Short Session.

Flax on Higher Level at End of the Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 15.—By the close of the short session today, the wheat market was in reaction and prices showed fractional declines from yesterday's figures.

Today, at least, statistics seemed to favor the bears, and during the last hour they managed to press the bulls sufficiently to cause drops in values in about every American market. Domestic bears were fortified by the cables, which were easier.

Liverpool closed ⅜d to ½d lower.

The May option closed ⅝c lower in Duluth, Chicago and Winnipeg, ¼c in Minneapolis, 1¼c higher in New York, ⅛c higher in St. Louis and ½c lower in Kansas City. The July option closed ⅝c lower in Duluth, Chicago and Winnipeg, ¼c lower in Minneapolis and New York, ⅛@⅜c lower in St. Louis and ¼@⅝c lower in Kansas City.

May corn closed ½c lower in Chicago and oats ⅜c lower.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The steadiness in American markets yesterday and the disappointment in American reports this week, as indicated by Bradstreet's, caused steadiness at the opening, with values about unchanged. Later, the market developed selling pressure, and values declined ⅜@⅝d from the opening, due to the increased Russian offerings and expectations of liberal shipments from there this week. The reports of rain in the principal districts of the winter wheat belt and private reports of increased acreage in the American Northwest led to further realizing, particularly in the distant months. The market, on the whole, was dull. At the close prices were ⅜@⅝d lower than Friday.

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 11 against 32 last year, and at Minneapolis 109 against 176 last year, making a total for the Northwest to 120 against 208 last year. Chicago received 5 against 21 last year. Winnipeg received 31 against 54 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 168,000 bu, last year 370,000 bu. Shipments 161,000 bu, last year 645,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 157,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 290,000 bu, last year 402,000 bu. Shipments 275,000 bu, last year 376,000 bu. There were no clearances of corn.

Wheat was quite active during the session in the Duluth market today. May wheat was active and closed at $1.25⅝, a loss of ⅝c from yesterday. July wheat opened ⅜c lower at $1.25, advanced to $1.25⅞ declined to $1.24⅝, rallied to $1.25⅞ and closed at $1.25, a loss of ⅜c from yesterday. July wheat opened ⅛c lower at $1.08⅜, advanced to $1.08⅝ and declined by the close to $1.08⅛, a loss of ⅜c from yesterday.

Durum wheat was unchanged, and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 3⅞c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax was stronger. May flax opened unchanged at $1.68⅝, advanced to $1.70 and closed there, a gain of 1⅜c over yesterday. July flax opened unchanged at $1.68⅜, advanced to $1.70 and closed there, a gain of 1⅜c over yesterday. September flax opened ⅛c lower at $1.46½, advanced to $1.47 and closed there, a gain of ⅜c over yesterday. October flax opened unchanged at $1.40⅜, advanced to $1.41⅛ and closed at $1.41⅜, a gain of ⅜c over yesterday.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Rally Takes Place Early Despite Depressing Influences.

Chicago, May 15.—Favorable weather conditions generally for the fall-sown crop of wheat in this country were not the only bearish factors which traders in the wheat pit had to reckon with during early trading today. An unofficial estimate on the world's shipments for the week placed the amount at above 10,000,000 bu of which amount Russia alone shipped more than 3,500,000 bu. Notwithstanding these depressing influences, the market rallied materially early in the day and regained almost completely an opening decline of 1,@⅞c to ⅞@⅞c. Some of the leading commission houses were active buyers. July, which opened at $1.12⅞ to $1.13, advanced to $1.13⅝.

The market turned weak again in the last half of the session on quite general selling, July declining to $1.12⅝. The close was weak, with July off ⅜c at $1.13@1.13⅛.

Corn was weak, owing to considerable selling pressure by prominent commission houses. Talk of more liberal receipts next week helped to depress prices. July opened ⅛c to ⅜c lower, at 68⅝c to 68¾c, and sold off to 68⅜c.

The market was weak all day, due partly to a decline of 1c in the cash grain, which was in very poor demand. The low point for July was 68⅛c. The close was weak at the bottom, with July off ⅞c at 68¾c.

Improved outlook for the new crop caused liberal selling of September oats early in the day, resulting in considerable weakness, many stop-loss orders coming out on the decline. July opened ⅝@⅞c lower at 51⅝@51¾c and sold at 51⅜@51⅝c.

Provisions opened fairly steady, but eased off early in the day because of realizing sales. Prices at the opening were 2½c lower to 5c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 15.—Local stocks decreased 769,846 bu for the week. For one day of the new week there was a decrease of 125,000 bu. Cables were lower, weather was ideal and crops were favorable. Lack of offerings made the market firm in the face of this bearish news. The market was a little weaker at the close, being only ⅛c above the opening. Minneapolis today received 108 cars against 176; Duluth, 11 against 32; Winnipeg, 31 against 54. September opened $1.07⅞; high, $1.08⅜@1.08¼; low, $1.07⅜@1.07½; close, $1.07½. July opened $1.25⅛; high, $1.26; low, $1.25⅛; close, $1.25¼. Cash wheat was a little easier today. The better grades had a strong demand, but the lower stuff met with a light inquiry. No. 1 northern sold for 3½@4½c over the July option, and No. 2 northern for 1½c over. No. 1 northern, spot and to arrive, $1.28½@1.28; No. 2 northern, $1.26@1.27, spot and to arrive; No. 3 wheat, $1.24½@1.26; No. 3 yellow corn, 73¾@74¼c; No. 4 white oats, 55⅞@56⅝; No. 2 rye, 83⅜@85½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,437 tons. Demand continued strong and far in excess of the supply. No change was reported in the strong situation, and millers do not look for any let up in near future. Shipments were light and prices steady. Bran in bulk, $24@24.50.

Flax receipts, 1 car today, against 12; shipments, 1. Lack of offerings made the market inactive. Prices were quoted 1c over the Duluth July option, closing price, $1.70¾.

Barley receipts, 15 cars today, against 12; shipments, 3. Demand was easier today and offerings did not meet with a ready sale. Several cars were carried over. Inquiry for feeding grades was slow. Close, 46@59c.

Rye was in fair demand, reported the big local millers, and country millers said it was inclined to be slow. A better inquiry is expected, though, on account of the low stocks. Shipments increased and prices held firm. Shipments, 51,895 barrels. First patents, $6.10@6.30; second patents, $6.00@6.20; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.35@3.55.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 15.—Harrett & Zimmerman report: Market less active than yesterday with movement confined to orders from local commercial interests who are buying both draft and delivery horses to meet the requirements of the spring trade. Good well-broke family drivers and pairs for children command considerable attention. A number of railroad contractors were about the market looking for horses, which they will need when contracts are awarded on lots now in. Mules are less active than last week.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Transactions Were Very Scanty and Price Changes Slight.

Rise in Consolidated Gas and Union Pacific Only Features.

New York, May 15.—In only a few cases were opening prices of stocks changed more than ⅛ from those of last night. The majority of stocks were unchanged. There were large fractional declines in Erie and Consolidated Gas and advances of a point in Erie first preferred and of ¾ in Illinois Central. The transactions were very scanty.

Some improvement in prices brought about realizing sales again, but the fluctuations in either direction were not noteworthy in the leading stocks. St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred and American Tobacco preferred advanced 1. Federal Mining lost 2, Chicago & Alton and Southern Pacific preferred 1¾ and Third Avenue 1½.

The market closed heavy and dull. A rise of 1⅛ in Consolidated Gas and in Union Pacific were the only features of the trading, which was almost idle.

Copper Stock Brokers.

SATURDAY, MAY 15, 1909.

Every bit of news received from Butte only gives us more encouragement on the Butte-Alex Scott proposition. We have one of the best mines on Butte hill and another above the Butte & Superior on the big Rainbow lead on the Little Annie. They have 1,500 feet of the big Rainbow lead and the Goldsmith is nicking right up to our property. One carload of ore shipped by the Butte-Montana company from the Little Annie gave them $1,300 net for one car. Do not overlook the fact that the Little Annie is also a proven property on which a great amount of work has been done. It will not be long before the Butte-Alex Scott Copper company begin developments on a large scale on this mine. In other words we have them coming and going. The Scott has some of the richest veins opened up on Butte hill, and the Little Annie has 1,500 feet of the mother lode of the Butte camp. Buy Scott with every dollar you can beg or borrow for it is the best buy of them all, and today is selling for almost six times less than the Butte & Superior, or the Ballaklava mines. Either of these are no bigger, but do not forget they are two of the best properties now before the public.

Ballaklava is one of the best purchases on the board and you all know that in my advertisements I have always stated if Butte & Superior, or the Big Rainbow lead then look out, for it would be one of the biggest in Butte. Few of you realize what the Rainbow lead is like. Why boys in fact it is almost 200 feet wide. Stop and think what this means if big bodies of copper are opened up in such a ledge, and that is why Capt. Dawson we Butte always said we were overlooking the Little Annie with almost as much of the Rainbow lead as the Butte & Superior mine. The following is a message from Mr. Dawson yesterday:

"Butte, Montana, May 14.—Just through mine, looks good, unloading new engine today. Four hundred tons of ore on dockpile ready to ship. Average 6 per cent. Raise on twelve hundred in the ore, face in drift looks good. No doubt Little Annie will be as big a mine as Black Rock on same ledge.

"(Signed) W. J. DAWSON."

With our own private wire connections with New York, Boston and the copper countries of Michigan, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and Mexico, we are the best equipped to give you quick executions on all the leading local stocks of any brokerage house in the city.

HEROINE HONORED

King Victor Bestows Orders on Queen Amelie of Portugal.

Lisbon, May 17.—King Manuel has bestowed upon Queen Amelie, widow of King Carlos the decorations of three orders for heroism displayed by her majesty on the occasion of the assassination of her husband and son in February, 1908. The orders are the Order of Christ, the Order of Santiago and the Military Order of Saint Benoit d'Aviz.

The decree recites that after King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz had been shot dead, the queen, with noble courage and maternal instinct, flung herself in front of her son, Manuel, and endeavored to thrust aside the weapon of Costa levelled at him. Her escape was remarkable. The bullet struck her corsage, was deflected, and grazed the fore arm of the prince. The cabinet has given its unanimous approval to these decorations never before conferred upon a woman.

His majesty has also decorated the policeman who shot Buissa, the man who killed the king, with the Order of the Tower and the Sword. This decoration gives the recipient the rank of an officer and entitles him to a royal pension.

Washington, May 17.—"I am not a protectionist in spots," said Mr. Sutherland of Utah today in beginning an address in support of the tariff bill as reported by the finance committee and in opposition to the addition of an income tax provision.

LOG DRIVING SEASON IS ON

The log driving season is now on, and thousands of men are gathered at the head waters of the Penobscot and other rivers, ready to start the logs down the waterways to the pulp and lumber mills. In addition to the logs cut this season, a large quantity of lumber cut last year and left in the woods on account of the inert market will be brought down.

CARNEGIE SEES KING

Czar of Russia Reported Planning to Extend Trip.

Rome, May 17.—Andrew Carnegie was received in audience by King Victor Emmanuel today. He was presented by Senator Cappellini of the University of Bologna, to which institution his majesty sent the model of a rare prehistoric animal presented him by Mr. Carnegie.

In the course of his conversation the king expressed his appreciation of this gift and showed great interest and knowledge in Mr. Carnegie's beneficences. It was the intention of the Duke of Aosta also to receive Mr. Carnegie today, but this was impossible, owing to the illness of the duke.

Although no official announcement has yet been made, there is reason to believe that the emperor of Russia, after calling at Brest, will continue his voyage around Spain and Portugal, through the Straits of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean to an Italian port to visit King Victor Emmanuel. It is said, also, that from Italy the emperor will go to Constantinople and return home via the Black sea.

The interview between the king and Mr. Carnegie lasted nearly half an hour. Carnegie, who has not been in Italy for fifteen years, congratulated his majesty on the progress of the country and its financial prosperity. He spoke of the transformation of Rome, which, he said, was becoming a second Paris, but still preserving her wonderful and glorious monuments of the past that recall her to all the world as the mother of present civilization.

WOMAN REPORTER AND HER SON TO WALK OVER FOUR HUNDRED MILES

Traverse City, Mich., May 17.—What is probably the longest walk ever taken by a woman since pioneer days is being planned by Mrs. Stella M. Champney, reporter on the Traverse City Evening Record. With her 15-year-old son, Don O. Champney, who is attending school at Oberlin, Ohio, she will walk from Oberlin to Traverse City in June. The distance is more than 400 miles. The mother will join her son at the close of the school year, and the start home will be about June 15. No attempt will be made to make a record time, their object being to see as much of the country as possible en route. It is estimated that the trip will consume about twenty-one days. Very little in the way of baggage will be carried by the wayfarers. Each will carry a knapsack containing only the barest necessities, and an umbrella and a camera will complete the equipment.

SINK HOLES NUMEROUS

Contractors Have About Twenty Repair Jobs on Hands.

The expected has happened, and much trouble is being experienced with the filling over sewers laid late last fall and during the early winter. The earth is settling now with every rain, causing big sink holes to appear in different streets in the various parts of the city where sewers were laid during the cold weather.

About twenty sewers were constructed during November, December and January. This is probably the largest number ever built in Duluth in the winter. City Engineer McGilvray warned property owners in every instance that the work would prove unsatisfactory, being done at that time of the year, and predicted the very trouble that is occurring now. The trouble is not so serious but what it can be remedied, however, and contractors are being directed to go ahead with repair work immediately.

It is not considered advisable to lay sewers while freezing weather prevails, for the reason that it is impossible to make satisfactory filling with frozen earth. The frozen clumps lie together very loosely, and only about one-half as much earth can be put back in a trench as was taken out. This is all right during the winter, as long as the ground remains frozen, but in the spring, when the frost leaves and the rain comes, the earth begins to settle, and it isn't long before a series of holes in the street mark the new sewer trenches. Then it becomes necessary to put in new filling.

Every day complaints are coming into the engineer's office on account of this trouble, and one man is kept busy going around to the contractors and ordering them to make the necessary fills. This work is paid for by the contractor himself, for there is a clause in his contract where he guarantees his work for a period of six months following the construction of the sewer. If he refuses to repair the damage, when it is pointed out to him by the city engineering department, the city goes ahead with the work and charges the cost to the contractor.

The fact that such an unusually large number of sewers were built last fall and winter made it necessary for the city engineer to keep an unusually large force of men employed to look after the work, and the consequence was a sadly depleted fund when the spring work opened up. If the city council had not come to Mr. McGilvray's rescue with an additional appropriation, he would have had insufficient funds with which to conduct his department during the remainder of the year.

SMITH HEARING IS POSTPONED

Plaintiffs Claiming the Land Was Worth Nearly $100,000.

The hearing in the case of Hansen E. Smith against Thomas Merritt and others has been continued until June 1. Judge W. D. Edson, special master in the United States court for the taking of testimony in this action, will be out of the city for a time and it was thought best to postpone the hearing until it can be finished without interruption.

Marcus L. Fay, who is thoroughly familiar with land values on the Mesaba range, was a witness for the plaintiffs Saturday afternoon. The plaintiffs state in their complaint that the land was worth approximately $100,000 and Mr. Fay's testimony tended to substantiate the claim.

The testimony of John P. Hoffman showed that in his opinion the land was worth $15,000 to $50,000. Mr. Hoffman has made frequent attempts to buy land in the vicinity of the property in dispute, and based his figures on his personal experiences.

The action is one to have title to certain Mesaba lands in the vicinity of Buhl set aside as in defraud of the creditors of the Merchants bank. The plaintiffs are trying to show that the trustee in bankruptcy and the defendant purchasers of the land acted in collusion, and also to establish a value so far in excess of the actual sale price that the element of fraud will be patent to the court.

The defendants deny both fraud and collusion, and allege that they had no knowledge or information at the time of sale that the land was of greater value than represented by the sum paid for it.

New Automobile Tire to Prevent Slipping.

To prevent skidding or side-slipping on wet pavements and muddy roads, one of the automobile manufacturers has recently perfected a tire on which there are coils of heavy steel piano wire incorporated in the thread. This does not in any way affect the resiliency of the tire, and the metal coming in contact with the pavement gives a grip to the tire. When taking a long automobile trip, there is nothing that refreshes a person more than a glass of Golden Grain Belt beer. See that you are supplied with a case. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth branch, Minneapolis Brewing company.

A motion made by Mrs. Theresa Thiel, asking that the divorce proceedings brought against her by her husband, Carl Thiel, be stricken from the calendar, was granted at the special term of district court held Saturday.

The grounds on which Mrs. Thiel asked to have the proceedings stricken were that the case was improperly placed on the calendar; that no notice of the trial had been served, and that the cause is triable at the county seat of St. Louis county and at no other place.

HAMALAINEN CASE DISMISSED

Aho's Partner is Free for Lack of Evidence.

The case of the State against Emil Hamalainen, who was supposed to have been an accomplice of Hjalmar Aho in the robbery of a fellow workman on lower Lake avenue last fall, was this morning dismissed on account of insufficient evidence.

Aho stood trial before Judge Dibell in the district court last week, and was found not guilty by the jury. Aho was suposed to be at the head of the robbery and as he was found not guilty it was thought best to dismiss the case against his partner.

RAILROADS

New Train Service.

Circulars received by the Northern Pacific railway today, give information regarding the new train service that will be inaugurated by that railroad, May 23.

Train No. 1, the North Coast Limited, the crack train of the Northern Pacific, will leave St. Paul at 11 a. m. It will be composed of a mail car, baggage car, diner, three sleeping cars, an observation, and a parlor car.

Train No. 3 will leave St. Paul at 10:15. This train goes via Helena. The train will be made up of a mail car, baggage car, smoker, day coach, tourist car, diner, and five sleeping cars.

Train No. 5, via Helena, the Exposition Special, will be composed of baggage car, smoker, chair car, tourist car, diner and five sleeping cars. This train will leave St. Paul at 9:15 a. m.

This service is changed to meet the heavier traffic that will result from the Seattle exposition. All of the coast trains of the Northern Pacific will be lighted throughout by electricity.

Cheap Rates to West.

Next Thursday the cheap rates to the West will become effective upon all of the Duluth roads. Inquiry today among the Duluth railroad offices doing business to the Pacific coast or to the Western country, either over their own lines or over connecting lines, brought out the fact that never before in the history of Duluth traffic has there been such a heavy inquiry for tickets.

Both the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern passenger offices have been in receipt of constant inquiries regarding the time of the sale of the tickets and the prices. The Northwestern railroad also reports an unprecedented inquiry.

It is not that these inquirers are all going to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, say the railroad passenger officials, but hundreds of people from Duluth and the surrounding territory are going West to look over the possibilities of the country.

FIND BODY OF BOY SUPPOSEDLY KIDNAPED.

Newark, Ohio, May 17.—The body of John Altmeyer, 6 years of age, who was thought to have been kidnaped, was found in the river today.

Shortly after the disappearance of the boy Friday, John Altmeyer, who is a locomotive engineer, thought the boy had been kidnaped. The police were notified, but secured no tidings from the missing boy, and it was believed he had been stolen, but not for ransom.

Recently there have been many gypsies in the neighborhood, who are traveling toward Columbus, where there is to be a gathering of their race. The whole community was aroused and searching parties started out in every direction. Many gypsy camps were visited but nothing could be found of the boy. A Wild West show which had given an exhibition here last Friday was followed, and every wagon, tent and car was searched.

MILLER HAS NOT CHANGED

Says Stand on Lumber Tariff Is Still the Same.

Congressman Clarence B. Miller says that he has not changed his attitude upon the question of the lumber tariff. He is, according to his statement today, in favor of the removal of the tariff upon lumber, and believes that the majority of the people in the Eighth congressional district are with him in his stand.

Congressman Miller was in conference with the lumbermen who met in the office of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company, Saturday afternoon. At that meeting he gave the lumbermen present his exact views upon the tariff question. The petition of the lumbermen of the Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin lumber district will have no effect upon his stand, according to a statement made to The Herald this morning.

No more meetings of the lumbermen interested in the tariff question will be held, according to a statement given out at the office of the Rainy Lake company. Data and statistics will be collected and sent to Washington. Whether these statistics, applying to the output of lumber in the district about Duluth, will be sent to Washington in time to be of any value in the present lumber agitation, is a matter of doubt.

Congressman Miller takes the stand that the removal of the tariff upon lumber will not hurt the interests of this district, while it will help the working man and the builders of homes.

SIX MURDER SUSPECTS HELD AND MUCH WANTED MAN CAUGHT AT SAXON

Strong Suspicion Against Fugitive Caught at Saxon.

Little Evidence Against the Other Six Prisoners.

Acting on information furnished by J. L. Lambert, a switchman in the employ of the North-Western road at Itasca, Officer Braue of the Superior police department, this morning, arrested in Saxon, Wis., a man whom the police believe to be the murderer of Rudolph Nelson, the Superior school boy, who was shot down Friday evening, while returning from school.

Mr Lambert claims to have had a conversation with a suspicious-looking character, bearing a fresh cut over his left eye, who was somewhat excited and who seemed to be bent on getting out of Superior, shortly after the time that the murder was committed. He told Lambert that he lived in Jackson, Mich., and that he was beating his way home. He took the South Shore "blind baggage" eastbound out of Itasca that evening.

Paid Fine in Superior.

He told Lambert that he had had trouble in Brainerd and that in Superior he had been forced by the police to pay for a window he had broken Thursday on Tower avenue. Investigation by the police reveals that a man answering the same description had been arrested Thursday by Officer Braue on the charge of breaking a store window. He raised enough money by pawning a 32-caliber automatic revolver to pay for the glass, and was released.

The revolver was redeemed Friday morning. When Lambert's story was told the police they at once wired the man's description to points along the South Shore road. Word was received this morning that the man was believed to be in Saxon. The party under suspicion at that place had come in on the blind baggage and his personal description tallied closely with that furnished by the Superior police.

Officer Braue left at once for Saxon, with the result that the man was arrested and will be brought to Superior, arriving at 6.30 this evening. Saxon is a small station on the North-Western and South Shore lines, 104 miles east of Duluth.

Six Men Held.

Six men are held at the Superior police headquarters as suspects. The police are holding the prisoners with the hope of "sweating" out of them some information which would put them on the right trail of the murderer. The two men arrested Saturday, Sam Jones and Emil Antell, have failed to tell the police why it was, if they passed near where the boy was murdered late Friday afternoon, they did not hear the shots or see any trace of the crime.

The two other suspects arrested Saturday night by the authorities have given a fairly good account of themselves, but are still being held for further examination. Yesterday two more suspicious-looking characters were jailed by the police. Charles Saboliski and Paul Libpitz. The former was arrested at South Range and the latter at Solon Springs. Both resisted arrest, and deny any connection with the murder.

The suit case of the murdered boy was found about 100 feet away from where his body had been tossed into the muddy ditch. It had been opened but its contents were not disturbed. This gives color to the theory that the fugitive must have started back in the direction of Itasca.

The funeral of Young Nelson is being held this afternoon from the Swedish Lutheran church. The coroner's jury viewed the remains this morning and the inquest will be conducted tomorrow.

CHARLES SEBOLSKI, ALIAS FRANK RADINIS, AND PAUL LIBBITZ
Two of the Suspects Held on the Charge of Murder. There Is Little Evidence Against Either Man.

WEST END NEWS

NORWEGIANS CELEBRATE

Stirring Seventeenth of May Program Given at Lincoln Park.

Many Patriotic Norsemen Pay Glowing Tribute to Their Fatherland.

Today is the anniversary of Norway's independence, and it is being celebrated in nearly every community in the United States where people of Norwegian birth reside.

In 1814 Norway shook off Denmark's yoke, and on the 17th day of May of that year a constitution was adopted and the independence of the nation established as Sweden recognized the new constitution.

Duluth Norwegians held a celebration yesterday afternoon in the Lincoln park pavilion. The weather was ideal and many families had picnics in the park and went to the celebration in the afternoon.

About every seat in the big building was taken, and the audience applauded enthusiastically the Norwegian airs given by talented singers, and the Norwegian sentiments, expressed for the most part in that tongue, by a brilliant array of speakers.

John Heitman was master of ceremonies, and he delivered the opening address, in which he referred to the significance of the celebration in the eyes of the Norwegians. His opening remarks were followed by a stirring patriotic number by the Normanna male chorus, which had the arrangement of yesterday's exercises in charge.

Mayor Haven Speaks.

Mr. Heitman then introduced Mayor Roland D. Haven. The mayor paid a neat tribute to the Norwegian people, referring to them as the finest type of patriots and a credit to Norway and the United States, the land of their adoption.

"A patriotism such as this insures the prosperity and eminence of this nation," said Mr. Haven. "It is very fitting and proper that there should be celebrations of this kind. There is nothing that more appeals to mankind than the tie of home. I trust the time will never come when any one of us forgets our home land. America is so constituted that for most of us our patriotism must embrace two countries. There are very few, comparatively in this section of the country, who have not either came from a foreign country or from some other part of the United States.

The mayor's address was followed by another number by the male chorus and a violin solo by Oliver Colbentson. Both numbers were enthusiastically received.

A. J. Reckne of Zumbrota, who was speaker of the house of representatives during the last session of the state legislature, was to have been the next speaker, but at the last moment he sent word that business made it impossible for him to be present.

Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church in the West end, was called upon to take Mr. Reckne's place on the program, which he did most ably. Mr. Gladsen recited an original poem on Norway, which elicited much applause.

Miss Alice Sjoselius sang a solo, Ole Bull's "Paa solen jeg ser." She was obliged to respond to an encore.

The male chorus sang again, and Mr. Colbentson gave another violin solo, the accompaniment being furnished by Walter Smith.

Prof. Wilhelm Petterson of the Augsberg Lutheran seminary, Minneapolis, was the next speaker. Prof. Petterson's talk was upon the significance of the seventeenth day in Norwegian history, and the feelings of the Norwegians in this country upon the date.

C. B. Miller Speaks.

Clarence B. Miller, member of congress from this district, was the next speaker. He spoke in glowing terms of the patriotism of the Norwegian people, and the place they have won for themselves in the history of the world.

"The Scandinavian races, said the speaker, had contributed greatly to the cause of freedom and liberal government, from the time of the hardy Vikings up to the present date. He handings up to the present date. He handed a bouquet to Senator Knute Nelson, whom he described as one of the country's great stalwarts continually in the forefront of the battle for industrial and political progress, and a leader in the fight for the real people of the country.

At the conclusion of Congressman Miller's address, the male chorus contributed another stirring chorus, and the program concluded with the singing of "America" by the entire audience. There will be a grand ball in the Lincoln park pavilion in honor of the occasion, and the Viking Social club will give a dancing party in Columbia hall. The arrangements are in charge of K. L. Fenney, J. C. Wesenberg and Olaf Siverson.

HURLED BALL THROUGH CAR

Flying Glass Just Misses Motorman and Passengers.

A baseball hurled through the windows in the front end of a Seventy-first avenue west car on the West Third street car line about 10:30 this morning narrowly missed hitting the motorman and two other passengers in the front end of the car.

The accident happened as the car was pulling up the grade on Piedmont avenue, almost directly in front of the West end fire hall No. 2. A number of young men were trying their speed and one twirled the ball across the street just in time to send it through the car windows. The ball broke one of the windows and passed through the other which was open at the time. No one was hurt.

WILL CONSIDER PAVING MATTER

The Garfield Avenue Property Owners Will Hold a Meeting.

Garfield avenue property owners will hold a meeting at the Commercial club Wednesday evening with the mayor and city attorney, as well as representatives of the business interests present, to discuss the improvement of the avenue.

There is a hesitancy on the part of some of the property owners to stand their share of the expense. All they are asked to pay is one-quarter of the cost of the improvement, while the city pays one-half, and private business interests pay the other one-quarter.

It is understood that this is the only basis upon which the paving can be laid, and there is said to be no possible chance of the property owners getting any better terms. Unless the pavement is laid this year, the legislative act making it possible for the city to issue a special bond issue will be void.

TELLS STORY OF BOLD ROBBERY

Alfred Kohler Lured to St. Croix Avenue and Held Up.

Alfred Kohler, a stranger in town, told the police yesterday that, on Saturday night, he was taken to a St. Croix avenue house, by a man he had never met before, and that he was held up and robbed after his arrival at the place. He claims to have lost $1, and to have been horsewhipped in the bargain.

Kohler says he got in conversation with a man in an uptown restaurant, and that the latter offered to find him a room for the night. The two visited different rooming houses along Superior street, but found all of them full, and finally they wound up on St. Croix avenue.

"When we approached the house down there," Kohler said, "there was a crowd of fellows at the door, and when I went up the steps they asked me what I wanted there. I told them I was looking for a room, but one of them grabbed me and charged me with being a spotter. Then they told me to put up my hands, saying they wanted to see if I had a gun. They went through my pockets, and one of them, I do not know which one, took $4, which I had in one pocket. Then they told me to go, and gave me a shove up the street. I asked for my money back, but didn't get it.

"One of the crowd, who carried a whip, and who appeared to be the driver of a hack, which stood near, started to whip me. I told them I would go if they would let me, and when I was released I ran for an officer."

Patrolman Westerlund accompanied Kohler to the house, but there was no sign of the man's assailants, although the hack, with no driver in sight, was still standing where it was before. No arrests were made.

FIRED HIS GUN AND SAVED LIFE

Special Officer Has New Way of Preventing Suicide.

If you want to keep a man from committing suicide, shoot at him. This is the advice of Special Officer Wahlstrom, who is employed at the scrap iron yards, located on the lake front and Second avenue east.

About 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning the officer saw a man about to jump into the lake from the breakwater. He was too far away to prevent the act by laying his hands on the stranger, so pulled his revolver and fired in the air. The would-be suicide turned and ran up the track.

In the uncertain light Wahlstrom could not make out details of the man's appearance, but saw him, standing on the breakwater, remove his coat, hat and shoes. Then he stood up and poised a moment as if to leap. At this point Wahlstrom fired twice, and the stranger, picking up his hat, coat and shoes, ran up the railroad track away from the lake as fast as he could go.

FESTIVAL SOLOISTS.

Prominent Singers to Appear at Lyceum.

Four distinguished vocal soloists are accompanying the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra for the May festival in the city. The engagement of these four voices enables the orchestra in its concerts to command vocal material that will cover absolutely the concert, oratorio and operatic fields of song as well as to answer practically all the solo demands made by the world's great choral works. Every solo, and nearly every duet, trio and quartette ever written comes within the scope of these four voices, which may be called the cardinal voices of musical literature. Each of the four singers will be heard during the festival in solos with the orchestra as well as in ensemble numbers written for two, three or four voices. The soprano is Miss Louise Ormsby of New York, for a long time soloist in St. Bartholomew's church, one of the most prominent and fashionable churches of the metropolis. Among a list of fifty or more important engagements filled by Miss Ormsby this season, and extending from Boston to Denver, may be mentioned those in Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Chicago, Worcester, Mass.; Albany, Buffalo, Baltimore, Halifax, Pittsburg and Richmond, Va.

Miss Esther May Plumb, the contralto, is a young singer who is rapidly coming into the recognition and appreciation which her great gifts and abilities render her due. Her voice is a dramatic contralto of great richness and wide range, which combined with innate musical feeling and unusual temperamental qualities, is placing her among the leading singers of the country.

Little need be said in praise of Garnett Hedge, the Chicago tenor, for he is not only well and favorably known throughout the West by his repeated and frequent concert and recital engagements, but he accompanied the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra on its spring festival tour one year ago, and created an impression deep and well marked to have been forgotten.

Arthur Middleton of Chicago has been repeatedly called by ardently enthusiastic critics the greatest bass singer in America. His voice is one of dramatic splendor and of great fullness and richness. He sings also with rehearkable intelligence, and in such matters as interpretation, phrasing, and the right use of tone color he excels.

FULLER SKIRTS

Are a Feature of the Summer Styles.

The summer tailleur shows a decided backsliding on the questions of the plaited skirt. One can coax a narrow skimpy jupon to act gracefully if it is long and sinuous and snake-like. But when it is short and scant and catches one at the ankles when one walks, and draws up above the shoe-tops when one sits still, it can hardly be considered a great success, writes Mrs. Simcox in the Delineator.

Even the French woman, the most unblushing follower of extreme styles, hesitates at a two-yard skirt for her trotting-suit and adds a plait or two here and there.

The new plaited skirts, as I told you last month, are mounted on the deep yoke vicariously named Merovingian, medieval, or Renaissance. It is a most becoming style, and not in the least bizarre and exaggerated. The waistline in most of these moyenage skirts is in its normal position or perhaps an inch or two above it.

The change of a fuller, softer type of skirt was very well-timed. The smart sheath of last winter would hardly have proved feasible for unlined dresses of soft, gauzy materials, such as we wear for a good part of the summer. Foulards and veilings—the two most run-after materials of the season—would have had a sorry time of it with the narrow skirt.

As it is, they are enjoying the heyday of their popularity in the early summer dresses. One frock of the new genre in coin-spotted foulard that I put in the shop window a week or so ago met with such immediate success that for a time it looked as if there would be difficulty in finding enough dotted silk to satisfy the women who wanted exact copies of the little dress. It really was a charming combination of gray and white foulard with a deep watermelon pink chiffon chemisette. It was a very simple gown, with almost no trimming at all on the bodice save a narrow collar of the foulard defining the neck opening and a bit of opalescent beadwork in pink and gold introduced in small flat panels.

The skirt had the moyenage yoke cut in deep points at the front and back and shallower ones just at the hips. Across the front the skirt was perfectly plain, but at the sides there were a few narrow plaits scarcely apparent in the soft, shifting shadows of the foulard. One had to look twice to be sure they were there, for only the slight graceful undulation of the skirt at the hem gave any hint of their existence.

UNIQUE CARD PARTY.

Guests to Be Masked Entire Evening.

For the hostess whose house is not large enough for her to give a masquerade ball there is the masquerade card party, which many people consider to be even more fun. The guests may wear fancy costumes or they may wear dominos, but all should be required to wear masks.

When the guests have all arrived they should be given placards with numbers on them, which they should wear around their necks much after the fashion of the "Pity the blind" signs.

Part of the evening should be spent in playing cards, and instead of writing their names on the score cards the guests should write their numbers.

No end of fun will be provided in tyring to guess who the different ones are, and it increases the excitement if the guests do not know who their partners are even.

Just before supper the guests should be given cards on which there are numbers to correspond with those that are on the cards that are hung around their necks.

The guests mingle together and talk to those whom they have not met during the evening, and when one person thinks he knows another he should write down that person's name opposite the number which corresponds with that on the owner's placard.

The guests then unmask, and the cards are collected after they have been corrected. To the person guessing the greatest number of people correctly a prize should be given.

A party of this kind is always successful, for it provides a vast amount of excitement and amusement to talk to one's intimate friend for five minutes before discovering his identity.

FIFTH ANNUAL PUPILS' MUSICALE
Given by pupils from the class of Miss Edna Harris at Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Wednesday evening, May 19th, at 8 o'clock. Admission free by invitation.

The Ideal Hostess.

She must make you feel individually that you are the favored guest.

She must make you feel perfectly at home.

She must see everything, and yet possess the art of seeming to see nothing.

She must never looked bored.

She must know how to keep conversation going.

She must neevr let anyone be slighted or overlooked, especially shy and unimportant guests.

She must know when to ask the amateur musician to display his or her talents.

She must remember that nothing is so tiresome—so surely death to all enjoyment—as the feeling that one is being entertained.

For a Kimona.

The ideal silk for a comfortable little morning sacque, or for a gorgeous kimona, is the wide Oriental silk which is usually sold in the art needlework or even the curtain departments of the stores.

The deep colorings of these silks and the bold, conventional and flower patterns are just barbaric enough to give the loose kimona a richly Oriental and Japanesey effect.

Such a kimona may be bound along the front edges and around the neck with plain colored silk or ribbon to match the prominent motifs in the pattern.

New Collars.

Three pretty collars are at present in vogue—one in Dutch Vandyke style, one a simple Eton and the other a deep Puritan collar, with a bow and tab ends.

Pretty colored neckwear is shown for wear with summer shirtwaists, and many young women are making up these bits of neckwear for themselves.

Two quarter-yard lengths of colored eyelet embroidery flouncing make a graceful jabot, and this is attached to the collar with a pert little bow of the eyelet embroidery over colored linen.

With white or plain colored linen or chambray blouses these eyelet embroidered and hand-worked neck dressings are extremely dainty.

THE EVENING STORY

THE SILKEN HOSE

By E. Jack Appleton.

If there was one thing that Wilson more cordially disliked than another, it was private theatricals. It is usually those who cannot act who delight in this form of amusement; and because Wilson could act, and act well, he was invariably impressed into service. He hated the work as much as a cheerful, good looking young optimist of 28 could hate anything; and for that reason when the hostess of the house party had announced at breakfast that the best thing on the program was a play for the amusement of her twenty-odd guests, Wilson had groaned in spirit and attempted to get away. But they had caught him just as he was slipping off, and now he stood in his room with an indiscriminate mass of costumes in a tumbled heap on the bed, glaring at them in a way that would have made his hostess shrink—or laugh—had she seen him.

"Cast for a matador's part," he growled, tossing the costumes to right and left, "the matador idiot who rushes onto the stage and sings thirty minutes steadily before going into the arena to kill a stuffed bull. What confounded nonsense women do think up when they haven't enough to do. I was a fool to come here; I might have known what would happen! Lovely velvet trousers, these—couldn't get into them with a shoehorn. Jacket made for a 12-year-old, and a cap like a skillet. Bah! And all the time I am to spend on this silly business might be devoted to seeing her—" He paused in his work and words at this, a pair of gaily spangled silken stockings of ridiculously small size in his hands, while an unmistakable light came into his clear gray eyes. "Dear little girl that she is," he added to himself, "if I get half a chance I am going to tell her, no matter where or when. I wonder if that wretched Grant has her heart, or is there still a chance for me?" As he spoke he thrust one hand into the top of the dainty hose and spread out his fingers. "Long enough," he went on, referring to the bit of costume he held, "but a foot that—why, this is a woman's stocking, or a girl's. I suppose they mixed up these duds the last time they were used, and I—" He paused again for his hand had come in contact with a bit of folded paper, and he drew it forth with some curiosity. On a half sheet of pale blue paper these words were written in a girlish, unformed hand:

"To You Who Wears These Stockings Next: May you have as delightful an evening as I have had tonight—the best in all my life." "DOT."

Wilson smiled sarcastically at first, and then half tenderly, for there was considerable sentiment in the young man's heart, despite its well advertised hardness.

"Well, Dot Whoever-You-Are," he said aloud, "that is a pretty idea, but I fear your wish will not be granted. But, come to think of it, I can't wear a girl's stockings, and so the next wearer may—no, by Jove, I will wear them—they may bring me luck. Let me see," and gathering the dainty spangled affairs up into the form of a rosette, he pinned them on to the matador's hat. The effect pleased him.

"Just the thing—a bit of bright color and spangles," he soliloquized. "They don't betray what they are. I will wear them and perhaps the little girl's wish may come true, after all. Thank you for the suggestion, Dottie Somebody; I shall act upon it."

Then he put the school girl note into his pocket and fell to work on his costume. Half an hour later Knowlton, his best friend, found him whistling and humming as he arranged the despised costume, and that gentleman stared with open-eyed wonder.

"Wilson, are you crazy, or have you turned over a new leaf?" he asked. "To think of you being cheerful on the eve of private theatricals."

The play was over, and Wilson was going through the usual round of exaggerated congratulations and thoughtless praise, to which he had become immune. As quickly as possible he got out of his costume and grease paint; but as he was leaving the room he took one of the little stockings and slipped it into his pocket. "Your prayers are needed now, little Dot," he said softly, as he thought of the note.

As soon as he could do so Wilson got away from the gushing crowd and sought out the pretty, gentle girl whose image had been before his eyes so constantly for six months past. She was standing near the great fireplace in the dimly lighted hall, and Grant, still in his makeup of the hero of the piece, was just leaving her. For a moment Wilson's jealous heart throbbed with anger; but in the next Grant was gone, and as he came up, Miss Dell held out both hands to him.

"It was really splendid—your part," she said softly, and the voice he loved so well thrilled him more than it had ever done before.

"Then I am well repaid for my work," he answered. "Are you promised for this dance?"

"No," she answered, smilingly, as the music began and the others drifted into the ballroom, leaving them alone beside the great fire. "I prefer to sit here. These dear old wood fires are so dreamy and restful; I dearly love them."

She settled herself gracefully into the pillowed window seat and Wilson dropped upon the rug beside her. For a moment he looked, as she was doing, into the mass of twisting flames, and then, like a rush of new life, his courage came to him and he spoke:

"Dorothy, Dorothy, I love you—love you with all my heart and soul. For weeks and months I have tried to tell you so, but not until tonight have I had the courage to ask you to love me. Dearest, can you care for me—will you give me the right to win your love? Tell me beloved one, is there hope for me, or—?"

The slow, deep blush that had crept into her sweet face grew even deeper as his voice died away, and her lips parted as if she would speak, when suddenly her glance fell upon something that had slipped from Wilson's pocket as he bent forward. It was a spangled, gaily colored little stocking. Wilson stooped with a sinking heart, and picked it up. The girl bit her red lip and asked with a certain little awed surprise in her voice:

"Where did you get—that?"

"It was part of my costume," he answered, "I found it with the other things and used the pair as a rosette for my hat."

"Was that all?" she asked, thoughtfully, yet eagerly.

"Yes; except that I found a note from the little girl who wore them five years ago," he replied, "Here it is," and he handed her the bit of paper.

She read it quickly and then crushed it in her small hands.

"And did you have as good a time?" she questioned again.

"Yes," answered the other, "—until this moment. But now that I know, from your indifference, that you do not care for me,—that you cannot take me seriously, and that it is hopeless for me to love you, I cannot say that I am happy." He smiled bitterly. "Poor little girl," he added, "I fear her tailsman has lost its charm, although I prayed that it might not have done so."

The girl's golden head was bent above her little interlocked hands now, and he could not see her face. But presently she spoke and her voice thrilled every nerve in him again.

"Perhaps you are mistaken," she said, "Perhaps I do care; how do you know—"

"Dorothy. Do not play with me. Do not tantalize me with a false hope," he cried.

"It is not false," she murmured, and then she raised her face, and he saw what he had longed to see. In a moment she was in his arms, his kisses covering that lovely face, and hands, and hair.

* * *

"But, sweetheart," he asked a few minutes later, "what did you mean by asking me about the little stockings that child wore years ago?"

The long lashes drooped upon her cheeks and the soft fingers twined about his for a time. Then she answered: "You stupid boy, you. Can't you guess? It was five years ago that I took part in some private theatricals here, and in a moment of silly enthusiasm, I danced a Spanish dance and afterwards wrote the note."

ON THE IRON RANGES

TRIAL IS BEGUN OF MAKI WOMAN

Jury Secured Saturday and Evidence Is Being Offered Today.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Senia Maki of Bovey, charged with murder in the first degree, began in earnest in the district court today, a jury having been secured Saturday, and the opening statments made before court adjourned until this morning. It is alleged the woman strangled her newborn illegitimate child, in an effort to get rid of it. The case will probably take about three days for trial. C. C. McCarthy and Victor Gran are attorneys for the defendant, while Frank E. Price, the county attorney, appears for the state.

The case against Axel Pearson, charged with perjury, resulted in a disagreement the jury standing eight to four for conviction from the start, without evident hope of agreement.

Pearson was charged with having committed perjury in testifying at a preliminary examination of Haines E. Randahl in relation to a certain town order alleged to have been manipulated by Randahl as town clerk of the town of Arbo, in this county. Pearson having previously made affidavit before the town board that he had lost a town order issued to him for the purpose of having a new one issued, while his testimony on preliminary examination was that he had given Randahl authority to use the old order.

Pearson's second trial will come off some time during the present term. It is announced that the cases against Andrew H. Randahl and Haines E. Randahl, against each of whom several indictments are pending in connection with affairs in the town of Arbo, will soon be brought to trial. There has also been placed for trial at the present term an action in quo warranto to test the validity of the organization of the town of Arbo.

BREWERY COMPANY BUYS.

Virginia Concern Acquires Piece of Nashwauk Property.

Nashwauk, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The three-story frame building on the corner of Central avenue and Second street, formerly owned by a party of Chicago people was sold recently to the Virginia Brewing company of Virginia for $7,000.

The Sebeka Mercantile company now occupies the building. Oscar Johnson, proprietor of the store, expects to build a store building on Second street. He has purchased the stone foundation on a Second street lot from John Koski, on which he will erect a building.

The Epworth league gave a basket social at the Methodist church Friday evening. The league was formed two months ago and many new members have been added.

Street Commissioner Leroy O'Brien has a force of men at work grading the streets, filling the holes caused by the earth sinking over the sewer excavations.

Dan Smith, who was accused of stealing a watch from Olaf Ness here a month ago was tried at the village hall Friday night. Proof could not be found to convict Smith of the charge and the case was dismissed.

E. A. Kremer was appointed to ask the village council for aid to secure a firemen's relief association for Grand Rapids, which he did, and the council asked for more time to consider the matter.

The game up to the sixth inning was very closely contested. In that inning the big team laid down a series of bunts and these together with a couple of clouts and errors gave them the game. Score:

Eveleth, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large number of members of the local Half Moon lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and ladies of the Lily Rebecca Lodge No. 181, attended the special anniversary services last night at the First Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. C. A. Schwartz. The minister, who is also an Odd Fellow, told of the great growth of the lodge, how and why it was organized, the different orphan homes it is supporting, the lodges affiliated with it in foreign countries, how much money has been paid in and has been disbursed; the sick benefits of the order, and many statistics showing the exact increase during the life of the order. The services were greatly enjoyed.

The program follows: Organ prelude, anniversary hymn, tune "Old Hundred;" Scripture lesson; hymn, "So Let Our Lips Express," congregation; prayer of thanksgiving and supplication; hymn, "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me;" offering and announcements; offertory, "Te Deum" in C, Goold choir; anniversary sermon; hymn, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee;" benediction; organ postlude.

SERVICE INCONVENIENT.

Eveleth People Want Sunday Missabe Train Run There.

Eveleth, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many are complaining about the train service the Missabe road is giving Eveleth Sunday afternoons. At present, one can leave Duluth Sunday afternoon and go to Virginia and Hibbing, but not to Eveleth. An Eveleth man must either leave Duluth in the morning or stay till Monday morning or get off at Wolf and walk to town, four miles. Yesterday over half a dozen men had to walk into town that way, over a not altogether good road. If the Missabe road would only run the train that goes to Virginia into Eveleth first, many more Eveleth people could go home Sunday afternoon from Duluth, and the Virginia people would only be delayed a few minutes. Local people have been thinking the matter over lately and will circulate a petition asking the road to send in their Sunday afternoon train to Eveleth. This seems to be another instance where Eveleth is discriminated against by the railroad company.

GILBERT VOTE WILL BE SMALL

Probably Cast Less Than 100 Votes at Monday's Election.

Gilbert, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village election is on today.

This is the first election under the new incorporation, but the people have voted twice before for village officers. The second set they elected were not put in force, because the writ of ouster destroying the first incoropation was received just before they should have been declared in office. With the village limits, less than before, there will be considerably fewer votes. Less than 100 are expected to be polled.

A new independent candidate has come out in James Falk for trustee. He was formerly prominent in Eveleth affairs. He is now a Gilbert meat dealer.

The other candidates are: Clerk, A. Sutton of the First National bank; constable, Mike Viela, an Italian, has entered the race, and for justice of the peace George Pitsley has entered against William Trenholm, the caucus candidate.

EVELETH NINES VICTORIOUS.

Defeat Both the Virginia and the McKinley Clubs.

Eveleth, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two local amateur baseball teams went out of town yesterday afternoon, both coming back victorious. The Lyceum Stars went over to Virginia, where they met the Virginia Stars. Richards, who did the pitching for the Lyceum Stars, had the Virginia team at his mercy, and with good support would have shut them out. The game ended 19 to 8 in favor of the Eveleth team. Batteries—Virginia, Eddy and Johnson; Eveleth, Richards and Hudson.

The Independents took a short trip to McKinley to play that city team. The score was 16 to 15 in favor of the Eveleth boys. Most of the scores were made on errors and heavy hitting by the Independents. Batteries—McKinley, Stanke and Johnson; Eveleth, Corbin, Levant and Andrews.

SIX CANDLES PIERCED THE GLOOM IN THE THEATER

ACTORS AT THE BIJOU TOOK ROLES OF LAMP POSTS WHEN THE LIGHTS WENT OUT.

A vaudeville stunt that was not on the program, and that from its various viewpoints was funny, serious and embarrassing, was one of the features at the first performance at the Bijou theater Saturday night.

Just as the dark, mysterious Albini of the piercing gaze and slippery palm, was about to begin his little act of ledgerdemain the lights in the house suddenly went out.

The audience thought it was part of the act and waited to see and hear something pop out of the gloom. It did, after a time, but it was nothing more mystifying than a tallow candle held in the hand of the embarrassed Albini. He explained that the total darkness was no part of his show, and the audience good naturedly caught on. So did the other vaudeville artists and they came to his assistance.

With a 6-candle power illumination the act was carried out. It was feared that in a pitch-black house with the lights indefinitely out of order the audience might become restless, and the rear doors were opened in readiness for a rush to the street, but those present took it in good part. Occasionally a little gurgled "Oh" from some dark corner would come floating through the darkness in a feminine voice, and other innocent liberties with the occasion were taken, but the act went on without a hitch. The lights were out about fifteen minutes.

were being completed, and up to the very moment that the stools on which they were standing with the ropes around their necks were knocked out from under their feet.

Thousands Without Food.

Mersina, Asiatic Turkey, May 17.—Capt. William A. Marshall, commanding the American armored cruiser North Carolina, now in this port, has been investigating conditions. He had a conference with the governor of Adana province yesterday. As a result, full protection has been promised American interests at Adana, and guards are patrolling the American property there and elsewhere. The conditions in the refugee camps are pitiable. Many thousands of unfortunates are huddled together and lack food, shelter and medical aid. The authorities are making efforts to improve the situation and send the refugees back to their farms. Many Armenians are quartered at the American missions and most of them decline to leave because of their lack of confidence in the protection offered. The greatest danger is from epidemic in the overcrowded camps and missions. Measles and typhoid fever already exist. It is urgently necessary that the refugees dispersed as soon as possible. Money contributions are greatly needed. Capt. Marshall is sending a medical relief party up to Adana.

The North Carolina will remain here for the present.

Battleship Montana Arrives.

Alexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, May 17. —The American battleship Montana arrived here today. Alexandretta is quiet.

The Montana accompanied the North Carolina from Cuba and came to this port, while the North Carolina went to Mersina.

HAINS SENTENCED

dence and contrary to law. Justice Garretson denied these motions.

Mr. McIntyre then raised the point of jurisdiction of the supreme court over the defendant, contending that he had never been released from the jurisdiction of the federal government, and therefore the case was not properly before the court. McIntyre also stated that Dr. Brush, who had been an expert witness for the defense, had examined Capt. Hains since he was convicted and found him insane.

Justice Garretson said there was no evidence to that effect before the court, and he declined to consider the motion in regard to jurisdiction. The court clerk then instructed Capt. Hains to come to the bar, and proceeded to ask him the questions usually put to a man about to be sentenced.

The prisoner seemed dazed and seemed to have some difficulty in understanding the questions. Lawyers McIntyre and Young of the defense stood on either side of Capt. Hains and assisted him in answering the questions of the court clerk. In passing sentence Justice Garretson said that the defendant had had a fair trial and had been defended by experienced lawyers. A jury had found a verdict commensurate with the requirements of the law. He said that he was not aware that any errors of law had been committed during the trial.

Referring to the nature of the case, the court said that Capt. Hains had been indicted for murder in the first degree, the severest crime against society, and although there had been a great deal of sympathy injected into the case, the law did not allow a man to punish another for wrong he had suffered or to wreak vengeance on the man who had wronged him. After Justice Garretson had imposed the sentence Capt. Hains sat down and dropped his head on the table before him. He seemed overcome with emotion for a few moments, but soon recovered himself and sat upright, staring at the court.

Gen. Hains, the defendant's father, and Maj. John Powers Hains, who were in court, displayed much emotion when the captain was sentenced. Immediately after sentence the prisoner's attorneys asked for a stay of sentence for a few days in order to make an appeal. Justice Garretson said the case would take the usual course and gave the defense twenty-four hours in which to file an appeal. He then commanded Capt. Hains to the custody of the sheriff.

After Hains has been taken back to the Queens county jail, Mr. McIntyre, his counsel, said that he was not decided whether to appeal the case. He said that he would go to the United States circuit court and endeavor to obtain a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that Capt. Hains' conviction was unconstitutional. This is in line with the contention of the defense that Capt. Hains was never properly within the jurisdiction of the supreme court and was entirely a subject of federal control and as an army officer only within the jurisdiction of the federal court.

HOW TO GET REAPPORTIONMENT.

The Mora Times, edited by Representative Henry Rines of Kanabec county, makes the interesting suggestion that reapportionment be taken up at a special session of the present legislature to be held next winter.

The reception of reapportionment by the legislature at its recent session was anything but encouraging, and while the idea is worth thinking about, its advisability is doubtful. The legislature as it stands now is not friendly to reapportionment, and though there is small probability that the next one will be any more friendly, there will be a chance in the meantime for Northern Minnesota to get together in an effective campaign. When the legislature of 1911 comes together the senate will have been elected for four years, and to provide reapportionment effective with the legislature of 1913 means to cut the senatorial terms in two and require every member to step out or to make another campaign. The last time reapportionment was brought up before a senate constituted that way it was not even considered—even the senators from Northern Minnesota refused to take up a reform that would shorten their terms. The selfishness, you see, is not all confined to the senators from Southern Minnesota. This is one stumbling block in the way of reapportionment in 1911, and it is a big one. It might be construed as an argument in favor of a special session of the present legislature, if that body had not stood so bigotedly and pigheadedly against a just reapportionment, and thereby placed itself on record for what it is

The only way to bring about anything like a just reapportionment is for Northern Minnesota to get together and make reapportionment its chief if not its sole issue. It will do little good for commercial bodies to pass resolutions, or for newspapers to print editorials, unless they concern some definte plan for accomplishing the thing that is at present more vital than anything else to Northern Minnesota. There is just that one way to secure reapportionment, and there is no other way. Every candidate for either branch of the legislature should be compelled to declare for reapportionment before everything else. Then, with a delegation from Northern Minnesota elected upon that platform, its members should get together, form a permanent organization, and present a solid front at the next session of the legislature. It isn't proper and it isn't pretty, of course, to have legislation accomplished by trading, but that is the way it is done, and that is the way Northern Minnesota would have to work to achieve just reapportionment.

If every senator and representative from Northern Minnesota were a member of a compact organization, which gave forth the ultimatum that Northern Minnesota must have a fair reapportionment or nobody else could get anything at all, reapportionment would come. It will come in no other way, at least for a long time in the future. Talk about the injustice of the present representation, no matter how much of it there is or how heated it becomes, will avail nothing. The whole state knows that the apportionment is wrong; there is no need of further argument on that point. The thing to do is to lay plans that will force reapportionment; it will not come without force. The Herald sees no other way than the plan it here suggests. If that cannot be accomplished, then there will be no reapportionment.

THE POOR CONSUMER!

We hadn't expected ever to be grateful to Senator Lodge for anything he might say about the tariff, but it has curiously fallen out that he has said something for which we are very grateful indeed

The importance of his utterance lies in the fact that he is in thorough sympathy with the tariff plans of the senate finance committee—which means the tariff plans of Aldrich. What he says, therefore, can be taken as illuminating the viewpoint of Aldrich and of the corrupt and complacent organization of commercial highbinders which enables his will to be made effective.

Here we of the West have been pleading for consideration for the consumers in the framing of a tariff bill, and wondering why no attempt whatever is made by the Aldrich cabal to let even a crumb drop from the rich man's table into the imploring hands of the consumer. And now comes Senator Lodge to explain to us that there aren't any consumers in this country, and that therefore the tariff bill should consider only the good of the producer, since we are all producers and not consumers. This is a very brilliant exposition of the viewpoint of the tariff plunderbund. The consumer cannot be considered because he doesn't exist. "The people of this country," he says, "were all treated as producers in the framing of this bill, and their interests as producers were given paramount consideration."

Now when the actual producers of the nation get for their labor about one-sixth the value of what they produce, as they do at present, what share do they get out of the profits created by tariff schedules of the Aldrich kind? A very small share indeed. The lion's share goes into the coffers of the rich, who are not taxed, and the necessities of the producer are taxed to increase that share.

It seems very clear that if that process is allowed to continue, the time will come when Mr. Lodge will be quite correct. There will be no consumers because no producer will get enough out of his production to enable him to consume anything worth mentioning. When that time comes, as it must if the present tendency continues, things will either be at a complete standstill, or they will be very lively indeed with some kind of an uprising of the producer, demanding his fair share of the fruits of his industry. Under pretense of benefiting the producer, the Aldrich-Lodge cabal would make it impossible for the producer to live, because the producer must also be a consumer in order that he may have the strength necessary to continue production. The benefits of the Aldrich-Lodge kind of tariff go chiefly to those already overburdened with wealth, and the hardships fall entirely upon the consumer. Even though he may be a producer as well, he will be in the unfortunate condition of being so enormously benefited by the tariff that the share of his production grudgingly yielded to him will not permit him to buy back enough of his own production to keep industry going and life within him.

FARMING ON CUT-OVER LANDS.

Commissioner Welch of the state board of immigration has just issued an interesting pamphlet telling what has been done, what is being done and what can be done in the way of making farms out of logged-off timber lands. The pamphlet is being used to advertise a sale of state lands which will be held at various county seats this month and next by State Auditor Iverson.

The book is interesting, convincing and attractive. In its preface Commissioner Welch makes this interesting statement, which he then proceeds to prove in the body of the book: "Many of the best land experts in the country, and some of the leading agricultural authorities are firm in the belief that the best opportunity for the homeseeker today, especially the man of moderate means, is found in the timber lands of Northern Minnesota. This is the largest body of undeveloped land of good quality which can be found in the entire country. We refer, of course, to land where the climate, rainfall, the crops grown and natural advantages are dependable. Farming in this section is not a venture, and success depends entirely on the energy of the owner in developing the land."

The purpose of the book is to call the attention of those homeseekers who have been neglecting Northern Minnesota's timber lands to the chances awaiting them there, and to explain the conditions as to soil, climate, crops and other matters of interest concerning Northern Minnesota's timber and cut-over lands. As the book says, "A hearty welcome awaits those men who are looking for good, cheap land in the section described."

The pamphlet is written intelligently, practically and conservatively, and it should have a wide circulation, not only in this state but all over the country, wherever enterprising men are seeking cheap farm lands from which, by energy and application, they can win independence. The various kinds of soil found in Northern Minnesota are expertly described. Information as to how these soils are best to be cultivated is full and practical. Climate and water conditions are accurately described. Markets are touched upon, and in this connection the commissioner has this to say of Duluth as a market: "It is said that Duluth will eventually become the Pittsburg of the West and one of the great cities of the country on account of the fact that it is the head of navigation on the Great Lakes and also headquarters for a great iron and steel industry. St. Louis county alone supplies two-thirds of the iron ore used in the United States, and with the installation of steel plants, one of which is now being built, and the development of the immense water power of the St. Louis river, it is bound to grow at a very rapid rate. In addition there are many range towns surrounded principally by non-agricultural lands. Both Duluth and the range towns now draw the largest bulk of their supplies from Northern Minnesota, and as these cities grow there must be increasing demand for farm products which must be drawn from the nearest source, viz., the farms of Northern and Northeastern Minnesota. The immense water power of the St. Louis river, and the many other northern rivers, is bound to furnish opportunities for the manufacturer in the various cities of the North. With cheap power, cheap material and abundant transportation facilities both by water and by rail, the manufacturer has great advantages."

THE TARIFF OUTLOOK.

The situation at Washington would not be so hopeless if it were merely a matter of the senate itself. The senate will probably pass the Aldrich bill, by virtue of a combination shrewdly managed by its author. But that wouldn't settle it if the house were free.

The house will no doubt refuse to concur in the Aldrich bill. That means the appointment of a conference committee. Aidrich will dictate the senate half of that committee, and Cannon will dictate the house half. Then, after a little theatrical tug of war over it, the season will be far advanced, it will be pleaded that business needs an immediate settlement of the question, and an outrageous and criminal compromise will be forced down the throats of the American people by the pitchfork of partisanship. No matter how much the farce may be prolonged there isn't one chance in ten thousand that it will come out any other way. The trusts will get their will. That is what Aldrich and Cannon are there for.

While it will not be by a wide margin, the Aldrich bill will pass the senate by a vote almost strictly partisan. Aldrich will have enough Democratic votes on amendments to keep the bill in the shape he desires, but these votes will go against the bill as a whole, though if he really needs them he may be able to get a few. At any rate, the bill will pass the senate, in whatever infamous shape it finally assumes.

The passage will be brought about by a combination of the East with the Far West—a case of "you tickle me and I'll tickle you," as Senator Nelson said in the senate the other day. Eight Pacific and mountain states—Idaho, Washington, Montana, Utah, Nevada, Colorado, Wyoming and California, have promised to stand by New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, West Virginia and Ohio in keeping rates up on manufactured goods, provided the West gets what it desires on lead, coal, other minerals, wool, lumber, sugar and citrus fruits. The Middle West stands between, and will fail for lack of votes to withstand this peril. Nor is the Middle West unanimous. The two Michigan senators, with one vote in Wisconsin, one in Illinois, one in North Dakota and one in Kansas, will stand by the Aldrich program to the finish. Then, too, there is grave danger that when it comes to the final test, some of the Republican senators who are now holding out will be whipped into line by charges that by voting against the bill they will be deserting their party and voting with the Democrats. That still seems to be a useful weapon at Washington, though its effect is but trifling back among the people.

The Wright brothers can fly nearly as high as the cost of living will under the Aldrich tariff.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Gilbert will hold a reunion day in the near future, according to George Stallings of that city, who was at the McKay yesterday. The object will be to get acquainted with the people who have moved from the deserted village of Sparta.

Upon the reunion day some form of celebration will be held. They are thinking of giving a barbecue in honor of the joining of Sparta and Gilbert.

Mr. Stallings says that the moving of Sparta, bag and baggage, to the city of Gilbert has been accomplished, all but a few houses, and with the joining of Gilbert and Sparta has come an advance in the real estate values of the former village. Real estate values have advanced 25 per cent, says Mr. Stallings, and it is estimated that the progress of the new city will be rapid.

One of the results of the consolidation of the two towns will be an opera house, says Mr. Stallings. With an opera house in their proud midst the citizens of Gilbert will make an attempt to get some of the plays that have been in the habit of visiting the range towns.

Improvements will also be made in the municipal government of Gilbert, some amendments to the charter being made.

Some years ago, at a certain stream in this part of the state, a funny accident occurred, according to Conductor James W. Sargent. This is the way Mr. Sargent told the story at the St. Louis yesterday:

"There was a man who used to ride with me frequently who used to get off at a station which we reached at dusk in the evening. He had jumped off at that station so often that he knew every foot of the platform, just like a man knows his own house.

"One evening he was sleeping soundly. Suddenly he awakened. He made a rush for the platform—we were just starting up—and jumped. We heard a splash and a yell, and then I knew what had happened.

"Instead of pulling out of the station that the passenger thought we were, we were passing over a drawbridge. He had leaped into the river.

"Quicker than it takes to tell it I had jerked the bell cord from the car. We threw him the end of the rope and he finally got it tied under his arms. Then we pulled him into the car. When we got him safely aboard he was going to try to lick me and the rest of the train crew. One of the trainmen was very tough, and he suggested that we throw the shivering passenger into the river again. That threat cooled the belligerent one and he was as quiet as a decent church until he reached his station."

George H Dodge, the man with the cub bears, finds that Duluth is a very good mark to place for cubs. He has disposed of one of the infant bears to Capt. Leopold McLaglen, the jiu jitsu expert, and the other to some Duluth citizen. The cubs together brought Mr. Dodge in the neighborhood of $100. Since they have been of no expense to him, he is thinking seriously of going into the business of raising young bears for the market.

"The bond of interest that is cementing Western Canada and the United States together, or at least the states lying adjacent to the Canadian border will be one that will also bring the cities of Winnipeg and Duluth into closer bonds of interests," said T. T. Leland at the Lenox hotel yesterday.

"More than any other agency will be the railroad that will connect the two cities and which will give them many interests in common. With Winnipeg the headquarters of the Canadian Northern railway, and Duluth as the great terminal point across the line, there are bound to be many matters of mutual interest.

"The Commercial clubs of Winnipeg and Duluth will find it to the advantage of their respective cities to cultivate the spirit of co-operation.

"Traffic men have pointed out that there will be an immense movement of freight traffic from Western Canada to this country. It will pass through Duluth on its way to the East and to interior points. Business of the two cities will naturally be increased by the creation of this traffic.

"There can be no doubt of the fact that the Canadian Northern will some day reach the coast. There is no doubt of that fact. With this railroad, which is rapidly becoming one of the great railway systems of North America, reaching westward to the Pacific coast, Duluth would be one of the most important points upon the system. It was with this idea in view, I am convinced, that the officials of the Canadian Northern secured the Duluth outlet. When the Canadian Northern becomes a transcontinental railroad, you will find that the business interests of Duluth and Winnipeg are more closely knit, but you will also find that the business of this city will be greatly increased."

If yesterday was a northeaster then give us northeasters. Saturday's rain and wind which threatened to continue Sunday disappeared during the night, and yesterday and today were perfect spring days. The weather man looks for showers tonight, with colder weather.

A year ago today it was warm and clear. The sun rose this morning at 4:29 o'clock and will set this afternoon at 7:39, making fifteen hours and ten minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A trough of low barometric pressure extends from South Dakota to New Mexico and a slight depression also overlies the Eastern lake region. During the past twenty-four hours disturbances caused rains over Washington, Oregon, Montana, Alberta, the Dakotas, Idaho, Northern Utah, Eastern Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Western North Carolina, New England states and upper Lake region. Freezing temperatures prevail in Wyoming and Southwestern Montana. The barometer is high over Western Canada. Showery weather and northwesterly winds are indicated for the Head of the Lakes tonight and Tuesday."

Calling Across the Void.

We wandered—my love and I;
Hand clasped in hand, on Life's Borderland,
We whispered our sad Good-bye.

Into the bark of the oarsman, Death,
She stepped all alone, alone,
And passed from my sight, in the darkness of night,
To the land of the great Unknown.

I stretch forth my arms, and cry in despair,
"Return, oh, return to me,"
And I look through my tears, as my love disappears
In the mists of Eternity.

I know it is well, for He knoweth best
Who hath taken her into His care;
But the days will well keep starting, for the sorrow of parting
Seems greater than I can bear.

Be courageous, oh soul, submissive, oh heart,
For a Wisdom far wiser than mine,
Has called her away from the life of a day
To the joys of a Presence divine.

She is led by a Hand that is gentler than mine,
And called by a Voice sweeter far,
To a home that is sure and a life that is pure
Inside the Gates Ajar.

And that bark will return in God's own time,
Return with a summons for me,
And bear me Above to my love, my love,
O'er the waves of the mystic sea.

Senator Clapp's Fears.

Chicago News: Senator Clapp of Minnesota is afraid the country might remember it at the polls if the tariff is reduced upward. That is what comes from living in a state where Governor Johnson, able Democrat that he is, usually has his own way when he gets the ear of the people.

What's The Use.

Did you ever think as the hearse drives by
That it won't be long till you and I
Go riding out in the big plumed hack,
And never remember of coming back?

Did you ever think as you strive for gold,
That a dead man's hand, a dollar can't hold?
That you may pinch and tug, you may strive and save,
But you may lose it all when you reach the grave

And then as for money—

If you spend it, you're a "loafer;"
If you get it you're a "grafter;"
So, what is the use?

Swinburne.

New York Times: Down at Harper's a group of literary men were discussing the death of Swinburne. "His wit was of the subtlest kind," said Col. Harvey, who had met the poet on various occasions in London. "I attended a dinner once at which Swinburne was present. Seated next to him was a titled Briton of the type we are so fond of caricaturing—a drawling, fat-headed noodle. With an air of great condescension he turned to Swinburne and said:

"'Aw, Mr. Swinburne, I passed your house the other day.'

"'Did you, indeed?' replied the poet, with just the suspicion of a twinkle in his eye. 'I am delighted to hear it. Thank you, so much!'"

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Princeton Union: City newspapers continue to harp on the "pork barrel"—the omnibus road and bridge bill—and it is intimated that the supreme court will be called upon to pass on the constitutionality of the law. It looks as if an attempt was being made to manufacture sentiment against the bill. The supposition is that courts cannot be influenced by public sentiment, as voiced by the newspapers, but it is a rather far-fetched supposition.

Two Harbors Iron Trade Journal: The papers of the southern part of the state are insisting that there is no ill feeling against Northern Minnesota. That's the talk. Keep it up and perhaps after a time the people down there may get to believe it. Allow us a just representation in the legislature and we may get to believe in the wordy overtures ourselves.

Winona Independent: And yet the members of the house of representatives will not be idle during the five or six weeks the senate will be working on the tariff bill. The wise representatives are at work on a plausible set of explanations and excuses to deliver to their constituents when they return home.

Zumbrota News: We are not a socialist or an anarchist, but we are predicting that the people of this United States are not going to stand for some things very much longer. When James Pullen gets a corner on wheat and can make $5,000,000 in one week, that is more than his share, and especially when the people have to pay for it.

Albert Lea Standard: Tempered by Governor Johnson's eight vetoes, the late legislature was not altogether as lamentable as it might have been. So let all cheer up — Governor Johnson may make it sixteen the next time.

Austin Transcript: The good roads subject has been of absorbing practical interest for the past month in this locality. The trouble is that when the roads get passable again we forget to agitate for permanent improvement.

Albert Lea Standard: Without doubt the iron mines of the steel trust ought justly to pay a higher rate of tax, and so, also, should other great property interests which shirk their fair share. For instance, some state officials and others maintain that Southern Minnesota farms are assessed ridiculously low, the average per acre for some years being only about $14. This is supposed to be on the basis of 40 per cent of the actual value, or a full value of about $35 per acre. Not many improved farms, we will have to admit, can be bought at such a price. Rather, $50, $60 and $75 would be considered nearer the right figure.

Stillwater Gazette: Sometimes we think, after thinking a few about the political situation in Minnesota, that if the boys would get together and agree to discard all the old decks of cards, buy a new and clean deck and commence all over, it would be just about the best move for peace, harmony and victory that could be brought forth. How about it?

The Veto and The Tonnage Tax.

Albert Lea Standard: A few newspapers of the state in good faith, let it be granted, and here and there a few citizens, criticise Governor Johnson for vecoing the tonnage tax bill, but if inquiry is made it will be found invariably that they have been opposed to him heretofore, and if they ever gave him any credit it was done quite grudgingly. And yet, we do not impeach their sincerity in favoring the tonnage tax—we, too, and as earnestly advocated it until we heard the final debate upon the rejected amendments in the senate. We have to admit that before that we had misunderstood the scope of the proposed act. We did full scope of the proposed act. We did not realize that it was of extremely doubtful constitutionality and that its legality was certain to be contested in the courts, debarring the collection of all taxes in the iron range regions and thus overwhelming them with disaster. Another thing very significant and ominous was tro fact that the steel trust seemed to be wholly indifferent—it certainly could have defeated the passage of the bill in either house, but it refrained from doing it. Why? It is known that it was confident it could defeat such a law in the courts. Did it contemplate thus blocking the collection of taxes, thereby destroying business and values of ore land and buying up—freezing out—the independent operators and farmers owning undeveloped ore lands, and so own and dominate the entire iron resources of the state? It so appeared, at least, to many of the best-posted of both political parties, and they could not ignore the danger thus threatened.

For these and other reasons we became convinced that the bill was a mistake—and worse, and so, with many of the most upright members of the legislature who voted for it, we were glad Governor Johnson vetoed it and like them we congratulate him for doing it.

MARINE NEWS

BOARD WILL MEET AGAIN

Another Effort Will Be Made to Settle Strike.

Minnesota Will Not Be Represented at the Meeting.

A meeting that it is believed will have a salutary effect upon the marine strike situation is scheduled to be held in the Hotel Cadillac, Detroit, tomorrow morning. The interstate arbitration board, composed of representatives from the states of New York, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin, will meet at that time and place and continue its sessions as long as there appears any hope of bringing the strike to a settlement. Minnesota will not be represented, although this state was invited to send delegates.

This interstate board met in Chicago last week, but was unable at that time to secure the attendance of strike leaders and officers of the Lake Carriers' association. It was stated during the meeting that the strike threatens to become a menace to general commerce. The proposition was advanced that the question is one that should be placed before congress, and that body will be asked, in the form of some resolution to be adopted at tomorrow's meeting, to make arbitration compulsory.

William Livingston, president of the Lake Carriers' association, states positively that he will not attend the meeting. "The open shop is a fundamental principal," he says, "and fundamentals are not subject to arbitration. It would be just as proper to attempt to arbitrate a man's religious views. The association will not be represented."

Victor Olander, secretary of the Lake Seamen's union, will be on hand when the board meets tomorrow. The unions as a rule have been quick to respond to the good offices of the board. Mr. Olander is quoted as saying that he is ready and anxious to take part in any deliberations that will tend to bring about a settlement without compromising the honor or standing of the unions. No promises of a settlement are held out, but it is believed the meeting will be the opening wedge in negotiations that will ultimately bring about a settlement.

While locally the marine strike is quiet, the union men are active in their efforts to keep the carriers from getting crews. The Lake Carriers' shipping office, at the foot of Fifth avenue west, is guarded by police. Union agents loiter about the place daily and approach all sailors who come there with a view to signing on association vessels. They are asked to refrain from shipping on Lake Carriers' boats.

FULL LIST OF SHORES' MEN

Names of Those Who Were Drowned on Lumber Vessel.

Efforts to find the bodies of the men who went down on the ill-fated steamer Adella Shores, in Whitefish bay, have been practically abandoned. Because of the great depth and the coldness of the waters of Lake Superior, it is not common for the bodies of drowned persons to come to the surface, and it is the belief in marine circles that the exact fate of the crew will never be learned.

Tugs have been working around Grand island since the accident, in an effort to locate the site of the disaster. It is thought by many that the Shores was pounded to pieces by the ice and waves, and that any further efforts to find her are useless.

Following is the complete list of the officers and crew of the Shores: Capt. Samuel Holmes, Milwaukee; Olaf Holmes, mate, Milwaukee; De Witt Boher, chief engineer; Sam Johns, second engineer, Alfred Ellsworth, fireman, all of Saugatuck, Mich.; George Gabrielsen, Fred Gabrielsen, Oconto, Wis., Andrew Erickson, West Allis, Wis. Andrew Iversen, Milwaukee; Emil Jansen, Oconto; Andrew Wilson, Peter S. Olson and Gustav Olson. The addresses of the last three named have not been learned.

SWAM RIVER TO ESCAPE

Duluth Man Claims He Was Held Prisoner on Morgan.

Chicago, May 17.—Police in South Chicago are investigating charges made by a sailor, George Leaf of Duluth, formerly a member of the crew of the steamship J. Pierpont Morgan, that officers of the vessel attempted to forcibly restrain him from going ashore when the voyage ended Saturday.

Scarcity of good men caused by the present strike of seamen on the lakes is the reason ascribed for the alleged action of the ship's officers. A thrilling dive from the high free board of the ship's bow and a swim through the icy waters of the Calumet river, when the sailor's petition to go ashore was denied, were the sensational accompaniments of his escape, as the story was told the police.

George Leaf, an oiler and machinist, and prized by the vessel's chief engineer for his ability, has his home in Duluth. When the Morgan, loaded with ore for South Chicago, left Duluth, he was one of her crew. He was a staunch union man, but the strike had not then been officially declared and he was willing to make one more trip. When the ship reached her destination, however, Leaf heard of the strike and decided to leave his berth in the engine room.

He approached the chief officer and said:

"I have decided to go ashore here and would like to have my wages now."

"You will have to see the captain," was the officer's answer.

The captain was finally seen, but the sailor was put off on one pretext or another, it is charged, until late Saturday. He was told that he could not leave the vessel and must accompany her on the trip north again. This he he refused to do.

Seemingly for the purpose of giving him less chance to escape, the police were told, the Morgan was moved out of the slip and anchored in the middle of the basin.

The seaman then decided to adopt heroic measures.

IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

Well Known Vessel Captain Will be Tried for Life.

Capt. Ralph Pringle, who spent the winter at Buffalo aboard the steamer Aurania, is under indictment at Port Huron, Mich., on the charge of murdering George B. McKinnon of Courtright, Ont. The crime is said to have been committed at St. Clair, Mich., April 17. It is said that the two men went into a saloon together and later became involved in a quarrel, and that Capt. Pringle shot and killed McKinnon.

Capt. Pringle is an old-time vessel master and is well known at the Head of the Lakes. The Aurania is the vessel which sank in the ice in Whitefish bay during the recent storm. The trial is set for June 7.

LANGELL HAD A CLOSE SHAVE

Marquette, Mich., May 17.—Towing the schooners Arenac and A. K. Moore, and conveyed by the Marquette lifesaving crew, the steamer Simon Langell put into port here this morning for shelter. All three ships are loaded with lumber consigned to Lake Erie ports.

The Arenac sprang a leak while the boats were laboring in a gale off Manitou island, and with the seas running high, it was with great difficulty that the disabled vessel was brought to Marquette in safety. Five thousand feet of lumber were washed overboard, also the furniture and cabins were badly smashed. The schooner is so heavily waterlogged that only her deck load is keeping her from sinking.

WAS PIONEER ATTORNEY.

Jonas Guilford, Forty-Two Years Resident of Minneapolis, Dead.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Jonas Guilford, the pioneer attorney of this city, who died Friday night after a residence of forty-two years here will be held from the family home, 1820 Hawthorne, avenue, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Guilford was born in Spencer, Mass., and after completing the work in the schools there entered Amherst college, from which he received his degree in 1864. He then enlisted as a private in the Sixtieth Massachusetts infantry. After the war he took up the study of law in the Albany, N. Y., law school, graduating in 1866. The West tempted him and he located in St. Louis, but removed in 1867 to St. Anthony.

SHIPMENTS ARE HEAVY

Eighteen Ore Boats Have Cleared Since Saturday Afternoon.

The Missabe Docks Are Working With Full Crews.

The ore shipments of the past few days have been the heaviest of the year. Since Saturday afternoon eighteen boats have left for down lake ports with large cargoes, and fifteen freighters and consorts have reported in.

The Pittsburg Steamship company now has in commission almost as many vessels as were in the service last year. Some of the smaller boats are still at Lake Erie ports, but are being fitted out for the Head of the Lakes as rapidly as possible.

The Missabe docks in Duluth are as busy as at any time last season. Extra men are being taken on daily, and the docks are now running with practically full shifts.

Incoming vessels of the ore fleet report but little trouble with their crews. As a rule the men seem satisfied with their places and few desertions have occurred. The agents of the unions are prevented from approaching the crews and gain but few recruits from the non-union ranks. When a deckhand or seaman deserts, vesselmen report no difficulty in filling his place.

PAY HOMAGE TO GODDESS SPRING

Appreciative crowds paid homage to a real spring day yesterday by making the air vibrant with the merry toot of the automobile horn by flocking to the parks in carriages, by strolling out to Lakeside, and in spending as much of the day as possible out of doors.

All of the parks were visited by throngs of people. Family gatherings were the rule. Children romped and played in pure delight at the approach of summer weather, and infants in carriages were given their first outing.

Besides the parks, the Duluth Boat club, the Northland Country club and the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club were visited by many people during the day.

Launch owners took advantage of the balmy weather, too, and there were many launches upon the bay and river yesterday. The favorite route was up the St. Louis river to the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club and return.

London road presented a picture of contented humanity. The road was crowded until evening by strolling people. The parade started down below the Lenox hotel and formed a continuous procession out to the East end and return.

All of the Duluth livery stables did a very good business. There was a very brisk demand for vehicles of all kinds, and the family gathered into a double-seated rig for a day's outing was a very common sight.

MAY HAVE OPERATION.

Governor Johnson Has Slight Recurrence of Old Trouble.

St. Paul, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson, who returned today from the East, is feeling well after the outing and rest that he enjoyed. There is some chance, however, that he may have to submit to another operation on account of his old trouble. There has been a slight recurrence of that trouble, and he has been advised that an operation probably will be necessary. That will be determined after consultation with physicians here.

A double header was pulled off, of which Moose Lake won the first game from Willow River, 9 to 3. The second game, with Barnum, was called at the end of the fourth inning, with the score 4 to 4, to allow the visitors to catch the train. The batteries for the first game —Moose Lake, Shannon and Bergquist; Willow River, Nein and Clough. Second game—Moose Lake, Nevers and Newton; Barnum, Shannon, Belser and Felgen.

The program for next Sunday is the Spaldings of Duluth vs. the locals, and on Tuesday, the 25th, the colored Gophers of St. Paul will play here.

FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE

(Note—Suggestions from citizens of needed reforms will be welcomed.)

THE CITY'S NURSE

"Until the people of the city come to know that I am here and ready to help, waiting for the opportunity, the work of the visiting nurse in Duluth is not going to be of great value" said Mrs. Florence Lee, the visiting nurse, who has come to Duluth to carry on the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis society. The work of the visiting nurse is not as is thought by many, exclusively for the poor of the city. Wherever there is illness and the need of immediate help and also the possibility of teaching truths about hygiene, is the place for the visiting nurse. Until the people of a community come to feel that I am here ready and willing to help them in their sickness, the work will not become the great help to physical betterment of the city which it should be."

Mrs. Lee has been in the city a few weeks and the society, which has begun its work primarily against tuberculosis, hopes that her work will open the way for a campaign of education and practical work in combatting the disease.

PLAYGROUNDS

The postponed annual meeting of the Duluth Playground association will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in Mayor Haven's office, and a discussion of plans for the summer will be taken up. It is expected that at least two playgrounds can be maintained in the city this year. Last year there was only one, but it met with great success.

The park board probably will float $50,000 worth of bonds this year, and if this is done an attempt will be made to have at least one new playground site, and possibly more, purchased, while the land is cheap. Every year of delay means a higher price to be paid.

CIVIC PRIDE

Every housewife in the city can display civic pride and usefulness during these weeks of spring if she will but give the thought to it. The yards and adjoining fields to the house must be cleared of the accumulated debris of the winter, and three days have been sent aside by the municipal authorities for this needed cleanup. If the mothers of the city would put a little the small boys in the family in the matter, and also impress upon the same small boys their civic responsibility in keeping the city clean, much would be accomplished.

It is the women of the city with whom the health inspectors must negotiate in requesting yards to be cleaned up, and it is to be regretted that the inspectors invariably report that the reception accorded them by the women of the town, is not the courteous and reasonable reception which should be their lot. Clean and well-kept houses depend upon the women and to a large extent a clean city also depends upon them. The laws for a clean town may be made by men, but to have them enforced in individual cases, is a woman's privilege.

That she is in many cases neglecting the privilege or duty, whichever you choose to call it, is evident by the real need of a special day for municipal cleaning.

OAK HALLS WON.

Defeated Iron River Team in Fast Ten-Inning Game.

The Oak Halls returned last evening from Iron River, where they defeated the Iron River nine to the tune of 5 to 4 in a ten-inning game, featured by the spectacular throwing of George Cullens for the locals.

Cullens only allowed two hits during the entire game and struck out nineteen men. When at bat he took four hits out of five times up, from the opposing twirler. The Oak Halls believe that they have atoned for their defeat at Cloquet a week ago Sunday.

They expect to play the Clippers next week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL GROWS.

Record Attendance at the Merritt Memorial Church Classes.

The attendance at the Sunday school of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church was the largest of any day in the past fourteen years.

A campaign for new members to the school recently inaugurated excited intense rivalry between the boys and the girls to see which could bring in the most pupils.

The result was that the classes have been swelled and the record for attendance has been broken.

HUSBAND IS GONE.

West Duluth Woman Has Not Seen Spouse Since Thursday.

What may prove to be a case of desertion is being investigated by the West Duluth police.

Alfred Nelson of 212 Sixty-third avenue west, according to a telephone message received yesterday from his wife, has not showed up at home since May 13, last Thursday.

Mrs. Nelson says she cannot imagine where her husband is. The police are looking into the case.

MATCH COMPANY TEAM WINS EASILY.

The Union Clothing team was defeated Sunday afternoon on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds by the Union Match company nines. The score was 18 to 2. The game was too much one-sided to be very interesting.

The clothiers are protesting the game on account of the failure of their regular pitcher to show up. The matter will be considered at the meeting of the City league directors Wednesday night.

Gilbert Funeral.

The funeral of James C. Gilbert, who was killed last week by a West Duluth street car, was held at 9 o'clock this morning, under the auspices of the Longshoremen's union from St. James' Catholic church. Another of the series of "boosting" meetings of the Modern Samaritans of West Duluth, Beneficent degree, No. 4, will be held this evening at the club rooms over the Western State bank.

ENGINEER DEPARTMENT OF ARMY CRITICISED.

Washington, May 17. — "Congress can go to hell. We will report when we get ready."

This, said Mr. Clark of Missouri in the house of representatives today, was the response of the engineer department of the army when asked for information regarding the result of the examination made by the engineer officers into the desirability of constructing a channel fourteen feet deep and of suitable width from St. Louis to the mouth of the Mississippi river. The subject was brought up when Mr. Bartholdt of Missouri offered a resolution calling upon the secretary of war for the report.

SALOONS RAIDED; MACHINES SEIZED

Eighteen Saloonmen on Cloquet "Island" Are Haled Into Court.

Cloquet, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Acting on a warrant sworn out by M. L. Hostader, pastor of the local Norwegian Methodist church, Sheriff Lee of Carlton county Saturday night raided a number of saloons on the "Island," seized a lot of slot machines and arrested eighteen saloon keepers for violating the state law against maintaining gambling devices.

The men were arraigned in Judge Skemp's court today and this afternoon are busy securing bail pending a hearing.

The sheriff took a wagon load of machines to Carlton and they will be destroyed. All of the slot machines about town that have been played for cigars and other merchandise are being put out of business today following the raid of Saturday night.

Mr. Hostader is backed up by the best people in his warfare against the lawbreakers, and it is expected indictments by the next grand jury will result.

NUMBER OF FRENCH STRIKERS DECREASING.

Paris, May 17.—All that now remains of the strike of the postal employes of the government is political agitation on the part of the revolutionary proletariat. The leaders of the strike are now openly affiliated with these extreme organizations and they continue to talk loudly of precipitating a general strike. But the more sagacious realize that the moment is unpropitious and the general opinion is that the agitation will not go further than words.

The total number of strikers in the country today is 1,023 as against 1,593 yesterday. There have been twenty-four additional dismissals from the service.

GEORGE BERG IS ON THE STAND

George Berg, the 11-year-old boy who, through his mother, is suing the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad for $40,000 for the loss of his two legs while playing around the company's yards at Baraga, Mich., was on the stand the greater part of this morning.

George told how the boys in Baraga used to enjoy climbing on the engines, how there was a certain rivalry between them as to who could attain the greatest proficiency in boarding and jumping off the cars, and he grew enthusiastic over the riding on the top of the freight cars.

George was closely questioned by the lawyers and stood the cross-examination in good shape. He did not get confused in the least, and his testimony could not be shaken.

He was questioned as to his playmates, their habits, their ages, their grade in the schoolroom, and his memory in regard to some of the minor details of events leading up to the accident proved remarkable.

He is an exceptionally bright lad, and his quick, blunt answers made him many friends among those who are watching the case.

James T. Williams, Jr., Resigns.

Washington, May 17.—James T. Williams, Jr., today tendered to President Taft his resignation as civil service commissioner. Mr. Williams was appointed only a few weeks ago, and is leaving the service because of impaired health. He was formerly a newspaper man of this city.

If Health Brings Happiness

Grape-Nuts

Food Brings Both.

"There's a Reason"

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky, and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig out the corners and drive out the decayed food particles. Moreover, soap leaves your dishes with a soapy, animal fat smell that is far from inviting.

GOLD DUST is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. GOLD DUST sterilizes, as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, GOLD DUST will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Elaborate Pageant, Representing Minnesota's History, for May Fete.

Light Work in the College of Engineering Being Arranged.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the highly attractive features in connection with the May fete is the elaborate pageant, representing the history of Minnesota from the coming of Father Hennepin to the present day. This is to be under the direction of Dorothy Derrickson and Anna Lane, and is modelled after a description given by Mrs. Potter of a similar one, which she saw at Oxford last summer. This is practically a new thing in the United States, as it has been given only once here before. Among the many special features of it are a Spanish dance, an Italian group and a Swedish group given in native costumes. This special feature is to be on the campus in the evening, and the blaze of torches and shaded Japanese lanterns will surely help in making the whole a glorious success.

Another interesting feature of the fete will be the gaily decorated booths of the different sororities. Various things to eat will be served, and in this way lunches can be secured on the campus at any time during the fete, which will be continuous performance from 3 to 9 p. m.

Final examinations in the college of science, literature and arts for the semester will commence on Friday, May 28, and continue until Saturday, June 5, according to the schedule just issued by Registrar Pierce.

Those senior academics who have received no condition or failures since the close of their freshman year and whose work and attendance are satisfactory to their instructors will be rewarded by being excused from finals.

Stiles P. Jones, secretary of the Minneapolis Voters league, addressed the University Good Government club on "Municipal Corruption" at its meeting Friday. At the meeting of the organization last Monday night an executive committee was appointed to secure speakers and arrange for meetings. Two other speakers have been secured to address the club before the end of the semester. Lynn Haines, secretary of the Good Citizens' league, will speak May 21, and will review the work of the last lecture, the subject of his speech being "The Legislature—a Post Mortem." John M. Bennett, president of the Minneapolis Saturday Night Lunch club, will speak May 28.

Arrangements are being made by the University Dramatic club to secure the Metropolitan opera house for their production of "The Comedy of Errors," to be given some time during the current month. If the negotiations are completed, the play will be staged the latter part of May for three performances, the theater having an open date at that time. The club will also then give several performances at the St. Paul Metropolitan.

Leroy J. Boughner, city editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, has expressed the belief that the initiation of the new course in journalism should be placed in the hands of one not actuated by a desire for financial reward, and he has backed up his belief by volunteering to President Northrop to deliver lectures for two years without cost to the university. He told President Northrop that he believed the course should consist of at least two hours a week, half of the total number to be on theory and half as practice. A formal statement of his offer has been forwarded to President Northrop.

A committee has been appointed by Dr. Northrop to carry out the idea of the university board of regents and arrange for night work in the college of engineering at the university. The members composing the committee are John Lind, B. F. Nelson and C. G. Shultz of the regents, John F. Downey, dean of the academic college; Prof. John H. Gray, head of the department of economics; George Shepardson and J. J. Flather from the university faculty.

Men of the university protested when the girls were excused from fourth hour classes to attend a self government meeting. In a number of instances the men stayed away entirely, while in others, on account of the sentiment, they were excused along with the girls. In Mr. Phelan's economics class a sign was placed upon the board which read: "We want the girls—or vacation." The professor paid no attention to the placard, however, and proceeded calmly to lecture.

• • •

A week's vacation has been granted university students, at Easter time, to commence next year. The sentiment in favor of such a vacation has been strong. Petitions for it have been circulated on several occasions, and this year the engineers went on a strike because it was not allowed.

TWELVE PERSONS HURT WHEN SIX ROBBERS LOOT GREAT NORTHERN TRAIN

St. Paul, Minn., May 17.—At the headquarters of the Great Northern railway in this city it was stated that six robbers held up westbound passenger train, No. 3, just east of Morse, Wash., early in the morning. The robbers cut off the postal car, ran it about two miles west and rifled the registered mail. The amount of booty secured, it was stated, was not known. None of the train crew was injured, and the passengers on the train were not molested. The Great Northern has offered a reward of $10,000 for each robber captured.

Detached The Engine.

Spokane, Wash., May 17.—In a holdup of Great Northern passenger train, No. 3, between Colbert and Mead, shortly before midnight last night, twelve persons were injured when the engine and mail car, started to run wild down the track by the bandits, after they had rifled the mails, collided with the remaining cars of the train. The bandits detached the engine and mail car from the train, ran them down the track and after the registered mail had been opened, sent the cars back to collide with the cars standing on the track.

The conductor saw the wild cars coming at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, and he and a trainman placed a tie on the track in an effort to stop them. When the train reached Colbert some switching had to be done. While the engine crew was busy two men appeared in the cab and ordered him to stop and then he and the fireman were forced to leave the cab. The bandits then went to the door of the mail car and ordered it opened. Their commands were obeyed by the mail clerk. Meanwhile two other bandits were with the engineer and fireman, who uncoupled the mail car. Soon after the train stopped, the conductor, C. L. Robertson, jumped from the car, but was driven back by a dozen revolver shots.

Hastily climbing into the cab, the outlaws sent the engine down the track, how far is not known. Half an hour after the engine and mail car had disappeared they were seen coming down the track and hurried preparations were made to ditch the runaways, but without complete success. Two special trainloads of deputies were hurried from Spokane when word of the holdup was received. Doctors also were taken out on the train to care for the injured. Chief Ryan of Hillyard went out with a posse and watched all roads leading toward Spokane. No trace of the robbers was found. It is reported that the bandits obtained a large sum of money from the registered mail, the amount being placed at $20,000.

As the robbers entered the cab at Colbert, one said to the engineer: "You have heard of us before," indicating that they had been involved in other train holdups in the vicinity of Spokane.

MORE ORDERS IN STEEL PLACED

Finishing Mills Are Further Increasing Their Capacities.

New York, May 17.—Large orders for finished steel products were placed last week and finishing mills of the independent interests as well as of Steel corporation subsidiaries have further increased capacity. Finishing mills generally are running from 70 to 90 per cent of output, railmills being the only important exception. The latter are running scarcely 40 per cent of capacity.

As heretofore, the most notable examples of activity have been in wire products, structural and fabricated steel and tin plate, but there also have been satisfactory orders for steel pipe, steel plates and soft steel bars. It is understood that about 80 per cent of agricultural implement manufacturers have closed contracts for bars up to the first of January and many for the year ending July, 1910. These contracts aggregate about 300,000 tons.

The principal fabricated steel contracts included 2,500 tons for the Pennsylvania railroad, and smaller tonnages for the Erie, Seaboard Air line, Baltimore & Ohio, and Jersey Central, but the most interesting development was the taking of bids for the Philadelphia & Reading track elevation at Philadelphia. The McClintock-Marshall Construction company made the lowest tender, their bid being $47 per ton erected. They probably will receive the award and the contract, increased from 17,000 to 25,000 tons. Since the first of May fabricated steel contracts placed have aggregated 120,000 tons, and as much more is pending. Rail contracts placed during the week have aggregated 50,000 tons.

In pig iron the principal feature of interest was the placing of orders for 35,000 tons of basic iron by Eastern steel works. There has been a fair tonnage of foundry contracts, mainly in small lots, indicating more general activity among the small consumers. Total sales of foundry grades have been about 25,000 tons in the New York, New England and Philadelphia territory.

EACH TAXES ON DIFFERENT LINES

New England States' Assessment of Corporations Is Reviewed.

Washington, May 17.—A unique and interesting report dealing with state taxation of manufacturing, mercantile, transportation and transmission corporations was made public today by Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations. That part of the report transmitted to President Taft concerns particularly the New England states.

A careful investigation into the tax law of each state was made by Commissioner Smith, and the results of the inquiry are presented in concise form. The report presents in a popular way a digest of the tax laws and the methods of their administration. While, in a sense, it is a legal publication, it was prepared rather for the general public than for lawyers. It contains much information particularly interesting and important to legislators and all other students of taxation.

Commissioner Smith points out that, while the taxation of individuals throughout New England is on substantially the same basis, there is a wide diversity among the several states in both the theory and practice of the taxation of corporations. He notes as particularly interesting the Massachusetts plan of taxation of "corporate excess" on the market value of stock, less property otherwise taxed. It is pointed out, too, that Massachusetts alone succeeds appreciably in efforts to tax specially the manufacturing and mercantile corporations. Railroads, it is noted, are among the largest taxpayers. Public service corporations are most often brought under new systems of taxation. A review of the six systems of taxation indicates to Commissioner Smith that the entire subject matter is still in an unfinished condition, and will need yet further careful thought and consideration.

BIJOU—New vaudeville bill.

"Mary's Lamb."

Richard Carle and his "Mary's Lamb" company closed their season at the Lyceum Saturday night. Carle's fooling, the pretty costumes, a good looking chorus, plenty of catchy music and some clever lines and lyrics, made a very enjoyable entertainment.

Large audiences greeted both performances.

"The Right of Way."

One of the most important traveling theatrical organizations of the country, Klaw & Erlanger's original company in "The Right of Way," is to be seen at the Lyceum tonight. This company, in which Guy Standing and Theodore Roberts are its stars, is seen in the West for the first time this season. The play, made from Sir Gilbert Parker's greatest novel, is unique in that it introduces to the stage a number of characters neevr before seen in drama. Among these are the characters of Charley Steele and Joe Portugais, played respectively by Mr. Standing and Mr. Roberts. The spirit of Sir Gilbert Parker's story and characters has been retained by the dramatist, and the play is intensely interesting from start to finish. The story is well known, the book having been for six years one of the "best sellers," and the atmosphere that made the book such a success has made the play equally successful.

FOUR ARRESTED.

All Charged With Fighting on Lower Lake Avenue.

At the result of a free-for-all fight on lower Lake avenue yesterday Joe Klippin, Herman Winkler, Ole Olson and Pat Sheehan were all arrested.

Klippin and Winkler started the trouble. Olson and Sheehan tried to stop the fighters, got in the argument themselves, and in a minute all four were hard at it, pounding each other with might and main. The police came along at this point and arrested the fighters.

Much Interest in the Endurance Run From Duluth.

Minneapolis Club Announces Conditions of the Big Event.

Automobile enthusiasts in Duluth and the Twin Cities are greatly interested in the endurance and economy contest between Duluth and Minneapolis, to be held about the middle of August, under direct supervision of the Minneapolis Automobile club.

J. J. Barclay and party of Minneapolis, in the city last week, came here by automobile from Minneapolis club, and deciding upon the best route to follow in the contest, and also investigating spring road conditions between the two points. The contest is being arranged entirely by the club, and not by any individual. It is believed that more than 100 cars will take part in it.

The contestants will come up from Minneapolis one day, remaining here over night, and will return to Minneapolis the following day. All cars are to be carefully examined before starting from the Flour City, drained and refilled with oil and gasoline, under the sole charge of a technical committee. Each bonnet will then be sealed and each car carry a full quota of passengers, including an official observer appointed by the contest committee. This will be done the day prior to the start. The morning of the contest, at an early hour, all contestants will line up at the Minneapolis Automobile club and be started out at short intervals, going straight north on Lyndale avenue and River road to Anoka, thence to St. Francis, Isanti, Cambridge, Rush Point, Pine City, Beroun, Hinckley, Sandstone, Rutledge, Willow River, Sturgeon Lake, Moose Lake, Barnum, Mahtowa, Carlton, Thompson, West Duluth to the Spalding hotel.

There will be a noon control about half way, with possibly a forenoon and afternoon control, stopping for the night in Duluth with all contesting cars strictly in charge of this same technical committee where any repairs, adjustments, refilling, etc., will be done under their supervision and noted.

Early next morning the contestants will leave the Spalding, east to Fifteenth avenue, north to the boulevard, continuing around and over the new extension to West Duluth, then direct to Minneapolis via the same route as going up. On arrival at Minneapolis all contesting cars will immediately pass into the hands of the technical committee, brakes and motors tested and a careful technical examination made, when they will be returned to their owners. The technical committee will then go to work on their report giving the respective cars their standing.

Under the ruling of the A. A. A. this contest must be held either thirty days prior or thirty days' subsequent to the Glidden tour, which starts July 12.

Saturday's games were all postponed on account of rain.

Winona, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth White Sox played like a lot of corner-lotters Sunday afternoon in their first contest of the season with the local team. The final score was 10 to 1 in favor of Winona.

Marion, who is supposed to be the crack pitcher of the Zenith City team, got his in the second frame. He walked two, hit two, allowed two hits and, added by the very raw support of his team mates, allowed six Winona runners to prance over the home plate.

Klingbell went in and finished the game. He was some better, but his support was to say the least, ragged, and he was unsuccessful in his attempt to save the game.

O'Brien was the only Duluth man to touch the home plate coming around from the right direction. He reached first on an error and came home on McCrone's three-bagger.

La Crosse, Wis., May 17.—La Crosse defeated Wausau here Sunday by a score of 5 to 4. The finish was one of the most sensational ever witnessed on the local diamond.

With the score 4 to 2 in the ninth inning, Dunbar, the Wausau pitcher, weakened. He walked one and allowed two hits. Klein leaned against the ball for three bags, bringing in three scores.

The batting of Dolan was the feature of the game. He got four of the six hits made by Wausau. Score:

St. Louis hit Johnson for seven safeties, bunching them in the fourth and eighth innings, which resulted in two runs in each inning. Graham for St. Louis was in trouble all through the game, and several times it looked as though he would have to be taken out. KELLY EASY FOR PAPKE

San Francisco, May 17.—One minute and thirty seconds of a scheduled forty-five-round contest was sufficient to demonstrate that Hugo Kelly of Chicago is no match in speed or skill with Billy Papke, the Illinois "Thunderbolt."

At the end of that brief period Saturday afternoon, after half a dozen short rallies, Papke stood unmarked, while Kelly lay unconscious in the center of the ring, with a deep cut over his right eye, his chances for the middle weight championship gone glimmering.

Faster and stronger than he has appeared since his memorable battle with Stanley Ketchel at Los Angeles, Papke began his work with his opponent. In virtually toyed with his opponent. In the several clinches he smothered Killy's attempts at infighting and pushed him away, only to land stinging rights and lefts that found the Italian almost unprotected.

Kelly lost the battle when Papke landed his first clean right and left to the jaw. He went to the floor for the count of nine and arose without sufficient vitality to resist the finishing touches. Prior to this Papke had shot a terrific left hook to the temple, which laid open an inch-long gap just above Kelly's right eye. The blow was the opening wedge. Kelly appeared to weaken, and Papke, without an instant's hesitation, rushed him to the ropes, shooting left and rights into his mid-section. Kelly fell face downward and was counted out by Timekeeper Hastings. As Referee Eddie Smith counted ten, Kelly struggled to raise himself on his elbow, but the effort exhausted his last spark of vitality and he lurched back unconscious. Seconds carried him to his corner in a state of unconsciousness, while a hundred spectators climbed into the ring to smother Papke with congratulations.

Cloquet Wins.

Cloquet, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Spalding baseball team of Duluth proved to be no match for the Cloquet team Sunday afternoon. The first inning was a landslide for the local bunch. Nine scores were made, mostly on errors. The final score was 14 to 4, the visitors scoring one hit and three errors in the seventh inning. Crotty's home run over the fence, and Gaggel's difficult catch of a long drive in the sixth, were the features of the game.

The season has opened with much enthusiasm in this city and, under the efficient management of Mr. Schlebe, baseball will be on a paying basis this year for the first time.

GRAND FORKS PICKETTS DEFEAT ARVILLA NINE.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks Picketts defeated the Arvilla, N. D., baseball team yesterday afternoon on the East Grand Forks diamond. The final score was 5 to 4 and the game throughout was one of the best that has ever been pulled off. Score:

Papke May Fight Ryan.

New York, May 17.—Stanley Ketchel announced last night that he would fight Billy Papke, who knocked out Hugo Kelly in one round Saturday night and that he would agree to make 158 pounds, but that he would insist on a larger purse than the $6,000, which had been previously mentioned. Ketchel intimated that he will demand a purse of from $10,000 to $15,000. As Ketchel has so many engagements ahead and his demands are not considered promising for a fight with Papke, there is some thought of matching him with Tommy Ryan, the veteran who has just come forward with a broadside challenge.

Washingtons Get Pennant.

The Washington school team has captured the pennant in the Interscholastic Baseball league, having a perfect percentage of 1,000. The team has played five games and won every one of them. There are still some games to be played, but the other teams have all lost one game or more and they have no chance to get the flag.

The Washington team has finished its games. The Jefferson team has two more games to play and the Endions and Bryants one each.

The pennant was put up by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A.

SPORTS FOR THE WEEK

Many College Crews Will Meet on the Schuylkill Saturday.

Both Johnson and Ketchel Have Boxing Bouts This Week.

New York, May 17.—Sporting interest this week will be divided between the annual regatta of the American Rowing association on the Schuylkill Saturday, in which crews representing leading Eastern universities will participate, and boxing bouts which bring together Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight, and "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien on the one hand, and Stanley Ketchel, middle weight champion, and Hugo McGann of Kansas, on the other. Racing on the Schuylkill promises to be well attended both as to spectators and participants. It is practically assured that more than thirty crews will take the water. The entries include crews from Harvard, Yale, Cornell, New York university, University of Pennsylvania and Georgetown.

Matches in which Johnson and Ketchel will figure, the former at Philadelphia on Wednesday, and the latter at Pittsburg on Tuesday, will be watched with more than ordinary interest owing to the fact that the two have signed an agreement to meet each other here October in a twenty-round battle for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Other events for the week are the match between Jimmy Walsh and Digger Stanley, English bantam, in Longacre on Monday, and a six-round bout between Johnny Coulon, Chicago bantam, and Jack Jhennic of Pennsylvania at Johnstown, Pa., on Thursday.

In the horse racing field, the New York situation as regards oral betting, almost monopolizes the attention of devotees of that sport. Attendance at Belmont park on Thursday and Saturday of last week was encouraging, but it is still problematical whether racing will be held on its merits with bookmaking eliminated and all betting done orally through those who have aptly styled "Memory Brokers."

August Belmont and other officers of the Jockey club are sanguine and share the belief that the public is willing to patronize the sport as it is now conducted. It is too early, however, for any one to venture a decided opinion.

Oral betting has been strictly lived up to so far as can be ascertained, and there have been no arrests.

YALE WINS ANNUAL MEET FROM HARVARD.

New Haven, Conn., May 17.—In the best weather for fast time, Yale beat her rival from Cambridge in the annual dual games on Yale field Saturday afternoon, the margin of victory being 6 2-5 points. The total score, which was not determined until after the last trial in the broad jump, was: Yale, 55 1-5 points, and Harvard, 48 4-5.

Three dual records were broken, and in two other events better than record time was made, but in one instance the figure was not allowed and in the other the time was made in a trial heat.

Of the three records broken the notable one was in the two-mile event, when H. Jauques of Harvard made the distance in 9 minutes 56 4-5 seconds, 6 4-5 seconds under the record of M. H. Stone of Harvard three years ago. Cooney, Yale's famous football guard, tossed the hammer 159 feet 10 inches, 6 feet 1 inch farther than Sherlin threw it in 1904. In the 220-yard dash Foster of Harvard made the distance in 21 2-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second better than Schick of Harvard seven years ago.

Howe of Yale took the high hurdles in two-fifths of a second better than F. B. Fox in 1899, but unfortunately in making the ninth flight he tipped over a hurdle, and it was later determined that the record could not stand. Victory hung on the result of the fifteenth event, the broad jump. Had Harvard taken all places she would have won, but Kilpatrick, the strongest man in Yale, won first place by beating out Little of Harvard by a single inch in a magnificent jump.

NEBRASKA WINS FROM GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, May 17.—Nebraska won the dual track meet from Minnesota Saturday on Northrop field by a score of 42½ to 55½. As had been expected, Minnesota proved to be weak in the field events, losing the broad jump, high jump, discus throw, hammer throw and shot put. On the track Minnesota had a little the better of Nebraska, but not enough to counterbalance the weakness in weights and jumping. The 440-yard dash was the most exciting event of the meet. Smiley of Minnesota got away on a beautiful start, but overrated his spurting powers. The runners dashed by the finish in a bunch and to a great many it looked like a tie between Reed of Nebraska and Smiley of Minnesota. The judges finally decided in favor of Nebraska. This put a damper on Minnesota's hopes, for Smiley was looked upon a certain winner of two firsts.

BOOKMAKERS TO INVADE CANADA

It's Slim Picking in New York for Them Now.

New York, May 17.—As soon as racing opens at Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor and Fort Erie, many of the leading bookmakers, who have been features of the New York tracks for years, will take up their occupation there. Announcements made at their clubhouse last night indicated that they did not believe in their ability to make a living at the New York tracks this summer, because of the restrictions on betting and the limited number of racing dates. It is believed the invasion of the Canadian tracks by New York bookmakers will drive the home bookmakers out of the field and will result in livelier times on those tracks.

After canvassing the results of the two days' experience on Belmont track last week the bookmakers last night seemed to be of the opinion that there was no money for them this year in New York. Under the "oral betting" permitted by recent court decisions, the bookmakers are able to accept bets only from persons whom they know personally and whom they can trust for a later settlement of their accounts. It is understood that most of the persons whom the bookmakers know are as well versed on the chances of the various horses to win as are they themselves. Therefore the chance to win is very small and from an exceptionally limited field.

It is high time that some direction was taken by the officials of the Duluth Boat club to determine whether the junior eight will be abandoned, or whether sufficient interest in the success of that crew can be stimulated to warrant the continued training of the eight.

Saturday night, for the second time this short season, the juniors were unable to go upon the water. These men were responsible for the loss of the evening's practice.

The men should either abandon their efforts to make the crew or have moral responsibility enough to play fair with the rest of the members of the crew—those members who have the success of the crew at heart.

All three of the candidates who were absent Saturday night should be forcibly impressed with the fact that rowing is somewhat different from parlor games, where a man may miss an occasional practice and yet give his opponent a hard fight. In rowing there are a few details that one must know and know well before one can possibly hope for success.

The lack of spirit in the junior eight is something that is to be deplored. If in a city of 90,000 population sufficient interest cannot be stimulated in rowing to get a full junior crew upon the water, rowing should be abandoned.

To show the utter lack of spirit that pravails among some of the candidates for the junior crew, it need only be cited that one candidate who was rowing as a regular in the boat, suddenly stopped practising. He did not consider it of sufficient importance to inform Coach Dr. Frank Lynam of his decision not to row. Neither did he even inform any of the members of the eight.

In justice to the crew in part, it must be said that some of the candidates have the success of the crew deeply at heart. These candidates since the beginning of the season have shown proper spirit. They have worked hard for the success of the crew. They have sacrificed time and have gone to many inconveniences to forward the progress of the eight. Yet their efforts have gone for naught simply because some candidates with no thought for the success of the crew, have seen fit to delay progress by remaining away from practice with a glaring consistency.

The coach's time is too valuable, and so is the time of some of the members of the crew to have their efforts made light of, by a few members.

Those who have watched the spirit of the senior eight and then watched the lack of spirit of the junior eight, will agree, that unless there is a hard, sincere, conscientious effort put forth for the success of the crew, the intention of sending a junior crew to the regatta at St. Paul should be abandoned before the thing becomes a fiasco.

Bill Papke's Dutch must have been aroused at the Saturday sketch he staged out Frisco way with one Kelly by name. Bill went at Citizen Hugo with that avidity shown by a colored person for a crap game. Hugo followed Biblical instruction, turning his phiz with dexterous regularity, first one cheek and then the other, to the rude slaps of Bill.

And the press reports state that Bill's speed made the efforts of Antonio Kelly look like a truck horse cavorting with a Kentucky thoroughbred. Mons Kelly in the days of old always had the speed sign hung across the front gate of the Papke person. Can it be that the Italian is headed for the discard?

It is to be hoped, however, for the good of this Papke party, that he will never get it into his stubborn German noodle that he can lick Stanley Ketchel. Billy is a good, plodding warrior, but if he ever gets in the way of that rip saw from the Grand Rapids district, his near relatives will bear false witness as to kinship.

M. D. Sherring, who won the Marathon in Athens in 1906, and who upon his return to the land of the Canuck, was presented with about $2,500 in silver coins, good for porterhouse steaks and diamonds, wants to be reinstated as an amateur. He says he didn't run for money; that the giving of the coin and the hotel that fond cities bestowed upon him, was a glory incident. The question of when an athlete is an amateur promises to become as mysterious as the "How old is Ann" adage.

Big Purse Offered.

San Francisco, Cal., May 17.—Fight Promoter James Coffroth has offered Billy Papke, who defeated Hugo Kelly here, $10,000 to meet Sam Langford in the Colma arena. The offer was made to Papke's brother and the date suggested was July 5. The offer was so unexpected that the Papkes were not ready to give a definite answer. Coffroth asserts that he will offer $5,000 to Langford for his end of the purse and he is confident of landing the match.

ROWDYISM TO BE ELIMINATED

Acting President of National League Holds Meeting for Umpires.

New York, May 17.—The elimination of rowdyism on the ball field and continuance of the strict enforcement of rules throughout the season were two points brought out with emphasis by Acting President John Heydler of the National league at a conference here yesterday with the umpires of the organization.

The meeting was called principally to go over the regulations with new umpires, and to discuss means of bringing about the best results from the double umpire system.

At its conclusion Mr. Heydler, touching on the question of regulating the demeanor of players, declared that "it is not the intention to allow a few of the rowdily inclined to negative the good results achieved."

It was decided to follow the action taken by the American league last year, barring a player from the field for the entire day in the event of his being ordered from the field by reason of a double-header.

Third Baseman Edgar Lennox of Brooklyn and Infielder William Gleason of Philadelphia, who were indefinitely suspended last Tuesday for participating in a near-riot on the Brooklyn grounds, were reinstated. They will be allowed to resume play today.

In view of the low level of some of the players' benches, notably at the Polo grounds here and at Philadelphia, it was decided to promulgate a new rule covering cases where a thrown ball goes in such depressions. To offset the delay in recovering it, only two bases will be allowed.

Race Postponed.

Montreal, May 17.—The twenty-mile race between Alfred Shrubb and Henri St. Yves, scheduled for yesterday afternoon, was postponed on account of rain. It will be run off on Thursday.

Boxing in Mexico.

Mexico City, May 17.—Bert Davis of San Francisco yesterday won the lightweight championship of Mexico by stopping Kid Lavigne, holder of the title, in eight rounds. Lavigne was helpless when the referee stopped the fight. It was the resumption of boxing in this section.

Claims Championship.

New York, May 17.—Shad Link of Baltimore was defeated by Charles Olsen last night in a catch-as-chatch-can wrestling match in two successive falls, the first in 21 minutes 2-5 second with a crotch hold, and the second in 21 minutes with a scissors hold on the head. The winner now claims the lightweight championship of America.

Fraser Sold to Orleans.

New Orleans, La., May 17.—Manager Frank of the New Orleans team announced yesterday the purchase of Pitcher "Chick" Fraser from the Chicago Nationals.

New Yorker Wins.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 17.—What was to have been a seven-day walking match was finished last night, the time being cut to 17½ hours, with A. Hoagland of Auburn, N. Y., the winner, with one competitor only a mile behind him. At the finish Corey ran Blake a mile, doing the distance in 5 minutes 17 seconds. The final results follow:

Hoagland, 113:1; Brown, 112; Corey, 111:13; Harrison, 110:5; West, 109:10; Blake, 109:2; Quale, 104:9; Regan, 103:9.

SINGLE TAXERS ORGANIZE CLUB

Will Seek to Spread Henry George Doctrines in Duluth.

Duluth believers in the single tax theories of the late Henry George met Saturday night in the office of W. A. Pryor, in the Lonsdale building, and organized a local branch of the Single Tax League of Minnesota. The following officers were elected: President, Samuel Nixon; secretary, M. Pray; financial secretary, Dr. H. V. Goodfellow.

Meetings of the new branch will be held the first Sunday of each month in the Lonsdale building. When the attendance and membership warrant, a hall will be engaged.

The working theory of the single taxation of land values was evolved by Henry George about twenty-five years ago and given to the world in his famous work, "Progress and Poverty." The growth of the single tax movement has been rapid, and it is now international in its scope.

Property taxes in New Zealand are now, and for many years have been, worked out on a single tax basis. This was the first country of size and importance to adopt the system, and it has worked out so well that single taxers point with pride to New Zealand as an example of what the George theory actually applied will do for the commercial and internal prosperity of a nation.

The Duluth single tax advocates propose to begin earnest propaganda work and make the local society one of the largest and most potent in the state.

FOR ROBBING MAILS.

Thomas A. Brooks Has Been Held to Grand Jury.

Fargo, N. D., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy United States Marshal Bert Wood has arrived in the city from Grand Forks, having in his custody Thomas A. Brooks arrested at Grand Forks on the charge of postoffice robbery. The man was taken in custody on a commissioner's warrant sworn out by Postoffice Inspector Chase, who had the case in charge.

The defendant was given a hearing before the commissioner and was held to the federal grand jury. He is charged with robbing a postoffice in Sargent county. He was a rural letter carrier at the time the alleged offense occurred. He is now held in the Cass county jail.

S.S.S. PURIFIES BAD BLOOD

Bad blood is responsible for most of our ailments, and when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, trouble in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acrid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores and ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise, or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was healthy the place would heal at once; but being infected with impurities which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up, the fibres and tissues are broken, and the sore continues until the blood is purified of the cause. S. S. S. is Nature's blood-purifier and tonic, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks. It goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impurity, humor or poison, restores lost vitality, and steadily tones up the entire system. S. S. S. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it pure, fresh and healthy, and permanently cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Boils, and all other skin eruption or disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

Married Misery

People often rely on nature unaided to correct evil but it doesn't. One aim of corrective medicine should be to do away with married unhappiness. At the bottom of a deal of misery is found lack of cheerful yielding. Mean selfishness is as surely due to ill-health as famine is to failure. Ungovernable temper—a third fault—is largely the outcome of stomach disorder. All these causes disappear when stomach and liver are keyed to a finely balanced tone. The first sign of on-coming Biliousness, Indigestion or Headache, should suggest old Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. No other known medicine contains so complete a curing-power for disordered stomach and torpid liver—'Twill avert many a conflict between man and woman.

Take pains, however, not to insist too strongly on having your own way except with the druggist—insist that he give you Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Constipation is always aggravating. A costive person is hardly fit to associate with—while free and easy bowel action tends to make the grouchy grumbler a cheerful optimist, lovable and full of hope. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, taken now and then, move bowels gently once a day. That's enough.

TELLS OF CONFESSION

Told the Forger That He Would Not Compound Felony.

Chicago, May 17.—Maurice Rosenfeld and Bernhard Rosenberg, to whom Peter Van Vlissingen, forger of more than $1,000,000 in mortgages, alleges he confessed his crimes four years prior to making a public admission of guilt, appeared before Referee in Bankruptcy Wean today to answer questions growing out of Van Vlissingen's recent testimony.

Van Vlissingen, who was brought back from the penitentiary to assist in locating the assets of his estate, declared that in 1904 Rosenfeld, then cashier of the now defunct Chicago National bank, and Rosenberg, brother-in-law of Rosenfeld, discovered that several hundred thousand dollars in mortgages obtained from Van Vlissingen were forgeries.

"I offered them to go before the state's attorney, confess and take my punishment," said Van Vlissingen when on the witness stand a fortnight ago. "They said they wanted their money. I told them I could get it only by defrauding still other people. They said they did not want to hear about how I got it. The point with them was that I was to get it. So I continued forging, and discovery was staved off for four years more."

Mr. Rosenfeld, taking the stand, said he had known Van Vlissingen twenty years and had purchased from him many mortgages for himself and clients.

"When did you first learn of his insolvency?" asked Attorney Peake, representing the estate of the convicted.

Speaking of a new set of books which Rosenfeld had opened on Dec. 19, 1904, witness was asked his reason for so doing?

"Because," he replied, "on Dec. 9 of that year, Van Vlissingen confessed his forgeries to me."

"Did he tell you the names of his victims?"

"He said there were none other than myself and the interests I represented."

"Did you ask him?"

"Yes, I spoke particularly of Lefens and Seipp, and he answered that they had no spurious loans."

"How did you make your discovery of the forgeries?"

"I was in the Chicago National bank and saw a map of property at Forty-ninth street and Cottage Grove avenue in the hands of John R. Walsh, president of the bank. Mr. Walsh was about to buy the property from Van Vlissingen. I told Mr. Walsh that I held a mortgage on the property, and then I went after Van Vlissingen. I kept after him for three days till on Dec. 9, he finally confessed, breaking down and crying. I said to him: 'I am going to take this up with my lawyer. I am not going to compound a felony.'

"To this he answered: 'I am not going to run away, neither do I propose to commit suicide. I have equities in the real estate and can pay you off.'

Rosenfeld was alone at this interview, but the following day he was accompanied by his brother-in-law, Mr. Rosenberg. He said:

"Van Vlissingen repeated his confession and I again declared that I would not compound a felony. Then Van Vlissingen explained that his embarrassment was only temporarily, due to loaning out too much money. I suggested that his friends might help him out, but he said, no, the amount was not large."

"Did he agree to pay you and Rosenberg?"

"Yes; he promised us $1,000 weekly. He owed us about $370,000, which he said he figured he could pay off in two or three years. He said he valued his equities in real estate at $300,000."

PICTURE WAS VERY DEAR TO HIM

Accused of stealing $5 from Olo Thorsen on May 3 in a Bowery saloon, Andrew Peterson is on trial in the district court before Judge Dibell. The indictment reads grand larceny in the second degree.

The pocketbook carried by Thorsen was of a peculiar make and he identified it as his own when shown it by Attorney Warren E. Greene. Thorsen carried a picture of his mother in the purse, and he didn't care so much about the money as he did about his mother's photograph.

It is not expected that the case will be lengthy. The attorneys expect to get all the evidence in by Tuesday afternoon.

THIEF WAS CHASED BY BARTENDER.

After rifling the pockets of a companion while the latter was lounging around in a West Duluth saloon Saturday afternoon, a stranger was given a merry chase by the observing bartender, L. Stevenson, but eluded him by dodging down an alley.

From the description of the man given to the police, it is thought that the culprit is a man, who was arrested Friday night at West Duluth for drunkenness, and released the next morning.

The man was caught in the act of lifting a watch from his partner's pocket as Stevenson saw him. He dropped it and made a dash for the door. After he made his get-a-way, the police were notified.

LORD ROBERTS CELEBRATES HIS GOLDEN WEDDING.

London, May 17.—Lord Roberts is today celebrating the golden anniversary of his wedding and so popular is "Bobs," as he is universally called, that the event has assumed something of the character of an imperial festival. Except during the race meetings the telegraph office at Ascot never has known anything to compare with the rush of messages that have been arriving all day long from all parts of the empire congratulating the field marshal. The king and queen were among the earliest to remember the day, and the newspapers are full of eulogies of the veteran soldiers.

IT IS NOT THE DUKE AFTER ALL

Austrian Consul Interviews Salvator—Back to Machine Shops.

Chicago, May 17.—Johann Salvator, alleged "lost duke of Austria," who disappeared from Palmesville following the publication of his claim to noble birth, appeared in Chicago today from Racine, Wis. He was taken before the Austrian consul, Otto Graf, with whom he had a brief interview. Following the interview the consul said:

"I do not believe he is the lost archduke."

"What are you going to do about the case?" he was asked.

"Nothing; there is nothing to do. He is going back to his job in the machine shops in Palmesville."

LONDON LEARNS TO FRIVOL.

"It is a common cause of complaint against English people, and English men in particular, that they cannot let themselves go, or in other words, that they cannot frivol and 'play the fool,'" says the Lady's Pictorial. "There is nothing so good for the individual's spirits and the nation's gayety as to be childish on occasion and foolishly young.

"On the Continent they consider the best means to this end is to don dominoes and false noses and blow penny trumpets, dance in the open air, and so on. In England we do none of these things and, so we are told, more's the pity.

"Desperate efforts are now being made to correct this mistake on our part. London is now a gay city; we are making the most of our restaurants, the cafe is creeping into favor, we are no longer so chary about decorating our houses and making a brave show when we get a chance of organizing a procession.

"There are signs and tokens that the carnival spirit hovers over us. The artists' fancy ball idea has been warmly taken up, the roller skating carnival at Olympia, to which none are admitted who are not in fancy dress, has found favor in the sight of the public, and this year the restaurants made merry at Mardi Gras dinnerers.

"By all means, let us make more of Shrove Tuesday. It is a day for frivolling across the channel. Let us frivol here. We have seen how the Christmas parties organized by foreign managers of our big hotels are enjoyed by the stolid English, and without doubt if we are shown how to keep Shrove Tuesday in Continental fashion, we shall not now be slow to enter into its spirit. We are learning the pleasures and ignoring the silliness and childishness of 'dressing up;' we are discovering the art of frivolling."

Hitherto the population of Japanese towns of the empire as a whole has been estimated from the official records of births and deaths and other documents, but it has now been arranged to make a municipal house-to-house investigation, commencing at Kobe.

COPPER STOCKS ARE STRONGER

Copper stocks were inclined to be irregular and weak at the opening today, but they rallied during the latter part of the session and closed firm.

North Butte opened at $61, went as low as $60.25, rallied to $63, and closed at $62 bid and $6.35 asked. Amalgamated opened at $82.75, advanced to $82.12½, declined to $82.50, and closed at $82.50 bid and $82.75 asked.

Walker's copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial, said:

"Copper is stronger. Lake is 13¼ to 13⅜ cents, and electrolytic is 13 cents per pound. The volume of sales has been heavy since the beginning of the month, and the prospect is good that May deliveries will exceed production for the first time in more than a year. According to the statement of the Producers' association, the surplus supplies increased less than 1,000,000 pounds in April, indicating that consumption now approximates production. Exports are steadily increasing, now equalling 60 per cent of the American production. Within a month or two official reports should begin to show a considerable decrease in the surplus supplies, and this will lead to a further advance in the price of the metal. The outlook for the copper market is exceedingly promising."

ADVENTURES AT SEA.

Ships Have Many Strange and Weird Experiences.

Lives of adventure; quick deaths; the romance of the seven seas—all can be found behind the crude and unpicturesque language of ships' log books.

In the log of the Rapidan, a large British steamer which during the South African war was engaged in taking horses to Cape Town, the following episode, showing a man's gallantry in a desperate situation, is set down in one or two simple sentences, says the Baltimore Sun.

The ship was three days out when a fire started in a storeroom close to the engine room. Almost instantly a drum of turpentine burst, and a great rush of flames enveloped the engine room, driving every one from it.

Utter destruction threatened the vessel, and there is not the slightest doubt that she would have been lost but for the prompt and brave action of the chief engineer. While all others ran for their lives he faced the fierce flames long enough to shut off the engines. Then rapidly he turned on all the available stop-cocks and drains, and when he rushed up on deck his clothes were singing. The hatches were clapped to and the steam extinguished the fire.

"July 9—Shaft broke."

The above entry is taken from the log book of the steamship Athena, a large cargo vessel. At the time of the disaster she was right out in the center of the lonellest part of the South Atlantic.

It was almost dark when the accident occurred, and nothing could be done until daylight. When examination was made it was found that the stern tube was broken exposing the shaft fractured in the last frame of the peak, about the very worst place where it could have broken. Worst of all, there were only sixty days' provisions aboard.

For nearly six weeks the log-book of the Athena contains daily records of a long and desperate struggle to mend that terrible break, and all that time not one single sail broke the wide monotony of the surrounding sea. Owing to the narrow space only one man could work at a time, and a donkey engine had to be kept going the whole time in order to keep the tunnel clear of water, which poured through the stern bush. Forgings had to be made to form keys and bands, and a sleeve of quarter-plate steel to fit the shaft. When at last the keys were fitted and the fracture wedged, molten magnolia metal was run over all. The shaft was then sheathed and all made firm.

On Aug. 21 the machinery once more revolved, and the vessel forged ahead. She covered the 900 miles to port under her own steam, and not a penny was spent in salvage. It is a record for any skipper to be proud of.

One summer day, five years ago, the steamship Crown Point sighted in mid-Atlantic a bark flying signals of distress. Mr. Bryant, the second mate, was sent aboard her. He found she was the Planet of Hamburg. Her crew was stricken with scurvy; the first mate was dead, the second dying, the captain unconscious. The bark, 167 days out, was drifting helplessly.

Bryant volunteered to go aboard and endeavor to navigate the Planet to port. A few extracts from his journal show luminously the awful nature of his task:

"May 14.—One of the crew came and told me that the hold was full of schmall schnakes with foots, which I discovered to be scorpions. There is a dog aboard which left its teeth marks on my sea boots. It turned out to be mad and had been for some time. This is a place where Mark Tapley would come out strong."

"May 15—Captain unconscious; crew better. All medicine marked in Gerbetter. All medicine marked in Ger-man, which I do not understand. Crew man, which I do not understand. Crew are splendid fellows. They do all in their power to help.

"May 17.—Captain died at 3:45. Here we are—Captain dead, mate dead, second mate dying, no wind and nothing in sight. Captain's death seems to have caused great depression among crew. It does seem rough to sink him and throw him overboard. Of course, inevitable sharks came upon the scene."

At last after fourteen days of almost continuous toil, with hardly a moment for sleep or food, the Planet was brought safely into Queenstown. It was very pleasing to learn that in the friendly action which followed to decide on the apportionment of salvage, Mr. Bryant was awarded the substantial sum of $3,200.

Unhappily heroism on the high seas does not always have so fortunate an ending. On April 12, 1904, as the steamer Roman was on her way between London and Valencia a heavy gale came up and a ventilator of No. 2 hold was smashed by a wave. The carpenter, in endeavoring to repair the damage, fell into the hold. Among the cargo was a quantity of ammonia. The fumes overcame the poor man and he was seen to be lying unconscious. Mr. Clench, the chief officer, at once descended to the rescue. But he, too, fell suffocating.

Mr. Williams, the second officer, was the next volunteer, and, after several gallant attempts, he got a rope around both Clench and Stanford and brought them up. Unhappily the hero, Stanford, was beyond help and the carpenter had also ceased to breathe.

All sorts of strange incidents are to he found drily recorded in log books. We on land are apt to jeer at that supposedly fabulous monster, the sea serpent, and sailors will rarely mention any strange marine monster they may have seen for fear of being laughed at. But here is an extract from the captain's log of a steam trawler, the Craig Gowan. Its date is August, 1900, and the vessel was then three miles off Rattray Head, on the English coast.

"The chief engineer called me on deck at 4:30 p. m., saying that a whale or some extraordinary large animal was following in our wake. On reaching the deck I saw a very large animal of a dark color, which seemed racing us about fifty feet to windward. I saw at once the animal was not a whale, but some sea monster, the like of which I had never seen before. As it rose several of the portions of the body were visible at one time. It seemed to snake its way through the waters.

We could see that the skin was covered by some substance like a rough coating of hair. Securing the furnace rake to a stout line I threw it at the animal—the rake landed across the animal's back and we suddenly drew the line.

"The monster raised its body clean out of the water and made direct for the Craig Gowan. It rose till its head was over our gaff peak, when it lowered itself with a motion sudden as lightning, carrying away the peak halliards and sending gaffsail and all down on deck."

Here is a strange phenomenon reported in the log of the British ship Mohican. On Aug. 1, 1904, she was on her way to Philadelphia, when suddenly she was enveloped in "an electrical cloud of phosphorescent appearance," which magnetized everything aboard. Vessel and crew were covered with a fiery coating, and the needle of the compass spun around "like an electric fan."

Iron chains on the deck could not be moved. Everything of iron was magnetized and adhered to the deck or one another "as if riveted."

The cloud was so dense that the vessel could not proceed and the engines had to be stopped. After a time the cloud lifted as suddenly as it had appeared, and as it did so the phosphorescence faded and everything resumed its normal appearance.

The British steamship Mercedes, laden with iron ore, had an equally weird experience off the banks of New Foundland three years previously. The whole ocean suddenly assumed the appearance of a "mighty mass of flames," while balls of fire darted hissing among the rigging. At the same time there was a heavy gale, and big seas washing over the ship did much damage. When the wind died down the peculiar phenomenon known as "St. Elmo's fire" appeared in great balls upon the mastheads, shedding so powerful a light that it was actually possible to proceed with the repairs by the aid of these natural electric lamps.

IT PAYS TO PLANT TREES.

Thirty-five years ago the town of Andover, Mass., contained as fine groves of pines and other woods as there were in the state. From the top of Institution hill, look whichever way you might, beautiful groves were to be seen.

Today from the same point it is like looking across an almost barren plain, says a writer in Horticulture. The woods have nearly disappeared, and few trees have been planted in their places.

The brooks, where once a string of trout could be caught, contain water only a few weeks in the spring or during heavy fall rains; the rest of the year they are dry or nearly so.

What is going on in this town is going on in almost every town in the state, and if this subject of tree planting is not taken in hand either by the government or private parties we shall soon have a treeless state in Massachusetts.

There are thousands of acres of land that are unfit for cultivation, yet this same land has been covered with good growths of timber and wood and could be again so covered.

There is no better investment an owner could leave his children than to plant his barren lands with trees, besides benefiting the state and country in which he lives. A great many will say that it does not pay; a tree grows so slowly. Let us look at it in a business way and see.

J. D. G. Williams of Raynham set a piece of land to pine in 1850. The land was $10 an acre; cost of setting out, $5. After twenty-five years' growth the standing was was sold to Mr. Thayer of Tauntoin for $150 an acre, leaving the land in better order to set out again than when he bought it. The case may be stated this:

Trees per acre	5
Taxes per acre	5
Total	$20

Sold wood for $150 an acre and had land left.

A Mr. Williams of Bristol county set a piece of land to pine in 1811, the land costing $6 an acre. The trees were set in rows varying from six to nine feet and four to six feet apart. The lot was examined by an experienced lumberman in 1876 with a view to purchasing, and his estimate of the wood was seventy-five cords to the acre, more than two-thirds of this is suitable for box boards and is worth at the mill, three miles distant, $6 a cord.

Setting trees	7
Taxes	11
Total cost per acre	$24
Fifty cords of wood at $6	$300
Twenty-five cords of wood at $2	50
Yield per acre	$350

The late Richard Simpson set a piece to pine thirty-six years ago on land too poor to cultivate. The wood is now estimated to be worth $150 an acre at least.

These groves had no treatment to hasten their growth or improve the quality of the lumber, and with the exception of the removing of one or two dead trees it might be said that they took care of themselves. Had these plantations been pruned so that the whole growth of the branches had been thrown into the trunks they would have been worth at least 15 per cent more.

MONT BLANC'S WORST DISASTER.

Prof. Edward Whymper, in the Strand: In the late summer of 1870 a scratch party set out from Chamonix to ascend Mont Blanc. The amateurs were Mr. Randall of Boston, U. S. A.; Mr. McBean (American), and the Rev. G. McCorkindale of Goudock on the Clyde. They took with them guides or assistants no fewer than eight persons from Chamonix, and this was a quite sufficient number. As is usual, they passed the night at the Inn upon the rocks which are called the Grands Mulets. On the next day a number of persons below watched their progress through telescopes. They were seen to arrive on the summit and to begin the descent. By that time the weather had changed. I am told that the wind was something frightful. Even 12,000 feet below it was seen whirling the snow about, so that the members of the party were obliged to throw themselves down to avoid being carried away by it. Then the summit became clouded, and was not seen again for eight days.

No one came back, and upon the 7th of September fourteen men from Chamonix started out to try to learn something. Bad weather came on again, and it was not until the 17th that the fate of the party was ascertained. When the rescue party got up they found Mr. McCorkindale and two of the porters about 750 feet below the top, with their heads right way up, but with their clothes somewhat torn, as if they had slipped and fallen. About 300 feet higher up they came upon Mr. McBean and another porter sitting down, the former with his head leaning on one hand and the elbow on a knapsack; ropes coiled up, batons, axes and knapsacks round about them still containing a little food. Upon Mr. McBean's notebook was found containing several entries in respect to the occasion.

All of the five corpses were hard frozen. They were put into sacks and dragged down to Chamonix. It took three days to transport them. The bodies of the six others have not yet been recovered, but they will probably come to light in the course of a few years.

The queen of Swaziland, in Africa, when last seen by white people, was clad in a regal robe of ox hide, rather the worse for wear. To this simple garment were added bangles for her wrists and ankles. She sat on the palace floor and took snuff continually, wrapping around her shoulders an opera cloak of bright green and purple, diplomatic gift of an English nobleman.

THE TYLER RECITAL

Pupils Make Annual Appearance Before a Large Audience.

The twenty-third semi-annual recital of the Tyler vocal students took place at the Lyceum yesterday afternoon. Those who appeared at the former recital, last February, showed, as a rule, marked improvement.

Among the new voices, Miss Skaller and Miss Smith made a pleasant impression. Mr. Powell has a rich baritone-tenor, but seemed to be overnervous.

Mrs. M. A. Aldrich has made noticeable progress, her tone being much fuller, and she sang with a dainty appreciation of the text of her selection. Mr. Myhre has a rich baritone and his "Di Provenza" was sung in a professional manner. Much was expected of Dr. Bromund in his rendition of "Edward," Loewe. He met all of the dramatic requirements.

The concerted numbers were sung with a broad professional diction, the "Trio" from "Faust" being particularly good. The ever popular "Sextette" from "Lucia," and "Miserire Scene" from "Il Trovatore" brought out the old favorites. Mr. Tyler's tenor and the rich voice of Miss Reynolds blending admirably.

The theater was filled and the audience proved very appreciative, for, although encores were barred, several of the singers were compelled to make second appearances and bow.

Miss Reynolds and Miss Odegarn, a promising quartette, received small-sized ovations when they appeared, and the audience was equally appreciative of three other singers, who have future musical work mapped out for them; Mr Ingenes, who is to be with Field's minstrels next season; Dr. Bromund, who will go into grand opera, and Mrs. Aldrich, who has been engaged for the annual music festival in Toledo, Ohio, in August.

TARIFF IS UP TO TAFT

Governor Johnson Says President Is Responsible for House Leadership.

Predicts Republican Defeat If There Is No Revision Downward.

Washington, May 17.—Governor Johnson of Minnesota gave this estimate of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill on Saturday just before starting for his home after a visit to President Taft at the White House.

"The Republican party promised the people a thorough, honest and downward revision of the tariff. There is no doubt of that. The people expect that party to redeem that pledge. If the party does not keep faith with the people, the Middle West is lost to the Republicans four years hence.

"The national administration cannot escape responsibility for the action of congress on the tariff. Early in the proceedings President Taft took a hand. He helped to organize the lower house of congress and he is responsible for the leadership in that body.

Think "Interests" Control.

"Out in my country—the masses of the people—have no faith in the leadership of Mr. Cannon and Senator Aldrich. They have heard so much of this combination and its control of congress that they regard this control as being in the interest of the 'interests.' The people believe the 'interests' control congress.

"I don't know how the Middle Western senators and leading Republican papers are going to defend this tariff bill. They have outspokenly fought it. They should fight it and our people want the into fight it. How they can take up the cudgels of defense for it will be a rare sight if they can find the method.

"Our people, not alone Minnesotans, but the tillers of the soil and the workingmen of the entire Middle West are hoping against hope; expecting to get something they know they won't get. But they will get an accounting from the party they trusted.

Holds Party Responsible.

"The Republican party cannot place the blame for the Aldrich bill on a few Republicans and a few Democrats. It's up to the party, no matter how such and such a senator spoke and voted. The party which passes the Aldrich bill will get all of the praise and criticism that bill merits.

"I have heard since I came to Washington that Senator Aldrich is not alarmed about the Middle West. In fact, I am told that he has said the Republicans can elect a president without the Middle West—that the East and Far West will carry the election. I recommend Senator Aldrich as a soothsayer, but not as a campaign manager. I am not intimately acquainted with the provisions of the bill and do not assume to criticise any measure pending before congress. The fundamentals of the bill are known to me and I am certain that the bill as it now stands is not the revision of the tariff the people expected.

On Democratic Ground.

"A few years ago, I remember, the Democrats were sneered at because they declared for a tariff for revenue. That is exactly what the Republican party is standing for today. There is no other pretense made except that a revision of the tariff is now needed to help the revenues. Of course, the pledges to the people before the election for a revision of the tariff are not being considered now. The whole effort of the Payne bill is to raise more revenue to support the government.

"Middle Western farmers and producers can depend on tidal waves for their prosperity. The tariff does not bring good times or bad times to the Middle West with the ebb and flow of the roll in the senate. Down East the tariff, no doubt, has a big effect on the people, but out our way we are not disturbed because some critics condemn the debate over the tariff bill. We can wait for a good bill. We want a bill passed as rapidly as possible, but we want a bill passed which will come up to our expectation. No spur in the interest of business demanded will suit us if it means that we must take any bill agreed upon by the leaders. We do not want a bad bill just because it will take a few days more to write and consider a good bill.

Demand Free Lumber.

"Take lumber, for instance. In Minnesota we have seen our forests stripped bare. We are even now trying to devise some method by which we can build up our timber lands again. We can see no reason for the duty on lumber except that the men who own the big timber lands want that duty continued. The man who builds a house and builds a fence wants free lumber. That is what we ask of congress, and that is what our representatives demand.

"If our voices are unheard the leaders of the party responsible will have to reckon with a dissatisfied element in the next election. Minnesota and other states—Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Wisconsin, the Dakotas and others—Republicans as well as Democrats, want the tariff reduced. The papers are demanding it.

"Take the steel and iron schedule. The farmer buys nails for fencing. He pays some unknown factor in his purchase as a tribute to some interest, and he knows it. For thirty years these people have been studying this condition, which means to them everything going out and nothing coming in. The protection they enjoy from farm products, in my opinion, is no protection. I don't think the duties on products of the farm have anything to do with the price the farmer gets for his crops. We do know, though, that the tariff has a whole lot to do with everything the farmer has to buy."

MRS. SELIGMAN WEDS WALDSTEIN

London, May 17.—Charles Waldstein, professor of fine arts at Cambridge university, and Mrs. Theodore Seligman of New York, daughter of the late David L. Einstein, were married in the registry office here today. The marriage was thus solemnized on account of the very recent death of Mrs. Seligmann's father, all unnecessary ceremony being thus avoided.

Lewis Einstein, secretary of the American embassy at Constantinople, gave his sister away. The only others present, in addition to the groom, were George Leveston Gower, who was best man, Dr. Martin Waldstein and Miss King. Neither Mrs. Einstein nor Mrs. Waldstein were able to be present on account of illness.

Menominee, Mich., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—"My, look at that pretty deer, Jim," admiringly whispered Mrs. James Larson of Cedarville to her husband one afternoon last week as a big buck trotted on to their farm.

"I know I'll get pinched, but I can't let that deer get away," shouted the excited husband as he grabbed his rifle, lifted a window and fired. The first shot was fatal.

Mr. Larson was arrested and will be arraigned in a justice court Tuesday.

GRAPPLES PORCH CLIMBER.

Marinette, Wis., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—When neighbors, attracted by his piercing screams for help, rushed into the residence of W. C. Nelson early yesterday morning, they found Earl Williams, a business college student, 18 years of age, lying unconscious on the parlor floor. The furniture and household goods littered the room. Williams' head bore several bruises and his throat finger marks of an unknown assaulter.

Upon being restored to consciousness, Williams declared that about midnight he was awakened by the sound of some one on the porch. While hurrying through the hall to open the front door, he was clutched by the throat and rendered insensible, not, however, until he screamed loudly. A long rope, with a real cowboy noose, was found in the hall. Nothing was taken by the robbers and no arrests have been made.

SUNDAY WORKING NOT PERMITTED

Operations on Grand Forks Building Halted After Protests.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a storm of protest had been raised in Grand Forks against the carrying on of work yesterday on the new auditorium being constructed by the Oratorio society, operations were at 3 o'clock in the afternoon suspended for the remainder of the day. The workmen went at their tasks on regular time Sunday morning and no sooner had their hammers began to pound than trouble was brewing.

In Sunday morning services in the various churches the question was discussed by the pastors, and at 1 o'clock a meeting of the Oratorio society board of directors was called, when it was decided to call the work off for the day.

The new auditorium is being constructed for the May music festival, which takes place on May 26 and 27. Operations were only commenced two weeks ago and it has been found necessary to work from sunrise to sunset in order to complete the structure. On Saturday evening the officials of the society deemed it advisable to carry on the work Sunday in order that there need be no delay, but such a storm of protest was raised that the work had to be discontinued.

The new auditorium is being constructed at a cost of $35,000. It will have a seating capacity of 2,500 and will be the largest building of its kind in the state.

BODIES FOUND IN RUINS: DOUBLE MURDER SUSPECTED

Eagle River, Wis., May 17.—Two skeletons were found in the ruins of the Gault house at State Line, a village near here.

The authorities believe that murder was committed in both cases and are conducting an investigation.

FIND SON HANGING.

Sparta, Wis., May 17.—A mystery surrounds the death of Otto Bartel, who was found by his parents hanging to a tree in the woods near their home in Ridgeville with a halter tied around his neck.

The young man left his home in the morning. He went to the barn and took his horse and rode away. When he did not come to breakfast a search was instituted, and not until late in the afternoon did the parents find the body.

CONDITIONS GENERALLY FAVORABLE FOR DRIVING

Cloquet, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prospects of the log drive starting during this week were greatly brightened by the recent heavy rains, and the uneasiness among the lumbermen has disappeared to a large extent. Last year the drive was the most successful in years and the rivers were practically cleaned up, so that the low water this year will not be as serious as would otherwise have been the case. The mills are all under way, two of them running with night crews, and the outlook for a big sawing season is very good.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS ON AT CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., May 17.J(Special to The Herald.)—The first gun of the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign has been fired and the work will be vigorously pushed before the week is ended. The members have been divided into teams, with captains appointed, and the whole city will be canvassed. The mark has been set at 500, exclusive of the boys' department, and judging from the great success durring the past year, which was the first, this number will be secured. At present the membership numbers about 400.

ADMITS ROBBING HIS FRIEND OF GREENBACKS.

Menominee, Mich., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ray Russell was arrested in John Adams' saloon in Menominee and in his pocket was found a wallet containing two $10 bills and belonging to Philip L. Wirth of Green Bay.

Russell broke down and confessed that he "lifted" the wallet while he and Wirth were in another saloon earlier in the evening. The prisoner's parents are quite well-to-do Marinette citizens, and it is probable that there will be no prosecution.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ENTRYMEN TO SETTLE

Important Order Relative to Red Lake Indian Reserve Lands.

If Not Promptly Paid the Entries Will Be Cancelled.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—By the direction of the commissioner of the general land office, notices have been issued by R. J. Montague, receiver of the land office at Crookston, to the effect that all persons who entered government lands on the Red Lake Indian reservation, which was opened to entry in 1904, must pay up their delinquent yearly payments forthwith, or their claims will be cancelled.

The law under which these entries were made required that at the time of entry one-fifth of the purchase price of the land must be paid down, and the balance in four equal annual installments. The lands were also sold at public auction, something out of the ordinary in opening of Indian reservation land to settlement, and some of the quarters near this city brought as high as $45 per acre, while that outlying went from $4.50 to $10 per acre. Not a few of the entrymen failed to maintain their annual payments for various reasons and have dropped their claims. Those in arrears must now settle, and the whole matter of the ownership of these lands will be determined this summer. A special agent from the land office at Washington will soon arrive on the ground and examine the claims of those settlers who are not observing all the technicalities of the law with regard to their homestead entries.

VIOLENT DEATHS VERY NUMEROUS

Five Reported in Cass County, N. D., About Same Time.

Fargo, N. D., May 17.—Another victim of violent death lies at the morgue, increasing the number of bodies held there to four. John F. Sheldon of Washburn, N. D., committed suicide Sunday, severing his windpipe.

Two suicides, one murder and one railway accident are now baffling the authorities of Cass county.

Sheldon, a farmer, was taking the liquor cure. In company with friends he was strolling along the river bank. Lying down in the grass he cut his throat and was not discovered for some time.

INTERVIEW OFFICIALS.

North Dakotans Asked Great Northern to Improve Schedule.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Senator J. E. Stevens of Northwood was here yesterday, en route home after spending a few days in St. Paul as a member of a delegation from the cities along the Larimore-Cassleton branch of the Great Northern. The delegation visited the headquarters of the Great Northern for the purpose of interviewing the officials on the proposition of securing a change in the train service along the line.

Under the present service, the towns along the line have no Sunday passenger or mail services and this is what they are hopeful of securing. The Great Northern officials met with the delegation and while nothing definite was given out, they seemed to be quite willing to do the best that was possible.

HALE AT EIGHTY-SIX.

One of Builders of Early Minnesota Celebrates His Birthday.

St. Paul, Minn., May 17.—A. L. Larpenteur, the only surviving member of the convention of sixty-one men held at Stillwater in 1848, that secured the legislation from congress authorizing the organization of Minnesota Territory, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday Sunday at the Anchorage, the Larpenteur residence at Rondo and Dale streets. Eight of Mr. Larpenteur's ten children were with him. He has two married daughters living in New York. Mrs. Larpenteur is dead. All day men and women, young and old, from all parts of the state called at the home to congratulate the aged pioneer and wish him a "long and a happy life."

FLOCK TO GRAND FORKS.

Conventions and Lodge Meetings Bring Many People There.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the North Dakota Sunday School association's annual convention meeting Tuesday morning simultaneously with the grand lodges of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the Degree of Honor, "standing room only" signs will very probably be displayed by local hotels. The Sunday school delegates and the lodge people will begin their sessions tomorrow morning, the former to remain three days while the lodge delegates will remain two days.

The Sunday school convention will doubtless be one of the greatest that has ever been held. It is expected that the total number who will attend will exceed 500. It is the twentieth annual session and with a splendid program prepared, it should be the most successful of all.

The grand lodge sessions of the A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor will bring about 400 other visitors to Grand Forks. Elaborate plans have been laid by the Grand Forks lodge of the order to entertain the visitors during their stay here.

The executive board of the Ancient Order of United Workmen met in regular session this morning in order to arrange for its annual report, which will be made to the grand lodge tomorrow.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT

Till This Recipe Was Tried. Cure Followed in 5 Hours.

A prominent medical man, who suffered with a severe cough and cold on the lungs, often being kept awake all night, and weakened by loss of sleep, finally discovered a simple formula which will cure any cough in five hours by the clock. It is a laxative tonic cough syrup which can be made at home by any one and the formula is here given for the benefit of those who pass sleepless nights in painful paroxysms. Those who have tried it say it is magical, and beats any high-priced slow-acting cough medicine ever said.

Mix in a bottle, one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age. This will tone up and rid the system of deep-seated coughs every time.

This is the second hearing that has taken place since the case went into court, and it is expected that it will be the final one. Tolley that his services are no longer required. City Attorney Weoledge has refused to give up the position, and the city is badly stirred up over the controversy.

It is claimed by Mayor Tolley that Attorney Weoledge failed to perform his duty in connection with the recent division case, in which Kenmare was deeply interested.

IS POUNCED UPON.

Railroad Man Is Attacked By Couple of Thugs.

Menominee, Mich., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—While walking away from the St. Paul depot at Crivitz late Saturday night, John Thompson, a railroad employe, was pounced upon and beaten into insensibility by two unknown men, believed to be the robbers who recently made an unsuccessful attempt to enter the Menominee St. Paul depot.

Thompson's cries of "murder" attracted several people to the scene, but the robbers escaped. Yesterday morning two men, giving their names as John Murphy and Charles Branach, were arrested and brought to Marinette. Thompson will recover. The only theory regarding the assault is that the victim surprised the two robbers, who were planning to hold up the depot agent. Thompson is a poor man and had only 5 cents on his person when assaulted.

SALOONKEEPER IN JAIL.

Must Spend Thirty Days for Striking Woman in His Place.

Marinette, Wis., May 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Briar, a Marinette saloonkeeper, must spend thirty days in the Marinette county workhouse, despite the fact that he is reputed to be worth at least $25,000. Several weeks ago Briar was found guilty of striking a young married woman who had called at his saloon looking for her husband. The justice fixed the punishment with no alternative and Briar appealed, but Circuit Judge Hastings confirmed the sentence.

THE PERFECT ORGANIZATION OF THE ST. REGIS HOTEL

Which Has Proved Its Claim to the Title of "America's Finest."

One visitor to New York—a Western editor who stopped at the St. Regis hotel, Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street—printed the following in his paper upon his return home: "Judged from the standpoint of service, the St. Regis has no equal in America. From the proprietor down—even to the young men who operate the elevators—there exists the most complete harmony as the result of most excellent training." And he might have added that this harmony of effort was but the inevitable result of perfect organization. Mr. R. M. Haan, the manager, has a positive genius for organization, and, he has built up an efficiency among the different departments of the hotel that places the St. Regis in a class by itself. In respect to interior arrangements and furnishings no hotel in America is its superior, and few are its equal. But the fact remains that this hotel is better known and appreciated by what it "does" for guests than for what it "is." Service and attention at the St. Regis are of the highest possible grade. Its restaurant charges are the same as other first-class hotels, and rooms may be had as low as $3 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished single bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up for an elegant suite, consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath.

WHEAT HAS FIRM TONE

The Closing Prices Are More Than a Point Higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"The wheat market was easy at the start and from ¾d to 1¼d lower than Saturday. Offerings were liberal, with selling to realize prompted by the heavy American and Russian shipments and favorable reports from India. During the morning July further declined ⅝d and the other months eased sympathetically. Toward midday the market reacted, prices gaining ¼d to ⅝d, with the exception of December, which was still under pressure. There was a slight improvement in the spot demand and private reports stated that the dreadth in Argentina was causing apprehension. At midday the market was easy from ½d to 1¾d lower than Saturday.

"Corn was quiet at the start and unchanged. Later, July lost ⅝d on the poor demand for both cargoes and parcels."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 7 against 16 last year, and at Minneapolis 276 against 299 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 282 against 315 last year. Chicago received none against 36 last year. Winnipeg received 51 against 51 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 359,000 bu, last year 671,000 bu. Shipments 445,000 bu, last year 1,174,000 bu.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Upturn, Due to Commission House Purchases, Is a Surprise.

Chicago, May 17.—An advance of more than 1c marked early trading in the wheat market today, following a weak tone at the start, when prices were a shade higher to ⅝@¾c lower than Saturday's closing quotations. The upturn, which was due to liberal purchases by leading commission houses, was a great surprise to pit traders in general, who had expected a heavy market because of the bearish nature of weekly statistics. The world's shipments were liberal at 10,640,000 bu, of which amount Russia shipped 3,416,000 bu, and the amount on passage increased 3,000,000 bu. Opening quotations on July ranged from $1.12⅜@1.13⅝, and later the price touched $1.14⅛.

The market was strong all day. The top for July was at $1.14⅛. The market closed strong with July up ⅛@1⅛c at $1.14⅛.

The buige in wheat prompted considerable buying of corn by shorts, which resulted in a fair rally from an opening decline of ⅛@⅜c. July opened at 67⅞@68c, and advanced to 68⅝@69⅜c. The easy tone at the opening was due to favorable weather conditions for the newly planted crop.

The market eased off a trifle, owing to a decline in the price of the cash grain. The close was steady with July ⅛c higher at 68⅛c.

Oats also responded to the strength of wheat, shorts being liberal purchasers early in the day. July opened ⅜@½c lower at 56⅞@57c, and advanced to 57⅛@57⅜c.

Provisions were dull and easy, the weakness being due to increased receipts of live hogs at Western packing centers. At the opening prices were unchanged to 7½c lower.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 17.—The opening was surprisingly strong in the face of all the bearish news. Light offerings, rumors of buying by the big Chicago holders and millers, and big holdings in local market were responsible for the strength. Local stocks decreased 275,000 bu for two days. Minneapolis today received 275 cars against 299; Duluth, 7 against 16; Winnipeg, 51 against 51. September opened $1.07⅝; high, $1.08⅜@1.08½; low, $1.07⅝; close, $1.08⅜. July opened $1.25; high, $1.26⅜@1.26¾; low, $1.24⅞; close, $1.26⅜@1.26½. Cash wheat was in fair demand. Local and country millers were buying the better quality, and elevator interests picked up some of the lower grades. No. 1 northern sold for 2⅜@4½c over the July option, and No. 2 northern for 1½@2½c over. No. 1 northern, $1.29⅜@1.30¼, spot and to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.27¾@1.28¾, spot and to arrive; No. 3 yellow corn, 72⅜@73¼c; No. 3 white oats, 55⅞@56⅜c; No. 2 rye, 83⅜@85⅝c.

Flax—Receipts, 3 cars today against 35. Shipments—None. Light offerings made the market dull. Prices were quoted 1c over the Duluth July option. Close, $1.71½.

Barley—Receipts, 26 cars today against 15; shipments, 11. Today's market was inclined to be easy. Offerings were heavy and met with light demand. Several cars were carried over. Prices were about 1c lower. Closing range, 66½@68c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,674 tons. No change was reported in the situation. Demand continued strong and far in excess of the supply. Shipments were steady and prices unchanged. Bran in bulk, $24.00@24.50.

Flour was in fair demand, according to the big millers, and the smaller mills reported it a little slow. Shipments for the past two weeks have shown a slight but gradual increase. Prices were unchanged. Shipments 50,988 barrels. First patents, $6.16@6.36; second patents, $6.00@6.20; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.35@3.50.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

The Market Opened With Slight Changes, Declined and Closed Easy.

Selling on Increasing Engagements of Gold for Export.

New York, May 17.—The opening transactions in stocks were conducted without interest and prices moved but sluggishly. Small gains and losses were very evenly divided, a rise of ¾ in Colorado Fuel being the most notable change.

Fluctuations in stocks were unimportant as a rule and less interest was taken in the speculation than for some time. General Electric advanced 1¾ and Chesapeake & Ohio, Allis-Chalmers preferred and American Beet Sugar stocks 1. Long Island ran off 2 points and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, 1.

The market was narrow and dull and the price movement indecisive. The local equipment stocks were strong, afterwards the price level receded. General Electric gained 2½, Westinghouse Electrical and New York Air Brake 2, Allis-Chalmers preferred 1⅝, Norfolk & Western preferred 1½, and American Smelting preferred 1. Brooklyn Union Gas lost 2½. Consolidated Gas 1⅜, American Tobacco preferred 1½, United States Rubber preferred 2¼, and Railway Steel Spring preferred 1. Bonds steady.

Small offerings lowered prices until the important stocks were ruling fractionally below Saturday's closing. Specialties, which had been active in the morning, were neglected. Delaware & Hudson fell 1¾, and Denver & Rio Grande, Great Northern preferred and the Ore Certificates 1. Western Union gained a point.

The market closed easy and dull. Professionals sold the market on the increasing engagements of gold for export. Erie declined 1¾. Consolidated Gas 2¼. Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 1½, and Reading, Rock Island, Wabash preferred, Amalgamated Copper, American Locomotive, International Pump, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Third Avenue, People's Gas and Hocking Coal a point or more. Wisconsin Central rose 2⅜ and the preferred certificates 1¾.

The Cotton Market.

New York, May 17.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 14 points on May and 3 points lower to 4 points higher on later months. Cables were a shade disappointing and there was talk of light rain in Texas, but the weather was considered too wet in the Eastern belt, near months seemed to be panic-stricken and immediately following the call new high records were made for May and July, which sold from 16 to 21 points net higher, while the later months advanced also on the covering movement in sympathy with the near positions and on rebuying by bulls who had taken profits toward the close of last week. After these positions had sold about 10 to 12 points net higher the market became somewhat irregular on the talk of rain in the Southwest and prices reacted 3 to 4 points from the top with the undertone very nervous during the middle of the morning.

Spot closed quiet, 30 points higher; middling uplands, 11.65; middling gulf, 11.90; sales, 4,500 bales. Futures closed steady; closing bids: May, 11.30; June, 10.98; July, 10.96; August, 10.94; September, 10.84; October, 10.83; November and December, 10.87; January, 10.85; March, 10.81.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 17.—Barrett & Zimmerman report. The first of the week finds the market well supplied with offerings in all classes, and orders are prepared to fill the large orders of horses and mules for contract and railroad work, which are expected in the near future. Saddle and combination horses are in broad demand. Dealers report the movement of horses this spring to be 25 per cent heavier than last spring, and expect values from now on to steadily advance. Buyers report it to be almost impossible to buy big horses in the country as the farmers need them for their own use, and will sell them only at a prohibitive price.

HAINS GOES TO PRISON

Captain Walks Beside the Keeper in a Dazed Manner.

No Effort Is Made to Prevent Prisoner's Transfer.

New York, May 18.—Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., was taken from the Queens county jail today to Sing Sing prison to begin a term of what will be at least eight years, unless appeal taken by his counsel results in a new trial. No effort was made to prevent his transfer to Sing Sing.

Eugene N. L. Young, one of the Hains' attorneys, said an appeal would be taken to the higher courts in the regular way. Mr. Young went to the jail today and notified Sheriff Harvey of the decision of Hains' counsel to offer no opposition to his transfer to prison. The sheriff immediately made preparations to send the captain to Sing Sing.

Capt. Hains left the jail in custody of a keeper. His bearing was not materially changed from his first appearance in the courtroom. He walked beside the keeper in a dazed manner and showed no evidence of emotion. On the way to the Grand Central station he neither recognized nor spoke to any one. None of his relatives were at the jail when he departed. At the Grand Central station the captain and his keeper boarded a train for Ossining.

ARBOGAST GIRL SURELY INSANE

Prosecutor Says She Will Not Be Prosecuted for Murder.

St. Paul, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louise Arbogast, accused of murdering her father with an ax and setting fire to the bed on which he slept, will never be convicted of the crime.

County Attorney R. D. O'Brien considers the girl insane and not responsible for her actions, and it is probable that steps will be taken immediately to have her committed to an asylum. She will be brought into police court tomorrow morning for examination.

Testimony of doctors who have attended the girl, and nurses who have cared for her, leaves no room for doubt that she is mentally unbalanced. The girl's actions while under the care of nurses in St Luke's hospital were the actions of one insane. Her movements were cunning, and the nurses had to watch her constantly.

Her mother's condition remains about the same. She is still in the City hospital, suffering from burns sustained the morning of the murder.

BIG TUNNEL CAVES IN

The Denver & Rio Grande Traffic Blocked Forty-Eight Hours.

Denver, Colo., May 18.—Five hundred feet of the famous tunnel over Tennessee Pass on the Denver & Rio Grande, five miles west of Leadville, caved in last night. There were no casualties, but the tracks will be blocked probably for three days.

The cave-in occurred 1,000 feet from the portal of the tunnel, probably at one of the air shafts that reach up through the tunnel roof, and undoubtedly was caused by the melting of the extremely heavy snows. Although heavily timbered, the tunnel was always carefully watched, and precautions had been doubled during the last week.

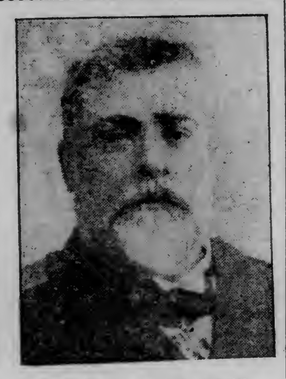
The discovery of the cave-in was made by a track-walker. Believing that the vast mass of dirt and rock had buried a train, he hurried back to the first station and gave the warning. A train bearing engineers and officials of the road was rushed to the scene, but it was found that no one had been hurt. Arrangements have been made whereby traffic will be taken care of by the Colorado Midland railway.

In the offices of the chief engineer of the Denver & Rio Grande it was expected that traffic through the tunnel will be restored within forty-eight hours.

The Tennessee Pass tunnel was completed in 1890 and was part of the work of reconstruction of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, when that road was changed from a narrow guage to the standard guage line. The tunnel is known to tourists all over the world.

CZAR RELEASES HEROES FROM FORTRESS TERMS

GEN. STOESSEL.



ADMIRAL NEBOGATOFF.

St. Petersburg, May 18.—Lieut. Gen. Anatole M. Stoessel and Rear Admiral Nebogatoff have been released from confinement in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul by order of Emperor Nicholas. The health of both men has been gravely affected by their confinement. Gen. Stoessel was found guilty by court-martial of surrendering the fortress of Port Arthur to the Japanese, and was serving a sentence of ten years. Nebogatoff was sentenced to the same length of time for surrendering to the enemy at the battle of the Sea of Japan. Stoessel began his sentence March 20, 1908, while Nebogatoff took up his quarters in the fortress April 15, 1907. Rear Admiral Griegroff and Lieut. Smyrnoff, subordinate officers under Nebogatoff in the Russo-Japanese war, were pardoned and released from the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul a month ago. These officers had been sentenced to death for having surrendered their commands, but in view of extenuating circumstances their sentences were commuted to ten years' imprisonment, which they began serving in 1907.

THOUSANDS MISS BREAD

Famine Confronts Over Half a Million New Yorkers.

Four Hundred Bakeries Close Due to Wheat Price.

New York, May 18.—A bread famine among the 700,000 residents of the East side was inaugurated today when more than 400 bakeries closed. The trouble started with the increase in the price of wheat recently and was augumented by the coincident strike of the baker employes on the East side.

At a meeting of the bakery owners last night it was unanimously decided to close all of their shops, numbering more than 400, commencing this morning. The police hearing of this, detailed an unusually large number of men on duty in that section today during the hours when housewives usually visit the bakeries. There was a fear that the riotous scenes of a few years ago, when the price of meat was raised, might be repeated.

Bakers who are not affected by the action of the meeting last night will not be able to supply one-tenth of the demand for bread in the crowded East side, and therefore it was believed that there would be an unprecedented demand for flour and bread from other sections.

AUTO SERIOUSLY HURTS WORKMAN

Paris, May 18.—The automobile in which Thomas P. Thorne, the American racehorse owner, now in Paris, was driving to the Maisons-Laffitte track this morning, ran into a workman and inflicted injuries that probably will prove fatal. The machine was going at high speed. In trying to avoid the man the chauffeur swerved his car, which struck a tree and was badly smashed. Mr. Thorne and the chauffeur each sustained slight injuries.

Tulsa, Okla., May 18.—Muskogee town lot frauds will be taken up with renewed vigor by a new federal grand jury that met here today upon order of Judge John A. Marshall of Utah. The first grand jury to begin the investigation sat at Muskogee last winter and returned indictments against Governor Charles N. Haskell and six others.

JULIAN RALPH'S SON MAY EXPIRE DUE TO SELF-INFLICTED BULLET

New York, May 18.—Willar Ralph, 29 years old, son of the late Julian Ralph, who was prominent as a magazine writer and a newspaper correspondent, is in a critical condition today in Coney Island hospital from a bullet wound inflicted on himself under peculiar circumstances. While walking along Surf avenue, Coney Island, late last night, Ralph took a revolver from a holster he carried under his coat and fired a bullet into his side. Although the shot was heard by many persons, and several witnessed the incident, none went to his aid, and Ralph walked to a drug store half a block away and asked for a glass of water. The druggist, observing that he was wounded, caused the young man to be taken to the hospital. In his pocket were found letters which the police declared indicated his intention to commit suicide.

WHEAT AT $1.30

Chicago, May 18.—After a fortnight of quiet steadiness wheat for May delivery today jumped to $1.30 a bushel, which is a new high record for the crop. Covering of a small line by a belated short is said to have caused the advance.

CONNECT DEATH WITH PETROSINO

New York, May 18.—Marked for death, the police believe, because he had been a close friend of Lieut. Joseph Petrosino of the New York police department, who was assassinated in Palermo, Ploggio Puccio, a cigar maker, was assassinated early today as he was about to enter his apartments on East Seventy-fifth street.

He dropped dead on the threshold as a bullet fired over the balustrade on the floor above entered his body. By the time the police arrived the assassin had escaped, presumably to the roof and down through an adjoining house. The police say that the man who shot the cigar maker had been lying in wait for him, apparently, for several hours.

Before going to Palermo, Petrosino frequently visited Puccio's home. When the body of the detective was brought to New York for burial Puccio took an active part in the arrangements for the demonstration in honor of Petrosino, for the funeral and the benefit for the widow. While he was engaged in this work he received several letters threatening him with death unless he discontinued activity, but he ignored them and declared that he "did not fear the cowards."

Tokio, May 18.—The mayor gave a dinner in honor of Rear Admiral Giles B. Harber, commander of the Third division of the Pacific squadron. A Geisha dance was the principal entertainment provided during the dinner. There was no speech-making, and the guests of the evening thoroughly enjoyed the last of the many functions which have marked the reception of Harber's fleet while it has been in these waters. Among the guests were Vice Admiral Saito, minister of marine, and Ambassador O'Brien.

MANY HURT IN CRASH ON CHICAGO ELEVATED.

Chicago, May 18.—A number of persons were injured, one seriously, in a collision between two southbound trains on the Northwestern elevated road at Franklin and Ohio streets today. William C. Schroeder, cashier for the Continental National bank, was the most seriously injured, both legs being broken. One of the cars of the rear train left the rails, but remained on the structure. The collision is supposed to have been caused by the failure of an air brake to work.

AFTER ROBBERS AND THE REWARD

Sleuths Gather at Spokane to Take the Scent.

Spokane, Wash., May 18.—Responding to the offer of rewards aggregating $66,000 by the federal authorities and the railroad for the capture and conviction of the bandits who held up and plundered a Great Northern train, near Spokane, detectives are gathering here from many places.

Spokane police believe that the robbers made their way into Spokane and a close watch is kept on the saloons and lodging houses.

MRS. TAFT BREAKS DOWN, UNDER SOCIAL STRAIN

MRS. WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Washington, May 18.—Mrs. William H. Taft, "first lady of the land," has suffered a nervous breakdown, due to the excitement of the active social life into which she has been plunged since her husband became president. The climax came yesterday, but today the mistress of the White House is reported improved. The strenuous series of social functions has proved too much for her. After the call of Dr. Delaney, the attending physician, at the White House, this morning, it was announced that the president's wife had rested comfortably and was much better. Mrs. Taft became worse yesterday while on a trip down the Potomac river with the president, and a small party of friends. The excitement, heat, and exertion, as the president himself expressed it, were too much for her. She slept well last night, however, and was considerably refreshed this morning. Dr. Delaney called shortly after 9 o'clock and was satisfied with the progress she was making. Dr. Delaney, who attends the president's family, is an army physician.

EXHIBIT WILL NOT GO BACK TO WASHINGTON. AFTER ALL.

Seattle, Wash., May 18.—The exhibits prepared by the bureau of American republics for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition will not be sent back to Washington because of lack of room in which to make a proper display. This was made certain when it was announced that room for the pan-American exhibit will be provided in the government building.

LOTS OF MOTION, BUT NOT GETTING ANY NEARER THE FLAG.

FIGHT PEST IN HOMES

Georgia Women Carry on a House-to-House Campaign.

Red and Yellow Papers Warn People of Consumption.

Augusta, Ga., May 18.—Block by block, Augusta was today campaigned as never before in the fight against the ravages of tuberculosis.

Today was the day of tuberculosis talk. Committees of Augusta women, including representatives of the King Daughters, other church societies, women's clubs, etc., divided the city by squares and at every home was delivered a red and yellow sheet pleading for the people to talk tuberculosis with their families. The crusade was under the auspices of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which is conducting an "all-Georgia campaign." Augusta city officials, county societies and other organizations. Arrangements were made at a mass meeting of women last night. Every member of every household, home folks, business folks and working folks were asked these questions:

"When is a consumptive dangerous to other people? What is the difference between consumption and tuberculosis? Why do so many negroes, Indians and Chinese die from consumption? What can be done at home to protect the family against consumption? Do you know that every one is interested in one way or another in the fight against tuberculosis?"

Many responded to the request to call up the society headquarters after their talks.

JUST WED, ARE DEAD

The Bodies of Bride and Groom Are Discovered.

Bullet Hole in Man and Woman's Body Is Charred.

Portland, Or., May 18.—Information has reached here of the finding four days after their marriage of the bodies of Louis H. Worley and his bride at their home near Redmond, a town in the vicinity of Prineville, Or. The tragedy is shrouded in mystery.

Mrs. Worley's charred body was found in the burned ruins of the home, while that of her husband was found in the barn with a bullet wound in the temple. According to the verdict of the coroner's jury, which held an inquest over Mrs. Worley's body, the woman came to her death accidentally. Whether Worley committed suicide, or whether the couple were victims of a double murder has not been decided.

Worley came to Oregon from St. Louis, where he was born. He owned one of the best farms in the district and was considered prosperous. Recently he sent for Miss Ruth Leeroy of Chicago, his sweetheart, who had known him in the East, and she came here and married him, the wedding taking place Wednesday last.

BATTLESHIP ON WAY UP RIVER

Baton Rouge, La., May 18.—In spite of the early hour at which the battleship Mississippi steamed away from Baton Rouge this morning, the wharves were filled with enthusiastic crowds who had turned out to bid adieu to those on board the big vessel.

It was 6 a. m. when the battleship hoisted anchor and began the fourth stage of its journey up the river to Bayou Sara, La. The visit of the man-of-war to the state capital was marked by an almost continuous round of entertainment for the officers and men.

Capt. Fremont occupied a place on the bridge with the pilot as the Mississippi began its further journey upstream.

NO DAMAGE, SAYS JURY

Verdict For Blackduck Physician Is Returned By Twelve Men.

Jury Reached Conclusion After Deliberating Sixteen Hours.

Bemidji, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being out about sixteen hours, the jury in the $5,000 damage suit of Mrs. Mary A. Johnson against Dr. John C. Koch of Blackduck, at 10:30 this morning returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The case was concluded yesterday evening and the jury retired at 6:10 o'clock. At 10:20 this morning the jury came into court and requested instructions as to what constituted malpractice. The term malpractice was explained to the jury as literally meaning bad practice, and the jury retired for further deliberations. It returned in ten minutes, having found a verdict in favor of Dr. Koch.

Case Is Bitterly Contested.

The case was commenced on the afternoon of May 4 and has been bitterly fought every day since then. Senator Peterson of Moorhead was counsel for the plaintiff and E. E. McDonald of Bemidji represented Dr. Koch. It was brought out in the evidence that Dr. Koch was insured in an indemnity company, protecting him from suits for malpractice, which fact may have had something to do with the determination of the plaintiff to sue for damages.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, the plaintiff, who lives at Blackduck, claimed that her child had died through the failure of the physician to make the proper diagnosis of the case and give the proper treatment.

SICK MEN

Are Crowding the Offices of the Specialists

CHANGE OF TEMPERATURE AND CLOSED WINDOWS CAUSE MANY DISEASES.

Yesterday was one of the most busy days the Expert Doctors, for their offices were crowded from 7 in the morning to 9 in the evening, and if you wanted an interview with one of the specialists you had to wait a long while, as the number of those who were seeking the doctors' consultations and cures were many.

CAUSES OF LUNG TROUBLES AND CATARRH.

Living in over-heated rooms by closed windows, the blood vessels become relaxed and dilated. If you keep your windows closed over night while you ought to breathe God's fresh air, and inhale the same poisonous air you have exhaled, you prepare your system to be the victim of poisonous germs. These germs attack the weakest points of your body. Having dilated your blood vessels of your Throat, Lungs and other parts of your body, they will suddenly contract if they come in contact with the cold air; the blood flees from these exposed and chilled parts and disease germs rush in and you are a victim of them.

If you have any cold and are coughing. If you feel warm in the evening and exhausted and you are easily getting out of breath, you wait a few months longer the disease has progressed and there is just one place in town where you can be cured, and that is by the specialists. They will also cure you of Blood Poison, Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Heart, Paralysis, Weakness, Indigestion, Nervousness and all chronic diseases of men. Men, if you are sick and cannot find any help anywhere else, do not give up hope. Go and see the Specialists of the Progressive Medical Association; they will cure you and you will not be charged for consulting them. You can see them from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. in their offices, No. 1 West Superior street, Duluth.

FAMILY IS IN COURT

Mrs. Nichols and Children Anxiously Await Outcome of Trial.

Only Support Taken Away When Father Was Killed.

Mrs. Charles C. Nichols of Chicago, whose husband was killed while working on the new St. Louis county courthouse, was in court this morning, accompanied by her six children.

She is suing Landquist & Ilisley, the contractors for the building, for the sum of $5,000, claiming that they were negligent in that they did not furnish her husband a safe place to work.

The children range in age from a mere baby to a girl perhaps 12 or 13 years old. It took the combined efforts of the mother and oldest daughter to keep the rest of the children quiet.

Little realizing how much the result of the trial meant to them, the two youngest sat on the floor, while the mother waited to be called to the stand.

On entering the courthouse one bright little fellow of about six summers refused to budge inside the door saying he was afraid. He was a good kicker and also possessed a lusty crying voice, which he seemed not in the least afraid of straining.

The mother certainly has her hands full with the healthy bunch of youngsters she has to care for, and her face shows the strain of hard work and much anxiety.

To Detroit and Return $12.00.

CLAIMS CITY WAS NEGLIGENT

J. W. Hurd Stepped Into Catch Basin and Wants $3,900.

J. W. Hurd wants $3,900 from the city of Duluth for injuries alleged to have been sustained when he stepped into one of the city's catch basins, near Sixth avenue west and Third street, last fall.

He claims that the city was negligent in that the hole should have been covered up.

Hurd says that as the result of the injury he was kept in bed for weeks. He claims that he has not as yet wholly recovered and that he will be, to a certain extent, disabled for years to come.

The case is being tried before Judge Hughes.

"GERMAN SCARE" WILL NOT DOWN IN ENGLAND.

London, May 18.—The "German scare" grows apace, and no sooner is one wild rumor laid at rest than another arises to try the nerve of the English people. Last week there was the story of a liner filled with troops, which, it was alleged, had entered the harbor, surveyed the possibilities of making a landing and departed without being sighted by the British warships, with which the North sea is supposed to be closely dotted, while today Sir John Barlow, a Liberal member of the house of commons and a well-known merchant, startled the country with the sensational suggestion that the Germans have established a depot of arms containing 50,000 Mauser rifles in the center of London, with 7,500,000 rounds of ammunition for the use of 63,000 trained German soldiers now employed in various capacities in England.

WARNS OF LABOR MEN

Van Cleave Tells Employers That Congress May Heed the Unions.

Fears That Picketing and Boycotting Will Be Legalized.

New York, May 18.—Discussion of the labor problem was the feature of today's session of the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers. President Van Cleave of the association spoke in protest against the possibility of special legislation in favor of organized labor, pleading for consideration of the subject on the ground that such legislation would constitute a menace to the country's welfare.

The coming session of congress would seem a particularly favorable time to the labor leaders for the urging of legislation to legalize picketing and the boycott, Van Cleave declared, because both parties would be particularly anxious to control the next house. "Reverses in the middle of a presidential term," said the speaker, "usually mean that the opposing party will elect the next president.

"There is always promises and concessions to all sorts of elements with the hope of winning or retaining votes."

Reviewing the fight of the National Association of Manufacturers against "class legislation," Van Cleave urged necessity of further precautions. "Financial confidence is reviving and there is an improvement in most of the important lines of trade," he said. "Unwise labor legislation, however, could quickly check this trade uplift."

REAL ESTATE MEN TO BANQUET

Members of the Exchange Planning Big Event for June 1.

The annual banquet of the Duluth Real Estate exchange will be held on the evening of June 1 at either the Commercial club or the Spalding hotel.

Great plans are being made for the affair, and a number of invitations are being sent to outside real estate men. Governor Johnson has also been invited. There will also be sent out to citizens of Duluth, who are not members of the exchange, nearly 100 invitations.

The real estate brokers are planning on making the event the largest of its kind ever held at the Head of the Lakes, and to this end the committees in charge of the affair will be kept busy from this time on.

The object of having visiting real estate men present is to get a line on what is doing in other cities. The guests wil also have an opportunity to size up the situation in Duluth and compare it with that of other cities.

THE LAST OF THE CONTRACTS

County Is Advertising for Last Work on Courthouse.

The county is today advertising for bids for the window shades and portable electric lights which are to be installed in the new courthouse building.

With the awarding of this contract, which will be let some time during June, the work of awarding contracts will be finally cleaned up, this being the last one.

Work on the interior of the building is going along at a satisfactory rate, and the finishing although always slow, is being rushed as rapidly as possible.

The two top floors are now all but finished, and most of the rough work is over on the next. The work of making and putting in place the plaster carvings, which decorate the hall passages and some of the rooms, is nearly completed on the upper floors.

The grading in front of the building has been begun.

NECK BROKEN; LIFE CHARMED

White Plains, N. Y., May 18.—William Peter, connected with a circus showing in Mount Vernon, and who has a broken neck, believes that he has a charmed life.

He was crossing the four tracks of the New Haven railroad at Mount Vernon when he was struck by an electric motor attached to a train bound for Manhattan. The station platforms were crowded with hundreds of commuters, who believed that Peters had been instantly killed. The motor, however, tossed the circus man about twenty feet above, and when the train was stopped and the train hands ran back, expecting to find a mangled body, they were surprised to see Peters sitting up in the middle of the track, rubbings his eyes and mumbling to himself.

Policemen came with an ambulance and wanted to take Peters to the Mount Vernon hospital, but he said to the officers:

"O, go on and leave me alone. I ain't hurt any; was jolted a bit, that's all."

A crowd of commuters gathered around him and then he told of once when performing on a trapeze he fell forty feet and broke his neck. His neck and back are now held in position by braces.

ZINC PART REDRAFTED

Senate Finance Committee Decides to Change Tariff Bill.

Smoot of Utah Will Introduce the Amendments.

Washington, May 18.—After considering for nearly two weeks the controversy between zinc producers and smelters, the senate committee on finance today decided to redraft the two paragraphs of the tariff bill fixing duties on zinc ore and pig zinc. Amendments were completed which will be introduced in the senate by Senator Smoot.

Zinc bearing ore containing less than 20 per cent zinc is made dutiable at one-quarter of a cent a pound on the zinc it contains; containing more than 20 and less than 25 per cent of zinc, one-half cent; between 25 per cent and 30 per cent, three-quarters of a cent, and more than 30 per cent of zinc at 1 cent per pound.

This amendment proposes considerable reduction over the rate as established by the house and reported originally from the senate committee on finance.

The rate on zinc in blocks or pigs is increased from 1 cent to 1 1-3 cents a pound. The rate on zinc in sheets is increased from 1¼ cents to 1½ cents and in sheets coated or plated with nickel or other metal or solutions from 1½ cents to 1¾ cents. No change is made on old and worn out zinc, fit only to be remanufactured, which is made dutiable at 1 cent per pound.

Senator Smoot will introduce an amendment which has the indorsement of the committee, redrafting the paragraph relating to cement. It makes no change in the rate of 20 cents per ton on crude plaster rock or gypsum or the rates on ground or calcined gypsum or pearl hardening. Instead of an ad valorem rate of 35 per cent on Keene's cement, or other cement of which gypsum is the component material of chief value, standards and values are fixed as follows: If valued at $15 per ton or less, $5 per ton; if valued above $15 and not above $30 a ton, $10 and if valued above $30 the duty is fixed at $14.

On behalf of the committee, Senator McCumber will introduce the new classification on window glass. Members of the committee, under the direction of Mr. McCumber, have had this amendment under consideration for more than a week. The paragraph relating to window glass has been entirely redrafted, and the rate on common window glass has been reduced ⅛ cent per pound. This is regarded as a very material reduction on the quality of glass in common use for building purposes. The amendment makes an increase of about ¼ cent a pound in the finer qualities of window glass, which is used almost entirely for picture framing. Very little of this quality of glass is manufactured in the United States, and the amendment is intended as a revenue-producer.

Spanish War Veterans Discuss Plans for Memorial Day.

Camp John G. McEwen, No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, at a regular meeting last night, made final arrangements for Memorial day.

The invitation of the G. A. R., extended the camp by the citizens staff to participate in the Memorial day parade, was accepted.

The general committee has made arrangements covering the entire day, and after the parade in the morning the camp will go in a body to Asbury M. E. church in West Duluth, where the exercises of the Spanish War Veterans will be held at 11 a. m. The Ladies' auxiliary will co-operate with the camp and will assist in decorating graves and in the service.

The program includes such well known local talent as Charles O. Applehagen, Florence Hyland and Maud Matteson. There will be a chorus by school children and the oration of the day will be delivered by Rev. Thomas Grice.

The camp has extended a general invitation to all Spanish war veterans to join in the parade on Memorial day. Commander Theo. T. Simon announced his aides for the day, and Capt. Charles C. Tourte with J. B. Gilson and Martin Rude will have charge of the exercises at Oneota cemetery.

The exercises at Forest Hill and the Catholic cemetery will be conducted by the commander, and participated in by the entire camp and the ladies of the auxiliary.

A commemoration was read from Hugo V. Koch, department commander, saying that he would be in Duluth next week.

The semi-annual inspection of the camp was made last evening by Edward M. Kelly, detailed by the inspector general. Inspector Kelly found the camp in a very flourishing condition, and congratulated the members for the patriotic and efficient manner in which the affairs of the camp are conducted.

FOUR NEW PLAYERS

"Al" Cummings Joins Squad—Kuehnow Out After Pennant.

"Eau Claire and Winona have big league teams, but if they want big league teams we'll give them one, too," said Al Kuehnow, secretary of the Duluth Baseball club, who returned this morning from Winona, where he has been watching the team perform.

"Both those clubs are away over the salary limit, but if they intend to play that game we can play it, too, and you'll see Duluth with a real ball club within the next few days.

"A new infielder named Banfielder joined the club today. I have also signed Al Cummings, the Duluth pitcher who was with Atlanta last summer, and a new southpaw from St. Paul, whose name I can't give out yet. Two new catchers will also join the team at once, Werntz from the Three Eye league, and Otto Mueller from South Bend.

"I wrote Comiskey yesterday for any men he might have left over. He promised me he would help me out if I needed it, and I am going to hold him to his word now. I am determined that Duluth will be in the race for the pennant this year, and if Eau Claire and Winona can support Class B ball teams, Duluth can.

"We had a nice crowd at Winona, about 2,000 people, but the attendance at Eau Claire has been poor."

Duluth will open the season at home on May 29 with Superior, and Mr. Kuehnow promises that before that date Duluth will have a real ball team. Unless there is a decided brace in the next day or two, there will be a general shaking up of the team.

PITTSBURG IS AT FEVER HEAT

Pittsburg, Pa., May 18.—With both men in good condition and interest at fever heat, sporting circles of Pittsburg and vicinity are patiently awaiting the fight here tonight between Stanley Ketchel of Grand Rapids, Mich., the middleweight champion, and Hugh McGann of Kansas City. They are scheduled to fight six rounds before the National Athletic club at Duquesne Gardens.

Accommodations for 7,000 spectators have been arranged. It is probable that even a greater number will be in attendance, as delegations from all the towns surrounding Pittsburg are coming by every train today.

Ketchel and McGann are in topnotch shape, and a bout that will be full of action from the sound of the gong is assured. While most confidence is placed in Ketchel, it is said McGann is in the best possible condition and is prepared to work hard for a good showing with Ketchel, who will meet Johnson next October for the heavyweight championship.

Scott, in his confession, states that he met Embrey in an open pasture Sunday afternoon and after some discussion forced him at the point of a revolver to go to a cypress brake. There he shot him four times.

Scott claims Mrs. Embrey threatened to kill him if he did not commit the crime.

DECIDES AGAINST THE RAILROAD

Commerce Board Favors Hanna Company in Superior Case.

Washington, May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The interstate commerce commission today rendered a decision in the case of the complaint of the M. A. Hanna Coal company against the Northern Pacific railway, in which reparation is awarded on account of the imposition of unreasonable freight charges on five carloads of coal shipped from Superior, Wis., to North and South Dakota. The reason for the decision in favor of the complainant was because the railroad failed to supply cars of the capacity ordered by the Hanna company.

YOUTH BOASTED OF HIS CRIMES IN THE FAR WEST

Ralph Deisenroth Claimed That He Once Shot Man.

Police Have Little Direct Evidence Against Murder Suspect.

RALPH DEISENROTH.

Although Ralph Deisenroth, arrested at Saxon, Wis., as a suspect in the Rudolph Nelson murder mystery, is an innocent, boyish-appearing fellow, only about 20 years of age, it is said that he has boasted in the past of having shot a man out West, and has also boasted of being a crack shot with a revolver.

The Superior police think there are good grounds to believe that the youth was connected with the murder of the Itasca school boy, but as yet lack any proof to back up their suspicions. Dr. F. P. Williams, with whom an automatic revolver was pawned last Thursday evening, is unable to identify Deisenroth as the man who turned the gun over to him, but it is believed that a friend of the young man may have thus disposed of it.

Edward Kamper, a Superior milkman, for whom the suspect worked, told the police today that while Deisenroth was in his employ he delighted in scaring the children with stories of his exploits in the West, and the milkman further states that on one occasion the young man boasted of having shot a man in Dakota.

Boasted of Exploits.

According to the milk dealer, Deisenroth said he escaped going to jail by throwing his gun away. There was no evidence against him, and so he was released. According to his employer, the boy thought this quite an exploit, and talked of it as if it were really true. He liked to talk about bandits, hunting and robberies, and told Kamper and his family frequently that he was an expert in the use of a revolver. So far as the milkman knows, Deisenroth did not own a gun of any kind when employed by him.

The suspect was brought to Superior from Saxon by Officer Braue on a South Shore train last evening, and there was such a crowd of people at the depot that the policeman could scarcely make his way through the crowd. The people followed the pair to the police station, and it was necessary to rope off the entrance to keep the people from surging in.

The prisoner talks freely of himself, and gives a detailed statement of his actions on the day of the murder. He claimed he intended to work at Saxon long enough to get the money needed to take him home, and was greatly surprised when he was arrested. He denied that he knew anything of the crime, and says he has not carried a weapon of any kind since he came here from the West. He was born in Oklahoma, and came to Superior from Dakota, where he had been working on a farm.

The youth says his name is George Wilsey, but papers and letters in his pocket indicate that his real name is Deisenroth. He acknowledged that he was drinking Friday. He made no resistance when arrested.

Selinski, one of the murder suspects held by the police, admitted yesterday that he had gone under a number of different aliases. Aside from that, and the arrest of Deisenroth, there were no developments in the case.

WOMAN BURNS SELF TO DEATH

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, May 18.—A victim of ill health for many years, Miss Mary Sadler of near Toledo, chose a sensational method of suicide. Making an excuse that she was going to the home of her brother, Miss Sadler went to a small ravine, where she raked together a pile of leaves, saturated them and herself with three quarts of kerosene, and applied a match. When found, the woman's body was burned to a crisp.

PREDICTS CAREER FOR CHILD.

Teacher Says Maine Girl Will Rival Jenny Lind.

Boston, Mass., May 18.—Mary Rourke, a Portland, Me., girl of 17, bids fair, according to all reports, to rival Jenny Lind in grand opera. The child's voice first attracted notice three years ago when she joined the choir of St. Dominick's church in her native city, and she was sent to Boston for instruction. Miss Clara Munger, her teacher, says: "While her notes were hard to begin with, I could see underneath a voice which is far better than that of Geraldine Farrar, and one which I can safely predict will be heard and proclaimed as the greatest ever produced in America."

MRS. TINGLEY HAS APPEALED

Wants the Cuban Authorities to Investigate Her School.

Washington, May 18.—Mrs. Katherine Tingley, dean of the Universal Brotherhood and the Theosophical society, whose Boja Yoga school at Point Loma has been criticised in the Cuban newspapers, has brought the matter to the attention of President Taft and is confident that a thorough investigation of conditions will be made.

Mrs. Tingley has been in Washington for several days. Realizing that the newspaper attacks reflected on her institutions, she lost no time in asking Gen. Carlos Garcia Veles, the Cuban minister to the United States, to take the matter up so that the attacks could be repulsed by a thorough and impartial investigation of conditions.

Before taking the matter up with the state department Mrs. Tingley will not talk freely about Boja Yoga. Her secretary made this statement for Mrs. Tingley:

"Mrs. Katherine Tingley came to Washington recently to demand of the Cuban government an immediate investigation of her school through Gen. Carlos Garcia Veles, the minister from Cuba.

"Some time ago Mrs. Tingley discovered an attempt in Cuba to injure the character of her school at Point Loma. The effort was to alarm the parents of the Cuban children now at Point Loma. Her Cuban and American lawyers say that the scandals printed in a Cuban newspaper are false in every particular.

"The stories were written to excite and horrify a certain class of Cubans. Mrs. Tingley has brought the matter to the attention of President Taft."

MARINE NEWS

ENGINEER IS BLAMED

Claimed He Was Responsible for Explosion on the Hoyt.

More Details of Horrible Tragedy on Lake Erie.

The Marine Engineers' association is inclined to lay the blame for the accident to the steamer James H. Hoyt, which occurred off Fairport, Saturday, and in which three men were fatally injured, upon the engineer in charge of the machinery at the time. The man shipped under the name of John Myers, but the engineers' association state that his name is John Dugan and that he came from New York, where he had affiliated with the New York local.

The Hoyt was manned with a non-union crew, and by his act of signing on the boat, Dugan lost his union membership. It was reported before the accident, that the Hoyt had sailed with one engineer. The association took the matter up with the inspector of steamboats, but was informed that the Hoyt had the right to make the trip under the conditions.

The Hoyt was officially inspected at Cleveland last week. An examination of the causes of the accident has been ordered. The vessel has been pronounced safe, and no causes can yet be assigned for the accident.

The Provident Steamship company, of which A. B. Wolvin of Duluth, is manager, owns the Hoyt. She is a steel boat 363 feet long and has a gross carrying capacity of 5,700 tons. The Hoyt was taken back to Cleveland for repairs.

A more complete account of the accident is as follows:

Three were killed, one probably fatally injured, one other seriously and a sixth slightly scalded when the starboard boiler of the Hoyt exploded at 8:10 o'clock Saturday morning. The steamer was bound down the lake for Ashtabula and was about three and one-half miles north of Fairport harbor when the accident occurred. The anchor was let go at once and a signal of distress displayed. This signal was seen by the lookout at the Fairport life saving station and Capt. Rasmussen immediately responded with his crew and notified Capt. Elliott of the tug Annie and both tug and life saving crew started for the disabled steamer.

Arriving at the steamer the rescuers were met by a horrible sight. The exploding boiler had blown ashes all over the deck and stretched thereon were burned and blistered forms, writhing in agony, half naked, showing great blotches of raw flesh where the skin had come off when the clothing was removed.

A call for ambulances was made and nurses and doctors were sent from Painesville and Fairport on the tug Cresswell. The injured were taken to the hospital in Painesville.

Death hovered over the ambulances, taking two of the men before the hospital was reached. Capt. F. L. Meno accompanied the dead and dying. He was asked for details of the accident and the names of the victims. He gave no details further than that it was the starboard boiler which exploded and said that he did not know the names of the victims.

The victims were an engineer and five firemen and coal passers. The engineer was the least injured of the six. His injuries were dressed and he remained on the steamer.

The engineer sustained severe burns on the hands and face in an effort to rescue the men caught in the fire hole, and succeeded, unaided, in getting some out. One of the injured men died before he could be taken ashore.

It is impossible to get the names of the three dead. The two who were alive when the hospital was reached gave their names as John Miller, German, of 1958 Columbus street, Cleveland, and Phillip Densett, Italian, of 125 Fairfield street, Cleveland. The three dead were Italians, and it is said that one or more of them lived out Mayfield road, Cleveland. The engineer's name was given as Myer. The two men at the Painesville hospital are in a serious condition, but will probably live. The inquest was held in Cleveland yesterday.

WILL BE MASTER OF NEW VESSEL.

Capt. F. B. Blair of Superior has gone to Ecorse, Mich., to take command of the new steamer North Sea, built at that place for the Mutual Transit company.

The North Sea was constructed by the Great Lakes Engineering works, and is a sister ship in every detail of the North Lake which was in Duluth on her maiden trip last week.

The North Sea will be taken in a few days to Cleveland, where she will take her first load for up-lake ports. Capt. Blair was in command of the North Wave of the Mutual line last year.

LIGHT BOOZE.

Do You Drink It?

A minister's wife had quite a tussle with coffee and her experience is interesting. She says:

"During the two years of my training as a nurse, while on night duty, I became addicted to coffee drinking. Between midnight and 4 in the morning, when the patients were asleep, there was little to do except make the rounds, and it was quite natural that I should want a good, hot cup of coffee about that time. It stimulated me and I could keep awake better.

"After three or four years of coffee drinking I became a nervous wreck and thought that I simply could not live without my coffee. All this time I was subject to frequent bilious attacks, sometimes so severe as to keep me in bed for several days.

"After being married, husband begged me to leave off coffee for he feared that it had already hurt me almost beyond repair, so I resolved to make an effort to release myself from the hurtful habit.

"I began taking Postum and for a few days felt the languid, tired feeling from the lack of the stimulant, but I liked the taste of Postum, and that answered for the breakfast beverage all right.

"Finally I began to feel clearer headed and had steadier nerves. After a year's use of Postum I now feel like a new woman—have not had any bilious attacks since I left off coffee."

SCARCITY OF CARGOES

Grain and Coal Shipments on Lakes Very Light.

Little Hope of Early Settlement of Labor Troubles.

The statement of President Livingston that the freight situation is bothering vessel owners more than the scarcity of men, seems justified by conditions today.

Grain shipments for the past week have been light and present indications do not point to heavy shipments for some time. The rate on grain from the Head of the Lakes is now 2 cents.

Soft coal cargoes are offered freely at down lake ports, due it is said to an over-production at the mines, and the slow sales at delivery points. The Duluth-Superior coal docks are well loaded.

The brisk movement in ore shipments which commenced the latter part of last week is falling off and the demand for tonnage in the ore trade is light.

President Coulby of the Pittsburg Steamship company, says that no more of the Steel company's boats will be put in commission until the present dull condition of the freight market is relieved. There are 201 vessels controlled by the Freight Lake Carriers' association now in commission and the number will not be increased until there is a very decided improvement in business.

The lake labor situation is about the same as it has been during the past week. There are no apparent signs of the opposing interests meeting in an agreement acceptable to both sides. The Lake Carriers are more concerned over the disaffection of the engineers than of the other union men.

The Marine Engineers' association had figured on a busier lake season than has so far developed, basing their predictions of an early settlement on their belief that the Lake Carriers would be unable to secure competent engineers when the shipping season was under full way.

It looks now as if the strike might drag along all summer as both sides are firm. Hope is expressed in marine circles that the Interstate arbitration board which meets in Detroit today may be able to bring about a settlement.

The condition of Chief Engineer Mahoney of the Mutual line steamer North Wind, who is in a Buffalo hospital, is reported as critical.

Mahoney, who is well known in Duluth, left his boat at Buffalo Friday to go uptown. The cab in which he was riding was attacked by a gang of union men who dragged him out and assaulted him unmercifully. No police were about at the time and Mahoney was not found until some time after. He was unconscious from the effects of the beating.

Should Mahoney's injuries prove fatal it will be the second death to result from strike violence.

ARBITRATION ALL ON ONE SIDE

Detroit, Mich., May 18.—Representatives of the boards of arbitration in six states bordering on the Great Lakes met here today in an effort to bring about a settlement of the marine strike on the lakes. Representatives of the boards in New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, were present with delegates from the Marine Engineers Beneficial association, the Lake Seamen's union, the Marine Cooks and Stewards union, and the marine firemen.

President William Livingstone of the Lake Carriers' association, against which the lake strike is particularly waged, was absent. Mr. Livingstone repeated today statements previously made that his association has nothing to arbitrate, that the open shop principle for which they are contending, will not admit of arbitration and that he will not participate in the conference.

B. F. Shadley of Galesburg, Ill., acted as chairman of the conference and the other delegates present from the board o farbitration are as follows: C. F. Klump, Detroit; C. L. Carpenter, Grand Rapids; H. M. Powell, Peoria, Ill.; J. Boyle, Greenfield, Ill.; Joseph Bishop, Columbus, Ohio; C. F. Woerner, Indianapolis; Harry S. Lough, Indianapolis, Joseph Lundgren, Alliance, N. Y., and John Humphrey, Milwaukee. The Marine Engineers' Beneficial association is represented by National President E. Yates, the Lake Seamen's union by Victor Olander; the Marine Cooks & Stewards by Secretary J. M. Secord, and the marine firemen by President Stack.

SAYS OWNERS ARE IMPORTING MEN

Union Secretary Claims 500 Seamen Are Being Brought In.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 18.—Victor C. Olander, general secretary of the International Lake Seamen's union said here yesterday that he had received a report that 500 Norwegians were under contract to come to this country and take the places of striking seamen on the Great Lakes. One detachment of the sailors has already embarked for the United States, according to the report and others are to follow soon.

Officials of the union have taken the matter up with the immigration authorities and will make an attempt to prevent the sailors from landing. Secretary Olander says the hiring of Norwegians is a direct violation of the contract labor law.

In company with J. M. Secord, president of the marine cooks' union, Olander left last night for Detroit to attend a meeting of the arbitration board today.

GORE ASKS AS TO HIGH PRICES

Aldrich Says No Answer Before Tariff Bill Passes.

Washington, May 18.—Senator Gore's resolution directing the committee on finance to conduct an investigation into wholesale and retail prices of commodities was discussed before the senate today at length. Seeking to have the resolution adopted, Mr. Gore said he wished to have statements concerning the extortionate prices of retail dealers fully probed, so that the country might know just where the responsibility for high prices rests.

Senator Aldrich said it was evident that such an investigation as that contemplated by the resolution could not be conducted before the pending tariff bill was disposed of, but he had no objection to such an investigation being undertaken.

Senator Carter pointed out that in doing this work the finance committee would necessarily cover the same ground which the proposed tariff commission would cover.

WEST END CONFERENCE IN SESSION

Welcomed By Mayor—Laymen's Missionary Movement Discussed.

The first session of the annual Duluth district conference was held last evening at the Grace M. E. church, of which Rev. M. O. Stockland is pastor. About fifty of the delegates were present and others came in last evening on the late trains and this morning.

Hon. R. D. Haven, mayor of the city, gave an address of welcome to the conference. Addresses were made by W. L. Smithies of this city and F. J. Clemans of St. Paul. The themes of both addresses related to the laymen's missionary movement recently organized in the churches. Mr. Clemans is a brother of Dr. E. C. Clemans, district superintendent of the Duluth district, who is presiding over the sessions of this conference. Following the public service a reception was given the delegates by the Epworth League of Grace church.

This morning the session was opened with a devotional service in charge of the Rev. W. E. J. Gratz of Two Harbors, who was also elected secretary of the conference. Following the roll call the following visiting brethren were introduced: Rev. E. H. Nicholson, D. D., of Minneapolis; Rev. Henry Nobbs, D.D., St. Paul; F. J. Clemans, St. Paul, and Rev. Charles Schoenhelder. The following committees were appointed: Finance, Reverends J. A. Roberts, Orris Suyer and F. Ellsworth; resolutions, Reverends, A. L. Richardson, E. F. Stidd, W. R. Palmer, L. L. Litchfield and Mrs. M. J. Kriedler; examinations, Reverends J. W. Powell, W. G. Fritz, R. C. Johnson and W. G. Boyle.

The following papers were read: "Present Day Methods in Evangelism," by Rev. A. L. Richardson of Aitkin; "The Church and the Social Situation," by Rev. E. F. Stidd of Duluth, and "The Problems of City Missions," by Rev. J. A. Roberts, superintendent of city missions, Duluth. These two papers evoked very warm discussion.

At the noon hour a delightful luncheon was served the delegates by the ladies of Grace church. This afternoon the devotions were again in charge of Rev. W. E. J. Gratz of Two Harbors and papers were read on "The Religious Revival in History," by Rev. W. G. Boyle, Deer River; "Evangelism and the Modern Church," by Rev. J. D. Manly, Ely; "The Preacher as an Evangelist," by Rev. M. S. Rice, D. D., Duluth. An open parliament and discussion on the general theme of evangelism and evangelistic methods followed.

This evening Rev. E. H. Nicholson, the district superintendent of the Litchfield district, whose home is in Minneapolis, will preach to the conference at 8 o'clock. This and all other sessions of the conference will be open to the general public. The conference will continue tomorrow, closing tomorrow evening.

PUNISHING ONLY THE CHRISTIANS

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, May 18.—There are still 100 Armenians in prison in Adana, and many of them are in chains. Christians alone are being punished for the recent outrages, and it is apparent that those really guilty are immune. Furthermore, the government has failed to make good its promises to return the property taken from Armenians.

The special commission sent to investigate the circumstances of the recent fighting is forcing the Armenians from the refugee camps out in the country where there is no protection.

The crops in this vicinity are ruined, and the reactionaries prevail in the Adana vilayet.

VACATION DRAWS NIGH

But Seven School Days Are Left in the Term.

Preparations for Commencement and Final "Exams."

With the elimination of Monday, May 31, which will probably be observed as Memorial day, but seven more school days of the present term remain.

They are going to be very busy days. At the Central high school all is hustle and bustle, preparing for the final examinations and the graduation of the largest class in the history of the institution.

Although the exact number will not be known until after the final examinations, as the standing of a few is doubtful, in the neighborhood of 112 seniors will receive diplomas from the hands of Supt. Denfeld at the commencement exercises in the Central high school auditorium Friday, evening, June 4.

On the evening of June 3, in the Duluth Industrial high school in West Duluth, the first graduating class from that institution will receive the sheepskins. The commencement exercises there will mark the completion of the West Duluth school's first year as a complete, four-year course high school.

Students whose standings are doubtful are applying themselves busily to their books, making up work in which they are deficient, and preparing for the final examinations, the outcome of which will decide whether they are to graduate with their classes or not.

The school work is being rushed for the reason that the observance of Memorial day on Monday instead of Sunday takes an entire day out of commencement week.

In the grade schools a great activity is also shown. The principals of the different buildings have not yet turned in the names of the members of the classes, but the indications are that the graduates from the eighth grades will outnumber the classes of previous years by good margins.

The eighth grade graduation exercises for the West end schools will be held at the Central high school Wednesday afternoon, June 2, and the central East end schools will have their exercises Thursday afternoon, June 3, at the Central building.

President of the Largest Graduating Class in the History of the Duluth Central High School.

MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAIMED

Governor Makes May 31 a Legal Holiday to Commemorate Departed Heroes.

St. Paul, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson has issued the Memorial day proclamation, making May 31 a legal holiday on account of May 30 coming on Sunday. The proclamation reads:

"Though nearly threescore years have come and gone since the sound of Sumter's guns, the recurrence of each Memorial day brings to us again the debt of love and duty it is our privilege and pleasure to pay to the memory of the nation's defenders.

"This is not a new bereavement, but one which time, the healer of even the most poignant grief, has softened. These are not new-made graves we garland, for over them all nature has already spread the memorials of her love. They have received the benediction of her sunshine and her tears, and above them her vines and grasses have spread the mantle of immortality.

"The Civil war ended long ago, and but a remnant of the grand army of veterans remain. Those spared to life's activities are worn by the ravages of time and weakened by wounds and disease. Soon will the lone survivor be gathered at the silent portals, and the annual march of the boys in blue become but a memory. Other lips and other hands will perform the service of love and decoration that belongs to the heritage of the soldier. But the army of the soldier dead will be with us as long as patriotism swells the heart; its campfires burn as long as liberty lives. Time enriches their memories, and to the farthest day the heroes who gave their lives for their country will be honored by a grateful posterity.

"It is fitting that we should on one day of each year lay aside our accustomed duties and join with our fellow citizens in appropriate memorial to the patriot dead; therefore I, John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota, hereby designate Monday, May 31, 1909, to be a public holiday, and ask that the significance of the day be commemorated."

"THE RIGHT OF WAY."

Splendid Production of Dramatized Version of Parker's Novel.

Theodore Roberts, one of the greatest character actors America has produced; Guy Standing, an artist of national reputation, and a Klaw & Erlanger production of the dramatization of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, "The Right of Way," failed to more than half fill the Lyceum last evening.

It was one of the most meritorious productions of the season in Duluth, and it is unfortunate that a crowded house did not greet the company at its opening performance.

It is seldom that the dramatization of a popular novel is a success, or that the dramatist is able to retain the atmosphere and spirit that the author has put into his book. This is the case, however, with Eugene Presbrey's work in "The Right of Way." In spite of the fact that the ending of the story has been changed for the stage version, allowing a happy outcome, the spirit of the story remains. In the story Charley Steele meets death with his old cynical sneer, and his question, "I beg your pardon, but have we been introduced?" In the stage version of the story his love affair with Rosalie is happily solved for him by the author. The novelist's version was perhaps the more artistic and forceful, but the dramatist's should win favor with the box office at least, and its chief fault is the rather abrupt manner in which it is worked out, rather than the version itself.

The production is a typical Klaw & Erlanger one. No expense has been spared in the scenery and everything has been done on a lavish scale. In the company, the two featured actors stand out prominently. Theodore Roberts has done many character bits, and done them all well, but none better than "Joe Portugais," the French-Canadian woodsman of "The Right of Way." It is not a stage picture that is presented, but the real, living habitant seems to stand before you, with his superstition, his warm-hearted impulsiveness, and his ignorance. There is not a false note in his work. Every movement of his hands, every motion of his body, his abashed, self-conscious laugh—they are all part of the clumsy, awkward, dog-like companion of the brilliant Charley Steele.

And Mr. Standing shares equally with him the honors of the production. From the time he steps onto the stage, the brilliant, cynical, skeptical lawyer, until the curtain drops on the sobered man who has found the thing that was lacking in his life, he "gets across the footlights" as the actors themselves say, and has the sympathy of the audience. The transition is natural, great as the leap is.

Unfortunately, the supporting company is not all up to the standard of the two stars. Grace Benham as Rosalie is passably good, and Alphonse Ethier as Capt. Thomas Fairing gets all there is out of a very small part. Evelyn Walls as Paulette Du Bois also makes a very small part stand out, and the same might be said of Averell Harris as the Cure and Edson Miles as the Abbe. The other members of the cast, however, while no fault would be found with them in a company of less merit, are not up to the general high standard of the production.

"The Right of Way" will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night, with a matinee tomorrow, and Duluthians who appreciate a dramatic offering of genuine merit cannot afford to miss it.

AT THE BIJOU.

Bill Is This Week Teeming With Bright New Acts.

There is an all-star show at the Bijou this week.

In the first place, the two Sados do a juggling act which surpasses anything yet seen in this city. They juggle lamps, billiard cues and tables, and then work back to smaller articles. They work a good deal of comedy into their act, making it as amusing as it is interesting.

Harry Webb this week sings "Why Must We Part." The slides are particularly pleasing and the song makes a hit.

Mlle. Alice Lorette and her dog Ben, a white setter, pose in a living picture act which took well with the crowd at the first night's performance. Ben, it is said, is the only dog who does the living picture stunt, and some of his poses are very difficult.

Carita Day and her dancing Georgia boys are a "knockout." The boys introduce some steps that are new to the patrons of the Duluth vaudeville house. Miss Day is not slow herself. She is good to look upon, changes her costumes frequently, can nearly keep up to the boys at dancing, and sings "Beautiful Eyes" in a way that pleases everybody.

Glendower and Manion present a little playlet called "A Christmas on the Comstock." It is a good story, nicely told, and calls for some good acting.

They have good voices and the scenes are well set. They sing each opera in the language of the country where the scene is laid. Their skit from a German opera is particularly good. There are several children in the troupe and they have a "Dutch kiddie" act that last night brought down the house.

SEE DANGER FOR ROOSEVELT.

English Papers Fear Mad Mullah's Followers Are Seeking Him.

London, May 18.—Reports received in London from British East Africa about the new campaign against Mad Mullah are conjoined in some English papers with the suggestion that Theodore Roosevelt is incurring danger at the hands of the wild Somalis, who are Mullah's most dangerous followers.

In Mobasa there is the impression that the former president had better keep an eye open for those treacherous fellows, of whom several parties of from twenty to fifty each are lurking about the northern boundary of the Somaliland protectorate.

"Their presence," says one report, "in the neighborhood is suspicious, for at the most they are only ten days' journey from Nairobi."

SECTION HAND KILLED IN COPPER COUNTRY.

Houghton, Mich., May 18.—Andrew Kerriaho, a section hand employed by the Copper Range railroad, was cut in two by a train yesterday afternoon. The man was apparently sleeping on the track. He was 30 years old and leaves a family in Finland.

Chamberlain's Liniment.

This is a new preparation and a good one. It is especially valuable as a cure for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and for the relief from pain which it affords in acute inflammatory rheumatism. Those who have used it have invariably spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Lame back, lame shoulder and stiff neck are due to rheumatism of the muscles, usually brought on by exposure to cold or damp, and are quickly cured by applying this liniment freely and massaging the affected parts. Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, is allayed by this liniment. For sale by all druggists.

THE COAL LAW HELPS SETTLER

Government Finds Results of Recent Legislation Beneficial.

Washington, May 18.—The following statement relative to the disposition of coal lands in North Dakota and other states, under the operation of the law passed in the closing days of the last session of congress, has been given out at the interior department:

The interior department is much interested in ascertaining the effect of the act of congress of March 3, 1909, for the protection of the surface rights of entrymen.

This act was passed with a view of affording relief to agricultural entrymen whose lands were found to contain coal after their claims had been initiated and before they had acquired title from the government.

Under the provisions of the act such entrymen were given the right to elect whether or not they would accept a patent, if their proof was satisfactory, containing a reservation to the United States of all coal in the lands, and the right of the United States or any one authorized by it to prospect for, mine, and remove the coal in accordance with the conditions and limitations imposed by the act, if in their opinion the land contained no coal to apply for a hearing to determine the facts in the case.

While it is, of course, too early to secure any definite information as to which course such homesteaders will pursue, from information received, it is believed that the homesteaders who in good faith have placed valuable improvements on their land only to find that thereafter, underneath it lies valuable deposits of coal, will elect to secure a patent containing a reservation to the United States of the coal in the lands embraced within their entries.

The only method of acquiring title to lands containing workable coal deposits is under the coal land laws. The price of such lands is not less than $10 or $20 per acre, according to the distance from a railroad, while it may run as high as $75 per acre, according to the value of the vein where the lands have been examined and classified by the geological survey.

From information received by the department it appears that agricultural entrymen are taking advantage of the new law in large numbers, especially in the more prominent coal areas. Their action relieves them from the necessity of losing their lands and improvements, and will result in a considerable saving of time and money to the government, in that the necessity for a hearing before the local land officers to determine the character of the land will be entirely eliminated by the action of the claimants in electing to take a patent containing the reservation.

Secretary Ballinger has been much interested in the probable result of this legislation, in accordance with his views favorable to the enactment of laws which would permit of the disposition of mineral deposits in public lands separate from the surface rights thereto.

Jury Acquits Andrew Peterson Who Was Charged With Robbery.

Andrew Peterson is not guilty of robbing Olo Thorsen of his pocketbook containing $5 in a Bowery saloon on May 3 last. Peterson was yesterday on trial before Judge Dibell and the jury after a few minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Peterson was indicted by the grand jury at the May term. The grand jury at that time returned eight indictments for petty offenses and the three that have been on trial so far, have been acquitted.

NEW BARITONE DISCOVERED.

Florentine Sculptor Said to Have Voice Equal to Caruso.

Berlin, May 18.—A baritone, who his friends prophecy, will become as popular as Caruso, has been discovered in Aldo Squanci, a Florence sculptor, who is now training his voice with the view to an engagement at the Berlin opera this winter.

Squanci was discovered at Florence by the German crown prince, who commissioned him to make a bust in Berlin. Here the sculptor became engaged to the daughter of Judge Lefevre of Denver. The engagement is all the more surprising as Squanci did not know English, and the girl knew no Italian, while both are innocent of German.

The courtship was therefore carried on vicariously in French. Eventually Judge Lefevre followed the sculptor to Florence, and there induced him to cancel the engagement.

"BUCKING THE PEOPLE."

Says the Anoka Union: "Buck the people and you buck a hard proposition."

That is a subject in which we are greatly interested, and we would like to be as cocksure of the truth of the Union's remark as the Union appears to be.

All power rests with the people, even though the process of exerting it has been rendered difficult by the conditions of a government that was framed as a first step away from monarchy and toward democracy, at a time when the fathers of the country decided, wisely withal, that the people were not yet ready for a pure democracy. All power rests with the people, however, and if they determine to assert their rights and use their power they can be, indeed, a "hard proposition."

But we are not so certain, however, that "bucking the people" has been so difficult. In some respects, indeed, it seems to have been quite easy. Certainly the people have not been a very "hard proposition," for instance, when property rights have been permitted for so long a time to stand higher in the eyes of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the governments of nation and state than human rights. When the people have permitted the dollar to have a higher standing with government than the man, when property is safeguarded even at the expense of human slavery and suffering, the people have not been nearly so "hard" a "proposition" as they should have been.

Of late there have been signs of a change, but it hasn't come yet by any means. After seven years of Roosevelt and more than half that period of a popular awakening, we find congress framing a tariff law which betrays the people into the hands of the plutocrats, which considers dividends first and the people's living expenses not at all, which "protects" corporate greed and affords no relief whatever to the masses of the people, which continues the "vested rights" of the inordinately rich in the process of getting richer by tariff bounties. If the people stand this they are not a very "hard proposition." Indeed, those who benefit by this system of government by property and for property must think, down in the secrecy of their hearts, that the people are pretty easy. In fact, they must be very firmly convinced that the people are easy, because if they were not they would not dare perpetrate this new wrong, nor would their servants in congress dare aid them to do it.

We wish the people were a harder proposition than they have been. We hope they are going to be a harder proposition in the future. We feel assured that they will be. But of the present, nothing so sanguine as the Union's remark may truthfully be said. Drawers of fat dividends for which they give the people inadequate return or none at all, manipulators of sharp schemes for the wholesale plundering of defenseless masses, corrupters of parties and governments in the service of the powers of greed, have been "bucking" the people for quite a long time. They have found it enormously profitable, and the people have found it prodigiously expensive. Yet they are still at their old game, and the people are still permitting them to play it. If the people really were a "hard proposition," the game would be ended, all men would be getting fair returns from society for their service to society, the average affluence of the people would be far greater, and the congestion of wealth in the hands of a few would be cured.

Are the people really such a "hard proposition," after all?

OLD STYLE POLITICS AGAIN.

We had hoped that the Federal government had, in some measure, advanced somewhat toward the elimination of merely political and partisan considerations in choosing important public servants.

Yet one of the first things that happened under the Taft administration was the discharge of Robert Watchorn, commissioner of immigration, to make a place for a needy political worker. There were no charges against Watchorn. He has made a good official. His place was a very important one, and that it should be filled by the right kind of a man was infinitely more vital than that of any political worker, no matter how needy or how deserving, from a political viewpoint, he might be, should get a public job. Oscar S. Straus, secretary of commerce and labor, in whose department of jurisdiction this position fell, appealed for Mr. Watchorn's renomination. Nobody opposed that renomination; indeed, had there been opportunity, thousands who know what work Watchorn has been doing would have urged that he be retained.

This isn't a position that should be a political football. It oughtn't to make any difference, really, what the politics of the man in it may be, so long as he is fitted for the work. Not every man is fitted for it. It takes judgment and kindness and humanity properly to conduct the office of commissioner of immigration. These qualities Mr. Watchorn seems to have had. There is no pretense at charging that he didn't have them, or that there was any reason why he shouldn't stay. The reason for his discharge is sordid and unworthy in the extreme—his place was needed for a political worker, backed by somebody high enough in the councils of the Taft administration to get it for him.

The discharge of Watchorn to make place for a political worker is deeply important in itself, but it is far more important if it means that the inauguration of President Taft marked a return to the hoary and evil old spoils system. That would be a step backward which much good work could not outweigh.

NO REVISION DOWNWARD.

The impression that has been gaining ground in the West that congress does not even pretend that it is going to revise the tariff downward, or to afford any relief whatever for the consumer, is confirmed by Governor Johnson's report of his observations at Washington. Returning from a trip which took on something of the nature of a triumphal tour because of the elaborate attention given him by the people of the East and South, Governor Johnson said yesterday: "There will be no revision of the tariff in the full sense of the word, and those in control admit it. The East and South will not stand for any material revision downward, such as the Republican party promised, and there you are."

The fact that the Middle West is in deadly earnest in its demand for real tariff revision has become apparent to the Aldrich-Cannon cabal, evidently, for it was reported to Governor Johnson that Senator Aldrich has said that the Republican party would have to do without the Middle West in the next campaign. Senator Aldrich is unquestionably correct in this. The West demands tariff revision, and if the party on which it relied for that revision plays it false, it is hardly possible that a section which has learned to think along independent lines and to consider achievements first and partisanship second will condone the crime.

It must be pleasant for those whose partisanship has led them to play into the hands of the political agents of corporate greed to find that those agents care little for partisanship themselves, so long as they can accomplish their ends. In this case, in order to get a tariff bill that will continue their opportunity to prey upon the people, they are deliberately sacrificing the prospects of their party in the next election.

TARIFF BOUNTIES ILLEGAL.

If a city should levy a tax to give a bounty to a manufacturer whose plant it was desirable to have because it would give employment and provide a big payroll, the material of which cities are built, that tax would be declared void by the courts. Taxation, says the law and the court, must be for public purposes; otherwise it is open to gross abuses. Taxes cannot be levied for the benefit of a private individual or a private business, so the tax for a bounty would not hold. That is very clear. The courts have said it again and again and would say it once more if occasion offered.

Now the tariff is a tax, none the less a tax because it is not a direct tax. The purpose of an import duty is to provide revenue for the government. A duty imposed with that object in view is a tax levied for public purposes, and therefore perfectly lawful.

But this country, for many years, has been considering the tariff from the viewpoint of protection to domestic industries. That revenue has been merely incidental, when it had any consideration at all, is clearly evident from the fact that many of the tariff schedules which have worked most harm to the American people and most profit to the engorged coffers of the few produce no revenue at all, because they are prohibitive. What that comes to is this: the government has been levying a tariff tax to provide bounties for certain business enterprises. First it was for "infant industries," and as these industries grew fat upon their bounty it was continued and even increased, the appetite of the protected growing by what it fed upon. At first a bounty for the encouragement of industry, the tariff quickly became a method of robbing the American people for the inordinate profit of the few who were rich enough and powerful enough to control legislation.

If a city cannot lawfully levy a tax to provide a bounty for the encouragement of industry, by what process of reasoning does it become lawful for the nation to do so?

The answer is that there is no such process of reasoning. It is no more lawful to levy a tariff tax to provide a bounty for private business than it is to levy a city tax for the same purpose. The nation has just gone ahead and done it; that's all. It was condoned because of uneconomic and distorted ideas of expediency, but it was unlawful nevertheless. It is still unlawful, and it is as iniquitous as any other unlawful thing.

The supreme court of the United States, in a case involving a Kansas law authorizing cities to issue bonds to encourage manufacturing, once said this: "Of all the powers conferred upon government, that of taxation is most liable to abuse. Given a purpose or object for which taxation may lawfully be used, and the extent of its exercise in its very nature unlimited. This power can as readily be employed against one class of individuals and in favor of another so as to ruin one class and give unlimited wealth and prosperity to another, if there are no implied limitations of the uses for which the power may be exercised. To lay with one hand the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other bestow it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprise and build up private fortunes, IS NONE THE LESS ROBBERY BECAUSE IT IS DONE UNDER THE FORMS OF LAW AND IS CALLED TAXATION."

Had the supreme court been talking of the tariff it couldn't have described its abuses more accurately. The only lawful tariff tax is a tariff for revenue, and such protection as it would provide would be ample for all honest purposes.

THE LUMBER TARIFF.

It is hardly possible that those lumbermen of the Northwest who are engaged in a campaign for a duty on lumber will be able to offset the overwhelming evidence that the people of the Northwest demand free lumber. It may be that the lumbermen will have their will and that the people will be disappointed, but congress, if it does that, will have to do it in the full knowledge of the fact that they are favoring the lumbermen at the expense of the people.

There is no reason of justice, of economy or of expediency, judging it from the broad viewpoint of the greatest good to the greatest number, that will justify a tariff on lumber. The government has practically given away its timber to men who have feverishly stripped it off, leaving not even saplings on which to base the hope of a second growth. Control of the lumber industry having gone into a few hands, prices have been maintained at exorbitant levels, and in this the duty on lumber has had its full share. This process has placed a premium upon the exhaustion of domestic lumber supplies, when free lumber would let in at least a part of the needed supplies, producing cheaper lumber and encouragement for home-building while taking some of the burden off the domestic reserves, now almost exhausted.

There shouldn't be a duty of any sort upon lumber. In the interests of the conservation of the slender domestic supply, and in the interests of cheaper homes, lumber should be admitted free.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

J. D Rhodes of Moose Jaw, Can., a guest of the Spalding, tells of the wonderful movement of American farmers and homesteaders across the Canadian border line. These people, who are settling in Canada, are from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Indiana, according to Mr. Rhodes. They have in many instances sold the higher-priced lands of their native states and, with the money, have gone to Canada to buy farm land that averages from $12 to $15 an acre in price.

But Mr. Rhodes states that in addition to the farmers who are going to Canada with the intention of buying land, there are thousands of people who are taking out free land from the government.

He cites a case to show the immensity of the movement from this country to Canada. At Moose Jaw, which is a town of approximately 6,000 inhabitants, during the month of April, at the government land office, there were filed over 3,000 applications for homesteads. That would mean that over 480,000 acres of land was taken up at the Moose Jaw office alone during the month of April.

That is one example of the settlement of land in Western Canada. It simply gives one an idea of the great movement that is taking thousands of Americans across the line.

Mr. Rhodes says that most of the Canadian farmers, who have come from America and keenly sympathize with the progress of the country they have left, use American made farm machinery.

At Hamilton, Ont., for instance, Mr. Rhodes states that the International Harvester company has a manufacturing branch. At this Canadaian plant are made many of the machines that are used by the former Americans in the wheat fields of Alberta, Manitoba and the Sackatchewan valley.

In Winnipeg there is a branch house of the International Harvester company, but machines are merely handled at this point—not manufactured. Mr. Rhodes states that upon most of the farms of the Western country, American machines are in use. This is largely due to the fact that so many American farmers have come to Canada within the past decade. They have succeeded in introducing American machinery, and this example has been followed in part by the Canadian country.

The present year promises to be by far the largest in the immigration movement that Canada has ever had, says Mr. Rhodes. He states that the secret of the success of the Canadian government in getting settlers, and in most instances the right kind of settlers is that the dominion government advertises. It is one of the greatest advertisers in the world, according to Mr. Rhodes, who says the Canadian government will expend over $1,000,000 during the present year in advertising its resources to the outside world.

It is confidently expected that over 500,000 immigrants will swell the population of Canada during the present year. It is expected that the wheat acreage will be increased by over 800,000 acres this year, and it is believed that the present crop will be by far the greatest ever produced by Canada. Mr. Rhodes says the railroads will be in the best shape they ever have been in to handle the crop, and considering all sides of the present industrial movement in Canada, there is every reason to believe that the present year will be one of prosperity to the dominion.

Judge Martin Hughes stated at the St. Louis last evening that the appointment of an additional judge for Carlton, Lake, Cook and the northern half of St. Louis county had already been shown to be necessary by the way the business of the new court was increasing, especially the business upon the range. Most of the sessions of the court in the northern part of St. Louis county are to be held in Virginia. The sessions of the court may also be held at Hibbing. Mr. Hughes states that the legal business of Lake, Carlton and Cook counties is increasing, and that the establishment of the range court has proved a great convenience.

Senator P. R. Vail of Virginia, at the St. Louis yesterday, stated that the present session should be a good one for the range country, if the ore shipments hold up as they have started. The senator says that business is not normal in the range country as yet, but that this spring there has been an indication of increased business of every kind.

Time For a Rest.

Chicago Tribune: Mr. Aldrich announces that at the end of his senatorial term he will retire to private life. Mr. Aldrich will be missed, but he needs the rest. Running the country is hard work.

THE WEATHER.

CLOUDY

Yesterday's beautiful spring weather was followed by clouded skies last night and today, and the weather man looks for showers tonight and Wednesday. A year ago today Duluth was enjoying genuine summer weather. The sun rose morning at 4:27 and will set this afternoon at 7:41, making fifteen hours and fourteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions: "A shallow barometric depression central over Eastern Texas caused light to copious showers throughout the Northwest, Eastern Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Eastern Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida during the past twenty-four hours. The twenty-four-hour temperature changes were unimportant. Freezing weather prevails in Wyoming and Western Montana. The barometer is high over the lake region and North Pacific districts. The Texas disturbance favors unsettled and showery weather at the Head of the Lakes tonight and Wednesday."

New York World: The delegate to the peace congress who introduced a resolution to the effect that socialism is the greatest force in the world now operating for peace was quickly disposed of. Socialism embraces so many things besides hatred of war that even a peace congress can hardly consider it without fisticuffs.

Men who flout socialism, however, should at least have the fairness to recognize and approve the beneficent ideas which it upholds. To the shame of the civilization of the day it is not to be denied that in Europe socialism is the same formidable and at the same time sincere foe of war. Many advocates of peace make mental reservations. They would fight only on conditions. Socialism would not fight at all.

Socialists did not make the discovery, but they have preached the truth that war frequently springs from economic causes. They know that labor supplies most of its victims and bears its heaviest financial burdens. They also know that almost without exception such benefits as may arise from war are gathered by favored interests and by speculators who risk little and may gain much. Socialists propose to end war by persuading the workers of the world to discountenance it. When war depends only upon the rich there will be peace.

It follows that whether our great peace congresses like socialism or not, they should be sufficiently open-minded to recognize a force whose co-operation could not fail to be of the greatest advantage to them. To reason and expostulate with monarchs and statesmen is one thing. To enlist the support of the millions without whom no army can be organized and no battle fought is another. There can be no question as to the practicalities of the case.

Progressive Contentment.

I have no desire for riches;
Mere money is nothing to me.
From all the annoyance of millions
I'm glad to be perfectly free.
Of course I am in debt just a trifle;
I can't stay "I don't owe a cent."
But were these few debts of mine settled
I'm sure I'd be really content.

A hundred or so would be ample
To pay every penny of debt.
If I only had that I am certain
I'd be in my glory, and yet—
I wouldn't mind one or two thousand,
You see I am still paying rent.
And if I could be my own landlord
I'm sure I'd be really content.

It's nice to be quite independent
And not have to work like a slave;
My tastes are the tastes of refinement;
It isn't my nature to save.
If I had a cool hundred thousand
Just drawing, say, seven per cent,
Or possibly, six and three-quarters,
I'm sure I'd be really content.

I hate this base struggling for millions,
This longing for riches galore.
If I had a million, believe me,
I wouldn't be wishing for more.
I wouldn't be hoarding it, either,
I'd see it was properly spent.
If I could be free with my money
I'm sure I'd be really content.

Bede's Hour of Triumph.

Chicago Evening Post: We must give the Hon. J. Adam Bede a chance to chortle. He deserves it. Clarence B. Miller, the young man who beat Bede for renomination in the Eighth Minnesota congressional district on an out-and-out anti-Cannon platform, has gone down to Washington and voted plump in favor of the speaker at the very hour when a few votes might have broken his sway forever. Whereupon Bede's Budget remarks:

"Is it possible that the megaphone abuse of Cannon six months ago has been soothed into the cooing of a dove, and that our member, who promised to reform congress and 'let the voice of the people be heard,' is unknown, unnoticed and unmentioned? Has he turned on the gas and gone to sleep, or did he surrender at the first sound of battle? Is it possible he voted for the 'great white czar' who so recently was 'smothering legislation demanded by the people,' and has he so soon broken every pledge and betrayed every constituent? 'First of all to thine own self be true.' God hates a coward."

J. Adam surely has Mr. Miller utterly at his mercy. Yet the cause which Miller betrayed is none the less a righteous cause, and the editor of the Budget has good reason to know that a man who opposes it would represent the real sentiment of the Eighth district no more truly than a man who betrays it.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••Charles Purdon, formerly secretary to Master Mechanic Greatsinger of the Duluth & Iron Range road, has been assigned to duty in the shipping office at Two Harbors under Mr. Shaffer.

•••An effort is being made to secure the appointment of William E. Haskell, one of the editors of the Minneapolis Tribune, as minister to Norway.

•••Rev. J. B. Starkey of Minneapolis is in the city visiting Mrs. A. F. Thompson, who has been very sick for several weeks.

•••Frederick Archambault, the drum major in the French band, although only 12 years of age, wields the baton like an expert. He lives with his parents in West Duluth.

•••General Manager Carpenter of the Duluth & Iron Range road has gone to Chicago to bring his wife and family.

•••The wife and daughter of Dr. Charles Slaughter returned yesterday from Virginia. They are living on Third avenue west.

•••William S. Woodbridge has returned from Philadelphia, and reports exceedingly warm weather all through the East.

•••The tragic death of Gen. Adna Anderson by shooting himself at Philadelphia yesterday is felt with keen regret by many Duluthians, who knew the talented and energetic engineer well. He was one of the great railway civil engineers of the age. In 1880 he became engineer-in-chief of the Northern Pacific railway, where he did his greatest professional work. Lately he has been interested in a company for the manufacture of steel tubular passenger cars.

•••The present population of West Duluth is in round numbers 1,500, an increase of about 1,000 in two months.

•••There is a rumor that the Wisconsin Central, Northern Pacific, Oregon Transcontinental, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Baltimore & Ohio roads are about to form one of the most gigantic combinations in the country.

•••The city council held a special meeting last night and passed the building inspector. The mayor is empowered to appoint an inspector, who will be paid by fees.

•••The suit of the heirs of Henry S. Burk, begun two or three years ago, against the Western Land association, W. W. Spalding and other owners of forty acres in the upper part of the Third division, was argued before the state supreme court yesterday. Burk claimed he homesteaded the land, but it afterward passed out of his possession by fraud. The facts are that after Burk entered the land twenty or twenty-five years ago he was informed by the land office that that particular land was included in an Indian grant. The land then passed into the control of the Indian to whom it belonged.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Anoka Union: The Union is free to maintain in language quite plain that it would be a great deal better for the Republican party of Minnesota if a large number of men who pretend they are Republicans and are working for the opposition, would leave that organization and go where they belong.

St. Cloud Times: The Minnesota delegation in congress are certainly endeavoring to use their efforts for real tariff revision. The effort may be in vain, but whatever the result is, their constituents will have nothing to regret from the stand taken by their two senators and the nine congressmen who represent Minesota.—Brainerd Dispatch.

Suppose that Senators Nelson and Clapp, who are making a fight for lower duties, shall, when the Aldrich bill is on final passage, write out their outrageous rates on certain articles which they have condemned, fall into line and vote for it, as did our house members, then what will their constituents think? It looks very much as if much of this discussion, and efforts to amend, were merely intended to keep certain senators and representatives "solid" with their constituents. The way to defeat the tariff iniquity is to vote against it first, last and all the time. Thus and thus only can the Aldriches be compelled to consent to an equitable tariff.

Virginia Virginian: After reading the divorce proceedings in the daily papers, it's refreshing to turn to a story on the celebration of a golden jubilee by some happy old couple.

Hibbing Tribune: The United States senate is "annoyed" by the Republican insurgents. It is liable to be much more annoyed soon by new Democratic congressmen.

Albert Lea Standard: President Taft is now said to be opposed to an income tax. Well, it cannot be denied it would hit some of his especial friends pretty hard.

Moorhead Citizen: A few of the Republican papers in the state that are so narrow that they cannot see anything but their side of the question are hollering "steel" trust at the governor because he had the manhood to veto a tonnage tax bill that was unjust to a certain portion of the state. Who was it that put in money to help to elect J. F. Jacobson? The steel trust and nobody else in the last campaign. Who was it that had these mining properties taxed to the limit on the iron range? Governor Johnson and his tax commission. Why did not the Republicans do this when they had a Republican in the governor's chair for at least forty years? Because they did not want to. Governor Johnson did not veto the tonnage tax because the steel trust wanted him to, but because it was for the best interests of the state and its people.

Albert Lea Tribune: While Governor Johnson is in Washington and Virginia, the peerless Nebraskan is "doing" Minnesota. This may mean nothing, but the fact that Mr. Bryan expects to carry Winnipeg solid may put a ruffle in the faces of some of the governor's advisers. Mr. Bryan spoke in Winnipeg a few days ago, and the people up there are said to have been captivated by his eloquence and suavity.

Ortonville Herald Star: We have not as yet gone very deep into the Payne tariff bill, but it is pleasing to know that one of its very first provisions is for a decrease in the tariff on oxalic acid. Now oxalic acid is frequently used by the venders of circus lemonade as a substitute for real lemons, so in this tariff reduction it may be truly said that Mr. Payne has literally handed us a lemon.

Evils of Spring Cleaning.

London Lancet: Spring cleaning, especially when certain simple precautions in carrying it out are not observed, is not without its obvious possibilities for evil. The cardinal fact connected with this procedure is that there must always be potentialities for evil lurking in dust and dirt, and a general housecleaning means the removal of these deposits, which usually represent the sum of a year's accumulation.

It would be strange indeed if this accumulation was free from disease-producing organisms, and it never is. Bacteriological examinations would be bound to reveal a rich garden of pathogenic entities in the household dust and dirt annually removed in the spring cleaning process. It follows that only that method of spring cleaning can be approved which secures the removal of the dust and dirt as against one which merely scatters them.

Spring cleaning, after all, amounts to the application of aseptic principles to the dwelling house, and modern refinements teach that unless the process is well done it might as well be left undone. The accumulation of dirt in a house is repugnant to sanitary ideas, but the process of cleaning should not be an annual ceremony, but one carried out at more frequent intervals. Few householders, however, would find it convenient, we imagine, to submit the house to a kind of aseptic process more than once a year, and yet the fact that it is commonly done only once means that an accumulation of some depth and intensity has to be dealt with.

Theoretically, no materials that may probably contain dormant disease-producing entities should be allowed to accumulate their forces, and therefore spring cleaning as an annual aseptic process applied to the house is wrong in principle. According to this view, spring cleaning should be abolished in favor of a regularly conducted cleaning process kept up all the year round, at comparatively short intervals. This is the course pursued by many careful citizens nowadays, and the public would do well to follow their example.

You'll Do Better at Kelly's

A man never really lives until he gets a home of his own. A boarding house is the last place in the world to look for comfort. Comfort isn't there. It can't be. If your folks come to town, you want a place where you can all get together and have a good time. Imagine receiving them in a boarding house, where there are strangers to hear everything you have to say. It makes you all feel uncomfortable and therefore you can't be natural. Besides a very small part of the money you spend boarding would easily pay the monthly installments on a complete home of your own. Can't you see how foolish it is to waste your money in a boarding house? When that money is gone, it is gone forever. If you apply it on a home outfit, it isn't gone at all, for you have a home that will last for years. Imagine a scene like the one here shown. It is just as easy to have it in reality as it is to see it in picture. Take our $99 four-room outfit, for instance. It includes dining room, kitchen, bed room and parlor, yet it only costs you a few dollars a month. In other words, you have a whole year in which to pay for it. When the year is up, the money you have spent has built your life's foundation. Doesn't that beat a boarding house to death?

ONE VICTIM IS CLAIMED

Joe Wege, Cut Off From Escape by Fire and Smoke, Perishes.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—News was received here late yesterday afternoon of a disastrous fire at the Winnibigoshish dam early yesterday morning when the hotel and store buildings owned and occupied by E. H. Phelps were totally destroyed and Joseph Wege, a brother-in-law to Mr. Phelps, perished in the flames.

The fire originated in some unknown manner in the upstairs part of the hotel and before the occupants of the building were aware it had gained considerable headway. Ray Phelps, who lives here and who was visiting at his home there, was the first to discover the flames and quickly aroused the others, whom he could locate. It was all they could do to get out of the buildings before the flames and smoke had them overpowered.

Joseph Wege, who was burned to death, was in the upper part of the hotel and although he was able to crawl to the window through the dense smoke he was too weak to further help himself and fell exhausted to the floor. Before help could be given him the fire had gained too much headway to permit anyone to get near enough to assist him.

The building and furnishings were valued at about $3,500 with $1,000 insurance.

COMMISSION WANTS VIEWS

The Employer's Liability Board Asks for Opinions of the People.

The Employers' Liability commission of the state is seeking information on the subject it has in hand, and a request has been sent out from the office of the commission asking all those interested to submit their views.

The idea of the request is to secure information to be used in the drafting of a suitable law affecting employers' liability to be presented at the next session of the legislature. The communication from the commission follows:

"The Minnesota Employers' Compensation commission at its first meeting decided to ask the press to publish throughout the state a request to all persons interested in the matter of procuring legislation to compensate employes for bodily injuries received in the course of employment in such a way as to be just to the employers and the employes and fair to the state, to prepare to present to the commission in writing at a future time all information and suggestions they have upon the question.

"The commission is particularly desirous of securing the views of all of the following classes of citizens: (a) workingmen; (b) manufacturers, mining companies, railways, and all other employers of labor; (c) the bench and bar; (d) employers' liability and accident insurance companies; (e) economists; (f) all others who have made a special study of the subject of changing the theory of liability from that of negligence to that of a risk of the industry.

"Communications respecting the matter may be addressed to any one of the undersigned.

"The commission is especially desirous that the communication cover features of the following subjects:

"1. Whether you favor a compensation act.

"2. If so, whether you favor a compulsory or a permissible compensation act.

"3. The industries that should be covered; (b) the basis of compensation—whether upon a wage schedule, a lump sum, or how; (c) the method of creating the fund from which the payment should be made; (d) the manner of administering the fund; (e) the constitutionality of the method which you suggest.

COSTS MONEY TO HIT PEOPLE

For taking a punch at Per Peterson while he was asleep in a room in the Eveleth hotel in November of that year, Marshal Johnson, also of Eveleth must pay $1,000.

A jury in district court yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for that amount in favor of Peterson.

It was alleged in the complaint filed some time ago by Peterson, that Johnson entered his room and administered a beating while the plaintiff was unable to defend himself.

EXPLORATIONS QUITE ACTIVE

Two Duluth Men Figure in Operations Near Crooked Lakes.

Pine River, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the opening of spring iron ore operations are being carried on with greater activity than ever. To the east, in town 138-28, another magnetic survey has been made by a Minneapolis party, who owns and controls something over 10,000 acres of Cass county land.

Farther east, near Big Rice and Crooked Lakes, a number of tracts have been purchased and options taken on other tracts by Louis Ronchleau and Robert Whitesides, both of Duluth, and exploration operations are being carried on in this neighborhood.

On the south line of Cass and in the northern portions of Morrison and Todd counties drills and locaters are now at work, while one of the drills three miles west of Jenkins, six miles south of here, is reported to have struck a bed of excellent ore 400 feet thick, but this is probably an exaggeration to say the least.

There are a number of ideas among mineral men as to the locations of the iron ranges which are being investigated in this section of the country at this time.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKeig of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

END OF A RED NOSE

New Flesh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections.

A peculiar feature of poslam, a new skin discovery, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses, or any other inflammations, blemishes, or discolorations, its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. It can be had of any pharmacist who sells pure drugs. The Lyceum Pharmacy and W. A. Abbett's in Duluth and Holmberg's in Superior, make a specialty of it. Fifty cents' worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

WORKMEN LODGES ARE PROSPERING

Encouraging Reports Are Made at North Dakota Grand Lodge Meet.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state grand lodges of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and of the Degree of Honor convened here this morning for a two-day session. The meeting is attended by representatives of practically every subordinate lodge in the state and it bids fair to be one of the most successful that has ever been held. The first session was held at 10 o'clock.

The report of Grand Recorder E. J. Moore of Fargo disclosed a most gratifying condition, it being shown that the order has enjoyed a wonderful growth during the past year. There are a goodly number of new lodges that have been instituted during the past year, while the memberships of the already established lodges show decided gains.

The financial condition of the order is also very good, according to the reports. The advisory board report, showing the moneys invested in North Dakota, are conclusive of the soundness of the order in this state, there being a large sum of cash invested in bonds, mortgages, etc., in North Dakota.

FINE RAIMENT WILL BE BARRED

Eveleth, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board has decided that instead of having the high school graduates try to outdo each other in fine dresses and suits to be worn at commencement, they will be furnished with caps and gowns similar to those used by university graduates.

June 17 has been decided on for the commencement, which will be held at Vail hall. Superintendent of Schools E. E. Scribner of Ishpeming, Mich., will deliver the commencement address. Only the valedictory by Miss Lillie Niemenen and the salutory by Richard Floyd will be on the program, besides the commencement address. All the features usually coming commencement evening will be given class night, June 15, at Vail hall. The class play is called "Shakespeare's Water Cure," a conglomeration of bits from Shakespeare's plays. The whole senior class will take part in this. Rehearsals will start in a few days. Miss Kendall of the faculty will have charge of the rehearsals. The high school orchestra will appear at both the commencement exercises and class night.

The board has decided that no baccalaureate address will be given this year, as there are too many different beliefs among the members of the class. School will close this year June 18. Next fall the high school will be in the new high school building, now almost finished.

E. S. Clem has been engaged as science teacher for the high school for next year, while William Norelius will come here to take charge of the commercial department. Miss Virginia Dress, who was to have taught next year, has decided not to remain for next term.

HIGH SCHOOL LOCATED.

Virginia, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board has decided to locate the proposed new high school on block 51, the present baseball park. The board decided to have the plans for the new school prepared by C. E. Bell, Tyrie & Chapman, a Minneapolis firm. There were also several Duluth bidders for the work.

Steps will be taken at once for the removal of the fence at the baseball park. The board will take the fence down before June 1 and as soon as the plans are ready ground will be broken for the school. The school will be placed on the northern part of the block and the board hopes to acquire more ground to the south, so as to have a big open athletic field.

The board took no action on providing grade schools, but a school will probably be erected during the coming year on a site in the northern part of the city. A site will be secured in the southern part also, but the school will not be erected until the need becomes greater.

RAILROADS

SHORT STAY IN DULUTH

Canadian Northern Officials Spent Just Three Minutes Here.

President Mackenzie Reticent Regarding Plans of the Road.

William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railway; R. J. Mackenzie, son of the president and connected with the company; M. H. McLeod, general manager, and D. R. Hanna, third vice president of the road, were in Duluth for exactly three minutes yesterday afternoon.

The Canadian Northern party came down from Winnipeg in a special car attached to the regular Missabe train. The train was due to arrive in the city at 2:30. It was almost half an hour late, arriving about two minutes before 4 o'clock.

The Northern Pacific Ashland train was held a few minutes while the Canadian Northern private car was attached to it. The party of Canadian Northern officials took the Northern Pacific to Ashland, at that point transferring to the Wisconsin Central for Chicago.

Regarding the time for beginning construction on the Duluth branch of the Canadian Northern from Virginia to this city, Mr. Mackenzie would say nothing. In fact, he was so busy greeting A. D. Davidson, land commissioner of the Canadian Northern, and S. J. Cusson, general manager of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company, that it was difficult to get a query to him.

All that the head of the Canadian Northern would state was that the plans for the extension were in the hands of the Toronto officials of the Canadian Northern, and nothing definite could be given out at this time.

General Manager McLeod was equally reticent regarding the plans of the Canadian Northern. He, too, stated that the plans were in the hands of the Toronto officials and that as he was connected with the Winnipeg office, he could say nothing regarding what action would be taken by the officials of the company.

Col. Davidson joined the party and will make the trip to Chicago with them. From Chicago the Canadian Northern officials will go to Toronto. S. J. Cusson left for Chicago last night, not going with the party, however.

CANADIAN NORTHERN PLANS.

Will Build 500 Miles of New Road This Summer

Boston, Mass., May 18.—William Mackenzie of Mackenzie & Mann, builders and owners of the Canadian Northern system of railroads in Canada, which now amounts to over 5,000 miles, says to the Boston News Bureau:

"We plan to build about 500 miles of new road this summer in rounding out our system, but we do not plan to build either the 500-mile gap between our Eastern and Western lines or the 500-mile gap to reach the Pacific. Our building this summer will be confined to extension through the wheat fields and that will keep us busy.

"We have only the above two gaps to build, each of 500 miles, to complete our transcontinental road from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but we build slowly and surely. When we get ready to go to the Pacific we can act quickly, for we already have our land surveyed through the Yellow Head pass.

"I have received many inquiries from Boston as to a rumor that the Canadian Northern planned an extension of its system from Montreal to Boston, making that port the Eastern terminus of our proposed transcontinental road. While such a scheme has many attractions, we have no present plans for its fulfillment, though nobody should forecast the future too confidently."

It has been rumored in Boston that the Mackenzie & Mann interests have had engineers in Boston looking over the field with a view to building 200 miles of road between Montreal and Boston at a cost of $15,000,000 in order to give that system an Eastern outlet, as the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk control the other winter ports. Terminals could be secured in East Boston.

FOR WINNIPEG CONNECTION.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul to Connect With Canadian Northern.

A Chicago dispatch says that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad is figuring on securing an entrance to Winnipeg by connection with the Canadian Northern "near Fargo," but as the latter road does not run near Fargo this is evidently an error. Is it not possible that the St. Paul road might build from some Wisconsin point to Duluth to connect with the Canadian Northern?

MONTADT MAY BE DEPORTED

Believed That He Is Connected With Black Hand Society.

Frank Montadt, the Hibbing resort keeper, who is serving a sentence of sixty days in the county jail, is likely to be deported. The federal authorities at Washington have taken Montadt's case under advisement, and their decision will be forwarded to this city in a short time.

It is on the ground that he is connected with a Black Hand organization in this country that deportation is urged. Immigration Inspector Dean has been active in his efforts to get evidence against the aliens who have been conducting a blackmailing scheme on the range for some time. Mr. Dean believes that he has collected sufficient evidence to convince the authorities that Montadt and the three other men under arrest are undesirables and should be deported.

The other men, whose status as United States residents is questioned by the immigration officers, are Francisco Tino, Mike Massiniine and Dominick Coppoletto, all under arrest at Grand Rapids, Minn.

Montadt was arraigned and convicted on the charge of conducting an immoral resort, although the authorities believe they have evidence of other and more serious crimes against him. His term in the St. Louis county jail expires in less than three weeks, and he will then either be released or deported, according to the decision of the federal immigration authorities at Washington.

French Girl Held for Deportation Papers Is Released.

The United States immigration authorities yesterday ordered the release from the county jail of Carman Allet, the pretty French girl who has been held a prisoner for the past two months awaiting official decision as to whether or not she should be deported.

Inspector Dean of the local office urged that she be returned to France as an alien woman of doubtful character. The Washington authorities, after careful perusal of the evidence submitted, declined to issue the order of deportation, with the result that the girl was given her freedom yesterday.

Mr. Dean traced the girl about two months ago from Superior to Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago and finally back to Superior, where she was arrested. Miss Allet left for Chicago as soon as released from custody.

Two Upper Peninsula Men Hang Themselves, Third Shoots Self.

Marquette, Mich., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Advices have been received here that, tired of life, three men have put an end to their earthly existence in various portions of Upper Michigan.

Near Bessemer, Gogebic county, Harry Jilbert, a miner employed at the Ironton mine, shot himself through the heart, presumably in consequence of domestic troubles.

"The Road to Wellville" Pointed the Way.

Down at Hot Springs, Ark., the visitors have all sorts of complaints, but it is a subject of remark that the great majority of them have some trouble with stomach and bowels. This may be partly attributed to the heavy medicines.

Naturally, under the conditions, the question of food is very prominent.

A young man states that he had suffered for nine years from stomach and bowel trouble, had two operations which did not cure, and was at last threatened with appendicitis.

He went to Hot Springs for rheumatism and his stomach trouble got worse. One day at breakfast the waiter, knowing his condition, suggested he try Grape-Nuts and cream, which he did, and found the food agreed with him perfectly.

After the second day he began to sleep peacefully at night, different than he had for years. The perfect digestion of the food quieted his nervous system and made sleep possible.

He says: "The next morning I was astonished to find my conditon of constipation had disappeared. I could not believe it true after suffering for so many years; then I took more interest in the food, read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," and started following the simple directions.

"I have met with such results that in the last five weeks I have gained eight pounds in spite of hot baths which take away the flesh from any one.

"A friend of mine has been entirely cured of a bad case of indigestion and stomach trouble by using Grape-Nuts Food and cream alone for breakfast.

"There is one thing in particular—I have noticed a great change in my mental condition. Formerly I could hardly remember anything, and now the mind seems unusually acute and retentive. I can memorize practically anything I desire."

HAD NOT ENJOYED A MEAL IN YEARS

Arkansas Farmer Follows Advice of Cooper, and Gains Fifteen Pounds in a Few Weeks.

A. D. Henry, a prominent farmer living on Rural Route No. 5, Jonesboro, Ark., tells a story that makes interesting reading for persons who suffer from stomach trouble. Mr. Henry says:

"For six years I was a chronic sufferer from stomach trouble. In all that time I did not eat a meal to enjoy it. No matter what I ate it caused pain and distress. Food laid in a hard lump upon my stomach. I lost in flesh and strength, and was unable to find relief. I suffered night and day—was robbed of my sleep and rest, and arose in the morning as tired as when I went to bed. I was completely run down, and derived no benefit from any medicine I took.

"One day while in town my druggist recommended Cooper's New Discovery. I had noticed several articles in the newspapers regarding this man Cooper's work in the larger cities, and decided to give his medicine a trial. Its effect surprised me. Before I had taken all of the first bottle I felt wonderfully improved. The pain and distress had left me, my appetite was good, my bowels were moving regularly and naturally, and I began to sleep soundly at night.

"I continued the treatment, taking several more bottles, and in six weeks' time I felt like a new man, fully restored to health and strength. I gained fifteen pounds while taking the Cooper medicine. I cannot say enough in praise of Cooper's New Discovery—it brought new life to me."

The theory of L. T. Cooper is based upon common-sense reasoning. When asked recently why his medicine is so successful, he replied: "My New Discovery is successful because it corrects the stomach. My theory is that few can be sick if the digestive apparatus is working properly. It naturally follows that few can be well with a poor digestion. I know from experience that most of the tired, half-sick people that are so common now-a-days have half-sick stomachs. Put the stomach in shape, and nature does the rest. The result is general good health. My medicine does this."

Cooper's New Discovery is a boon to stomach sufferers. It is sold by all druggists everywhere. A sample bottle mailed free upon request by addressing The Cooper Medicine company, Dayton, Ohio

We have a few more of those splendid values that we are closing out at $175.00. So many musicians have remarked the splendid quality of tone of these pianos and expressed astonishment that such a fine instrument could be sold so cheaply. Not Sufficent Appropriated for Itasca State Park Road.

Opinion of Vice Chairman of State Highway Commission.

Bemidji, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The amount of money appropriated for the state road to the Itasca state park was inadequate, according to T. O'Connor of Renville, the vice chairman of the state board of highway commissioners, while here after attending a meeting of the commissioners at Douglas lodge, in the state park. In discussing the matter, Mr. O'Connor said:

"The late legislature should have appropriated $50,000 for the construction of the state road created by that body to enable the people of the state to have more easy ingress and egress to the Itasca state park, which road will extend from Park Rapids to the park and on through northward to Bagley. The legislature appropriated the very inadequate sum of $10,000, which is to be divided equally each side of the park; that is, from Park Rapids to the park and from Bagley to the park. It will take a lot more money to complete the road and put it into condition for traversing by automobiles, as was the intention of the promoters of the road."

The meeting of the commissioners was attended also by parties interested directly in the construction and improvement of the park state road. L. W. Hill, president of the commission, as well as Mr. Gadernaugh of Aitkin, a member of the commission, were unable to be present. Mr. O'Connor acted as chairman of the meeting.

Many Attended Meeting.

In addition to George Cooley, state engineer and secretary of the commission, there were present State Senators Swenson of Minneapolis and Hanson of Ada, Representatives Oqsadal of Bemidji and Hinds of Hubbard, Charles Spencer, surveyor of Hubbard county; Mr. Uglund, surveyor of Clearwater county; Prof. Green of the state university; T. J. Nary of Park Rapids, A. Kaiser of Bagley, representing the Bagley Commercial club; Harry Sinker, owner of the large mercantile establishment of Mallard, besides representatives of the board of county commissioners of both Hubbard and Clearwater counties, and others, numbering in all forty-three persons.

There was some difference of opinion as to whether the road as originally laid out was the best and all were heard who cared to speak on the subject.

According to Mr. O'Connor the meeting was a harmonious one, and was productive of much good.

State Engineer Cooley spoke at some length concerning state roads and gave out much valuable information.

Senator Hanson of Ada and Harry Sinker of Mallard also spoke, as did several others, and the meeting was filled with interest all through. The majority of those who expressed themselves on the subject was in favor of the road as it has been laid out.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was decided that the party should drive over the route of the road northward from the park to Bagley. The trip was made, and at its conclusion Mr. O'Connor came on to Bemidji.

International Falls, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The return on the writ of quo warranto issued by the supreme court in the contest instituted by Henry W. Forrier of Littlefork against Hugh McIntosh of this place, calling on the latter to show cause why he does not surrender the office of sheriff of Koochiching county to Forrier, will be heard by the supreme court June 28, according to word received from St. Paul.

Locker, secretary of the Minnesota State Sunday School association, which at its recent meeting here adopted resolutions that were wired to Washington calling upon President Taft to use his good offices in preventing a recurrence of the Armenian massacres, has received acknowledgements from Secretary Knox and President Taft of the receipt of the resolutions.

"The president directs me to acknowledge your telegram of May 5 by which the Minnesota Sunday School association in convention assembled asks the president to use his good offices to prevent a recurrence of the Armenian massacres.

"I have the pleasure to say that official reports from Turkey indicate that the re-established Constitutional government is taking vigorous measures for the complete restoration of order, and that troops have been hurried to the disturbed districts, which. Six Orientals Now Attending Minnesota Institution Land It.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 18.—The University of Minnesota is well known to the Japanese who come to America to complete their education, and the six Japanese students at the state institution are using their influence to bring others of their countrymen, according to Yoshio Tanikawa, a senior. He has just been awarded a scholarship in philosophy at Harvard, and will go there next year for post-graduate work. Discussing the educational systems in Japan and the United States, he says:

"The University of Minnesota is well known among the Japanese as a first-class university, so that when the Japanese come East the state university is popular for many reasons. Student life here is not so expensive and the democratic atmosphere of the university attracts the Japanese student. Of course, for us the most conspicuous feature of an American university is the co-educational system and the intimate relation which the students can have with their professors. The personality of President Northrop seems especially wonderful to us and we all love and respect him."

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—Hand Swelled and Then Humor Spread to Arms, Legs and Face—It was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED: CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pinhead on top of my hand. It burned and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it ringworm, and made very light of it. He gave me a wash and told me to apply it before going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was all swollen up and I poulticed it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and said it was well I poulticed it. After trying his different remedies the disease increased and went up my arms and finally to my thighs and legs generally and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had tried this doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me it was a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a while to cure it. His medicine checked the advance of the disease but no further.

"I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was completely free from the disease and I have not been troubled with another attack since. I still use the Cuticura Ointment in my family as it is one of the best remedies to heal a sore or other injury rapidly. I can freely and truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are the best so far as my experience went with them and I am still recommending them, feeling sure I am not making a mistake. C. Burkhart, 236 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per Vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Winona, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The White Sox of Duluth were unable to grasp the situation in yesterday's game as presented by Mr. Nelson, the local pitcher, all of which made it impossible for the visitors to score anything, as the two errors by the local were not of the expensive variety. Final score, 6 to 0 in favor of Winona.

On the other hand, Winona got to Mr. Thorsen, the Duluth pitcher, for a total of nine hits, a performance which was encouraged and supplemented by costly errors on the part of the visitors. They're off at Park Point—not yet, but soon.

The first clash of the season between the senior and junior eights will be held the latter part of the present week, either Friday evening or Saturday.

Both eights are clamoring for the first speed trial. The haughty seniors are confident that they will take the measure of the hopeful juniors. If the latter eight has a few more evenings such as it enjoyed last evening, it will give the seniors all of the race they desire.

Following the idea taken up by the officials of the Minnesota Boat club, the officials of the Duluth Boat club have planned to make the informal trial of speed of the two eights one of the features of each week of the summer season. The clash this week will inaugurate the weekly races that will be held at the Park Point institution this summer.

The juniors enjoyed the best workout of the season last evening. The weather conditions were the most favorable they have been this year. While a trifle too cool for ideal rowing purposes, the sun shone all afternoon and the slight breeze was not so cold that it chilled the muscles.

The juniors went the full length of the course last evening. They did some sprinting at the end of the mile and a half, for the first time this season getting their legs into the drive. There isn't rythm in the boat yet by any means, but last night's practice showed the most encouraging workout of the season.

For the first time this year there were men to spare. In fact, there were enough candidates on hand to fill out a junior four, in addition to the eight that has been rowing regularly so far this season.

E. R. Anderson, lovingly known to his large coterie of friends as "the human cork," was out, as was Garfield Myers, a member of last year's eight. A strenuous effort is being made to get John Goodwin, one of the members of the junior eight last year, to come out and try for the crew. Goodwin was one of the strongest men in the 1908 junior eight, and it is believed that this presence to the present junior would add strength sufficient to make the 1909 eight one of the fastest junior eights that ever went out from the Duluth Boat club—providing.

If the same amount of spirit is injected into the work that was shown for the first time last evening.

If he spirit of last evening is shown for the remainder of the season there is no reason why the present junior eight can't go to St. Paul and make a great bid for first honors.

It is up to the members of the eight to decide what kind of a showing they are going to make at St. Paul. Last night's work and spirit augurs well for the success of the crew at the July regatta. It is to be fervently hoped that the same spirit will carry by the members for the rest of the season.

"Oh mercy!" as the society editor would say, weren't the members of the Cheltenham Kennel club of Chicago vexed, pluved, if you will, at the ways of a woman. The flossy boys were on their mounts and waiting the word to be off in hot pursuit of bunny, when Mrs. L. F. Young, a member of the Chicago Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, declared that there would be no killing of rabbits on that particular afternoon. Mrs. Young made good, too, and even as a maiden fair, by dexterous chiming, stopped cursed curfew from chiming, so did the Chicago member of the S. P. C. A. stop the merry gambol of the nobby members of the Cheltenham club. By jove, I say, old chap, it is really hard luck! A cigarette, Reginald.

Miller Goes to England.

New York, May 18.—Walter Miller, the jockey, who had more winning mounts on the American turf during the seasons of 1905-06-07 than any other rider, will sail for England tomorrow. He will ride on the English turf as a free lance. Tom McCreery, the trainer, will accompany him.

Miller, who has won two futurities and most of the other important racing features in America, declared last night that the anti-betting law in New York state induced him to give up the hope of riding here, and that he believed much more money is to be made on the English courses.

FOUR NEW RECORDS MADE AT HIGH SCHOOL MEET

THE HIGH SCHOOL TRACK SQUAD.

The interclass field meet of the Central high school was held yesterday, the field events on the high school grounds and the running on London road.

Some good showings were made by members of the different classes who participated, and the feeling seems to be that Duluth will have good representation at the interscholastic field meet, to be held on Northrop field, Minneapolis, Saturday, by the University of Minnesota, for all the high schools and secondary schools in the Northwest.

A number of the local high school records were broken, among them being the throwing of the discus, the 220-yard dash, the half-mile run, and the mile run.

In accumulating points, the junior class made the best showing of all, having a total of 29½ points for the meet. The sophomores were second, with a total of 28 points, and the seniors came third, with a total of 23 points. The freshmen got a total of 20½ points.

Following the meet last night, the following team to represent the school at the interscholastic meet at the "U" in Minneapolis was chosen: Berg, Helmer, Johnston, McCrea, Merritt, Mooney, Stevens, Taylor and Trumbull.

Yesterday's events were postponed from Saturday, when the weather was so unfavorable.

Stevens of the class of '10 made the mile run in minutes 54 seconds flat, breaking the previous record for the school. Merritt, '10, broke the record for the half-mile run, making it in 2 minutes 5 1-5 seconds. The old record was 2:11. Helmer, '10, won the 220-yard dash in 22 4-5 seconds, one second less than the former record. Johnson, '12, broke the former discus-throwing record of 92 feet by making 97 feet 2 inches.

Morterud and Waldron were tied for first place on the high jump. They let it stand there. Had they continued a record might have been broken.

Considering the fact that London road is not a regulation running track, the time made there yesterday is encouraging to the supporters of high school athletics.

The point summary follows: Helmer, '10, 14; Johnston, '12, 12; Stevens, '10, 8; Taylor, '11, 8; Olson, '12, 7½; Merritt, '10, 7; Ely, '09, 5; McCrea, '11, 5; Crawford, '09, 5; Morterud, 11, 4; Waldron, '11, 4; Thorburn, '10, 3; Quinn, '09, 3; Berg, '10, 3; Solheim, '11, 3; Glass, '09, 2; Kelley, '11, 2; McFarlane, '09, 2; Nelson, '10, 2; Hutchins, '09, 2; Feetham, '10, 2; Thomas, '09, 1; Miller, '12, 1; Goldsmith, '09, 1; Mooney, '11, 1; Paddock, '09, ½; Scanlon, '12, ½.

The complete summary of the events follows:

One mile run—First, Stevens; second, Thorburn; third, Glass; fourth, Thomas; time, 4 minutes, 54 seconds; old record, 4 minutes 57 2-5 seconds.

100-yard dash—McCrea, Helmer, Feetham, Johnston; time, 10 1-5 seconds.

440-yard dash—Taylor, Quinn, Merritt, Miller; time, 52 2-5 seconds.

Half-mile run—Merritt, Berg, Stevens, Goldsmith; time, 2 minutes, 5 1-5 seconds; old record, 2 minutes, 11 seconds.

220-yard dash—Helmer, Taylor, Kelley, Mooney, 22 4-5 seconds; old record, 23 4-5 seconds.

Hammer throw—Crawford, Solheim, McFarlane, Johnston, distance, 106 feet, 9 inches.

Pole vault—Ely, Olson and Hutchins tied for second, Stevens, height, 8 feet, 2 inches.

High jump—Morterud and Waldron tied for first; Helmer, Olson and Scanlon, tied for third, height, 5 feet.

Arrested After the Fight.

New York, May 18.—With a constant pecking of left and right jabs and stiff uppercuts to the wind, Eddie Walsh, a local lightweight, handily outpointed Freddie Corbett of Philadelphia in a ten-round bout in Brooklyn last night. After the fight the manager of the club and fighters were arrested.

O'Brien the Faverite.

New York, May 18.—Notwithstanding the early forecasts of the Jack Johnson-Philadelphia Jack O'Brien fight, which is to be held in Philadelphia on Wednesday night, a reversal of opinion was apparent in New York sporting circles last night, where there seemed to be a preponderance of opinion that O'Brien would outpoint the negro champion. But there was a notable absence of that betting that has characterized previous contests between well-known fighters. That four special trains have been scheduled to carry New York enthusiasts to the fight indicates the amount of itnerest taken in the mill.

PAVING CONTRACT HELD UP BY THE CITY COUNCIL

Claimed That P. McDonnell's Fourth Street Bid Is High.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

Held up award of Fourth street paving contract for one week.

Gave authority for purchase of garbage wagon and team to experiment with municipal garbage collection system.

Received letter from fire commissioners announcing that unless money were forthcoming the Lakeside hall would be closed June 1.

Ordered grading of Sixth street for distance of about fifteen blocks to cost $50,600.

Condemned new route up the hill to Hermantown road.

"Why was McDonnell's bid for paving Fourth street, from Fifth avenue west to Sixth avenue east, $2,500 higher now than it was two weeks ago?" That was the question asked by Alderman Moore at the council meeting last night.

Some of the city fathers did not think Mr. McDonnell's explanation entirely satisfactory, and the award of the contract to Mr. McDonnell by the board of public works was not approved. The matter will come up again next Monday evening.

Alderman Moore and Mr. McDonnell had quite an argument. Bids on the job were opened two weeks ago, but, owing to a misunderstanding of specifications, it was learned that some of the contractors had not prepared their bids properly, and that, under conditions as they existed, the contract could not be legally let. Accordingly, it was directed that all bids be thrown out and more advertised for.

In the first instance A. G. Osman and P. McDonnell were the lowest bidders, Osman claiming to be lower than McDonnell. Osman bid lower on the sandstone blocks and McDonnell on the car tracks, for which the street railway company was to pay, and higher on the remainder of the job than Mr. McDonnell, while the latter's figures were higher on the sandstone blocks. The totals gave Osman a little better of the bidding, and he thought the contract should go to him on that account.

When it was decided to readvertise for bids, Mr. Osman was very much put out, thought he was not being fairly treated, and said he would not make another bid, because he believed he was being discriminated against in favor of Mr. McDonnell. On the last set of bids G. R. King and P. McDonnell were the only bidders. The latter had the lowest bid, amounting to $50,600, but it was $2,500 higher than his bid on the same work two weeks previously, and last night Alderman Moore asked the reason why.

The contractor answered by saying that the removal of the street railway right-of-way from the specifications lessened the profits for the man who takes the job. President Preston of the board of public works stated that while the bid was higher than the first one, it was still a reasonable figure, and he recommended that the contract be awarded to Mr. McDonnell.

It developed during the argument that the street railway company, instead of being required to pay for the entire paving of its right-of-way along the street, is only called upon to pay the difference between the cost of the paving which is being used for the street and the sandstone blocks which are necessary between the tracks.

Alderman Moore last night made a motion that bids be advertised for again, but the motion did not carry. No other action was taken by the council in regard to the matter, so it will be laid over until the meeting next Monday evening.

Fourth street property owners attended a meeting of the board of public works yesterday afternoon, and agreed upon tar macadam, on a five-inch concrete base, as a suitable kind of paving. This is more expensive than the straight tar macadam, but is said to be much more satisfactory.

Health Commissioner Patton appeared before the council and explained his proposition to experiment, in a small way, with the municipal collection of garbage. He was allowed an appropriation out of the health fund for the purchase of a team of horses and steel garbage wagon, with enough money besides to build a barn near the incinerator.

"The present system of garbage collection is very unsatisfactory," said the doctor. "Most of the men cannot be relied upon to make regular calls at different houses in their districts. There is no system about the work, and the housewife has no means of knowing just when the garbage will be taken away. The work also costs more than would be the case under municipal control.

"Under the system I propose in this experimental work, the one team will be given a certain district to cover, and will attend to that district and no other, just as if the whole city were covered by the same system. There will be regular days for the wagon to call for the garbage, and the housewife will be supplied with a certain number of tickets for a dollar, just like a milk ticket. Every time the garbage can is emptied, one of the ticket coupons will be torn off. Until we get started I do not know just how many coupons we can give to a ticket, but know the result will be cheaper to the general public than the present one. We propose to furnish the service at actual cost to the householder. It will cost the city nothing, and there will be no profit in it for the city. The householder will get the benefit, and we will also have a cleaner municipality. If I succeed in demonstrating the practicability of the scheme, which I am sure I can, I shall ask the council to furnish me with enough teams and wagons to cover the entire city.

"Another argument in favor of municipal collection is that it would give us more garbage for the incinerator, and the more garbage we have there the more cheaply it can be burned per ton. At the present time it is costing us from $1.10 to $1.25 a ton to burn the stuff. This is because the plant is only run at one-third its capacity. If run at full capacity, as would be the case if enough garbage were brought to it, the cost of burning would be reduced to perhaps 40 cents a ton, as has been done elsewhere. Municipal collection of garbage is the only system whereby the city ran be kept really clean."

A communication signed by two members of the fire board, Messrs. Burgess and Tweed, was read. It announced that unless the city furnished the fire department with more money, the Lakeside hall would be closed June 1, and the company would be disbanded. It is unusual for the commissioners to sign their names to a letter and send it direct to the council. The common method of procedure is for the letter to be written and signed by the secretary of the board. It is assumed in this instance, that the commissioners considered the matter so urgent that they had better not wait until a regular meeting of the board before taking it up. The aldermen claim they are unable to furnish a larger appropriation. Meantime residents of Lakeside are protesting with all their might. The communication last night stated that the council was responsible for the condition and should assume that responsibility.

• • •

The matter of a condemnation of pole and conduit lines in the East end was laid over for a week, to allow members of the Real Estate exchange to be heard.

• • •

The council authorized the grading of Sixth street, between East Cascade street and Fourteenth avenue east. The job will cost about $50,600. The street will be paved next year. It would have been thus improved this year, but the property owners requested that that portion of the work be put off until 1910.

• • •

A resolution was adopted authorizing the expenditure of not more than $200 for the construction of a room in the street railway company's building on Park Point for the accommodation of a member of the fire department.

• • •

The city attorney was requested to ascertain if a special ordinance would be necessary to have civil service qualifications apply to special policemen as well as to the regulars.

• • •

A condemnation for the purpose of reducing the grade on Hermantown road was ordered. This will make an easy-grade road for farmers living in that direction from the city.

• • •

The first reading was given an ordinance, introduced by Alderman Shartel, providing that side entrances to buildings on avenues of the city may occupy one-fifth of the sidewalk space.

HILL CITY IS CONNECTED BY RAIL WITH SWAN RIVER

Result of Real Pluck and Enterprise and Perseverance.

Hitherto Inaccessible Section That Is Tributary to Duluth.

Hill City, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This has been a red letter day for the people of this place. It has marked the realization of hopes long cherished. Track layers on the Mississippi, Hill City & Western railway crossed the bridge over the narrows in Hill Lake and reached this town today. Hill City is now exactly 117 miles west of Duluth by rail, which means a lot to Hill City and will mean a good deal to Duluth as soon as the track is surfaced up and trains begin to run regularly between here and Swan River station on the Great Northern, and a rich section of the state, hitherto inaccessible for want of railroad facilities, is made directly tributary to Duluth.

Story of Pluck and Enterprise.

The building of this little road furnishes material for a pretty story of real pluck and enterprise and perseverance on the part of a Minnesota community, not populous with bondholders and millionaires, but well supplied with people of enterprise and energy. The natural resources of the nothern part of Aitkin county, a county which has taken many prizes at the state fair for the excellence of her agricultural products, began to attract settlers and investors years ago. They were encouraged in pioneering by the hope and the prospect of railroad construction, but not until now have their expectations in that regard been realized, and now largely through their own efforts and courage and public spirit. Land by a Minneapolis man, who was attracted chiefly by the fine body of hardwood lying around Hill lake, and its possibilities in hardwood manufacture, they organized a year ago to build from a connection with the Great Northern at Swan River, across the Mississippi river to Hill City, lying on the west shores of Hill lake in Northern Aitkin county. They put in some money, some materials and a lot of labor and at last have an exceedingly well-built roadbed constructed under the direction of M. D. Stoner, city surveyor of Bemidji, and ironed and surfaced under the supervision of W. W. Rabey of Hill City.

Hardwood Manufacturing.

Already a good start has been made here toward the establishment of an important hardwood manufacturing industry by the Hill City Woodenware company, T. J. Hickey of Minneapolis, president. With the extensive supply and quality of hardwood available, this industry is destined to become important, the plans of the company contemplating factories for the manufacture of all kinds of hardwood specialties. A bank has been organized under the name of First State Bank of Hill City, with Thomas Brusegaard of St. Paul as president and R. L. Abrahamson of Hill City as cashier. A large amount of building is only awaiting the arrival of the railroad to bring in building material and business men looking for opportunities in merchandising and other lines are selecting locations and making plans for identifying themselves with a community which is enterprising enough to build its own railroad rather than wait longer for the big railway companies to give them what they want for the development of their extraordinary natural resources.

A Rich Section.

Viewed from Duluth, Hill City lies well in toward the center of a section of the state which has hitherto been neglected, but which for purposes of trade should belong to the Zenith City. In here, between the Great Northern on the north and the Northern Pacific on the south, is a section of the state, the natural resources of which have not heretofore been fairly appreciated. Undoubtedly all that streetch between Deerwood on the Cuyuna range and Coleraine on the Mesaba is more or less stocked with iron ore, and will some day be developed, but that is by no means the only asset that country possesses, nor the one which will have the chief attraction for the man of small means in search of a home. Here are not only fine bodies of hardwood, underlaid with the richest black soil, easily cleared and marketable at Hill City, but the lowlands of wild meadows, with a slight expense for drainage will some day not far distant be the best producers of agricultural products of any acres in the state. What Mr. Hartley is doing at Island can be done at no more expense on tens of thousands of acres within ten miles of Hill City.

It is expected that trains will be running regularly to Hill City about June 1.

ODANAH IS FLOODED.

Indian Reservation Town Having Tough Time With High Water.

Odanah, Wis., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bad river is on the rampage, being unusually high for this season, and considerable damage has already resulted. This stream, which runs through the Bad River reservation, is already higher than for a number of years. The high water has closed the sawmill of the Stearns Lumber company and is driving many people from their homes.

The opera house is six feet under water and the wagon bridge across the river is impassible. An unknown man attempted to cross it yesterday and narrowly escaped drowning his team as the water was above the wagon box and the current quite strong. Among the families who have had to move on account of high water are M. J. Flannelly, George Moore, F. J. Darke and Sam Green. The river at Mellen is also very high, the sawmill and tannery being forced to close down on account of high water.

SPRECKELS TESTIFIES IN CALHOUN'S CASE

San Francisco, Cal., Rudolph Spreckels, the San Francisco banker who contributed $100,000 to prosecute an inquiry into municipal conditions in 1906, was called to the witness stand in the bribery trial of Patrick Calhoun. He gave a detailed account of his reasons for opposing Mr. Calhoun's plans for railway development and of the manner in which he became a supporter of the prosecution.

Assistant District Attorney Heney, replying to a statement by one of the attorneys for the defense, declared that he had thrown down the bars, had summoned Mr. Spreckels as a witness for the first time in any of the bribery trials, and that he stood ready to meet any line of inquiry the defense might choose.

"We have been trying Mr. Calhoun and no other," said Mr. Heney, "but from the time we began the selection of the jury the defense has endeavored to try Rudolph Spreckels and James D. Phelan at the same time. You have insinuated, times without number, that Mr. Spreckels was back of the prosecution for a malicious purpose, for his personal gain and profit and in an effort to gain control of the United Railroads. You made this issue. Surely you are not afraid to meet it now that he is on the stand, prepared to answer your questions."

Mr. Spreckels testified that he first came into conflict with the United Railroads in 1905, when he learned of a proposal to substitute the overhead trolley for the cable on the Sutter street system. As an owner of property on this system's line, and as a member of the Sutter Street Improvement club, Mr. Spreckels said he actively opposed the program, and that he had consented three times to meet Mr. Calhoun for a discussion.

Mr. Spreckels said he had steadfastly refused to accept the street railway's arguments in support of the overhead trolley.

"On the occasion of our third interview," said the witness, "Mr. Calhoun said he would be willing to withdraw the cable line from Pacific avenue, where my residence is located, and substitute an overhead trolley line on Broadway in the same district. He called my attention to the fact that in common with many of my neighbors, I had carriages and automobiles, and was not dependent on the street cars. In reply I said that my fight was not selfish, and that I was interested in the behalf of the people who had no carriages and automobiles, and that I would not entertain the proposition.

"Mr. Calhoun, at this interview, said he was ready to construct a tunnel through Powell street hill and make the entrance one of the busiest transfer points in the city. I asked him if this was because I owned property at the corner of Powell and Sutter, and he expressed surprise, saying he did not know of it."

Mr. Spreckels said he had telegraphed to his attorney in the East, urging his immediate return, and had directed the lawyer to prepare articles of incorporation of a rival transportation company, in an effort to defeat the overhead trolley.

TAXICABS ARE BLAMED FOR $1,000,000 FAILURE OF THE TRACY COMPANY

New York, May 18.—In the appointment yesterday of a receiver for Tracy & Co., members of the New York stock exchange and the Chicago board of Trade, Wall street had a $1,000,000 failure with an interesting variation from the usual. Taxicabs, not stock manipulation or market conditions, are said to be indirectly responsible for the firm's troubles. While no announcement as to the exact cause of the failure has been made, E. A. Benedict, the receiver, said he understood money lost in backing a local taxicab concern figured in the outside ventures. The firm has no stock exchange obligations. The total liabilities are estimated at $1,000,000, the assets at half that amount. Both these sums are approximated.

News of the firm's failure came out with the filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy yesterday afternoon, but it was rather late in the day, no official notice being received at the stock exchange. Mr. Benedict was quickly named as receiver and gave bond for $60,000.

There were only three petitioning creditors. They were Henry F. Woodward, $3,500; William G. Ausin, $100, and William A. Scott, $307.

The firm of Tracey & Co. was organized in 1905. It consists of William W. Tracey, R. D. Covington and Frederick W. Parker. Mr. Parker was the board member. Tracey and Covington were in conference with the receiver in the afternoon, but they declined to make any statement. Mr. Parker has been abroad for several months.

Among stock exchange houses with Chicago connections, the embarrassment of the firm caused little surprise. The situation is regarded by friends of Mr. Tracy as a result, at least in part, of proposed taxicab legislation pending before the local board of aldermen. When a hearing was held with regard to proposed legislation, some weeks ago, an attorney for taxicab interests announced to the committeemen of the board that any reduction in the rate of fare might mean bankruptcy for some persons interested. But the proposed bill was reported, though further consideration was postponed.

As no official notice was received, the firm was not suspended from the stock exchange this afternoon.

Besides the main New York office in Wall street the firm maintained local branches in West Twenty-third street and at the Hotel Gotham. It had other offices in Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Milwaukee and New Haven.

In summing up the situation, Receiver Benedict said:

"I have just taken hold and have no idea of the firm's condition. I am assured that there are no stock exchange obligations. I have been told that some money was lost in outside ventures, such as the local taxicab business and in a similar venture in Chicago, but have heard nothing to confirm this.

"It is understood, however, that the banking firm of Tracy & Co., acted as bankers for a taxicab company of this city and heavy losses were incurred in the recent strike of chauffeurs.

SAYS REFORM NEEDS A REST

President of Erie Says Corporation Baiting Does Not Pay.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 18.—Frederick D. Underwood, president of the Erie road, was in this city on a hurried business trip and to arrange some private matters in Wauwatosa, where he was born and where so many of his family live. With his brother, W. J. Underwood, general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, Mr. Underwood left for Chicago.

"It is a relief to see the public is at last appreciating the fact that it does not pay to be everlastingly baiting the corporations," said Mr. Underwood. "Reform is a splendid thing and has accomplished, in many cases, results that now seem indispensable.

"But reform, like most movements that become popular fads, has been greatly overdone in late years. It is entitled to a long rest during this coming hot weather.

"Following upon the heels of the late financial stringency, the country is merging into a period of prosperity. Its evidences are on every hand. Progress toward it may not be as fast as in former years, but it will be all the surer and safer."

Before leaving the city Mr. Underwood gave to the trustees of Wisconsin consistory, Scottish Rite Masons, a check for $1,000, to be used as they see fit. Mr. Underwood said, however, that he would like to have the money go to the Wisconsin Masonic home at Dousman.

KILLS WIFE, KISSES BABY AND FLEES.

Atlanta, Ga., May 18.—Mrs. George Burge was murdered while she slept, and her husband is under arrest charged with the killing. After killing the woman he kissed their 13-month-old baby before running from the room. The police charge that Burge, who had separated from his wife, threatened her with violence if she did not give him custody of the baby. Three other children of Mrs. Burge, all stepchildren of Burge, were asleep in the room at the time. Frank Britton awakened and was slightly cut by his mother's slayer, whom he claims he recognized as his stepfather.

WOMAN DOCTOR SAVES FATHER FROM FLAMES.

Chicago, May 18.—Fire in an apartment building was attended by heroic rescue work on the part of Dr. Julia C. Strawn, who carried her aged and paralyzed father through clouds of smoke to a fire escape and there assisted firemen to lower him from the fifth story. She returned to the burning interior and assisted her mother in climbing down the fire escape. In the excitement a bag containing $1,500 worth of diamonds was thrown to the sidewalk. It was returned to Dr. Strawn.

STEEL EMPLOYES TO GET RAISE

Thirty-Five Thousand Men Will Be Pleasurably Affected.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 18.—Announcement is made here tonight that 35,000 employes of iron and steel companies having headquarters here and in this vicinity will receive an advance in wages, averaging 10 per cent June 1 or July 1. Some o fthe manufacturers have already posted notices of the increase and others, it is said, will do so in a few days. The United States Steel corporation has made no announcement of an increase in wages, but it is said the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, the Republic Iron & Steel company, and other independent companies will restore the wages prior to April 1 last, when a general cut was made. It is also announced that after June 1 the independents will not accept any orders for steel at the present prices.

SAYS CHARGES ARE TOO LOW

Sir William Van Horne Talks of the American Railroads.

London, May 18.—Sir William Van Horne, maker of the Canadian Pacific railway, and who has since built hundreds of miles of railway in Cuba, expresses his views relative to American railways at the Savoy hotel, where he is staying.

"There is one thing certain about the railways of North America," said Sir William. "Their charges are much too low. They are not earning as much as they should on the capital invested, and I don't feel very hopeful of an increased percentage of earnings. The railways of America are doing more for less money than any others in the world. I think the present low rates are simply absurd. It has been the aim of railway managers for as far back as I can remember to act in unison in the matter of rates, but they have never succeeded in doing so for any considerable length of time.

"The solution of the problem will not be government ownership. No government ever ran railways as cheaply as private management could."

A Household Hint.

Should a sudden shower of soot from the chimney fall upon the carpet or hearth rug, don't attempt to sweep it up, then and there. Instead cover thickly with dry salt, let it remain for a few minutes and then sweep up salt and all. If carefully done, not a spot will remain after this treatment. Another suggestion for the housewife is to have a glass of golden grain belt beer for your husband when he comes home after a hard day's work. It relieves that tired feeling. Order a case today. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth branch, Minneapolis Brewing Co.

GRAIN DOING NICELY.

Country Around Crookston Looks Like Vast Garden Spot.

Crookston, Minn., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another week of such weather as last and seeding will be completed throughout this section, with the exception of corn and potatoes. The wheat is nearly all up, and a 100-mile crop inspection tour Sunday showed conditions that best in years. The fields look like one vast garden. The grain is coming up, and there is not a weed in sight. The grain is getting such a start this spring that the weeds will be choked.

NORTH DAKOTA CROPS IN FLOURISHING SHAPE.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Travelers who have been out over North Dakota state that the past week has been a very satisfactory one. Rain fell in localities where it was needed, and there is a cheerful feeling among farmers generally. Wheat seeding is about done.

John Vallely, deputy state bank examiner, has returned from a trip to Bottineau, Ward and other counties. He states that he found crops in a very satisfactory condition. There has been plenty of rain in nearly every locality between here and Minot and the conditions are satisfactory, although the grain is hardly as far advanced as is advisable at this season of the year. The only dry locality noticed was this side of Devils Lake.

Do not be scared into thinking that every pain in the back denotes kidney trouble. It is probably rheumatism and easily curable by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Rheumatism frequently affects the kidneys, the secretion is reduced in amount, is strongly acid, contains sediment and is of a high color. These misleading symptoms disappear when the rheumatism is driven from the blood.

do not simply deaden the pain; they cure the trouble which causes the pain. They are guaranteed to contain no narcotic, stimulant or opiate.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Applications for the position of swimming instructor are being received at the Young Women's Christian association. Sealed bids will be considered by the secretary, who retains the right to reject any or all of the applications. Several ambitious youths—that is, ambitious for the strenuous and exciting life—have signified their intention of applying for the position.

It s not that Miss Pullar, the physical director, is not fully competent to offer instruction in swimming, for she is, but the pool is not ready ready for occupacy and probably will not be for a few weeks yet. Miss Pullar will leave during June to spend the summer away from Duluth, and unless an instructor volunteers during that time the pool will be unused until fall.

The regular gymnasium season usually closes the last of May, but this year it was interrupted at the time of moving and so will be continued later, until some time in June. The gymnasium classes are being held daily and although the pool itself is almost completed, the workmen are still engaged in installing the shower baths and completing the work in that part of the building.

There is much enthusiasm, especially among the younger girls, whose early efforts and determination to have a swimming pool as a feature of the new building made it possible.

No definite plans are yet beiog made in regard to the formal opening of the building, although the routine work is being carried on. A large number of rooms in the dormitory are occupied, the dining room is in operation, and the gymnasium classes are being held on schedule.

THE SPOILED CHILD

Is Often Well Fitted For Life's Battles.

Often the spoiled child is the one really best trained for life, says Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Success Magazine.

Real life, that is, not the sham travesty up on it so carefully played in the nursery and the schoolroom and termed "education." The difference between a spoiled child and a well-behaved one is chiefly a matter of frankness of expression. The spoiled child says right out just what he happens to think and feel, and you hear and are pained by his expression of skepticism, of resentment, even of rebellion. Nine times out of ten the "model" child feels exactly the same sentiments—but refrains from expressing them. When the spoiled child has expressed himself—it may be even impertinently or rebelliously—the murder is all out, the subject is fairly on the carpet, and you can argue the case with him on its merits, or if it be beyond his grasp, assert your authority and ask him to trust our superior experience, which he usually will, nine cases out of ten, if he is appealed to in this way. In any case, you know the worst that is in him and can govern yourself accordingly. Your model child may submit in silence, without discussion of remonstrance, but you may depend upon it that he will discuss the question on its merits with the nurse, or the cook, or the hired man, or the bad boy in the next street; and that, whatever feelings of resentment or injustice he may smother in his little interior, so far as expressing them toward you is concerned, he will pass on with interest to his puppy, his kitten, or his younger brothers and sisters, or playmates.

Your well-behaved, obedient child may be a model of propriety while he is under your eye, but heaven only knows what pitifully perverted views of life and conduct, what eager questions for knowledge, or what volcanic seethings of resentment and sense of injustice may be covered by that placid exterior. Many a boy who is "a perfect little gentlemen" under his mother's eye, is a perfect little fiend when he is safely out of sight—simply because he has never had an opportunity of finding his balance, of reasoning out his rules of conduct, and commenting freely and frankly upon whatever appears to him to be insincere, unjust, or unfair. He has been so repressed that anything that he can do without getting caught is regarded as fair game.

THE COST OF LIVING

Will Be Reduced During the Administration.

Aside from a little cheerful moralizing on the probable scarcity of news, now that Mr. Roosevelt has quit the White House, it is doubtful if the average citizen has given much thought to the recent change in administration at Washington. Women are especially unlikely to feel that what happens in the world of politics affects them in their home life. And yet there has probably never before been a change of administration that has meant so much to the wives and mothers of this country, says the Woman's Home Companion.

The new administration promises a reduction in the cost of living. How is this to be accomplished? Largely through sweeping modifications in the tariff on staple articles. The mention of the word tariff has usually been the signal for the women of the family to gather apart to discuss distinctly feminine subjects; and yet to the thinking woman it has at last come home that this subject is not hard to understand and that it intimately concerns the buyer of the family. The subject has been lifted from the field of party squabbling. While men may still differ as to the wisdom of establishing in the first place the protective tariff which has given this country so many benefits and so many abuses, there can be no little difference of opinion among honest men as to the wisdom of decreasing the present cost of living.

And how does this affect you and me? This way: Shoes will cost less; thread, gloves, stockings, furniture, ihware, clothes of all sorts, food of most sorts, will cost less. The money we earn will go farther, and we will begin to see a margin between the reward of industry and the cost of living. In that margin, rigidly maintained, lies the only solution of the wage-earner's problem. Statistics show that whereas wages are increasing at the rate of 3.9 per cent each year, the cost of living is increasing 5.9 per cent. Mr. Taft is pledged to end this unfair condition: the members of congress of both parties are pledged to the same course. To see that they carry out these pledges is the duty of citizens who elected them. Nothing but the improper use of corporation wealth and influence can prevent an early and effective reform: and even that power, great as it is, will be of no avail if the women of this country, realizing how near this question is to their happiness and comfort, will add their influence to that of the men. Under such circumstances the glorious promise of the new government will be fulfilled.

The Season's Styles.

When the spring season opened it seemed as if chiffon lace and marquisette were to take precedence of the nets as material for blouses and guimpes, and indeed the fine laces are preferred to net for the guimpes of dressy French frocks but net is too satisfactory a material for such purposes to be lightly elbowed aside and large quantities of it are still being sold, even in the ready tucked varieties which were so common during the winter.

• • •

One thing that has helped the nets to hold their prestige is the variety and beauty of the new net meshes and designs which have been brought out this spring. Meshes of every imaginable size and design are supplied in silk and in cotton and a wide range of colorings also is provided, so that the irksome necessity of bothering with the dyeing problem which used to confront a woman in need of a net waist to match a colored frock is now, in a majority of cases, completely eliminated.

• • •

In gray, rose, wistaria and brown shadings there is a surprising variety among the fancy and plain nets, and embroidered net bands, motifs, etc., come in the same range of shades. The fine mesh nets with small dot or ring designs, the nets with groups of tucks alternating with rows of embroidered dots and the vermicelli design nets are probably the fancy nets most generally in demand, but there are charming fine designs of higher prices, suggesting combinations of fine lace, openwork, stitchery, etc., and fine meshes covered by most delicate spidery designs of vines, or leaves or flowers.

• • •

Some exceedingly effective nets are of German valenciennes mesh, a narrow stripe of the plain mesh alternating with a fancy stripe like a narrow valenciennes insertion. Or, again, one sees this valenciennes net with a very narrow stripe of the simple dot design familiar in narrow real valenciennes insertion, alternating with a stripe slightly wider in one of the more running or fanciful designs popular in insertion.

• • •

Marquisette is made up in much the same way as the net, and frequently a look of coolness is given to it by white lining, though many prefer to keep blouse lining and material in the one color matching the costume. Some charming effects are obtained, however, by laying chiffon over contrasting color. This arrangement requires careful appreciation of color values if the blouse is to harmonize perfectly with the costume and not to assume the forbidden separate blouse effect.

Season's Fads.

Pink is one of the favorite colors in Paris at the moment. Most of the gowns of this shade have a relieving note of black.

• • •

For the later season the gown of old-fashioned flowered muslin is heralded as the top of fashion.

• • •

The Directoire sash is an effective feature of the majority of the narrow, clinging skirts.

• • •

The fan is more fashionable than for many seasons, and usually echoes the color of the gown.

• • •

Plain cloth, combined with brocaded or embroidered velvet, is to be seen on new reception gowns.

STRUCK OUT

By Henry L. Sterrett.

"I do so love a good game of baseball, and I suppose yours will be a battle royal. I expect to enjoy it greatly."

The speaker was a beautiful damsel of 19, a "co-ed" in a fashionable university. She was shy-eyed, demure, clever and bewitching, with a figure and manner that had set the students by the ears. In fact, she was a mistress in the gentle art of entanglement. Yet withal, a wholesome American girl, with a sound body, a sound mind and sound heart for him who could win it. Her attendants were two—a fact that caused her bright gray eyes to sparkle and her tongue to fly, for they were "the" two. Those eyes were gray, blue, hazel or black, according to the whim of the owner. Neither youth could tell, but then no man ever knows the color of the eyes of his sweetheart—possibly because of too close regard. Too great proximity blunts the vision, they say. The young men owed allegiance to rival universities, rivaled each other in sports and collegiate attainments and last of all were rivals for the favors of Miss Edith Marsden.

"Of course you pitch?" said Edith, turning to Hal Stone, a blonde giant burdened with a heavy club garnished by a huge knot of purple ribbon; "and of course you expect to win."

"That is my intention," was the modest reply.

"By the way, Miss Edith, can't I prevail on you to wear our colors?" untying the ribbon and offering it. "You shall be queen of love and beauty and spur us on to victory."

"How nice. Yes, I'll wear them as it is championship day. What is your offer, Mr. Carlisle?"

"I regret that I have no banderole to offer, nor scarf of our colors with me," said Tim Carlisle. "Purple is fit only for royalty, fair lady, and I felicitate my foe on his happy thought. Yet we crown our queens of love and beauty as Americans with a red, red rose. Will you accept this one?"

"Oh, how charming!" exclaimed the girl as she inhaled the fragrance of the flower. Her checks were as red as the rose itself as she noted the appeal in the eyes of her cavalier. "You, too, will win?"

"We hope so," was the quiet answer. "You see, we want that pennant."

"It's as good as ours," coolly remarked Stone. Just then Carlisle's fat mascot—the purple was the visiting team—rolled up and held out a maroon flag to the girl.

"Not while this waves," said Tim, catching the colors and presenting them to Miss Marsden. "Wear mine, too, fair maiden."

"Thank you. Now I have both colors and can encourage both sides.

"But we'll win with the purple."

"Take care that it isn't 'marooned,' Mr. Stone. The victor's meed? Well, maybe I'll wear his colors from the field."

It was a battle royal. Two teams more evenly matched rarely meet on the diamond. The purple, to be sure, relied on the skill and cunning of the blonde pitcher, backed by heavy batting. Team work was not necessary when Stone was in the box, so they thought, and the record seemed to sustain this view. Carlisle possessed patience and headwork in an exceptional degree. He made his team back him up. Place batters did not lack and the lighter maroons ran bases with daring and judgment. The Western college championship was to be decided. The box rivals had another contest of a more interesting nature.

Ten thousand people yelled when the teams trotted on the field ready for the fray. The "rooters" were about evenly divided, and for fifteen minutes—used in the preliminary warming practice—no one could hear his own voice. Edith Marsden sat near the middle of the grand stand, wearing a red rose and waving a cane to which the rival colors were tied. She smiled and bowed to both young men as if darling them to do their utmost.

A man clad in white duck and wearing an air of importance, walked to the home plate, brushed it off, tossed the broom to the mascot, looked at his watch and then at the sky. Carlisle stalked slowly toward the box, while his men scattered to their positions. Then the white man tossed a white ball and some words out to Tim, but no one heard his remark. Breathless silence followed as Hal strode to the plate swinging a bat. The rivals faced each other in the opening play. Tim cut the plate with the first ball pitched, and one strike was called. Edith smiled. Then a slow, twisting floater came along and Hal struck the air. Two strikes. One, two, three bad balls, and Tim took a walk around the lot. A strike or a ball must be scored. It was a beauty and the redoutable blonde smote it fairly. He stopped running at second. But there he stuck, for the maroons put out three without trouble.

Stone promptly struck out the first two maroons that faced him. Then as Carlisle walked to the plate, he grinned at Edith, who promptly clapped her gloved hands. Tim lifted the first ball far out into left field and was perched on third when the noise ended. But an unluck foul fly disposed of the fourth man and third out. Neither team had scored. So far it was a clean draw and a hot fight.

And so it went until the eighth inning. Stone mowed down the lighter maroon batters, while Carlisle and his merry men, by brilliant fielding squeezed many a base hit. Neither side scored. But in the eighth big Harkey for the purple, found a ball to his liking and swung on it. When it came back to the box the big man was panting on the bench. Maroon failed to score and the purple was one run to the good.

Three men on bases and two out was the record in the ninth when Hal stepped to the plate. Victory was in the end of his bat and he knew it. He smashed the first ball and it sped as an arrow straight for Tim's head. The hands flew up and the pitcher rolled on the earth while two men trotted in. Then the cunning boxman rose and showed the ball tightly squeezed in his hands. The man in white made a haughty gesture and the maroons came in. It was still one to nothing with the odds in favor of a tie at least. Stone kicked but to no purpose. He saw Edith wildly applauding his enemy's brilliant play and his face grew black. He was unsteadied by his anger and three sharp hits sent a man over with the tying run. His own swiftness and skill prevented the loss of the game.

Then Tim stepped to the plate. Hal determined to strike him out or put him out of the game. He had hit every time at bat, so the big fellow sent in a lot of high benders curving dangerously near the batter's head. Tim saw the play and stepped back to protest. Then he faced his man in rage. In came another swift inshoot. It struck Tim fairly on the temple and he fell as if shot. Hal rushed to his fallen enemy wringing his hands, but Tim was out of the game. Then things settled down again and the game proceeded. Maroon made no more runs and the team squared away for the extra inning. Stone looked up to see Edith, but she had disappeared. In fierce wrath he sent the ball so far out that it never got into the game again. He scored the winning run, for the rattled Maroons failed. Purple was champion.

Stone rushed from the field in triumph seeking for Edith. He found her in the reception room of the clubhouse kneeling beside the couch on which Carlisle rested. Tim's head was bandaged, but as he held the hand of the girl he seemed to care little for his injury.

"Miss Edith," blurted Hal; "you said you'd wear the winner's colors. I claim your promise."

"I have kept it, sir," said the girl with quiet dignity. "I have just told Tim so. This," indicating the rose, "is the winner's colors. You struck out, Mr. Stone," she added, pointing meaningly to the recumbent figure on the couch.

COMMENCEMENT GIFTS OF VALUE AND BEAUTY

THE approach of Commencement Day makes the graduation gift a matter for immediate consideration. For a girl, a brooch, a ring, a set of shirtwaist pins, a lace fan, a pair of opera glasses, a bracelet, a necklace, would be eminently acceptable.

For a young man, cuff buttons, a fob, a signet ring, a scarf pin, would be quite in order.

For either a young man or a girl, a watch, of course, would be particularly pleasing.

May we not have the pleasure of showing you and of selling you the graduation gift.

CHALLENGE IS ACCEPTED

Dick Schell Wants to Race "The Green Dragon."

The defi issued by C. E. Browne, manager for "Doc" Nixon, owner of the new West Duluth speeder, "The Green Dragon," who offered to race any boat at the Head of the Lakes, has been accepted by Dick Schell.

The acceptance was announced today, and Mr. Schell says that he has $1,000 to stake on the result. That the race will be a lively one is evident from the fact that Mr. Schell has his new boat facetiously called "The Pink Rhinoceros," now nearing completion.

"The Green Dragon," according to Mr. Schell, will look like a canoe beside the new craft that will arrive soon from St. Paul, where it is being manufactured by the Raspberry Island Boat company.

"The Green Dragon" has not arrived yet, but is expected here tomorrow, and it will be launched Friday afternoon or Saturday. Mr. Schell's boat will arrive about the same time.

Cassius and Earl Moore launched their new craft yesterday afternoon. It cuts the water at a rate of about eighteen miles per hour. The new cabin cruiser of Charles Salter arrived this morning. It will be put into the water tomorrow.

QUIET SEASON FOR FIREMEN

Have Had But One Call in Last Two Weeks.

The absence of fires at West Duluth is more conspicuous at this time, according to the firemen at Fire Hall No. 8, than for a number of years past.

The department has had only one run for about five weeks, this one occurring three weeks ago, as a result of lightning.

The firemen are on the alert, however, as the summer and warm weather approaches, as there usually are a number of brush fires at this time.

CARRIES CASE INTO COURTS

West Duluth Woman Is Fighting Railroads for Her Homestead.

Daisy D. Salter of West Duluth has commenced action in the United States court against John A. Humbird, Frederick Weyerhaeuser and the Northern Lumber company to compel them to relinquish title to certain land which they obtained from the Northern Pacific Railway company, and which plaintiff claims they want only for the standing timber and in opposition to her homestead rights.

The plaintiff made homestead entry to the southwest quarter of 21-54-12. She had fulfilled the legal requirements of residence and improvement, and attempted to prove up, when the Northern Pacific, as successors of the old Superior & St. Croix Railroad company, claimed the land as part of a federal grant to the latter company.

The local receiver decided adversely to Mrs. Salter and she appealed to the general land office and finally to the secretary of the interior. The department decision was again adverse to the plaintiff, and she brings the matter into the United States court in an effort to have the patent issued to the Northern Pacific April 19, 1909, declared void. She also asks an injunction to restrain the defendants, who are grantees from the Northern Pacific, from cutting the timber and also that she be permitted to prove up and take possession of the land.

Mrs. Salter alleges that the land is only valuable for its timber and that defendants only want it for that purpose, while she desires it for a homestead under the general homestead act of Aug. 4, 1892.

FISHERMEN OFF FOR CANADA

Will Try Streams in Vicinity of Port Arthur.

West Duluthians are catching the angling fever.

This morning a party of four, equipped with everything in the fisherman's line, left for Port Arthur, Can. From Port Arthur they will travel north and strike some of the Canadian trout streams.

The party included William Millsop, Fred Troutman, Ed Roe and Nord Simpson. Mr. Simpson will act in the capacity of chief.

The fishermen claim that the streams are too muddy in Minnesota at this time of the year.

WAS FRIENDLESS.

Body of Christ Fabe May Be Buried in Potter's Field.

The body of Chris Fabe, whose death late yesterday afternoon at the Duluth hospital was reported in last evening's Herald, will probably be laid at rest in a pauper's grave, as no relatives of the man have been located as yet.

Fabe is a woodsman and had been in West Duluth for the past two weeks. On his deathbed at the hospital, where he had been taken after being picked up in an old shack by an officer, he told the attendants that he had no friends in Duluth.

The body was today turned over to M. J. Filiatrault, undertaker, and unless relatives or friends of the man make their appearance soon, the remains will be buried in the potter's field.

The serving of the supper will be in the hands of the ladies of the Plymouth Congregational church.

Clippers Back Down.

Efforts to secure a game with the Clippers, an East end baseball aggregation of Superior, now appear to be fruitless, according to Manager Jack Gram of the West Duluth Oak Halls. Mr. Gram has had negotiations pending with the Superiorites for the past two weeks, but the Clippers seem indisposed, he says, to meet the Oak Halls.

The Clippers played good ball last year and are reputed to be better than the average amateur outfit. A final effort will be made to arrange a game for Sunday, and if it fails through, the Oak Halls will have to look elsewhere for games.

New Trunk Sewer.

A new trunk sewer for the Oneota district to run along the creek bed at Thirty-ninth avenue west, draining that land on both sides, is being considered by the council. It is expected that the council will order a survey at its next meeting.

NEW BUILDING ALMOST READY

In about a fortnight the members of Duluth lodge of Elks will take formal possession of their beautiful new building, located on West First street, adjoining the board of trade.

It is planned to hold the first regular lodge session in the new quarters on the evening of June 2, and the present indications are that every antlered Bill who can get there will be on hand to partake of the cheer and good fellowship for which the order is famous.

The building is one of the finest in its appointments in the United States. Though not as commodious as the St. Paul home, the only one in the state which exceeds it in size, it has the advantage of having been built from the ground up with special reference to the needs of the members and the growth of the lodge. The furniture which will adorn the lodgeroom and clubroom is said to be unequalled in any Elk's building in the country.

No expense has been spared to fit up the two floors that will be occupied by the lodge with every point of comfort and utility that the minds of the building committee could conceive.

A meeting of the building committee and the newly appointed house committee will be held this evening, at which the exact time of opening the new lodge building to the members of the order will be decided, and the festivities for the occasion planned. The work of the building committee is now practically over, and it will be succeeded by the house committee, of which B. G. Segog is chairman.

AFFAIRS IN A BAD MESS

Fourth Street Paving Mix-up Is Freely Commented on.

McDonnell Explains Why His Second Bid Is Higher.

P. McDonnell, lowest bidder on the contract for paving Fourth street, from Fifth avenue west to Sixth avenue east, says he increased his bid for the work over the one submitted two weeks ago, because, according to the specifications, the contract in the last instance covers a smaller area in the first and, therefore, to come out far enough ahead of the game to make the job worth while, he had to increase his bid a certain amount for every yard laid. For example, he could lay 100,000 square yards of tar macadam at a smaller price per yard than he could lay 50,000 yards of the same material.

This is why, he says, the property owners interested will have to pay a higher rate than specified in his bid of two weeks ago, and this is why the aggregate increase on the yardage specified will amount to about $2,500 more than the price set two weeks ago, when bids were first called for. Altogether, it is easily the most tangled up paving mess that ever came to the attention of Duluth municipl authorities, and while everybody in the city is talking about it today, and betraying an active interest in it, and making unpleasant charges, and doing a lot of other things along the same line, there isn't one man in 1,000 of those interested who can explain the whole situation, with all the whys and the wherefores.

The Mayor Explains.

"Will you give me an explanation of this thing?" a reporter asked the mayor this morning.

"I'll give you the explanation, but it will be impossible to make it intelligible in print, so tangled up is the whole affair," Mayor Haven replied, and then he talked paving until the room swam before the newspaper man's eyes, and he felt as if he had been hit by several hundred chunks of sandstone.

Why did not Osman get the contract in the first place, and why was it necessary to readvertise for bids? This is a question that is being freely asked.

As a matter of fact, it wasn't really necessary to readvertise, according to the city attorney. That is to say, the contract could have been legally awarded to Mr. Osman, but city authorities felt that, as long as there had plainly been a misunderstanding of the specifications on the part of some of the contractors, it would be no more than fair to them all to readvertise.

Mr. Osman's friends do not look at it in that light, however. They say that if Mr. McDonnell and Mr. Osman were bright enough to understand the specifications, and bid on them, it was the fault of the other contractors if they did not also understand them, and that as long as A. G. Osman submitted the lowest bid, he should have been given the contract, without going to the trouble of readvertising.

The tangle, in the first place, was caused by the paving between and around the rails of the street car tracks. Under the first set of bids submitted, while Mr. Osman's figures were lower than his rival's, the contract in his hands would really have cost the property owners more, it is claimed, than if Mr. McDonnell had been awarded the contract. This is because Mr. Osman charged the street car company less for the material he intended to furnish them than did Mr. McDonnell, and placed a higher price on the remainder of the work, to be paid for by the property owners, than did Mr. McDonnell. Under these circumstances, while Mr. Osman's total bid was the lowest, it would have been higher for the individual property owners for Mr. McDonnell to get the contract, his bid on that portion of the work being the lowest. On the other hand, the street car company would have paid Mr. Osman less, and Mr. McDonnell more, for the work performed for it.

The amount of paving between and outside the rails of the street car tracks along the street amounts to 24,000 square yards. On a straight tar macadam paving it was figured that 4,700 square yards of sandstone would be necessary to properly support and protect the rails. In the last set of bids it is plainly specified that these blocks shall be laid by the street car company, while in the first set of bids it was optional with the company whether it laid the stones itself or accepted the contractor's figures.

In the last set of specifications these 4,700 yards of sandstone blocks were not included in the contractor's specifications by the city engineer, because, as he had stated, the company was to do the work itself. According to Secretary Murchison of the board of public works, the engineer made the mistake of also cutting out from the specifications the base of the paving underneath the tracks, as well as the surface of the work, when the base should have been included in the bids, and should be paid for by the property owners, while the extra cost attendant upon bracing up the street car rails should be borne by the company.

What Company Pays.

Thus, it will be seen that the property owner is expected to pay for the paving of the whole width of the street, just as if there were no car tracks there, while the railway company stands the difference between the cost of paving the street, bare of rails, and the cost of providing the necessary support and protection for the car rails. In other words, the street car company is not obliged to pay for the pavement underneath the tracks, except so far as it is made more expensive because of special rail supports provided.

Because the surface and base of the street car right-of-way paving are not included in the specifications, the last bids, on their face, are $7,000 lower than they should be. In other words, while Mr. McDonnell bid $49,136.10 for straight tar macadam, and laying the straight tar macadam, and $55,088.60 for tar macadam with a concrete base, the cost to the property owner, under these bids, will be $7,000 higher than this for $55,295.10 for straight tar macadam, and $62,508.60 for macadam with a concrete base.

In the first bids, Osman offered to furnish necessary sandstone to the street car company for $1.90 a yard, and McDonnell's bid was $2.70 a square yard.

THE MARKET IS WEAKER

Flax Is Higher at the Close in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 18.—Wheat was strong at the opening, but the market became quiet later on in the session and the options lost all their early gains and closed fractionally under yesterday. The market was practically without features.

Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 5,681,000 bushels in the world's visible supply of wheat. In the United States and Canada there was a decrease of 6,981,000 bushels, and afloat and in Europe an increase of 1,300,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed ⅝d to 1¼d higher, Antwerp ⅝c higher, Berlin ¼c higher and Buenos Ayres ⅝c higher.

The May option closed ¼c lower in Duluth and Winnipeg, ½c lower in Chicago and Minneapolis, ⅜c higher in New York, 1c higher in St. Louis and unchanged in Kansas City. The July option closed ¼c lower in Duluth, ⅝c lower in Chicago, ⅜@½c lower in Minneapolis, ⅜c lower in New York, ½@⅝c lower in St. Louis and Kansas City and ½c lower in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ⅜c higher in Chicago and ⅝d in Liverpool. May oats closed ½c higher in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"The wheat market had a firm undertone at the start, and values were ¼@½d higher at the opening. Offerings were light and shorts nervous, stimulated by the steadiness in American cables yesterday and a fair demand for nearby cargoes. During the morning the market gained a further advance, particularly in the distant months, and prices advanced an additional ¼@¾d. Spot markets were firm and in some cases 1d higher. Immediate offerings were higher, country markets firm, with supplies light, and there was a good demand reported from the continent. Russian advices were very unfavorable, drought continues in Argentina and reports from both Germany and Hungary are very bullish. At midday the market was very firm and from ½@⅝d higher than yesterday.

"Corn was quiet at the start and unchanged. Later July advanced ⅝d on the scarcity of load Platta parcels offered for sale and a good demand."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 9 against 77 last year, and at Minneapolis 106 against 175 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 115 against 252 last year. Chicago received 14 against 49 last year. Winnipeg received 71 against 91 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 191,000 bu, last year 436,000 bu. Shipments 622,000 bu, last year 507,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 237,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 302,000 bu, last year 440,000 bu. Shipments 282,000 bu, last year 747,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 8,000 bu.

Trading was dull in the Duluth market. May wheat was inactive and closed at $1.26¼, and a loss of ¼c from yesterday. July wheat opened ½c higher at $1.26⅝, advanced to $1.27⅝, declined to $1.25⅝, rallied to $1.26 and closed there, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. September wheat opened unchanged at $1.09, advanced to $1.09¾, declined to $1.08⅝ and closed there, a loss of ⅝c from yesterday.

July flax opened unchanged at $1.70¾, advanced to $1.71¾ and closed at $1.71½, a gain of ¾c over yesterday. September flax opened unchanged at $1.50, advanced to $1.50½ and closed there, a gain of ½c. October flax advanced from $1.44 to $1.44½ and closed there, a gain of ½c.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Advance at Liverpool Causes Strong Tone in Wheat.

Chicago, May 18.—An advance of ½@1¼d in the price of wheat at Liverpool, which reflected adverse crop reports from Russia, Germany and Hungary, offset today additional rains in the Southwest and caused a strong tone in the market here during early trading. The May delivery advanced to $1.30, a new high record mark for the season. Shorts in the July delivery were almost at the strength of the current delivery, and bid the price of July up 1c from yesterday's close.

The market opened strong, with prices up ¼@1⅛c compared with final quotations of the previous day. July being at $1.14½@1.14⅝. With light offerings in the pit the price was quickly bid up to $1.15.

The market turned weak in the final hour and prices broke severely, July declining from $1.15⅝ to $1.13⅜. The close was weak and only a trifle above the lowest point. Final quotations on July were off ⅝c at $1.13⅝. May closed $1.28¼.

Shorts were active bidders for corn, owing to the unusually light stocks of contract grain in store here, but offerings were light, and as a result prices were bid up about ½c during early trading. July opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 68¼@68⅝c, and for a time held within the opening range.

The market was affected by the late break in wheat, but closed about steady with July ⅛c higher at 68½c.

Trade in oats was quiet and the market was steady. Prices at the start were a shade lower to ⅛c higher with July at 51c. Later July sold at 50⅞@51c.

Local bears again pounded the provisions market and forced prices down materially at the start. The selling was based on continued liberal receipts of live hogs in the West. Prices at the start were a shade higher to 10c lower.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Heavy Liquidation Causes Weakness; Wheat Declines 2 Cents.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 18.—Stronger cables, a light movement and a big decrease in local stocks were factors in the strong opening. The market was very uneventful early in the session. Heavy liquidation, however, made the market weak and there was a decline of 2c from the high point. Local stocks decreased 475,000 bu for three days. Minneapolis today received 105 cars against 175, Duluth 9 against 74, Winnipeg 71 against 91. September opened at $1.08⅝; high, $1.09@1.09⅜; low, $1.07⅝; close, $1.07¾. July opened at $1.26⅞@1.27; high, $1.27⅞@1.27½; low, $1.25½; close, $1.26. Cash wheat was in fair demand. Market steady with no few features. Local and country millers were the principal buyers. No. 1 northern spot and to arrive, $1.29¼@1.29¾; No. 2 northern, $1.27¼@1.27⅝; spot and to arrive No. 3 wheat, $1.25¼@1.26¾; No. 3 yellow corn, 73⅜@74¼c; No. 3 white oats, 56⅞@56⅝c; No. 2 rye, 83¾@85¾c.

Barley—Receipts, 23 cars, against 9; shipments, 10. Heavy receipts made the market easier. Demand was only fair and several cars were carried over. Prices were 1c lower. Closing range, 65@67½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,949 tons. Demand continued strong and far in excess of the supply. Millers expect no change. Shipments were unusually heavy and prices were firm. Bran in bulk, $24.00@24.50.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Market Opened Lower But Became Strong Near the Close.

Rise in United States Steel Pulled Other Stocks Up.

New York, May 18.—Opening dealings in stocks carried prices generally lower. Amongst the few gains were included the Northwestern Grangers. Third Avenue sold at a decline of 2⅛ and Amalgamated Copper fell ¾. Transactions were in light volume.

Price movements became uncertain, but there were few movements of consequence in the important stocks. Reading and American Smelting were inclined to sell off, while Union Pacific and United States Steel rallied. Among less active stocks fluctuations were wider, Chesapeake & Ohio, Wisconsin Central, National Railway of Mexico, the first preferred and American Beet Sugar advanced 1, Hocking Coal 2 and United Cigar Manufacturers preferred 5 points, Metropolitan Street Railway fell 3 and St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred 1¼.

There was a slight hardening of prices in sympathy with Chesapeake & Ohio's rise. Later they sagged back. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, General Electric, Pressed Steel preferred, Pacific Coast preferred and Pacific Coast preferred and Republic Steel rose 1, American Malting preferred 1½ and Pittsburg Coal preferred 2. Western Maryland, American Cotton Oil, Amalgamated Copper and Bethlehem Steel declined 1 to 1¼. The tone was heavy a noon and bonds were irregular.

The market became steadier after noon, more from a curtailment of selling orders than from any concerted efforts at support. Trading was practically lifeless.

Union Pacific sold ⅝ and Reading ⅞ above yesterday's closing on, light buying. Recoveries in other stocks also amounted to good fractions. Wisconsin Central improved 1¼. A break of 3¼ in Western Maryland imparted an easier tone to the market around 2 o'clock.

The market closed strong and dull. A rise of 1⅝ in United States Steel pulled prices up. Reading got up 1⅝. Union Pacific, Bethlehem Steel, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred a point. Third Avenue recovered more than its early loss and Western Maryland rallied ⅝. Central of New Jersey sold at a decline of 7 points and rallied 3.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 18.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Market somewhat quiet in tone. There was a good retail demand from both city and up country points with good big drafters having the call. Several inquiries for big mules for Western contract work are being received. Dealers still have a good supply of good big work horses from the logging camps. The feature of today's market was the sale of twenty head of top drafters to the Northern Lumber company at Cloquet, Minn. F. J. Dempsey and Hans Larsen shipped out a load of big horses to be used on railroad work out of Minidan, N. D.

NEW OFFICIAL VISITS DULUTH

F. H. Burnham, recently appointed assistant general freight agent of the Great Northern railway, succeeding A. G. McGuire, resigned, is in Duluth today becoming acquainted with the Lake Superior division of the road.

Mr. Burnham was formerly stationed at Grand Forks, B. C., upon the Marcus division of the Great Northern. He was district freight and passenger agent at that point.

Mr. Burnham says the business of the Great Northern in the West is very good at the present time. He has had but little time to become acquainted with traffic conditions east of the coast states, his appointment becoming effective last Saturday. Mr. Burnham's headquarters will be at St. Paul and he will make the Head of the Lake terminals of the Great Northern the object of many visits.

H. A. Kimball of the Great Northern is also in the city today. Mr. Kimball says there is little change in the freight situation from that of two months ago. He says, however, that passenger officials state that one of the heaviest westward passenger movements in the history of Western railroading will result from the cheap rates that will be offered to all points of the West.

BETTER TRAINS TO THE COAST

Great Northern officials today announce a change of time in their passenger service. The change is made because of the heavy passenger traffic that is expected to result from the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

Trains Nos. 1 and 2, The Oriental Limited, will run between Chicago and Tacoma without change of cars, via the Burlington from Chicago to St. Paul, and from St. Paul to the Pacific coast, via the Great Northern. Burlington dining cars will be operated between Chicago and St. Paul and Great Northern diners between St. Paul and Tacoma.

Westbound No. 1 will leave Chicago at 10:15 p. m., arrive at St. Paul at 10:45 a. m., the second day, leaving St. Paul at 11:15 a. m., arriving at Spokane, making the trip 73 hours and 55 minutes from Chicago.

Eastbound No. 2 will leave Tacoma at 8:25 p. m., arriving at St. Paul at 8:10 a. m., and Chicago at 9:10 p. m., 73 hours and 55 minutes from Tacoma.

The new trains Nos. 43 and 44, the Northwest Express and the Southwest Express, will run daily between Kansas City and Seattle, via the Burlington route east of Billings, and the Great Northern railway west of that point.

These trains will be equipped with standard sleeping cars, tourist cars, smoker, chair cars, etc.

Trains Nos. 1 and 2 will be electric lighted throughout with individual berth lights in standard sleeping cars, drawing rooms and compartments. Electric fans have been placed in the dining cars, standard sleeping cars and observation cars.

The change in passenger time schedules will go into effect upon May 23. Changes will be effective upon other lines of the Great Northern system as well as the coast service.

It is the aim of the Great Northern to run one of the finest trains in the country from Chicago to Tacoma, and with that end in view, new cars have been placed in service and will be used on this run.

CAPT. PETER C. HAINS, JR., NOW "2002" SING SING.

Ossining, N. Y., May 18.—Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., is now a prisoner at No. 2002 in Sing Sing. Although he manifested considerable interest in the prison buildings as he walked from the railroad station to the gate, he preserved absolute silence. On entering the prison the captain's pedigree was taken by a clerk, the number 2002 was assigned to him, he was equipped with a suit of prison clothing and then sent to the prison barber to be shaved. Later he was sent to his cell. Tomorrow he will be examined by the prison physician, and if found able to work, will be assigned to the task which will be his, perhaps, for the next eight years.

RATE ON RAZORS TO BE CHANGED

Washington, May 18.—Senator Stone's amendment to continue the Dingley rates on razors was defeated, 36 to 43, in the senate today.

Mr. Simmons, supporting the contentions of Mr. Stone, said the Democrats were ready to vote on the tariff bill at any time; it was the recalcitrant element of the Republican party which was delaying the measure.

"As soon as you can get their consent to take a vote on this measure," he said, "you can get ours."

BUTTE & SUPERIOR still the heaviest trader on the board. The advance in this issue has only started if they keep on cutting high-grade copper ore in the Rainbow lend. It has wonderful possibilities and a great chance of becoming one of the greatest copper mines in this country. It traded at $2.87 in the morning, but sold off to $2.50 later in the day.

BUTTE is again the heavy buyer of this issue.

BALLAKLAVA trading at $10.00. This mine is a proven success and should become one of the big shippers of the Butte camps.

'BILL' JONES IS ON TRIAL

Man Who Tried to Kill Guiteau Is Heard From.

Is Now Charged With Murder of Former Marine.

Washington, May 19.—William (Bill) Jones, who many years ago attracted national interest when he attempted to avenge the killing of President Garfield by shooting at Charles Guiteau, the assassin, while the latter was being removed from the courthouse to the jail in this city, was placed on trial today, charged with the murder of John A. McPherson, a former marine, who was employed by Jones as a farm hand. McPherson was killed on Oct. 11, 1905, in Jones' home about two miles from this city. Jones pleaded self-defense.

It was during Guiteau's trial that Jones created a nation-wide sensation. One day, while the trial was nearing its close, Guiteau had been placed in the prison van to be taken to the jail. Jones, mounted upon a spirited animal, dashed through the crowds toward the wagon, and whipping out a revolver from his hip pocket, fired several shots at the assassin, one of the bullets grazing his head.

Jones made his escape into the country. Later he was captured and brought back to the city, but was never prosecuted. For years afterward he practically lived the life of a hermit on the outskirts of the city, and interest in his career was revived only by his arrest in connection with the killing of McPherson.

URGE BURKE FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Friends of North Dakota Governor Doing Some Figuring.

Fargo, N. D., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor John Burke of North Dakota, as a vice presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket next time. That is the dream of some of the friends of the executive. It is claimed the governor will not make a third race for his present position. Earlier rumors that he would be a candidate for congress against Gronna appear to be without present foundation, in view of the position assumed by Gronna in opposition to Cannon's re-election.

It has been popularly supposed that the governor wanted to become a member of the supreme court, but he as up against a rather peculiar proposition if he makes the race. The last legislature provided for two additional judges and he named Carmody and Ellsworth. The old member whose term expires is Fisk, one of the most popular Democrats in the state, and it is not probable he would oppose one of his own appointees.

On the vice presidential business he will have to oppose Johnson of Minnesota to make a showing. Johnson's nomination for first place would preclude that of Burke for the second position, as both men could not be selected from adjoining states. Burke's interests would be boosted by securing the nomination of a head of the ticket from the East.

BISHOP COTTER SLOWLY SINKING

Bishop McGolrick at Bedside of His Lifelong Friend.

Winona, Minn., May 19.—Rt. Rev. Joseph B. Cotter, bishop of the diocese of Winona, is still alive, but that is about all that can be said. The end may come at any time.

The Catholics over the Northwest have received the news that the bishop cannot survive his present illness with deep sorrow, and hundreds during the past few days have sent messages of inquiry. Others have come here to see, for the last time, the beloved man who has done so much for the diocese of Winona, of which he is at the head.

Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul, who had been here last week, returned Monday morning to remain until the end. Bishop McGolrick of Duluth, a lifelong friend of the dying man, is at the bedside and will be here until the final summons. Bishops Cotter and McGolrick were consecrated bishops at the same time.

The bishop is suffering intense pain and his limbs are swollen badly, owing to the failure of the blood to circulate properly. Death is expected at any moment. The patient is conscious only for brief intervals.

CANCELS LECTURE DATES.

Governor Has Given Up All Engagements Till July.

St. Paul, Minn., May 19.—Governor John A. Johnson yesterday confirmed the report that he has practically given up the lecture platform for this year.

"I have canceled all lecture engagements except a course of about thirty booked at Chautauquas in July and August," said the governor. "I do not know yet whether I will cancel this course. I had lectures scheduled for nearly every month this year, but I gave up all dates during the legislative session, and since have dropped all others for April, May and June."

ABBOTT LAWRENCE LOWELL. CHARLES WILLIAM ELIOT.

Cambridge, Mass., May 19.—Charles William Eliot yesterday laid aside the robe of office which he has worn for forty years as president of Harvard university, and with characteristic simplicity stepped back into private life. The passing of President Eliot and the advent of President Lowell today, while noteworthy in the history of Harvard, was unmarked by interruption in the regular pulsation of college work. A tall, dignified figure, with well-poised head, grave face and kindly eyes, simply gave place to one of short, athletic build, alert in countenance and eye. Next fall the university will fittingly honor its new head by a formal induction into office. President Eliot is understood to have no plans for the future beyond those for a quiet summer in Maine.

STRIKE AS BIG FIASCO

General Suspension of Hostilities Fails to Materialize.

French Government Regards Agitation as Revolutionary.

Paris, May 19.—The life of Paris was normal up to noon today, and the general strike, decreed by the General Federation of Labor to commence today with the building trades, promises to be a huge fiasco. The movement, which was to be followed by strikes on the part of all the other trade unionists of France, was voted by the hotheads against the better judgment of the conservatives who believed that the time was not ripe for such action and that the whole proletariat movement, which had been preparing for so long, was likely to be compromised for years to come by failure.

Moreover, it was learned this morning that the strike had been voted by representatives of the minority. Only 82 out of a total of 180 union delegates favored the movement, and with the exception of the building trades and the electrical workers, these delegates represent the least powerful of the syndicate.

The government now regards the agitation as purely revolutionary and as foredoomed to result in failure. The developments of this afternoon are expected to furnish the first test of the extent and seriousness of the movement.

A soldier on duty at a branch postoffice was attacked last night and almost stabbed to death by three discharged postmen.

JAPS GOBBLE UP FERRY VESSELS

Corner Transportation Service to Warships in Vancouver Harbor.

Vancouver, B. C., May 19.—Oriental instinct for money making is the cause for cornering the ferryboat service to the Japanese warships. Visitors to the cruisers find that they have to travel to the visiting fleet by gasoline and steam launches under charter to Japanese or not go at all. The Japanese grabbed up the visible supply early, and the bay was brown the day through with the mikado's men going back and forth from the ships.

Last night the Japanese reception committee presented the officers of the Sixth regiment with a loving cup in appreciation of the efforts of the military men to make the visit pleasant. A racing match between a Japanese team and another six from the Sixth regiment has been arranged for Saturday.

STRUCK VICTIM WITH A GAS PIPE

Grand Forks, N. D., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with making an assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, John Lavender, who has been confined in the East Grand Forks jail since Sunday morning, was brought here last evening. His bond is fixed at $1,000, which he has been unable to furnish. His hearing will be held this afternoon.

The fight in which Lavender is charged with being implicated took place on a side-walk in front of the People's church Sunday morning at about 2 o'clock, as near as can be learned. Lavender is charged with beating Barney Kelly in a brutal manner with a gas pipe. Kelly was found later Sunday morning under the Minnesota Point bridge in an unconscious condition, with several ugly-looking gashes about his face and head.

WAS RUINED BY HIS WIFE

Once Noted Author and Chemist Pauperized By Vain Search.

Years of Effort to Find Woman Who Deserted Him.

Elgin, Ill., May 19. — Distracting search over two countries for a runaway wife whom he still worships and an accompanying passion for grief-drowning drink are features of the pathetic story of his downfall told at the Kane county poor farm by Prof. Duke H. Bashford, author, lecturer and chemist.

He was ushered from the squalid quarters of the county institution at Batavia to the office, where he willingly recited his tale of a romantic and bitter life. At times he spoke of one who has conquered many of the world's great problems. At others his voice quivered, his eyes filled with tears and his body shook with sobs as he enumerated his hardships.

VETERANS HEAR TAFT

Men in Blue and Gray Attend Monument Exercises.

Pennsylvania Gives Statue to State of Virginia.

Petersburg, Va., May 19.—President Taft today was the guest of Pennsylvania and Virginia, when he delivered an address at Fort Mahone, following the unveiling of a monument and statue of Gen. John F. Hartranft, erected in memory of Pennsylvania soldiers who fell in the fighting about Petersburg during the war between the states, and he later became the guest of this city at a luncheon and reception. The president's visit to Petersburg, once the "citadel of the Confederacy," has had the city in a flutter for more than a month and the plans for his entertainment have surpassed anything of the sort ever undertaken here. The occasion of Mr. Taft's first visit into the South as president was taken advantage of by the Virginians for a display of hospitality for which the section long has been noted.

In addition to the president, many other distinguished visitors participated in the day's events. Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania, Governor

Many prominent men have been invited to the July meeting, among them Governor Johnson of Minnesota, George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, Charles A. Towne of New York and the governors of Wyoming, Idaho and Utah.

INVENTOR PLACES BABY IN INCUBATOR AND IT PERISHES.

Long Beach, Cal., May 19.—The incubator forcing process failed tragically when Richard De Spain, one of the city's most promising young inventors, tried it on his 2-month-old baby. The baby was taken from its cradle and placed in the incubator. Soon after a cork blew out of a hot water bottle and the baby was scalded. It died in a few moments.

MARKET MANIPULATOR
WHEAT AT $1.30

HENRY H. ROGERS DIES SUDDENLY OF APOPLEXY; RISES AT 6; DEAD AT 7

Second Illness of Same Nature Fatal to Oil Magnate.

Had Safeguarded His Property in Event of Demise.

Sketch of Man Who Was Power in Standard Trust.

New York, May 19.—H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil capitalist, died from apoplexy in his residence in this city, No. 3 East Seventy-eighth street, at 7 o'clock this morning.

He was 69 years old.

He arose about 6, and at 6:30 began to feel ill, complaining of numbness and nausea. Before anything could be done he sank and died. He went last Friday to his country place at Fairhaven, Mass., and returned yesterday.

Henry H. Rogers was born in Fairhaven, Mass. He was educated in the schools of his native town and afterward became connected with the Standard Oil company. Of the great wealth acquired through his numerous business enterprises he devoted large sums to public and benevolent uses, especially for the benefit of Fairhaven. Among his gifts to that town are two schools, a town hall, the Millicent library, a memorial to his dead daughter, a Masonic building and memorial church buildings comprising a group said to be excellent examples of Tudor architecture, the church itself being perhaps the finest of its size in America. These buildings were erected in memory of the giver's mother.

Rogers also built in Fairhaven a system of waterworks and, as superintendent of streets he made, in great part at his own expense, vast improvements in its public highways.

Declines in stocks in which he was interested resulted from the announcement of the death of Rogers. Amalgamated Copper, of which he was president, opened a point lower and declined further on succeeding sales. Consolidated Gas fell 2¼. The market generally, however, held firm.

Mr. Rogers was for many years one of the most prominent financiers of the country. He took a leading part in all of the enterprises undertaken by the Standard Oil group of capitalists, was

Letters from President Taft, Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Admiral Dewey were read.

BLOW BANK AND SECURE $6,000

Robbers Demolish Safe and Building at Cairo, Neb.

Lincoln, Neb., May 19.—Bank robbers secured $6,000 from the Cairo State bank last night, demolishing the safe and building by three explosions. A water works bond election was carried by one vote yesterday and firearms and anvils were used in the celebration. The explosions at the bank were thought to be a part of the election enthusiasm and the alarm was not sounded. Sheriff Dunkel is in pursuit of the robbers.

Plan Big Auto Show.

Fargo, N. D., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Wilson of the interstate fair is planning to make an automobile show a big feature of the exposition this year. Replies from manufacturers and jobbers regarding demonstrations are numerous and favorable. The industry has grown so rapidly in this state that great attention is being paid to the trade.

NEW GRAFT IS ALLEGED

Former Warden of Michigan Prison Aids in Requisition.

Money Paid to Have Old Machinery Accepted for New.

Jackson, Mich., May 19.—Ex-Warden Allen N. Armstrong, of the state prison today made an affidavit for use in extradition proceedings against Milton A. Daly of Chicago, that Daly paid him $1,500 for helping to get a consignment of old machinery accepted for the state binding twine plant in the prison, as new material.

Armstrong in his affidavit, repeated statements which he was said to have made to the grand jury which investigated prison affairs after Armstrong's arrest on the charge of soliciting a bribe.

The ex-warden states that Daly, who was agent for the Hoover & Gamble company of Miamisburg, Ohio, told him frankly that the machinery to be shipped was secondhand and said that he would pay him at least $1,000 for helping have it accepted by the state. May 12, 1908, Daly paid him, Armstrong stated, $1,500 for his assistance.

Daly Arrested.

Chicago, May 19.—Milton A. Daly, who is agent for the Hoover & Gamble company of Miamisburg, Ohio, was arrested here last Monday night on the fugitive warrant signed by the sheriff of Jackson county, Mich., in connection with the binder twine case, but was released on bond.

PRICE OF BEETS FIXED BY SMITH

Senator Clay Makes Charge Against Head of Mormon Church.

Washington, May 19.—Declaring that Joseph F. Smith, head of the Mormon church, every year fixes the price of beets in the interest of the beet sugar factories in Utah rather than in favor of the producers of beets, Senator Clay in the senate today called forth a characterization of his statement as "absolutely untrue," by Senator Smoot, himself an official of the Mormon church. Mr. Clay declared that Mr. Smith, as president of the beet sugar factories of Utah, received $20,000 annual salary. "He is always in favor of the factories and against the growers," said Mr. Clay.

Upon Smoot's denying this statement, Clay declined to be interrupted further.

Clay declared that as votes already taken in the senate demonstrated that the finance committee had full power to obtain agreement on its tariff bill as reported, he favored an early vote on the bill, as delay was useless in affecting the rates carried by that measure.

JUDGE M. D. PURDY WILL PRACTICE LAW AGAIN.

Washington, May 19.—"I am not a candidate for any federal office. It is my purpose to resume the practice of law in Minneapolis." This statement was made yesterday by Judge Milton D. Purdy, after a call at the White House, where he paid his respects to President Taft. Judge Purdy has been in New York on private business.

"I thought I would return home by way of the capital in order that I might have an opportunity to call on some old friends," he said.

Judge Purdy bears no resentment toward Senator Nelson, whose opposition prevented him from continuing on the federal bench. "I shall call on Senator Nelson before I leave Washington," he said.

He went out last Sunday and bagged a female rhinoceros. The first shot wounded her in the shoulder and the animal fled to the bushes. Mr. Roosevelt followed on horseback, and six more shots were required to bring her down.

The head and skin weighed 532 pounds.

La Follette Wants to Know What Roads Are Recalcitrant.

Resolution Calls on Commerce Commission for Information.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU

Washington, May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A resolution was introduced this morning by Senator La Follette, designed to ascertain what, if any, railways of the country are violating the act of congress of March 4, 1907, which limits the hours of railway employes.

Senator La Follette's resolution calls upon the interstate commerce commission for information as to the number of common carriers subject to the provisions of the law, the number of miles operated by each and the carriers that have failed to comply with the order issued by the interstate commerce commission March 3, 1903, requiring monthly reports from all railroads of all employes who have been on duty for more than the statutory period.

The resolution also asked what railroads, if any, have filed suits to enjoin the interstate commerce commission from enforcing the order, together with the results of such suits.

The La Follette resolution was ordered printed and will lie upon the table until such time as the senator may deem it advisable to call it up.

RAILROADS

RATES CUT ON JULY 1

Duluth Will Benefit From Commerce Commission Ruling.

Protest of Spokane Shippers Results in a Reduction.

Duluth shippers will be affected by the reduction of freight rates which will go into effect July 1.

The new rates are based on the recent ruling of the interstate commerce commission in the Spokane rate case. The reduction will mean a decrease of approximately 15 per cent from the existing rates, and will affect the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and other St. Paul roads. St. Paul Minneapolis and Chicago rate points will be affected by the ruling of the commission.

The shippers of Spokane objected to the present freight rates, claiming they were exorbitant. After an investigation the members of the interstate commission ruled that the contention of the Spokane shippers was right, and that the rates from points east of the Missouri river to cities that are not affected by the water rates of the Pacific coast were excessive.

The effect of the ruling will be to give Duluth shippers to cities of the West a lower rate upon many commodities. It will also serve to reduce the rate from the West to the East.

After a conference with the members of the commission, officials of the various roads affected by the ruling of the commission decided to reduce the rates voluntarily. This action upon the part of the railroads will make it possible for the rate to go into effect without the customary thirty days' notice.

BURIED MONEY IS FOUND SAFE

Coin for Which Murder Was Committed Is Not Disturbed.

Detroit, Minn., May 19.—Peter Tussavainen, who is being held on the charge of killing Mrs. Dan Mursu and another woman near Menahga, maintains a stolid indifference and refuses to discuss the serious charge against him. Although the evidence is largely circumstantial the authorities believe they have a good case.

Daniel Mursu, husband of one of the murdered women, whom it is alleged Tussavainen killed in order to secure the money Mursu had buried or otherwise secreted about the Mursu house, has returned from the Canadian Northwest, where he was at the time of the killing.

As soon as he returned Mursu searched in the ruins of his house, which the murderer had burned, and after clearing away the debris dug about two feet below the surface of the cellar and found the treasure, $600, intact. The murderer therefore secured none of the money he was after unless it was some small change about the house.

Harper's Weekly: An official of the superior court of Cook county, Ill., which has jurisdiction in the matter of the naturalization of foreigners, tells the following:

"In October last a man named August Hulzberger took out his first papers. As he was about to leave the courtroom he was observed to scan very closely the official envelope in which had been enclosed the document that was to assist in his naturalization.

"In a few days August turned up again. Presenting himself to the clerk of the court, he bestowed upon that dignitary a broad Teutonic smile, saying:

"'Vell, here I vos.'

"'Pleased to see you, I'm sure,' said the clerk, with polite sarcasm. 'Would you mind adding who you are and why you are here?'

"August seemed surprised. He exhibited his official envelope. 'It says, "Redurn in five days," ' he explained, 'und here I vos.' "

ESCAPE WAS NARROW ONE

Olaf Flaaten's Family Just Missed Being Cremated.

House, With All Its Contents, Was Burned to Ground.

While the rafters over their heads were crackling in the flames, which enveloped the entire house, the family of Olaf Flaaten, 14 South Fifty-ninth avenue west, slept last night. Had it not been for the timely arrival of neighbors, who were awakened by the reflection of the blaze in their windows, it is thought that the entire family of man, wife and three children might have been cremated.

The Flaaten residence burned to the ground. The fire was noticed shortly after midnight, and an alarm was turned in to fire hall No. 8. The loss on the structure, including the contents, was about $1,000, most of which is covered by insurance.

In escaping from the house, the Flaaten family had to run through the flames. In doing so Mr. Flaaten sustained a painful burn on his hand, and other members of the family were also burned slightly. Nothing was saved. The family spent the remainder of the night with neighbors.

The origin of the fire is attributed to a defective chimney.

FROG FARM FOR WEST DULUTH

Will Fence in Land Along the Banks of Creek.

West Duluth is to have a frog farm. This is no nature fake. The promoters of the frog-raising industry have secured a lease on four acres of land, stretching along King's creek, in the vicinity of Seventy-second avenue west, and have stated their intentions of equipping the property with the necessary facilities for raising frogs.

Frogs are always in demand for fishermen and at restaurants, where frogs' legs are always a delicacy. About 600 frogs from Indiana are now on their way to West Duluth, and will be used for breeding purposes. Frogs spawn five times a year, backers of the farm say, and mature in six weeks.

Ernest Peterson, Isaac Deatherage, Hugh Viou and Peter Deloyla are the promoters, and Mr. Peterson will act as manager of the concern. About two acres have been fenced off on both sides of King's creek with wire screen so as to allow the water to continue its course, but still enclosing the croakers.

Mr. Peterson formerly resided in Missouri, and lived in the frog-raising district. He has made a study of the culture of frogs, and says he is convinced that there is money in the business.

HE SMILED.

Chicago News: As the stenographer maintained her cold and haughty demeanor the county sales manager handed her a card inscribed "Keep smiling." The stenographer glanced at it and handed it back.

"It's the only way to do," urged the country sales manager. "It's the way I always do."

"Yes, you do!" said the stenographer, scornfully.

"Sure," said the country sales manager. "Every time and all the time. I'm like sunshine in the house."

"You're some kind of a shine," said the stenographer.

"I'm Radiant Robert," persisted the country sales manager. "When I pass by the brass signs at the door they look dull. Haven't I chased away gloom for you many's the time?"

"I'd as soon you'd chase yourself just now,' said the stenographer. "This is my busy time of day."

"Smile then," pleaded the country sales manager.

"Honest, I will when you're gone," said the stenographer. "I can't while you're around. You give me the fantods. I didn't notice that you were smiling very hard when you came out of Mr. Pickett's room this morning."

"I was just resting my face a moment," said the country sales manager.

"I wish you'd rest part of it now," said the stenographer.

"I'm resting my eyes on you," declared the country sales manager.

"It's your mouth I wish you'd rest," retorted the stenographer. "It needs rest and quiet. Change of scene might be good for it, too. I wish you'd try it. I hear you've been losing money playing poker again."

"Not to amount to anything," said the country sales manager. "Not enough to keep me from smiling. You ask the fellow who told you if I didn't keep smiling."

"Funny, wasn't it?"

"It did seem kind of funny. It was the best kind of joke, really. I had three aces and a pair of nines and the other fellow—"

"I don't want to hear about it," said the stenographer, tartly.

"That's all right, but I was smiling," said the country sales manager.

"I saw a fat party slip on the sidewalk on State street at noon," remarked the stenographer. "He smiled, too, but I think he sat down too hard for it to be genuine."

"He was a sport, nevertheless," the country sales manager maintained. "I guess he belonged to my society. 'Keep smiling' is our motto. Hide the aching heart behind a smile. Here you've been jabbing me for half an hour—ever since I spoke to you, and—"

"It seems like hours to me," interrupted the stenographer.

"You have been throwing the hooks into me and dragging them through my feelings," pursued the country sales manager. "Still I've been smiling I smile still. To give you an instance: I was sitting in the street car coming downtown this morning and a girl trod on my foot."

"Why don't you say your corn?"

"I will if you want me to. That girl must have weighed all of a hundred and thirty pounds and you get a hundred and thirty pounds pressure to the foot—"

"Corn."

"Acher. How will that do for a compromise? Anyway, she was one of the most beautiful creatures I ever saw in my life and she was so sorry she hurt me that the tears almost stood in her eyes.'

"It's nothing to have them standing. They ought to have run."

"How could they when she was standing herself? Anyway, as I said, she was passing fair.'

"To the conductor?"

"Child!" said the country sales manager, reproachfully.

"I'm glad she did step on your corn," said the stenographer. "I guess she belonged to my society. We always step on the corns of selfish brutes who keep their seats while we're standing. I suppose you smiled?"

"I did not," confessed the country sales manager.

TENANTS LOSS IN BURGLARY.

Le Journal: To Comtessse De La Pooze has just been granted 2,000 francs damages against the proprietor of her apartment as compensation for a burglary committed in her apartment during her absence after she had confided the key to the concierges with instructions that they should watch over the safety of her belongings.

On July 20, 1905, an apartment rented by Comtesse De La Pooze, 36 Rue De Lille, was broken into during her absen and some valuable jewels were stolen. The burglars were soon afterward arrested, and it was found that one of them was the son of the concierges, into whose care the apartment had been given. When the burglary was committed the concierges was absent on a holiday and the key to the apartment had been entrusted to their son.

The court's judgment declared that the proprietor of the house is responsible for the acts of his concierge and that the Comtesse De La Pooze was acting in accordance with Parsian custom in putting her confidence in the concierges, who had been placed in a position of responsibility by the owner of the house.

Consequently the court admitted the comtesse's claim in principle, but reduced it from 6,000 francs to 2,000 francs.

SOLDIERS NOW CONTROL CONDITIONS IN ADANA.

Mersina, Asiatic Turkey, Tuesday, May 18.—Edward I. Nathan, American consul at Mersina has returned from a three-day visit to Adana. He reports that the militia is now controlling the city and confidence is being gradually restored. Several thousand Armenian refugees have left the camps established for them and returning to their homes if these are still standing, and if not, to the vineyards.

CORNERSTONE OF NEW METHODIST CHURCH LAID

In the presence of an assemblage of nearly 200 people, the cornerstone of the new Endion M. E. church at Nineteenth avenue east and First street, was laid late this afternoon. Simple and appropriate ceremonies marked the occasion. By special request the delegates, who are in Duluth in attendance at the annual Methodist conference of the district, were present in a body.

The principal address was delivered by Congressman C. B. Miller, who spoke of the church and church work as one of the greatest factors in the civic betterment of the nation.

Dr. E. C. Clemans, presiding elder of the Duluth district of the Methodist church delivered an address in the course of which he predicted a great future for the Endion church, which has shown such enterprise in erecting the handsome new structure that will soon be its permanent home.

With the cornerstone was deposited a sealed box containing the names of the pastor and officers of the church, a copy of its charter, the Constitution of the United States, copies of the Duluth newspapers, and other documents.

From this time forward the church structure will be pushed rapidly to completion. It is hoped to have the church ready by the opening of the next conference year in October.

The new Endion church when completed will be one of the finest in the city. The estimated cost is $35,000. Great credit is due Rev. J. W. Powell, Jr., the pastor, for his untiring efforts toward making the new church building possible. During the six years that Mr. Powell has been pastor of the Endion church it has made rapid progress both in the number of its communicants and its influence in the community.

DULUTHIANS VILLAGERS

Always Crossing Street in Middle of the Block.

Chauffeur Tells a Tale of Woe in Municipal Court.

The life of a chauffeur in Duluth is harder than it is in New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, or any other large city of the country, according to Carl Helmstrand, arrested yesterday afternoon because he ran into Stanley Patenley, a 14-year-old boy, at the corner of Lake avenue and Superior street. The man pleaded not guilty in municipal court this morning to a charge of careless driving, and his hearing was set for next Monday.

"Owing to the fact that people here have a most annoying habit of crossing the street in the middle of the block, and to the fact that street traffic here is not regulated as in larger cities, a driver of an automobile in Duluth is keyed right up to the limit all the time, and no matter how slowly he runs his machine, there is constant danger of running into some one," said the chauffeur this morning.

"I have driven automobiles on the busiest and most important thoroughfares of New York city, San Francisco, Los Angeles and other leading cities of the United States, but never encountered so much difficulty in this respect as I have right here in Duluth. The people here seem to have an absolute disregard for the rights of teams and automobiles, and flit across the streets and avenues in the middle of the block, whenever the notion happens to strike them. They dart out from the curb stone at the most unexpected times and places, and a chauffeur has to be constantly on his guard. This is something that you do not see in New York and other large cities. People cross at the regular crossings and nowhere else.

"Mayor Haven's plan of regulating street traffic, keeping slow-going vehicles close to the curbing on the right of the street, while faster moving vehicles have a right-of-way nearer the center of the street, is a very good one, and should be put into effect. It would help drivers of all classes of vehicles. This system is in force elsewhere, and gives good satisfaction. It would be a blessing in Duluth."

ADVOCATES ALARMED

High Tariff Devotees In Lumber Interests Combat Exposures.

Minnesota Interests Again Heard From at National Capital.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The advocates of a high tariff on rough lumber, and even higher on finished lumber, are alarmed over the recent exposures of the gross inequalities of the present differential between rough and finished lumber, and are excitedly endeavoring to explain that a classification established in 1872 is still suitable to modern conditions.

In a letter to Senator Aldrich, M. J. Scanlon, one of the largest lumber manufacturers in America, North and South, says that finishing lumber at his Minnesota mill costs $.487 per thousand; and finishing lumber at his Louisiana mill costs $.453 per thousand. That is a careful bookkeeping proposition against the guesses that are being indulged in by the lumber trust.

D. N. Winston of Minneapolis, in a letter to Senator Nelson, says that 50 cents a thousand is an outside cost for dressing lumber, and estimates that 40 cents covers it on an average in Minnesota. He defies lumbermen to prove to the contrary.

If the difference in cost of production here and abroad is the rule to follow, there should be no differential on finished lumber, for the cost of production is as great in Canada. To maintain a high differential is to give the consumer no relief. The retailer does not buy rough lumber to any extent.

If the duty on finished lumber is made high, none can be imported, but the manufacturer, where water transportation is available, can import rough lumber, dress it here and get $2 tariff at a cost to him of 50 cents. There will be no competition from outside, in finished lumber—and that is what the people buy. Certainly if there is to be any differential, it ought not to exceed the cost of dressing, which on the average, as shown above, varies from 40 cents to 75 cents, with 50 cents probably a mean average. Canada admits rough lumber free of duty, and also if dressed on one side and one edge. In proportion to population we export to Canada five times as much lumber as we import. If the Canadian lumbermen can stand this fierce competition, American lumbermen are not likely to be injured by a substantial reduction or even the repeal of the lumber tariff.

SAYS HE GOT FUND FROM LA CROSSE MEN.

Madison, Wis., May 19.—Assemblyman A. T. Twesme of Trempealeau county, the man who defeated Former Speaker Herman L. Ekern at the last election, admitted to the senatorial investigation committee today that he received a fund of $175 from five La Crosse men. The money he said, was given him by C. S. Van Auten, and a receipt was talked over but never given. Twesme said the real reason for Governor Lauvidson's campaign in Trempealeau county was to further his (Twesme's) candidacy for the assembly.

Witness did not believe the La Crosse brewers sent a lot of money into his district and said he solicited the votes of the saloon men and temperance people alike.

TECHNICAL POINT ARGUED

The Berg Personal Injury Case May Not Go to Jury.

Attorneys in the case of George Berg, the 11-year-old boy who was injured at Baraga, Mich., and who is suing the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad for $40,000 for the loss of his two legs, are today arguing before Judge Ensign as to whether or not the case should be allowed to go to the jury.

The defendants this morning made a motion that the case be dismissed on the ground that there is no cause for action, and claiming that they have proven that the boy was a trespasser on railroad property.

The attorneys for the plaintiffs hold that the case should be allowed to go to the jury on the ground that the boy was not only invited, but urged to play about the engines and cars owned by the company. They admit that if it was the only time the boy had been near the danger the matter would be different, but they claim that the company knew what was going on all the time and made no effort to put a stop to it.

They also claim that while the tracks and terminals of the company are private property when kept private by strict orders of the company, yet when they allow their property to become public they at once assume the responsibility for the safety of the persons walking on the tracks.

Should the case go to the jury it would take at least the remainder of the week to finish it.

SAD CASE OF DESTITUTION

Living in Old Lumber Camp—Little Food or Clothing.

Thomas Lowry, janitor at the Board of Trade, who has just returned from a fishing trip to Carlton county, brings back a pitiful story of a case of destitution discovered by himself and a friend.

In a deserted logging camp, two miles from Barker, a small station on the Northern Pacific, they found a woman and her seven children living. They were absolutely without money or prospects of getting any, were little more than half clothed, and had nothing in the house to eat except half a loaf of stale bread. They had no shoes, and protected their feet by wrapping rags around them.

The oldest of the children is a boy 15 years of age, who expects to work in the brickyard at Wrenshall this summer, but his wages will be so small that they will do little in the way of supporting his mother, brothers and sisters.

The woman gave her name as Mrs. M. E. Gallup. She has five sons and two daughters. The family has been receiving aid from Carlton county until recently, when this assistance was cut off. The woman's husband died two years ago, leaving her on a rented farm with a new-born babe, besides the six other children. The family has been dependent upon charity ever since. Now that county aid has been cut off, there is said to be danger that all will starve to death unless some one comes to the rescue.

Mr. Lowry has interested himself in the case and has helped the family as much as he could. He has also interested his friends, and Frank Suech, grocer, 329 West First street, has agreed to box and ship all contributions turned over to him. Mr. Suech expects to ship a box of groceries to the family today.

HIT HIS SISTER WITH AX HANDLE

Iver Erickson Is Fined $50 on an Assault Charge.

Charged with hitting his sister on the head with an ax handle, Iver Erickson was fined $50 and costs with the alternative of spending thirty days in jail, this morning in municipal court.

Erickson lives at 557 Garfield avenue and his sister, Mrs. Olga Elpe lives at 551 Garfield avenue, where she conducts a boarding house. She claims that she has been lending her brother money, and that last evening they had a dispute regarding the amount he owed her. She claims that he attempted to strike her when the boarders interfered, and he ran out to the woodshed. Picking up an ax handle he returned to the house, and after driving the boarders out of the room, struck his sister with the improvised club, it is claimed.

OLD GAS TANK IS BEING REMOVED

Last Chapter in Trouble Arising From Prindle Franchise.

The old gas tank on Michigan street, between Lake and First avenues east, is being removed, and its metal parts have been sold to a junk dealer. This is the last chapter in the fight which arose over the Prindle gas franchise.

This trouble began over fifteen years ago, when an independent company proposed to float the city's water and light bonds, promising to do so in return for a franchise granting it the right to supply gas to the Duluth public. The franchise was granted, but the company failed to float the bonds, and, under a special ordinance, the franchise was repealed.

Afterwards, the city built its own gas plant, ignoring overtures from the independent company, which had already built its plant. The old plant was never operated, the city winning out in the fight. The plant is now being dismantled and will soon be a thing of the past.

HENRY H. ROGERS DIES

vice president of the Standard Oil company and was the active spirit in the organization of the Amalgamated Copper company of which he was president up to the time of his death. He also was interested in a number of railroads, serving as a member of the board of directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Union Pacific. The news of the death came as a surprise to Wall street. Mr. Rogers was at the office of the Standard Oil company yesterday and appeared to be in good spirits. His health has been failing somewhat for several years past and he had curtailed his financial operations to some extent on that account, but he continued to perform the duties of vice president of the Standard Oil company.

The Virginia Railway.

The death of Rogers follows closely upon the completion of the great railway project, to the accomplishment of which the energies of his later years, his genius for organization and a very considerable portion of his private fortune were devoted. This was the building of the Virginia railway, a line which opened up a rich bituminous coal country in West Virginia, extending 443 miles from Deep Water, W. Va., to a tide water terminal at Sewall's Point, Va. This road was distinctly an individual undertaking of Mr. Rogers, and he personally bore the greater part of the cost of its construction, which had been estimated at $40,000,000. Mr. Rogers had embarked on his venture some time prior to the financial panic of 1907, which checked similar undertakings by some of the large railroad companies of this country, but the work of building this line went on to its finish, mainly because of the energy and faith which Mr. Rogers applied to the achievement of his purpose.

Early in April, only a few weeks ago, the road was opened to traffic and Mr. Rogers invited some of his friends from New York to Virginia to visit the new line. Governor Swanson, United States senators, members of congress and several hundred business men of Virginia and West Virginia were guests of Mr. Rogers and shared with him in celebrating the successful termination of his labor of building a railroad which was to be almost his personal and individual property.

Opening a Success.

The opening of the road was a success, and after receiving the congratulations of the officials and business men of Virginia upon his splendid courage which had carried the work to its finish in the face of great financial obstacles, Mr. Rogers returned to his home in New York to enjoy the satisfaction which comes to any man upon the accomplishment of the greatest achievement of any active business life.

His death coming soon after the end of this work and before he saw the fruit of his labor in the development of the section served by his road, is regarded by his friends and associates among New York financiers as a regrettable ending of a brilliant career in the business and financial world.

This was the second illness of this nature suffered by Mr. Rogers, the first having occurred in July, 1907. In spite of all that could be done for him this morning, Mr. Rogers sank rapidly and the end came peacefully at 7 o'clock.

Following the seizure of apoplexy in 1907 Mr. Rogers began putting his affairs in order and he has been out of the stock market entirely for months. His interests in all of the corporations with which he had been identified have been placed in other hands during the last year. This step was taken in order to safeguard his properties in the event of sudden death.

John D. Ryan, who was one of the most intimate business associates of Mr. Rogers, while expressing profound regret for the death of his friend, said that it would not, in his opinion, have any influence upon the investment or business situation. Mr. Ryan said that he was satisfied that Mr. Rogers had no speculative commitments. William Rockefeller said of his associate:

"We shall miss Mr. Rogers a great deal. I don't know any of the details, but it is safe to say that Mr. Rogers' death need not have any unfavorable consequences in respect to his business relations. I am sure it will be found that his affairs are in good order."

Swanson of Virginia, members of the battlefields commission of Pennsylvania, large delegations from Grand Army posts and a host of Confederate veterans have gathered, while at the luncheon later the speakers included in addition to the president and the two governors, M. Jusserand, the French ambassador; Rear Admiral Sigsbee, U. S. N., retired; President E. A. Alderman of the University of Virginia; ex-Governor William E. Cameron and Andrew Jackson Montague of Virginia; Mayor Jones and W. B. McIlwaine of Petersburg.

Upon his arrival, shortly after 9 a. m., the president was driven to the battlefields. He first witnessed at Fort Stedman the unveiling of a tablet, which stands on the spot where the third division of the Ninth army corps, commanded by Gen. Hartranft, later governor of Pennsylvania, recaptured the works on March 25, 1865, after they had been taken by Governor John B. Gordon and 100 picked men before daybreak of the same day.

Milton A. Embick, secretary of the Pennsylvania battlefields commission, delivered the oration, and Miss Mabel Elizabeth Jones of Boston pulled a silken string which released the flags around the tablet. From Fort Stedman the president and his party were then driven the mile and a half to Fort Mahone, where the Hartranft statue has been constructed, at a cost of $50,000. Old soldiers in blue and in gray rode side by side from Stedman to Mahone.

Col. R. H. L. Goddard of Providence, R. I., presided at the unveiling of the statue. The enveloping flags were released by a committee of women selected from the North and the South, among them Mrs. William Mahone, wife of the Confederate general for whom the fore was named. Others on the committee are Mrs. Harold A. Gilbert of Williamsport, Pa.; Mrs. Clarence G. Fowler of Harrisburg, Pa., daughter of Gen. Hartranft; Mrs. William H. McGill, daughter of Governor Mahone, and Mrs. L. A. Dodd of Baltimore.

The oration was delivered by Maj. Isaac B. Brown, president of the Pennsylvania battlefield commission. Following this came the address of President Taft, whose subject was "The Union," and then Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania turned the monument over to the state of Virginia, the speech of acceptance being delivered by Governor Swanson.

With the sounding of "taps" the ceremonies at the monument were concluded, and the president and other distinguished visitors returned to Petersburg as guests of the city for the remainder of the day.

To Charlotte Next.

Charlotte, N. C., May 19.—Today was governor's day at the Meiklin celebration, and Governor Kitchen of North Carolina was the host of the occasion. President Taft and his party will arrive tomorrow morning. At North Charlotte the president will be met by a delegation of prominent citizens and escorted to the Selwyn hotel. At noon an escort, comprising the Eighteenth United States regiment, a delegation of Union and Confederate soldiers, the United States troops and Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, will lead the president to the big reviewing stand on Tryon street, where he will review the military and industrial parade.

After luncheon the president will return to the reviewing stand, where he will deliver an address. Following this feature he will be escorted to Biddle university, a college for negroes, where he will deliver an address to the colored people.

In the evening he will hold a public reception, and at 10 o'clock will board a special train for the return to Washington.

The Attendance at the Meetings Has Been Very Large.

The closing session of the annual conference of the Methodist churches in the Duluth district will take place this evening, when a popular service will be held at the Deaconess home. The sessions of yesterday and this morning were well attended.

PLEASURES ARE SCORED.

Upholders of Dancing and Theater-Going Lose Debate.

That the present church rules of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church are not too strict was the verdict last evening of the judges in the debate between the Men's club and the Epworth league of the church. The question for discussion was whether or not the church should take a decisive stand against theater-going, card playing and dancing.

The Epworth league upheld the worldly pleasures and the Men's club argued that these were evils that should be done away with. The board of judges, comprising J. J. Moe, E. O Reppe and John Auer, awarded the decision to the Men's club.

The teams included the following: Men's club—O. A. Anderson, John S. T. Strum and O. P. Lund; Epworth league—Andrew Otterson, A. B. Anderson and August Pederson.

FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE

(Note—Suggestions from citizens of needed reforms will be welcomed.)

NEED FUNDS FOR PLAYGROUNDS

The annual meeting of the Duluth Playground association was held yesterday afternoon at the city hall and plans were discussed for the season's activities. The lack of funds is the stumbling block in the way of the association's work and the first step will be to again arouse public interest in this very necessary city work in order that at least as much effort in the way of providing play places for the city's children be done this year, as last.

The report of the secretary showed that the receipts for last year were $291.50 and the disbursements were $222.29. It is hoped by those most interested in the playground movement that it will be possible during this season to have three playgrounds in the city and a fund of $1,000 will be necessary to properly carry on this work. Any contributions from 5 cents to as many dollars as the donor can spare may be sent to Miss Jean Poirier, 2128 East Second street.

At yesterday's meeting three directors were elected for a term of three years. They are Bishop McGolrick, Mrs. James McCahill and Miss Jean Poirier. The need of a playground near the Adams school was spoken of, and efforts will be made to establish one in that locality during the summer.

Mayor Haven and Bernard Silberstein spoke in favor of swimming pools and an effort will be made within a year or two to add this delightful feature for the amusement of the youth of the city.

The average daily attendance at the playgrounds last year between June 20 and Sept 1 was fifty-three and the average attendance at the skating rink was 260.

Every effort will be made to interest Duluth citizens in the work until the time of the next meeting, which will be held the first week of June.

COUNTY SANITARIUM

At the next meeting of the board of county commissioners, which will be held June 8, the matter of the appropriation of funds for the erection of a tuberculosis sanitarium will be considered. A special provision for this work was made at the recent meeting of the state legislature, and if the project is decided upon, Lake and Carlton counties will probably join in the movement with St. Louis county.

A resolution embodying the necessary provisions for the establishment and maintenance of the sanitarium is being drawn up by W. J. Stevenson, attorney for the county board. Mr. Stevenson drafted the bill passed by the state legislature authorizing the establishment of sanitariums for tuberculosis patients in this state, and the resolution will cover the points embodied in this enabling act.

NO NEW CHARTER FOR OLD CHICAGO.

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—The knell of Chicago's prospect for a new charter was sounded today. By a vote of 21 to 26 the senate refused to reconsider a vote by which the first charter bill was lost last week.

In the house today a bill which takes incorporated municipalities out of the range of a township vote on the saloon question was passed, 78 to 70. Anti-saloon forces declare that the bill, if passed by the senate and signed by the governor, will nullify the present option law.

In addition to declaring that municipalities shall not be governed by the county vote on the saloon question, the measure defines intoxicants to be liquor containing one half of 1 per cent of alcohol.

POCKET MONEY FOR CHILDREN

Drawing Contest Supplies Them With Needed Funds.

Drawing pictures of cows, playing baseball, and jumping ropes are the things that Duluth boys and girls are doing most these days.

Charles Stubler of 108 East Second street, stopped playing ball, yesterday, long enough to draw a picture of a cow and it was the best one sent to the contest editor of The Herald and today George is wondering whether he will buy a catcher's mitt or a cracking good league baseball with that $2 of prize money that he received, with the congratulations of the Borden Milk Company.

There are so many things that a fellow can do with $2 that some boys and even girls, too, sit down and get the money pretty nearly all spent before they draw the picture of the cow at all. These days there are baseball mitts, and baseballs, and bats and fishing poles, and any number of things that a boy really needs.

And there's not a girl in town who would not like $2 to get a new doll with.

Any boy or girl under 12 years may try for the prizes. Draw the picture, send it with a label from a can of Borden's Peerless Evaporated Milk to the contest editor of The Herald.

There are other prizes for older boys and girls who write letters about Borden's Peerless Evaporated milk. Write to the contest editor and tell him what you know about milk in general and Borden's milk in particular, and with the prize money you can treat the whole family to ice cream, or buy sixty ice cream cones all for yourself.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

With the Amateurs.

A meeting of the City Amateur Baseball league will be held this evening at the store of the Northern Hardware company. The constitution of the league will be revised in some minor details.

The schedule for the season will probably be adopted at the meeting this evening. The schedule committee has been working upon the schedule for some time and is due to make a report this evening.

The protested game of the Union Clothing company, which was defeated by the Union Match company's team last Sunday, will come up for settlement. The opening of the league was scheduled for last Sunday, but the officers of the league decided Saturday to postpone the opening. The pitcher of the Union Clothing company's team failed to appear, as a result of this misunderstanding, and the team of the Union Clothing company was badly beaten.

• • •

The Fitwell-Turnbull-Cameron-Degler baseball game, which was scheduled for last Sunday, but was postponed, will be played the coming Sunday. The Turnbull-Cameron-Degler team of Superior is composed of practically the same players that gave the Fitwells so many hard games last season. The Fitwell team is also composed of most of the players that composed the team last season. The game Sunday should be a good one.

The D. G. Cutler baseball team will in the future be known as the Big Duluths. They are open for games with any Duluth teams. The manager Harry Leneau, Zenith 'phone 578, would like to hear from the Spaldings.

McKENZIE COUNTY SEAT FIGHT AGAIN IN COURTS.

Dickinson, N. D., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another phase of the famous McKenzie county seat fight has been taken up in the district court of Stark county, when arguments were made before Judge Crawford on the question of granting a permanent injunction against the officials of McKenzie county for the purpose of restraining them from removing Schafer to Alexander.

Last January the board of county commissioners of McKenzie county passed a resolution providing that the county seat should be changed from Schafer to Alexander, despite the decisions of the supreme court favoring Schafer as the legally selected seat of the county.

When this resolution was passed by the commissioners, Charles Schafer, the owner of the townsite of Schafer, commenced proceedings with a view to heading off the commissioners in their effort. A temporary injunction was granted against the carrying out of the orders and the arguments on the question of making this permanent are now on.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

UP AGAINST SEVERE LAW

Rough Sledding for Liquor Interests Soon in North Dakota.

After July 1 Soliciting Agents Prohibited; Inspection Required.

Fargo, N. D., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The liquor interests of the country will have hard sledding doing business in North Dakota after July 1. After that date liquor shipped into the state must be inspected and soliciting agents will be prohibited under the law. C. O. D. shipments are barred and the last legislature enacted a law prohibiting newspapers of the state from the publication of liquor ads.

This last measure is not regarded as constitutional. It is not thought the legislature can have any more authority to prohibit ads of that nature in the state papers, especially those without the state circulation, than to prohibit the circulation of papers from the Twin Cities or Chicago containing liquor ads. It is extremely probable that a test case will be made by some publisher.

The liquor men are also fighting the law which provides that the age of all liquor must be labelled on the package. This is bitterly opposed, especially by the Ohio interests, which are charged with shipping out freshly distilled whisky under the claim that it is four years old.

NOTABLE EVENT AT GRAND FORKS

Cornerstone of Big Auditorium Laid Wednesday Afternoon.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—An important event in the forward progress of Grand Forks will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the cornerstone of the new auditorium being constructed by the Grand Forks Oratorio society will be laid. The event is expected to bring out an immense throng, and the ceremonies will be of an intensely interesting nature. The auditorium, which will be one of the finest in the Northwest, has long been needed in Grand Forks, and its construction at this time is considered as being highly important to the future growth of Grand Forks. It will bring to the city a number of large gatherings that have hitherto been obliged to go elsewhere because of lack of proper accommodations.

The ceremonies will be participated in this afternoon by Mayor J. D. Taylor, Attorney Tracy R. Bangs, President E. P. Robertson of Wesley college, R. B. Griffith, A. A. Bruce, Prof. George A. Stout and O. M. Hatcher, who will commend the splendid work of the Oratorio society in forwarding the work which has been carried on with such great success.

The building is due for completion by next Thursday, as that is the day on which the annual May music festival, the opening number, is to begin.

GENERAL PLAN OF EXTENSION

A. O. U. W. of North Dakota Seeking to Secure More Members.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work of a very important nature is being transacted by the grand lodges of North Dakota of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and Degree of Honor, which are in session in Grand Forks. The sessions will be closed this evening after what has been one of the best gatherings ever held.

Extension work is the keynote of the A. O. U. W. lodge campaign, and this was demonstrated in the vote of the lodge by which it was decided to devote a large amount of money to the work. The advisory board was given authority to expend practically $20,000 in the next two years for the purpose of extending the order, this being an increase of from 20 per cent to 35 per cent of the surplus fund receipts. In the last period the membership has increased over 1,000 and in the next two years it is proposed to outstrip this record by many hundreds.

The Degree of Honor grand lodge has under consideration a very important matter, that of adopting the flat rate plan for its insurance department. This change was made by the Workmen lodge some time ago and has proven entirely satisfactory. The auxiliary lodge is now taking up the question and there seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of the plan and there is little doubt but what it will be adopted before adjournment.

Another important matter being discussed by the Degree of Honor is that of changing the time of meeting. Under the present laws of the order, annual sessions are held, but it is proposed under a new rule to meet biennially, the same as the Workmen lodge. This proposition has been agitated for some time.

Last evening the members of the two grand lodges were guests of the Grand Forks lodges at a very pleasant entertainment. The first part of the evening was taken up by the initiation of a class into the Workmen lodge under the direction of the grand lodge officers, after which the Degree of Honor ladies served a splendid banquet.

Will M. Narvis, supreme grand master of the A. O. U. W., is present, and gave a very interesting address before the grand lodge. He was high in his commendation of the splendid condition of the North Dakota jurisdiction of the order.

LUCE COUNTY LID IS PRESSING DOWN HARD.

Newberry, Mich., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lid went down tight in Luce county Sunday. So far as officers could ascertain, there was no infringement of the liquor laws. The saloon men entered into agreement to abide by the law as interpreted by Attorney L. H. Read, who is determined the law must be enforced. The sheriff and deputies were present at the conference and were given instructions. This is the first time the lid has been on for a number of years.

U. S. ENGINEER IS LOOKING OVER JOB

Is Perfecting Plans for Improving Channel of Red River.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—United States Engineer Davenport of St. Paul, who has supervision of the expenditure of federal appropriations for the improvement of navigation in this district has arrived to inspect the Red Lake river in order to perfect plans for the improvement of its channel.

An appropriation of $50,000 was provided by congress last winter for the improvement of this river between this city and Red Lake, a distance, some 100 miles by water. This portion of the stream is navigable for large steamboats in high water and several of these craft regularly ply the river, engaged in the freight and passenger business between Thief River Falls and up river points and small settlements about the shores of the lakes.

This business is increasing year by year and as the territory lying on both sides of the Red Lake river is a rich and open farming country it can be easily seen that the river business is of much consequence. During the summer season several shallow places appear in the river and Mr. Davenport will at once organize a crew here to build dredges and scows for the purpose of removing these obstructions.

Plans have also been prepared and have received the approval of the war department for the construction of a retaining lock at the outlet of the Red Lakes and thus in a measure tend to prevent the recurring spring floods which destroy much property on the lower reaches of the Red River of the North towards the Canadian line. Congress will be requested at its session next winter to provide the means to carry this project to completion. That this dam will accomplish this is the belief of the engineers, as the Red Lake basin is a large one and its whole outflow is through the Red Lake river into the Red River of the North at Grand Forks.

UPHOLD JUDGE BAXTER.

Clay County Bar Objects to Attacks of St. Paul Paper.

Moorhead, Minn., May 19.—At an informal meeting of the members of the Clay county bar, held at the courthouse Monday, preambles and a resolution were considered relative to certain attacks and criticisms which have appeared in one of the St. Paul papers, in reference to Judge Baxter. The publication of the articles attacking the judge and the motives which inspired the persons causing the publication of them, were denounced.

The resolution strongly expressed the highest respect for the venerable jurist and fullest confidence, and pledged Judge Baxter, "our earnest and steadfast support so long as he may continue to perform the duties of his responsible office."

Every attorney present signed the expression of good feeling towards the judge and it is expected that all the attorneys who will be in attendance at the term will sign the paper in approval of the action taken and before it is presented to the court.

It may be stated that in this part of Judge Baxter's district there has been a general expression of indignation over the publication of the article attacking him, and some outspoken members of the bar styled it cowardly and an outrage.

SALOON MEN FAVOR LID.

Luce County Liquor Dealers Join in Law Enforcement.

Marquette, Mich., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the instance of the liquor dealers themselves the lid has been clamped down tightly upon the saloon business in all of the towns of Luce county. The district heretofore having held front rank in the wide-open category, the reform now wrought is a striking one. Following a conference of the saloon men at which it was agreed that there should be strict compliance with the law in the future, a meeting was held in the office of the prosecuting attorney, at which there were present the sheriff and deputies.

The various provisions of the liquor statutes were interpreted at this meeting, and it was announced by the county officials that hereafter the law would be enforced to the letter, and that the slightest violation would be followed by prosecution. Instructions to that effect were given to the sheriff and his assistants. The action taken by the Luce county saloon men is in line with that taken by liquor dealers in other portions of the state and is a direct result of the rapid growth of the prohibition sentiment in Michigan. Luce is one of the number of Michigan counties in which the question of abolishing the saloons will be submitted to the people at the election next spring.

EX-REPRESENTATIVE GIVEN POSITION AT LANSING.

Marquette, Mich., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. H. McCallum of Manistique has been appointed to a position in the auditor general's department at Lansing. He goes on the pay roll of the commonwealth as examiner of state lands. Mr. McCallum formerly served in the legislature as the representative of the Schoolcraft district, which embraces the counties of Schoolcraft, Alger, Mackinac and Luce.

ACTIVITY ON CUYUNA.

Much Exploratory Work Being Done on New Iron Range.

Brainerd, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is much activity on the new Cuyuna range. Much exploratory work is in progress, and it appears to be attended with a gratifying degree of success. Drills are penetrating the ground in various districts. Ore has been found in many tracts. It cannot be said that all of the deposits are sufficient in extent or in the quality of their mineral to give assurance that mines will be opened, but the operations already undertaken in the way of development are such as to indicate the range has a future of much promise.

A particularly gratifying showing is that being made by the Rogers-Brown Ore company in the Rabbit lake district near Deerwood, where the work on the Cuyuna has reached its most advanced stage. Actual mining is in progress there, and were railroad facilities available some ore could be shipped even now. A fine four-compartment shaft is being sunk. Ore found in the Rabbit lake district runs as high as 60 per cent iron and is of the Bessemer grade.

RATTLER AT WINONA.

Winona, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A big rattlesnake was observed on Sunday on one of the bluffs adjacent to Woodlawn cemetery on the West side. The first warning some bluff climbers had that the snake was near was when it sounded its warning rattle. Some stones were thrown, but although the snake was hit, it made its escape.

HORSE BIDS REJECTED.

Dickinson, N. D., May 19.—It is definitely known that he Indian office at Washington has rejected all bids for horses for the Indians on the Standing Rock and Cheyenne reservations. The bid of W. L. Richards, and others of Dickinson, was the lowest, but for some reason known to itself, the Indian bureau refused to consider any of the bids and will advertise again, extending the time for completion of the contract.

GOOD FROM CIVIL WAR

Taft Says the Great Conflict Brought Lasting Benefit.

Notes Proof of Actual Uniting of the Sections.

Petersburg, Va., May 19.—Paying a tribute alike to the soldiers of the North and of the South, President Taft, who, today witnessed the unveiling of an heroic statue at Fort Mahone on the Petersburg battlefields in memory of Gen. Hartranft and the Pennsylvania volunteers who fell in the stubborn fight about this outpost of the Confederate capital, declared that the battle between the states had to be fought and that enduring good had come of it. He said in part:

"My Fellow Citizens: We are met today on the soil of Virginia to dedicate a memorial to the bravery of the sons of Pennsylvania exhibited in a contest to the death with the sons of Virginia and the South. We stand here in the center of the bloodiest and most critical operations of the last year of the Civil war, only a few miles distant from that dramatic scene at Appomattox between Grant and Lee, which marked the great qualities of the heart and soul of each and which was the real end of the terrific struggle between the two sections.

"To Pennsylvania, as one of the great states of the Union engaged in the determination to save it, fell the burden of furnishing tens of thousands of men for the struggle in every part of the line of attack; but especially in the Army of the Potomac was the force of her people and their devotion to the cause felt.

"In the time which has passed the bitterness of the struggle has passed away, and we now treasure as a common heritage of the country the bravery and the valor of both sides in that controversy. The Army of the Potomac under Grant and Meade was seconded and supported by a generous government. It was hardly so with the Confederate forces. Scantily clothed, rarely on more than half rations, and for considerable periods reduced to an allowance of bacon and meal hardly sufficient to sustain life, the long winter through, their shiver-the infantry manned the ever-extending siege works, and made head against the vigorous assaults of the Union army, until their depleted ranks were no longer equal to the defense of their attenuated lines, and they gave up a contest which by any other soldiers but the tried and seasoned veterans of the Army of North Virginia would long before have been abandoned.

"Pennsylvania's pride must be in the victory achieved by her men against so brave, resolute and resourceful an enemy. That we can come here today and in the presence of thousands and tens of thousands of the survivors of the gallant army of Northern Virginia and of their descendants, establish such an enduring monument by their hospitable welcome and acclaim, is conclusive proof of the uniting of the sections and a universal confession that all that was done was done well, that the battle had to be fought, that the sections had to be tried, but that in the end the result has inured to the common benefit to all."

LABOR GRAFT CHARGE RELATED

Chicago Prosecutor Outlines His Case Against "Skinny" Madden.

Chicago, May 19.—State's Attorney Wayman today outlined his case against Martin B. Madden, president of the Associated Building Trades council, F. A. Pouchot and M. J. Boyle, labor leaders, charged with extortion in the calling of a strike on the Joseph Klicka Company of Chicago.

Mr. Wayman told of how the men at work for the Klicka company, when ordered out by a representative of Madden, refused to go for some time, not knowing of any grievance. Later, Mr. Wayman declared, after the men had struck, officials of the Klicka company were approached by emissaries of Madden and his associates, D. L. Frazier of the firm of architects working for the Klicka company, the prosecutor declared, visited Boyle, and was told that Emil Klicka, another member of the firm, would have to see Madden.

"Klicka," said the state's attorney, "was told by Madden that it would cost him $1,500 to settle the strike."

"I won't pay it; it's an outrage," Klicka replied, according to Mr. Wayman.

Later, the prosecutor said, George S. Andrews, an engineer, went to Klicka and told him he thought he could settle the trouble for $1,000.

"We will show," continued Mr. Wayman, "that later Andrews, after getting the money from Klicka, went to Madden and Boyle and offered Madden $1,000 in $100 bills."

PAINTED HOUSE WITH SYRUP

What will happen to the roof of the home of a prominent resident of the East end when the first heavy rain occurs?

This is the question the owner is asking himself.

Not so very long ago the owner of the home in question received five cans of Ohio maple syrup. The cans were set outside on the back porch of the house. The members of the family thought of the many uses to which the good old Buckeye production could be put—baking powder biscuits, buckwheat cakes, etc. Then the man who was hired to paint the roof of the house spoiled the plans.

The man spied the five cans and believed that they contained linseed oil. His sense of smell was incapacitated by a heavy cold. He therefore, without hesitation, used the syrup in mixing his paint.

While the paint didn't spread with the smoothness with which good paint should spread, the painter didn't for one moment imagine that he had made a mistake. It was only when the head of the house suggested that they have some of the good Ohio maple syrup one evening that the mistake was discovered.

The roof looks all right at the present time. There is a question, though, as to just how the paint will behave under the first heavy rain.

LEWIS SELLS OLD HOLDINGS

Residence Property on West Third Street Brings $9,000.

Capt. Ray T. Lewis has sold the property on the southeast corner of Fourth avenue west and Third street to Raphael Oreck.

The consideration was $9,000.

The property, located as it is within three blocks of the very busiest portion of Superior street, and at the same time on a quiet residence street, is particularly attractive as a residence site, or for flat purposes.

The price, $9,000, is considered a fair one for property in this part of town. Two frame houses are standing on the property.

SHAKESPEARE A "DEAD ONE," SAYS THEODORE ROBERTS

Says He Would Rather Be Shot Than See Play By the Poor Old Bard.

"I would rather be shot than to sit through a Shakespearean performance."

This statement was made today by Theodore Roberts, one of the greatest character actors upon the American stage and the originator of the part of Joe Portugais, in dramatization of Sir Gilbert Parker's remarkable novel, "The Right of Way."

Mr. Roberts made the statement when asked why the classic drama was dying out. Mr. Roberts gives a very logical reason for the failure of Shakespearean and other classic plays to interest the American playgoers.

"Shakespeare's plays don't ring true to life," is the statement of the actor. For years Mr. Roberts has played in the Shakespearean drama. He has been upon the stage for thirty-five years, and during that time he has played in about every kind of play, but musical comedy.

He acted in the classic drama, and now he says he would rather be shot than sit through a performance of one of the immortal bard's plays. "It is because the American people want plays that ring true to nature, because they have become more critical, that you hear of so many failures," said Mr. Roberts. The plays that were praised and thought good by the people of ten or more years ago will not be accepted by the modern theater-goer, according to the actor. It is because the American people demand productions that hold the mirror up to nature, as it were. Mr. Roberts points to the great success of "Paid in Full" as an example of what the modern playgoer would have. He says that there isn't a line in this play that is not absolutely true to life. It reflects things that occur in everyday life; thoughts that we think every day of our lives, and actions that happen every day in our lives. Plays that reflect part of of our everyday life are the kind of plays that the American people are demanding, and the kind of plays that will pay, says the actor.

Mr. Roberts was asked what was the tendency of the modern drama. Without hesitation, he answered, "vaudeville."

"The American people want something concise and to the point," said Mr. Roberts. "You can see for yourself the number of short dramatic sketches that are being put upon the vaudeville stage. That, I believe, is the modern tendency of the American drama. The success of the short playlet would at least bear out this supposition. The short play, full of action, reflecting conditions of our lives, is the play that is appealing to the theater-goers in this country right at the present time."

At no time in the history of the American drama have audiences been so critical as they are at the present time, according to Mr. Roberts. In the days further back the audiences did not ask so much of the play. Today the play must ring true or play-goers will refuse to go to it.

"Ibsen struck the true note of life, but he wrote about incidents that have but little interest for the modern man or woman. He dramatizes a woman walking around. He writes upon subjects that have little interest in our lives and thoughts. Many of his subjects are gruesome. He has held up the realities of life, but he has failed to catch the interest of the modern audience. George Barnard Shaw has likewise written little that is of general interest to the modern audience."

The manuscript of the dramatization of "The Barrier," the latest novel of Rex Beach, will be submitted to Guy Standing and Mr. Roberts Monday. If the dramatization meets with the approval of the two actors, it will be used by them next year. It is an Alaskan story and Mr. Roberts is of the opinion that it will make a great play, yet in the same breath he tells you that it is hard to judge nowadays just what the people want, and that the production of a play is more or less of a gamble.

ARMY OFFICE MAY BE CLOSED

No More Recruits Are Wanted By Uncle Sam.

It is probable that the Duluth United States army recruiting office will be abolished. The Milwaukee recruiting office was recently closed, for the reason that there is no demand for men in the army at the present time, and other offices in various parts of the country have also been closed.

Lieut. Arthur Watts, who is in charge of the Duluth office, expects to hear daily of a decision of the war office closing the Duluth office. For the past three months no recruits have been accepted at the local office. The army is full at the present time, and until there is need for additional men, it is expected that a number of the recruiting offices throughout the country will be closed.

HIS EVENING CLOTHES.

Remind Him of a Story He Once Read About a French Lady.

New York Sun: "Whenever I get into evening dress," said a man whose clothes now fit him pretty snugly. "I am reminded of a story I read once about a French lady who lived in Paris.

"This lady had a lovely figure, whose beauty she sought to enhance by tight lacing. When she was going out at night she used to lace before dinner because if she waited until after, why then she couldn't get herself down to where she wanted to. So she used to lace and then eat sparingly, as she was compelled to, and one night when she had got herself down particularly fine she was going to make her dinner on a dozen raw oysters, which she thought would be nourishing and satisfying, and at the same time easy to eat and not bulky; and as she iaced she looked longingly forward to those oysters waiting for her, for she was hungry as forty cats.

"But do you know that, hungry as she was, when she came to the oysters she couldn't eat them all? She couldn't. For she knew that if she did something would have to give way. She managed to eat eight of them all right, and she ate the ninth, the tenth and the eleventh, but those last three she ate with a growing consciousness that she was perilously close to the limit, and when she had eaten the eleventh she knew that she must stop; and so she was compelled to turn from that last oyster and leave it on the plate uneaten. Such a sacrifice she was compelled to make for the sake of what she conceived to be a perfect waist.

"Well, when I get into my dress suit I am not quite so bad off as the French lady in the story; not quite, but pretty near it, pretty near it, for this suit was built years ago, when I was younger and slimmer. Then it was all right, but since then my figure has increased, if not my fortune, and now I fairly bulge in it.

"I have anchored the buttons and reinforced the buttonholes, but still—and much as good things to eat appeal to me—when I go out to dinner in that old dress suit I know that I must eat sparingly, and as I skip the dishes I smile to myself and I think rather sadly that I know how to sympathize with the French lady."

HUNTER'S LIFE SAVED BY DOGS.

Idaho Satesman: Four days and four nights alone in the desert without food or water, his leg shattered by the accidental discharge of his shotgun, was the terrible experience of Conaro Undace, a Spanish sheep herder, near Hagerman. He was found recently by a searching party, lying face downward an unconscious.

Conaro was hunting a coyote when the accient occurred. His life was saved by his two dogs, who lay close to their master and prevented him from freezing to death. The dogs never left him until they heard the cries of the searchers, and then they led memberc of the party to the unfortunate man.

VENOMOUS FISH.

Hospital: It is curious that while so much has been written in our language on snake bites there has been comparatively little placed on record concerning the stings of fishes.

Snake bites are rare in this country, but fish stings are very common, especially among fishermen and fish mongers. The fishes that most often sting are the great little weevers. A piece on the hand or foot from a weever causes much swelling and inflammation.

If the arm is affected the inflammation may spread to the shoulder, the swelling of the whole limb being enormous. The pain is agonizing, the patient often falling into a state of collapse or becoming delirious. Usually the inflammation subsides in about three days, followed by desquamation.

THE TARIFF ON PAPER.

What The Herald said yesterday relating to the tariff on lumber applies with equal force to the tariff on print paper and the materials of which it is composed, from the raw pulpwood sticks down to the finished product.

A tariff tax upon print paper is a tax upon intelligence and publicity. It is an artificial prop to a paper trust which already has power enough to dictate exorbitant prices, and which does it ruthlessly. It is not a tax upon newspapers, because in the natural order of things the newspapers have to pass it on to the public, as all such taxes are passed on. Either the people will pay higher prices for their newspapers, or they will get less for their money. Up to a certain point, it is true, the newspapers do stand the tax. It is not easy to change the price of a newspaper, and not pleasant to lessen its size and the amount of information it carries. But that is a point easily passed. The greed of the paper trust knows no limits, and if the duties on print paper, pulpwood and pulp are continued, further advances may be looked for that will surely force the burden on to the people.

In the first place, as in the case of lumber a "protective" tariff on pulpwood tends to encourage the speedy exhaustion of domestic supplies and prevents that situation from being relieved by the importation of foreign supplies. The obvious and inevitable result of that will be the extinction of the American pulpwood supply, leaving this country at the mercy of the nations that still have pulpwood. They will then have a chance to retaliate upon us for putting up the bars against their output. They will have the chance to demand what they wish for their pulpwood, and this country will have to pay it.

The admission of pulpwood, pulp and paper free of duty would restore the competition which the paper trust, acting behind the tariff barrier, has destroyed. It would leave the market subject to the law of supply and demand, and all parties to the paper industry would get their just dues.

The agents of the paper trust have worked upon domestic producers of pulpwood and others in the attempt to make them fearful of this law of supply and demand. They needn't fear it. There will never be a time when producers of pulpwood will not get fair prices. The enormous increase in the use of print paper assures a steady and reliable market, with good prices. The chief danger to the producer is that the paper trust, acting under the protection of the tariff, will combine to reduce the price paid for pulpwood, as it has combined to increase the price it charges for paper. The world's supply of pulpwood is not so great that there is the slightest danger to pulpwood producers in unrestricted trade in their product. There is, as we have said, far greater danger in a trust protected against foreign competition by an unfair tariff.

Free pulpwood, free pulp and free paper would conserve domestic supplies, curb the power of the paper trust and insure fair prices both to the pulpwood producers and the paper users.

CITY GARDEN PATCHES.

A very interesting and potentially valuable experiment is projected by A. B. Hostetter, expert in charge of the agricultural department of the Duluth Commercial club. To show what can be done in the way of gardening in the city, he is going to establish three experiment stations on small plots in various sections, where a showing will be made as to what can be grown in this climate and on this soil. One plot is on Second street at the corner of First avenue east, opposite the high school, another is at the poor farm, and a third is at Woodland.

There is joy and health and profit in small-lot gardening which ought to be appreciated and enjoyed more widely in Duluth than it is, and these experiments should point the way to a broadening use of the opportunities that exist. It is astonishing how much truck can be grown upon a space only a few feet square, and almost anybody can find space enough in his backyard for a garden that will keep the table supplied during much of the summer with small vegetables and fruits.

If Mr. Hostetter's experiment leads a number of householders to utilize in this manner vacant spaces in their back yards it will be well worth while. There is in the practice wholesome exercise, a pleasant fascination and a profitable shaving of grocery bills.

OUT OF ASHES.

In the midst of the weighty and perplexing problems of business and government which have sprung from the wonderful industrial and commercial development of the past quarter of a century, there appears here and there striking evidence that our economic life is sound at heart, no matter what evils have preyed upon it or what excrescences have overburdened and hampered it.

Two widely separated illustrations are at hand, widely separated both as to place and physical magnitude, but both testifying strongly to the same fact—that our business excesses are but the overplussage of lusty youth.

The two illustrations are Chisholm in Minnesota and San Francisco in California. Chisholm, wiped from the face of the map last fall by fire, is completely rebuilt. Houses were built in that town at the rate of four and five per day, while fine brick and stone structures have been reared upon the business streets where wooden structures stood before the fire. Chisholm, with $2,000,000 of property, almost its all, wiped out in an hour's conflagration, is more substantial and more prosperous eight months after that fire than it was before the fire.

Three years ago San Francisco was rocked by earthquake. Its beautiful city hall costing $6,000,000 was made in a moment a mass of wreckage. Great sky scrapers in all parts of the city tottered and fell. The red demon fire sprang up upon the instant and licked up what the shuddering earth had left. The ruin was almost unparalleled in the history of any city. Today on all those shaken, fire-swept streets, tall buildings stand, and there is no trace of ruin, but business and prosperity abound on every hand. In three years 20,500 building permits have been issued in San Francisco and buildings now risen from the ashes is many times this amount. Withal the estimated mortgage indebtedness of the city is but $108,710,000, less than any other large city in the country.

While life flows so strong in its veins, this county has no cause to fear for its economic future. Our economic problems, great as they are, are but the petty problems of the day. The future is secure.

A POOR WAY TO GET ROAST PORK.

You remember Charles Lamb's "Dissertation on Roast Pig," of course. How Ho-Ti the swineherd one day left his estate in the care of Bo-Bo, his son, and how the house burned down, in a moment when Bo-Bo's attention was distracted. How one of Ho-Ti's pigs was in the house at the time, engaged in an exploration that turned out fatally. How Bo-Bo wailed and trembled to think of his stern parent's return. How he mourned the dead pig, and looked upon its encrusted remains in sadness. How he touched a finger to the baked carcass, how he found that it was hot, how he obeyed the natural instinct and put the burnt finger in his mouth to cool it. How he experienced a new sensation in the delicious taste of the toothsome "crackle." How he started with delight, and put his finger on the carcass again. How he proceeded to tear off pieces of the cooked flesh and cram them into his mouth. How Ho-Ti returned and felt his wrath melt in amazement and delight over the excellent taste of the roast pig.

Ho-Ti and Bo-Bo had made a discovery, as many discoveries of a similar character were doubtless made, by accident. They speedily informed their neighbors, gave them a taste of the roast pig, and presently everybody was busily engaged in locking luckless pigs up in their homes and setting fire to them, that they, too, might have for themselves the epicurean delight of this new delicacy. But pretty soon there were no more houses left, and it dawned upon these slow-witted Chinamen that there might be other ways to roast pigs besides this. Thereafter they roasted their pork decently and in order, and kept their houses to live in.

Up till that time they hadn't shown very good sense, had they? And yet there is one particular in which the American people have shown as little. There is a very clear parallel between the policy of burning down a home to roast a meal of pork and the policy of stimulating industries by a prohibitive tariff which places the masses of the people at the mercy of a greedy and powerful few.

The discovery that domestic industries might be fostered by import duties that shut out foreign competition was very like the discovery that delicious roast pig could be had by driving the pig into the house and burning the home. The object of the tariff, of course, was to prevent people from buying foreign-made goods and to force them to buy home-made goods. When the industries thus fostered got on their feet and were operating profitably, they still had the tariff tax added to their ordinary profits, so they quickly waxed fat and saucy and hungry—the more they got the more they wanted. Finding competition among themselves, they wisely got together and stopped that. Then they had things all their own way, and they ran riot over a prostrate people. If there was talk of lowering the tariff just enough to let foreign goods in on a level that would force domestic protected goods down to a fair basis, these industries cried out in horror that they would be ruined, and that labor would be given a deadly hurt. So the people, out of consideration for industry and labor, kept their hands off, and presently there grew up an arrogant race of plutocrats, houses of great wealth founded on tariff special privileges, together with great misery and much poverty and suffering.

For you see this great congested wealth wasn't magically created out of the air. Somebody had to provide it, and those who provided it were the people who had created the tariff system that made them provide it. For the pleasure of seeing industry thrive this people had impoverished itself, just as the Chinaman burned down his house that he might have the pleasure of eating roast pig.

The difference is that the Chinese finally found out that there were other ways of doing it.

HELP THE PLAYGROUNDS.

At a meeting of the Playgrounds association yesterday it was developed that the playground work of the coming summer will be hampered seriously for lack of funds unless generous and public-spirited citizens come to the rescue. Doubtless the need of funds will be promptly met, for there has come to the people of this city a realization of the value of the playground movement. Public playgrounds provide safe, wholesome and healthful breathing spots and play places for the children, and without them the children are forced to the unsafe, unwholesome and unhealthful alternative of the streets.

This is an expense which might very properly be borne by the city, but until the city treasury is in shape to care for it upon a properly elaborate scale, the work will have to depend upon public contributions. It is estimated that $1,000 will open three suitable playgrounds in as many parts of the city, and there should be no difficulty in raising this sum. The association may be depended upon to use the money wisely and to the best possible advantage, and the dividends in youthful health and pleasure and safety which the community will reap will be ridiculously out of the proportion to the expense.

An excellent start was made in this work last year, and it would be a pity to let the initial efforts go to waste for lack of proper consideration on the part of the public. The Playground association is in active and energetic hands, however, and there is small likelihood of that if the public responds properly to the appeal for contributions. A thousand men giving a dollar apiece would make ample provision, and it ought to be easy to find the thousand.

The tariff farce isn't a bit funny.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Stripping in the Hibbing district is going on very rapidly at the present time, and within the next few weeks an immense quantity of ore will be taken from the Mahoning mine, according to T. H. Sheppard, who was at the Spalding last evening.

"There has been an unusual amount of stripping done this early spring and winter," says Mr. Sheppard. "Much of the ore that has been uncovered during the past three months is now ready for shipment. There is any quantity of ore ready for shipment from the Hibbing mines.

"There is little question but that the present season will be a very heavy one, if conditions should only right themselves before the middle of June. The present tariff tinkering and the refusal of general business to open up until the manufacturers of the country feel that the tariff question is settled, is one of the obstacles in the way of a general prosperity. Up in the iron country it is very quiet at the present time. A well known mining man at Virginia informed me the other day that unless conditions showed some improvement within a month, he would look for a very quiet season upon the range.

"Personally, I am of the opinion that it is the next month that will decide the business prosperity of the present season upon the Minnesota ranges. Congress is generally expected to adjourn some time during the next month, although there has been some talk that it will continue to hold sessions until well along in July. Until some disposition is made of the tariff question, business will be held up.

"The general conditions over the country are very much better than they were a year ago. I was in Cleveland and Pittsburg a month ago. The outlook in both cities was very good. There was the opinion in iron circles that the present season would see an increase in the demand for iron and steel. So far this season this prediction has not been borne out. Construction work upon American railroads is going very slowly at the present time. The demand for steel cars has shown an increase, and there is the prospect that some construction will be done this summer. American manufacturers have sold quite a lot of steel, however, to the Canadian railroads.

"Three railroads in Canada, the Grand Trunk Pacific, The Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern, will push construction work this year. All three of the roads have given a number of orders for steel rails to American manufacturers.

"The prospects are rather peculiar. If the tariff should be settled the way the business interests want it settled, I am of the opinion that you will find that business all over the country will increase, and that the demand for iron will show a very heavy increase. But if congress should fail to fix some of the tariff schedules to the satisfaction of the business interests, I am afraid that the present season will be a light one. However, at the worst it cannot be very much lighter than last season for the simple reason that there is a certain demand for iron and steel that must be filled, no matter what dissatisfaction there is over the tariff. Looking upon the brighter side, however, I am of opinion that within a month you will find that the ore shipments from the range mines will be much heavier than they were at a corresponding time a year ago."

Alex McDonnel of Cloquet, a lumberman, says that the lumber business, like many other lines of business, is waiting just at the present time. Mr. McDonnel attributes the quietness to the tariff. He says lumbermen are not buying ahead, and that the American lumber market is playing very close to immediate demands. In other words, Mr. McDonnel says that the only orders that are filled are orders for immediate delivery. There is no future buying, no speculation.

P. H. Burnham, the new assistant freight agent of the Great Northern railway, before coming to St. Paul, was stationed at Grand Forks, B. C. According to Mr. Burnham, there is somewhat of an abatement of the fierce race feeling that prevailed in British Columbia, something over a year and a half ago. At that time fierce demonstration broke out against the Japanese. Though Mr. Burnham was somewhat removed from the scene of trouble, it was watched with much interest in all parts of the province. There is still a resentment against the cheaper class of alien labor upon the Canadian coast, according to Mr. Burnham, but the signing of the treaty between the United States and Japan, whereby the latter nation agreed to restrict the immigration to this country, has, Mr. Burnham says, had the result of also restricting the immigration of the Japs to Canada. The habit seems to have stopped, and with the decrease in the coming of the Japanese there has been an abatement of the fierce anti-race feeling.

THE WEATHER.

This morning broke beautiful and warm, in spite of the threatened northeaster yesterday. The weather man looks for partly cloudy weather tonight, with little change in temperature.

A year ago today Duluth was enjoying beautiful summer weather.

The sun rose this morning at 4:27 and will set this afternoon at 7:41, making fifteen hours and fourteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the past twenty-four hours light to copious rains fell throughout Oregon, Washington, Alberta, Montana, the Dakotas, Southern Minnesota, Eastern Nebraska, Eastern Kansas, Western Missouri, Arkansas, Western Tennessee and Gulf states, due to slight barometric disturbances central over British Columbia, Arizona and Louisiana. The barometer remains high over the lake region and the Rocky mountain plateau. Freezing temperature continues in Western Montana, Wyoming and Southern Utah. A continuance of partly cloudy weather and northeasterly winds may be expected at the Head of the Lakes tonight and Thursday, attending the present distribution of barometric pressure."

The Broke Brigade.

When the last string snaps and a man goes broke,
He turns to the woods or the sea,
He cuts clean loose from the home-bred folk,
While love and honor go up in smoke,
And life is a gamble and death is a joke,
And the universe good to see.

There's the brown and the gloom of the forest track,
Where the deer go ghostly by;
There's the moosehide lodge and the trapper's shack,
The starving camp and the dead-weight pack,
And the wolf's wild life in the pine woods black,
And the freedom of the sky.

There's the plunging deck and the jarring screw,
And the oilskins wet with foam,
The topsails drenched with the Gulf Stream's dew,
The stockhole's blaze and its naked crew,
And the endless look of the landless blue,
Where a man forgets his home.

We know them, my friends of the broke brigade,
Pals of the plain and the sea,
Single-handed and unafraid,
The artists of life but the fools of trade,
We think we know how the game is played,
And we know where it's best to be.

There are some who will wait and pray for us,
There is love that will never stay for us,
But the winds and the waves will make way for us,
When the broke brigade goes free.

Helping the Halt.

Bremen (Ga.) Gateway: A certain informed bachelor, one of those the Gateway succeeded in getting on the list during leap year, tells of one of the boys who, after attending a farewell bachelor supper, meandered home in a muddled state late one Saturday night, or rather Sunday morning, and, getting as far as the entrance of his rooming house, he sat down on the stone steps, his hat fell off on his knees and with head bowed down he slumbered peacefully. He awoke about 9 o'clock and found 24 cents in his hat. Charitably inclined early church-goers had mistaken him for a beggar and dropped their pennies into his upturned hat.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

John Birkenbine, the noted mining engineer and expert, arrived in Duluth last night to look up matters connected with the Duluth Iron & Steel works, of which he is consulting engineer. He expects every detail of the blast furnace will be settled before he returns East. He said: "My faith in Duluth as a point for manufacturing iron and steel is not weakened. The more I know of Duluth the better I am satisfied of this."

At the call of the village council of Park Point, a mass meeting was held at the schoolhouse last evening to decide what should be done in regard to being annexed to Duluth. It was called to order by President Gallagher. Mr. Faulkner was chosen chairman and E. S. Spink secretary. The feeling of the meeting was unanimous against coming into the city of Duluth, unless a bridge and free crossing over the canal were guaranteed.

An effort will be made to induce the park commissioners to locate a park along the lake shore in the East end.

James Pierce has secured the contract for building the Wieland block.

It is stated in St. Paul that Duluth has been selected by Archbishop Ireland as the site of the new suffragan see. The ultimate cost of the buildings included in the bishopric will be over $100,000 and a considerable amount of this has already been subscribed.

Mayor Sutphin is still most seriously ill, and his physicians are much alarmed about his condition.

Capt. J. H. Triggs is out again, after a long and severe illness.

The railroad and warehouse commissioners have granted authority to the Duluth & Winnipeg Railroad company to increase its capital stock to $8,750,000.

At a caucus for nominating officers of the newly organized town of Lakeside, the following were put in nomination: President, W. C. Sargent; recorder, C. F. West; trustees, F. A. Fenton, H. M. Myers and E. C. Little; treasurer, Frank Blackmarr; justices of the peace, Edgar Brown and George Hawkesworth; constables, E. C. Ward and John Hicken.

It is probable that John C. Hunter and family will leave in a short time for a long visit in the North of Scotland and other parts of Europe.

May 29 is the date set for the arrival in Duluth of Miss Mabel Jenness, who has been engaged to give the ladies a course of lectures on physical culture.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst, late of Fergus Falls, have arrived in Duluth and will locate here. Mr. Brocklehurst was a resident of Duluth in the early days.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Madison Independent Press: Isn't it about time for Mr. Taft to try what effect that smile of his would have on the trust animals who are so ruthlessly trampling under foot any consideration of the rights of the consumer in the pending tariff legislation? It does seem as though a jolt from the White House is needed to remind the Republicans that upon the results of their labors hinges the question of whether or not a Democrat shall succeed Taft in 1913. There is no use in making matters. Party pledges must be kept or the party will meet disaster.

Elk River Star-News: If the new tariff law is along the line which the interests are working for there will be a big grist of ex-congressmen from the West.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: There are many ways of gaining wealth. You can spend less than you earn, rob a bank or get elected a member of the Rhode Island legislature when Aldrich is a candidate for re-election.

Monticello Times: The Republican party of the state of Minnesota has declared over and over again that the people of this state should elect the United States senator. But, as we have often said, platforms are made to deceive the people. The politicians do not and will not, so far as it is possible, allow the people any privileges. The late Republican legislature repudiated its party platform by a very decisive vote, and will continue to do so as long as the people are so indifferent. We all know a Democrat or Republican partisan votes his ticket anyhow, and that there isn't enough men yet of independent thought and mind to do otherwise. When there is, better things are in store.

Mora Times: The attorney general will soon start a suit to test the constitutionality of the law passed at the last session of the legislature, vesting all iron ore under meandered lakes in the state of Minnesota. If this law can be made to hold the state will undoubtedly be richer by several million dollars, as many of the lakes on the iron ranges have ore underneath their beds.

Princeton Union: There is no question that public sentiment in this state strongly favors a downward revision of the tariff. Senators Nelson and Clapp know what is expected of them. The fight for real tariff revision must be in dead earnest.

Anoka Free Press: It is to be noticed that many Republican papers which have heretofore been opposed to R. C. Dunn for governor are now either openly commending him for the place or admitting that his election to the office is the only thing that can unite the Republican party sufficiently to make the election of a Republican governor possible. Meanwhile "Bob" himself isn't saying anything, but we imagine he has his ear pretty close to the ground just the same, and we may confidently look for something doing in the camp of his friends in about a year from now.

Lake Crystal Union: The Republican party of Minnesota has suffered defeat so many times that the old loyal boys have about despaired of ever regaining state control. The rings and corporations have us in bondage.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: During the campaign of last fall the range country was filled with little hand cards, issued out of Republican headquarters, bearing the following: "Vote no on Amendment No. 1; it provides for a tonnage tax. And to make sure the tonnage tax is killed vote for J. F. Jacobson for governor." Amendment No. 1 was defeated according to instructions, but the voters refused to follow the balance of instructions and elected John A. Johnson, a Democrat, as governor, and the wisdom of the act is now apparent. However, a Republican legislature was elected and the tonnage tax was passed by both houses and would have become a law had it not been vetoed by the very man those opposed to the tonnage tax tried to defeat. The lesson is that the Republicans were playing politics, pure and simple, and the governor came out as a man above his political affiliations. There is some iron in that tonnage tax proposition, even if it was defeated.

Puck: Two boys, John and James, were equally taught that it was more blessed to give than to receive. But John didn't believe it. Years passed, however, the boys grew up, and John fell into evil ways, being, in fact, elected alderman from his ward. As such he received a bribe.

And curiously enough, it was by none other than James that the bribe was given.

But while John went to prison for a long term of years, James remained superintendent of his Sabbath school, and was looked upon as a godly man.

"It is indeed more blessed to give than to receive!" exclaimed John, convicted.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ORE TRAINS QUITE BUSY

Twenty-Five Run Out of Two Harbors Yards Tuesday.

Many Mines Are Now Shipping Ore Through Nearby Port.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ore business is gradually on the increase, there being twenty-five ore trains run out of the yards here yesterday and twenty crews are in the ore service.

The mines now shipping through this port are the Duluth, Gilbert, Pioneer, Zenith, Sibley, Savoy, Minnesota, Fayal, Adams and Spruce of the Steel corporation, and the Franklin, Victoria, Bessemer, Yawkey, Elba, Kellogg, La Belle, Larkins, Malta, Miller, Minorca, Mohawk, Mariska, Pettit, Adriatic, which are independents. The Mariska, Pettit, Yawkey and Minnesota mines commenced shipments this week.

The Lake County Lumber company now have their mill at Stewart again sawing after a short shutdown for repairs.

The steamer Fryer is due here for a load of lumber from the Ely mills.

The barge Reddington is now at the docks taking on a load.

The iron range extra gang is at work putting in two long sidings in the yards at Pettit, for handling the output from the Gilbert mine, which is to be increased this year.

The Oliver Iron Mining company has a force at work loading logs from the Chapuel river at Brimson for shipment to the mines on the Mesaba range.

The ballasting of the tracks at the Kellogg mine has been completed, and the ballasting of the Knox mine tracks at Mesaba is under way. The Knox company is installing new machinery for hoisting, etc., and will probably not get out much ore until late in the summer. The property adjoins the Adriatic property, and is about three miles northwest from Mesaba station.

The Duluth & Iron Range has surveyed for the tracks to the Schley mine at Pettit, and grading will be done later on. The Schley mine adjoins the Hebart and Gilbert mines, and is expected to develop into a big mine.

The steamer Marifana is discharging a cargo of coal at the local dock, same being forwarded to the mines up the line.

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR WATER TANK

Important Piece of Eveleth Work Long Held Up, to Proceed.

Eveleth, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The council last night instructed the mayor and city clerk to sign the contract for the erection of the 300,000-gallon water tank and connecting pipe lines. The contract is close to $26,000. The matter has been hanging fire for six weeks because of delay in receiving the lease for the right-of-way. The contractors, Pastoret & Lawrence, have been given until Oct. 31 to complete the work instead of July 31. The form of contract and bond of $30,000 for the work was read and approved. The Chicago Bridge & Iron company refused to go ahead making designs for the tank until the contract would be signed.

Estimates were received from the city engineer on the different kinds of paving that can be used on Grant avenue. The estimate for creosote blocks was $35,776.25, for brick, $25,000; for tar macadam with crushed rock base, $20,576; tar macadam with concrete base, $23,000; for Telford, $19,000. Nothing was done about the matter.

Estimates were also received from the engineer on the cement sidewalks that have been ordered laid on three streets. The total was $9,917.64. The water works superintendent was instructed to rebuild the water main on Hayes street crossing Grant avenue, to be ready for the paving over that street. A petition was received from forty-one property owners, a majority of those on Grant avenue, favoring paving this summer.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for a sprinkling cart.

Permits for the moving of buildings were granted to M. Feltman and M. Shapiro, one to move a two-story business store and the other a residence to lots situated together on Grant avenue, near the More hospital.

The matter of getting a sewer on Douglas avenue, money for which is now in the treasury, after a lengthy discussion was referred to the sewer committee and city engineer.

Supt. C. Vandell of the water works recommended placing a water meter at the Spruce mine, but a test was advised before definite action should be taken.

As the plans and specifications for the cement sidewalks were not on hand last night, and as the work will have to be done soon, the council adjourned until Thursday evening, when the specifications will be ready.

Moving Sparta Houses.

Sparta, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—So far there are sixty-two houses contracted for to be moved from the townsite of Sparta, and the housemovers are reaping a harvest. The most of them will be moved to Gilbert, a distance of two miles. The Jutin & Carlson block, one of the largest buildings, will cost $1,500 to place on its new location.

SAYERS DENIES THAT HE'S DEAD

Man Reported Drowned Returns to Virginia, Surprising Friends.

Virginia, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Sayers, whose death was persistently reported in Virginia, is very much alive.

He wandered into the city yesterday and had a chance to read his own obituary. After considering the matter in all its phases, he declared that the report was greatly exaggerated. Sayers was reported to have been drowned by falling from a log during the drive in the Bear river, some miles north of Virginia. How the report started, nobody knows. A man is missing from one of the Bear river camps, whether drowned or merely departed is not known, and it is surmised Sayers was confused with him by whoever started the story of Sayers' death.

VIRGINIA PLANS DOING SOME WORK

Without Waiting for Charter Will Start Some Paving.

Virginia, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council did little but talk over things last night. The improvement of the streets, the purchase of a road roller, the location of a posthouse, the handling of garbage, and several other minor matters were discussed, with definite action on few.

Though the proposed new city charter, to be voted on June 1, changes the methods of ordering and assessing for street improvements, the council doesn't intend to let everything slide this year. In anticipation of the adoption of the charter, the city engineer was authorized to prepare plans, specifications and estimates of cost of the pavement of Mesaba, Wyoming and Cleveland avenues for a distance of one block north and south of Chestnut street, which is already paved. If adopted, the charter will not become effective until July 1, but the plans will be ready so that the council may go ahead at that time.

Action on the purchase of a road roller was deferred for one week. Bids have already been received on steam rollers, but a gasoline roller company has entered the field and there was some question of advertising for bids on steam and gasoline rollers. Some of the aldermen object to the delay and the matter will be settled next week.

TWO CHISHOLM WEDDINGS.

Former Duluth Woman Is Married to a Contractor.

Chisholm, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Anna Olson, formerly of Duluth, and Frederick Fuller, a contractor, were married Monday by Rev. C. P. Keast.

Rev. C. P. Keast Monday evening solemnized the marriage of Guy R. Wallace, a bookkeeper for the Oliver Mining company at Hibbing, and Miss M. Kinney, niece of Mrs. O. D. Hake of the Shenango location. The affair took place in the Shenango boarding house, which was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Miss Luella Hake and Chelse Wallace were bridesmaid and best man respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will make their home at Hibbing after a brief wedding trip.

The village council building committee awarded the contract for wiring the new city hall to the Hartley Electrical company of Superior and the heating and plumbing contract was given to A. C. Schirmer & Co. of Chisholm, both firms being the lowest bidders.

Rev. C. W. B. Ellis, conference evangelist of the Northern Minnesota conference of the Methodist church, is assisting Rev. C. P. Keast in special evangelistic services in the local Methodist church. Services will be held every evening for two weeks.

CHINAMAN PLEADS GUILTY.

He pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs. Young is a Chinaman. His place has acquired an unsavory reputation of late, and he was given a taste of the law in the hope that it might be reformed.

TO INSTALL NEW CABLE.

Mesaba Telephone Company Will Make Improvements in Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the demand for telephones from the residents in the southern part of town, the Mesaba Telephone company finds it necessary to install a new 200-pair cable. This, in addition to the 150-pair cable which the company installed last year in the southern part of the city, will be sufficient to accommodate all. The new wire will be run down as far as Garfield street, between Third and Fourth avenues, at a cost of about $9,000. The local switchboard will also be enlarged, so that the new subscribers will not be subject to any great delay. The new wire will be installed as soon as the linemen finish the work of stringing the new wire to Nashwauk.

NEPHEW OF VAN SANT PLACED UNDER ARREST.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 19.—Blaine Taylor, 26 years of age, an attorney, son of the late T. B. Taylor, a capitalist and nephew of Former governor Van Sant, was arrested last night on charges of having passed fictitious checks and forged others to the amount of nearly $8,000. Taylor denies the amount of money he has obtained is anything like the sum charged, and states $80 or $100 will cover the entire amount.

istry at the London Polytechnic college in the fall of 1896," he said: "I have scoured this country and England for a talented wife who spurned life with a scientific husband and sought a gayer existence on this side of the Atlantic.

"I have traveled from coast to coast. I have wandered through the streets of almost every American metropolis in search of the woman who deserted my home that I might induce her to return to me. Time and again I have thought I had found her. I have accosted many women on the streets, in public halls and at the theater, thinking that each was she. Three times I was arrested by the police of New York for accosting women. In all my travels my chief aim has been to find her, and so far I have been unsuccessful.

Exposed Food Frauds.

"The world and its people don't appreciate a man—particularly a scientific man. I have unearthed and exposed scores of frauds in the manufacture of drugs and beverages, and my work has saved millions of dollars for people and hundreds of lives.

"At Sioux City, Iowa, in 1901 I wrote a series of newspaper articles under the caption, 'Confessions of an Adulterer.' These caused a sensation, started the movement for pure food laws in that state and eventually brought the federal pure food act of 1906.

"There are 1,200 manufacturers in this country who make bogus products and put them on the market. I have analyzed a majority of the drug and liquor products on the American market, and have in my hip pocket a little notebook where the secret of their manufacture is contained. I believe I am the only chemist in the world today who can analyze food and drink products and tell of what they are made."

Makes Many Rich.

"I discovered a process for manufacture of coal by artificial means. I have made diamonds by oxidation. Many of my secrets I have sold and others I have given away. Many men who are now worth between $250,000 and $1,000,000 have made their money from my secrets.

"Recently I have unearthed a process by which beer can be manufactured with all the taste of the real hop product, but containing less than 1 per cent of alcohol.

"Soft drinks, I can safely say, after years of rigid study, are a more fruitful cause of disease than poor whisky. Salt, too, is responsible for 95 per cent of the stomach ailments of the American people. They use too much of it."

Prof. Bashford claims that twenty years ago, upon one of his visits to this country, he made the declaration that natural gas and petroleum existed in parts of Texas, and that at the same time he exposed the shale fraud in Kansas.

JURY HANDS IN VERDICT

Oscar Nelson Met Death at Hands of Unknown Man.

No Special Developments in Superior Murder Mystery.

The coroner's jury sitting in the Oscar Nelson murder case in Superior, yesterday rendered a verdict to the effect that young Nelson, who was found dead near Itasca last Friday evening, came to his death from bullet wounds inflicted by some unknown person or persons. The jury recommended that county and state officials offer a reward for the arrest of the guilty man or men.

Nothing new was brought out at the inquest, which was held at Le Sage's undertaking rooms. The jury consisted of C. W. Buckman, J. C. Crowley, Jr., D. H. Kennedy, A. W. Lindstrom, Michael Lynch and O. H. Helme. S. A. Nelson, father of the murdered youth, told how he reached the scene of the murder just as the body was being placed on a handcar by Coroner Giesen and Undertaker Le Sage.

Leonard Nelson, the 9-year-old brother of the deceased, told in a straightforward manner, of how he and his younger sister, Tyra, found the body. It was about 5 o'clock, he said, when they caught sight of the body in the ditch. At first they thought it was a tramp, asleep. As they drew closer they recognized the clothing of their brother, and, on a still closer inspection, recognized the blood-covered face. Then they ran back home and told their mother what they had seen.

Coroner Giesen told of going to the scene, of the location of the body, position of the wounds, and gave other details along the same line. He related how he found three empty cartridges on the track, about twenty-five feet from the pool of blood, where the boy had evidently fallen first. He described the trail in the sand, leading from the blood on the track to the ditch.

The police are still actively at work on the case, but no more arrests have been made. They say there may be something of importance turn up in relation to the case before the end of the week.

BRILLIANT DISPLAY.

Great Yellow Curtains of the Aurora Illuminate the Heavens.

Duluthians last evening witnessed one of the most beautiful displays of the aurora borealis or "northern lights" that has been seen in many months. The entire northeastern sky seemed to be draped with bright yellow curtains, constantly shifting and changing as if gently blown by the wind.

100 Years Hence

No More Drudgery — Just Live To Enjoy Yourselves.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox believes in a hundred years all drudgery will be done by machinery. We will fly through the air on the wings of the wind and have time to see and enjoy all the wonders of the world and perhaps of the heavens which are now sealed books to the majority because of the eternal grind of every day life.

Look back 100 years and the changes made seem just as great. What we wear, how we travel, how we communicate, what we eat, sensible clothes, vehicles speedy and comfortable, wireless telegraphs, telephones, fast trains and mail steamers, and healthful foods.

Today instead of loading our stomachs with heavy, greasy breakfasts, that dull the brain and retard our morning's work, we eat delicious E-C Corn Flakes or Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes, made by the famous Egg-O-See process that insures perfect digestion, high nutrition and greater strength.

Always ready to serve, good for babes, best for invalids—the sensible breakfast for the business man or the busy, energetic housewife. Remember it's the Egg-O-See process that makes the flakes so crisp and delicious.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The Twentieth Century club, through its interest in providing apple trees at a nominal price to the school children of Duluth, is doing its share in providing a more beautiful Duluth, at least for the future, and is doing much at the present time to arouse the interest of the children in the growing possibilities of the country close at hand.

The trees and shrubs which were ordered by the children are expected to arrive today and will be delivered tomorrow to the schools and on the following day a grand planting festival will be observed throughout the city.

More than 1,000 trees were ordered by the Duluth school children and it will be of interest to see the localities in which the interest is most keen. The Franklin school ordered 123 trees; Washburn, 109; Lester Park, 94; Irving, 65; Adams, 77; Lincoln, 122; Smithville, 53; Bryant, 47; Endion, 155; Emerson, 49; Jefferson, 88; Glover, 32; Monroe, 65; Lowell, 52; Nettleton, 31; Fairmont, 57; Horace Mann, 62; Longfellow, 71; Madison, 7; Ely, 161; Jackson, 126, and Webster, 3.

With each tree there is a printed circular with the most careful instruction for planting, and the result of this movement will be apparent in a more beautiful city in a very few years.

CONTROL WITH LOVE.

True Discipline Should Be For Self Control.

All true discipline comes from within. In the case of intelligent beings. Punishment for a specific act simply makes the child fear to repeat that act; but he does not necessarily understand the principle involved in it, and he may go and transgress the same moral law again, but in a wholly different manner, says the Cooking Club magazine. Train the child to reason always and through love rather than passion or prejudice. If a conflict comes between his will and yours make sure that you are wholly right and he wholly wrong before you demand of him a yielding which you would not like to have enforced against your will. If you refuse a child's wish, tell him why you do so if you possibly can; and there is generally a way to explain to him so he can understand, even though, from pride of spirit he may for the moment, keep up a pretense of resistance. Let him see that you respect his judgment and dignity whenever he is right and he will be more willing to accept yours when he is wrong.

It is not best to think too much of the debt that you may be piling up against your children; in reality you are merely passing into their lives a reserve deposit which probably came to you in some form from your parents, and which in turn will be paid over to generations to come. As your child grows older tell him some of your cares and hopes, and thus you will find him giving you his confidence, even about matters which young people usually reserve for each other. Never ridicule his plans when they come from a warm heart, however absurd they may be; there will be time enough to show him his unwisdom without discouraging him at once. Ask your children about matters which they have recently learned, and of which they may be better informed than yourself. They soon acquire the ability to teach, while you will never become too wise to learn. It is not such a bad thing to let a child lead you; he may through his uncloyed senses, bring you new visions of beauty.

GRADUATION DRESSES.

Lingerie Frocks of Lawn Most Suitable.

The graduation frocks of the year, whether for grammar and high schools or for college, will all practically be of the princess shape, and a host of lingerie ones will be seen.

For grammar and high school there is nothing so suitable as a fine lawn or mull, with lace and needlework, for a young girl.

But many a girl will overrule her sensible mother and wear silk gauzes or even silky, opaque materials.

Crepe de chine and chiffon cloth are perennial favorites.

Silk cashmere will be extensively used this year.

So, too, will the new thin silk ottoman, which has the large cord of the old and thicker weave.

The returned crepe cloth of thin, almost gauzy texture is a practical material for such gowns. It is fine and clinging and lends itself to elaboration.

TOURISTS' TROUBLES.

Phrase-books Provide No Necessary Phases.

We were in the customs house on the Spanish frontier at 2 o'clock in the morning, says M. Landon Reed in the Delineator. I heard an angry exclamation in English. Though an oath is not the customary form of introduction, it aroused my attention and sympathy.

"Can I help you?" I asked of the Englishman who stood before two gesticulating Spanish officials.

"Yes, if you can speak this confounded language! How do you say in Spanish, 'Where is my other trunk?'"

"Donde esta el otro baul," I replied.

"Well, why on earth," answered the Englishman, "don't they put that in a phrase book? Here's 'How is your wife,' and 'Do you think it will rain?' and 'Have you read Don Quixote?' The traveler wants to talk about his luggage!"

It is this inability to make himself understood that causes most of the traveler's troubles. We unto the person who sallies forth for foreign lands believing in the popular delusion that English is spoken everywhere. He will have reason to stand aghast at his first sight of the Tower of Babel. And, if not a pious traveler, he will be sometimes tempted to profanity mentally, or even orally, like the Englishman at the Spanish frontier. When I started to see the great world I had an English dictionary in my trunk and somebody's System of Spanish in my satchel. I saw the great world, but I did not converse with it.

At first I insisted upon talking English. "Why," I said to myself, "should these people not understand me? Why should the Frenchman say 'Bon jour,' the German 'Guten morgen,' the Spaniard 'Buenos dias,' the Arab 'Ondhorna?'" I even raised my voice as if to impress my meaning upon the mind of the unoffending foreigner. I betook myself to the deceptive phrase book. But after a few days I consigned that to the flames. The idea of a free-born American citizen spelling words out of a little red book, while a courteous French waiter posed near, was humiliating. I simply ate everything on the bill of fare as it was placed before me, and I did not ask for water. That is an infallible indication of a cultured traveler. Once in Spain I forgot, and directed Pepe to bring me a vaso de agua. "Agua caliente?" he inquired. "No, agua frio," I said. When he returned he had a glass of water, two lumps of sugar, a teaspoon and a saucer.

Household Helps.

If you wish to write or sew, and have no convenient table in your tiny hall bedroom, have a board of convenient size, pull out a dresser drawer, place the board on top, and you have a table without having to remove everything from the dresser. A heavy board would be necessary, and a leaf from an extension table would be just the proper thing, and I could be hidden in the drawer when not in use. The girl who lives a hall bedroom existence can think of more plans to actually live in a little room than a man could plan on a ten-acre field with a palatial residence, says an exchange.

On a busy day, when the iron-stand was nowhere to be found, we hastily placed a block of wood in its stead. The result was unexpected, for the iron kept hot nearly twice as long. The block retained the heat, while the openwork iron-stand allowed it to escape. We then tried a heated brick, and found it better than the block. Just try it, and save fuel and half the steps to and from the stove for fresh irons.

The reason some do not have good success in keeping ice is because they keep their storage house too light. There must be plenty of air circulating over the top of the ice to carry away the moisture, for if moisture is confined in the house it will be a detriment to the ice.

By making tiny loops in the end of the dress shields and stitching narrow white wash ribbon in the lingerie sleeves, shields can be quickly adjusted and there is no metalic arrangement to rust the goods.

One often wants a particularly fresh shirtwaist for an unexpected occasion. I learned from a laundress that I need not wait for the customary drying process after the waist is washed. It can be rinsed, dipped in thin cold starch, wrapped in a towel, and put through a mangle or a common clotheswringer, and ironed at once. The starch will not stick, and the result is entirely satisfactory.

Cotton Negligee.

No, it is not her nightgown that milady is wearing to an early breakfast. Neither is it her sleeping apparel that she dons when she prepares for a restful afternoon in the quiet of her own bedroom. It is her new negligee, says an exchange.

These spring garments are of the finest and sheerest white muslin trimmed with rows of wide embroidery, made with Dutch neck and wide elbow sleeves and caught together in the front and at the waistline with pink or blue ribbon.

They are so much prettier than the mussy, although possibly very expensive kimonos, and at the same time so much cheaper and more serviceable than the elaborate "matinee" or tea gown.

They really look very sweet and dainty in the morning and are cool and comfortable for the afternoon nap.

They wash beautifully, which is more than can be said of the colored muslins; those always fade.

THE EVENING STORY

MISS LONNIE'S HAT

By Raymond Maxwell.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

Miss Lonnie was hovering on the confines of middle age and she was torn between the desire to look as young as she could and the fear of ridicule. Now every woman past 18 knows that when one of the sisterhood "goes into bonnets" that she forever renounces all claims to youth and if she be a spinster it is the same as an avowal that she has laid her hopes of matrimony away with the old hats.

So it was that Miss Lonnie had a heavy heart that spring morning when she decided that she must have something new with which to cover her head before another Sunday. Even in her own mind she was resolved not to name the new head covering until she had come to a decision. Her married sister, with whom she lived, had worn bonnets for ten years. When Miss Lonnie appealed to her she rocked hard in the effort to decide the question.

"Well," she said at last, "I guess you better get a bonnet this time, for then it will do for two seasons and taxes are high this year and they'll be higher yet next year if they keep putting new cupolas and fandangoes on that courthouse. You can't stay out of bonnets much longer, anyhow."

"I suppose that's so," Miss Lonnie admitted, "but if I could have afforded it I would have liked to have kept out of them one more season—they are so sort of—well, so old womanish."

"Well, you aren't a very young woman," her sister replied, with the candor of the near relative.

Miss Lonnie sighed, and in a few minutes started down the street towards Mrs. Carnegie's "Millinery Emporium." Mrs. Carnegie laid down the shape she was covering with white tulle and went forth to greet her customer. Miss Lonnie had barely time to announce that she had dropped in to see the spring styles when somebody behind her said:

"Hello, buying a new bonnet?"

Miss Lonnie wheeled and Mrs. Carnegie laughed. "What are you doing in my shop, Mr. Latham?"

"Just saw Miss Lonnie coming in and thought I would help her pick out a bonnet," the unblushing Latham responded.

Really this Mr. Latham was very forward. He had only lived in Shrewsbury a scant year and Miss Lonnie had not met him more than three dozen times all told, yet here he was assuming that he could help her in this delicate matter. But she remembered that he was a widower and they are ever reputed to be forward with women.

"That's a pretty bonnet over there," Mr. Latham said, advancing on a black hat on which the feathers were plied high and where silver buckles gleamed coquettishly in nests of lace. "Try that on, Miss Lonnie." And before either she or Mrs. Carnegie could stay his hand he had plucked it from a black walnut knob. He set it on Miss Lonnie's little brown head and stood off to survey the effect. Mrs. Carnegie gave it a twitch and a pull. "That's the very thing for you," Mr. Latham announced in his big voice. "You look as pretty as a pink in it, doesn't she, Mrs. Carnegie?"

Mrs. Carnegie admitted it. In truth Miss Lonnie was pretty always in her gentle way, but she was not used to having compliments fired at her in this offhand way and she protested: "It's too young for me. I came here expecting to buy a bonnet. I think a bonnet would be much more suitable to—" she had intended to say "to a woman of my age," but she lacked the courage.

"Nonsense, isn't that a bonnet?" Mr. Latham inquired, for he had a man's usual habit of lumping all women's headgear under this term. Mrs. Carnegie explained the difference between hats and bonnets and Miss Lonnie went to the black walnut hat tree—which must have been grafted, for all sorts of head covering grew on its bare limbs—and picked off a very serious looking bonnet with weepers of black net hanging back of the ears. A funeral plume waved sadly in front of jet roses.

Miss Lonnie put it on with the air of doing a virtuous act. "I think that this would be more suitable for me, don't you Mrs. Carnegie?"

"Well, it does look well," Mrs. Carnegie said, for she never admitted that any of her creations were not becoming to all customers, "but I think I rather favor the feather hat."

"Of course you do," Mr. Latham interposed, "this bonnet looks as if it was trimmed with the plumes off of Gardner's old hearse."

"Well, perhaps I could wear a touch of color," Miss Louise said, "but I don't want anything too young." She glanced appealingly at Mr. Latham as if she hoped he would contradict this statement.

And he did. "Too young. Well, when you get to my age you'll want to get young things. I was 55 last Monday and I haven't gone into bonnets yet. I guess you'd better take that hat, Miss Lonnie, or it will be gobbled up by somebody else. I'll carry the box home for you."

Miss Lonnie had not the slightest intention of buying tht frivolous hat, which would never outlast a single season—and taxes were so high now that one must thing of those things—but almost before she knew it she, the feathered hat and Mr. Latham were going up the street together and Mrs. Carnegie had gone back to her trimming.

Mr. Latham swung the bandbox in a careless way which sent cold shivers down her spine, but she enjoyed herself even thus. When they came to a mud puddle he told her not to get her feet wet, quite as if she had been a child. Indeed, Mr. Latham seemed to regard her as even ridiculously young, although Miss Lonnie was used to being treated as one who verges on middle age. But then he was a good sixteen years older than she was after all.

When they reached her gate he said he believed he would go in and rest on the front porch awhile. He sat down on the step and Miss Lonnie sat up very straight in a rustic chair. Now that she was at home again she began to feel that she had been a foolish virgin to buy that hat. She looked so troubled that Mr. Latham asked her what the matter was.

"I don't think I ought to have taken this hat," she said. Then in a burst of confidence she went on:

"This morning sister and I were talking it over and we both concluded that I had better go into bonnets. They don't change shape so much as hats—and taxes are so high—and—well, I'm quite a ways past 30—quite an old maid, you know, and I'm afraid folks will think I'm trying to look young and—and—"

"What do you care?" Mr. Latham asked.

Miss Lonnie tried to explain to him the social code of Shrewsbury and that she was almost afraid that her hat would be called "bridy" by the mothers of the town.

"Is it very bad to have things look 'bridy?'" Mr. Latham asked, with great interest.

Miss Lonnie answered that "bridy" things were only suitable to brides.

"Well, then, why not be a bride, Miss Lonnie? Mr. Latham took tight hold of her hand in full view of Mrs. Curtis's windows. "You've got the hat, why not take me and we will be married and you will save the trouble of returning the hat?"

Miss Lonnie tried to snatch her hand away, but Mr. Latham was without shame and held it fast.

"Say yes, Lonnie. I've had a liking for you ever since I first knew you. I always intended to marry you, if I could. Perhaps I'm abrupt, but I mean it. Besides I want you to wear that hat we picked out together." He laughed so heartily that Miss Lonnie liked him better than ever.

"But I haven't known you very long—I don't know what to say. Of course, I am sure that it is all right, but—"

Just then she caught a glimpse of Mrs. Curtis lurking in the shadow of a lace curtain. She had seen the holding of the hands—only an engagement would now save Miss Lonnie from public scandal.

"Yes, I'll marry you, Mr. Latham, if you really want me to," she said, smiling at him.

"That's right," he said, giving her hand a last squeeze and taking up the box. "Now let's go in and show your sister our wedding bonnet."

"Hat, you mean," Miss Lonnie corrected. She flung a look of defiance back at the windows of Mrs. Curtis and followed him into the house.

NATURE'S REMEDIES FOR DISEASE

Nature provides more effective remedies in the roots and herbs of the field than were ever produced from drugs.

Thirty years ago, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy made from roots and herbs, which has proved more efficacious in curing women's diseases than any other medicine the world has ever known, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is looked upon everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Suit Against Albert Lea Paper Comes to Sudden Halt.

Judge Holds Criticism of Public Officer Was Privileged.

Albert Lea, Minn., May 19.—The libel suit of Congressman J. A. Tawney against the Albert Lea Tribune came to a sudden halt yesterday.

A $10,000 damage suit, in which the leader of the house of representatives is plaintiff, is not an every-day occurrence in this community and interest was high when time was called for the legal battle known to be pending.

The facts in the suit may be briefly stated: Shortly after the famous controversy over the sundry civil appropriation bill, in the course of which President Roosevelt admitted Congressman Tawney to the Ananias club, the Philadelphia North American printed an editorial comment upon the First district member, which was reprinted without further comment by the St. Paul Dispatch. From the latter paper the editorial was taken by the Albert Lea Tribune, and its publication therein was made the basis of the libel suit by Mr. Tawney, who appeared in person to direct the trial.

Instead of justifying the publication, the Tribune elected to defend itself upon the ground that such a criticism of a public officer was within its rights and a matter of privilege. Judge N. W. Kingsley accepted this view and rendered an opinion in which he held the publication was not actionable and dismissed the suit.

Mr. Tawney have notice of an appeal. Inasmuch as a wide principle is involved, the outcome of the appeal will be of general public interest.

YOUNG MARVELS IN ELECTRICITY

Menominee and Marinette Boys Run Wireless.

Menominee, Mich., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two Twin City boys, about 16 years of age, have startled Menominee and Marinette and amazed scientific men of the two cities by successfully establishing wireless telegraph stations. They are not only able to communicate with each other, but they are also intercepting messages received in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Charles Behnke of Menominee, aged 16, in the presence of a dozen interested electrical men and several city officials, tapped out a long message and over in Marinette several miles away, before a similar audience, Joseph Tvrznik, correctly received the message and flashed back a jubilant "O. K."

Both boys are electrical geniuses. At the age of 15 they perfected motors which now run their mothers' sewing machines, wringers and have installed in their homes electric devices of numerous kinds. About six months ago, they became interested in wireless telegraphy.

THE STATUS OF PRIVATE CLAIMS

To the Editor of The Herald:

The prevalent idea that the government, through the forest service, will interfere with or purchase private holdings located within the boundaries of the Superior national forest is a mistaken one. The decisions and statements of the forest service in this regard are all to the contrary. The district forester, located at Missoula, Mont., and who is the executive head of the service in District 1, of which Minnesota is a part, said in a letter dated April 23, 1909, and written in answer to inquiries made by S. Y. Johnson of Cloquet: "The creation of a national forest does not affect in any way the patented land and valid claims which are included within its boundaries. Such lands will not be purchased by the government."

It should be noticed in this connection that the word valid is used in describing these claims which are not affected. The forest service considers a valid claim to be one initiated in good faith under some act of congress and continued by use consistent with the character of the claim and necessary for its actual development. Further, the forest service will endeavor to protect valid claims within national forests and make the forests contribute to their development.

If any one initiated a valid claim to land now within the Superior national forest, prior to its withdrawal for national forest purposes, he may be allowed to perfect his claim in accordance with the provisions of the act of congress under which the entry was made. It is true that the forest officers will examine and report upon all unperfected claims within the boundaries, but their examinations and reports will be only for the purpose of ascertaining whether the claim is valid or not. If patent to a tract has issued, it will not be necessary for them to submit a report upon it unless they have information in the case showing that fraud was committed in the issuance of the patent. Any persons having valid land claims under the public land laws or legal titles to lands within national forests are free to occupy and enjoy their holdings the same as if the lands were not within the national forest, except that they must not interfere with the purposes for which the forests are created.

A question here arises as to what these purposes are, and no better explanation offers than that contained in the "Use Book" of the service: National forests are created to preserve a perpetual supply of timber for home industries, to prevent destruction of forest cover which regulates the flow of streams, and to protect local residents from unfair competition in the use of forest and range. They are patrolled and protected at government expense for the benefit of the community and the home builder.

It is easily seen that one of the prime objects of the officers of the Superior forest is to protect their territory from dre, which destroys young and old growth. Thus they hope to establish a source of timber supply for future time.

Under forest service regulations the forests are not shut up from use, but their use is only made subservient to their perpetuity. Campers have free access, and prospectors are invited to pursue their activities unhindered. The bona fide settler is encouraged. It is only required that unwarranted destruction of timber and careless handling and leaving and handling of fires be avoided, and for the setting of fires a forest officer has power to arrest without warrant.

Taken all in all, the forest policy, when thoroughly understood, exemplifies the policy of the greatest good to the greatest number, and its attitude toward forest users and the public in general is at all times that of a square deal.

DR. CHAS. THAYER DEAD.

Veteran Pioneer Minnesota Presbyterian Minister Is Called.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.) — Rev. Dr. Charles Thayer, 89 years old, a pioneer Presbyterian church organizer in Minnesota and the oldest Presbyterian minister in point of years in the city, died yesterday at the residence of his son, C. E. Thayer, 818 Mount Curve avenue.

Dr. Thayer was in the ministry for sixty-four years and worked for the advancement of the Presbyterian church in Minnesota for fifty-four years. Even at his advanced age he was one of the strong men of the church in the Northwest, and in October, 1905, the Presbyterian churches of the city celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of his entering the ministry.

Rev. Dr. Thayer came to Minnesota in 1855 as a home missionary. He is survived by two sons, C. E. Thayer of Minneapolis and Dr. H. N. Thayer of New York. Mrs. Thayer, who was Miss Ellen Southward, died a few years ago.

AGED MAN IS KILLED AS HE PICKS UP COAL.

Elbow Lake, Minn., May 19.—Anders G. Holt, aged 83 years, was killed in the Soo railroad yards here Monday. The aged man was in the habit of picking up coal along the tracks, and while thus engaged was struck by a freight train. Eight cars passed over the body, which was cut in two. The only eye witness of the accident was the switchman, who says he shouted to the victim as the train backed up towards him. Holt either did not hear, or if he did hear lost control of his actions and failed to get off the track. The dead man made his home with his son, Gilbert Holt.

WATER TRIPS ABOUT NEW YORK OF GREAT INTEREST AND VARIETY

The Hotel St. Regis An Ideal City Home Between These Enjoyable Excursions.

Strangers intending to visit New York city during the summer season often wonder what they can do for amusement and entertainment. This inquiry is easily answered. New York harbor, one of the finest and largest deep water harbors in the entire world, has direct communication with the Atlantic ocean, Long Island sound and the Hudson river, not to speak of the innumerable bays, small rivers and other streams along the coast of New York state, Long Island, New Jersey and Connecticut. The resorts found on these shores are among the most famous in all America, and embrace within a day's sail all places along shore between Newport and Long Branch, and running far north up the Hudson river. For the visitor in New York, who desires to avail himself of these delightful nearby water trips, there is no finer stopping place than the Hotel St. Regis, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street, a hotel of most superior comforts and luxuries, without ostentation but with perfect home comforts, refinement and quietness. Its restaurant charges are the same as other first-class hotels, and rooms may be had as low as $3 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished single bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up, for an elegant suite consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath.

TO MOVE MANY LOGS.

Million and Half Feet to Be Sent to East Grand Forks.

Bemidji, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles H. Gardner, the general manager of the Grand Forks Lumber company, announces that his company will bring 1,500,000 feet of logs from La Salle lake, near the Itasca state park, to Bemidji, by water, the logs to be shipped from here to the Grand Forks company's mill at East Grand Forks.

W. L. Preble of this city will have charge of the drive, and he has a big crew of men. It is the intention of Mr. Preble to start the drive Saturday, when it is expected that all the logs will have gone out of the La Salle lake, leaving a clear stretch of water from the lake via the Mississippi river to Lake Irving.

The company will load the logs on Lake Irving by means of the hoist on the east shore of the lake, there being a spur of the Great Northern running to the lake from the main line, about a mile west of Bemidji.

These logs were cut under contract by Frank Remley, who put in about 800,000 feet, and Smith & Severence, who put in the balance.

SALOON KEEPERS HELD.

Fourteen on Cloquet Island Must Answer to Higher Court.

Cloquet, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fourteen of the saloonkeepers on the "Island," who were caught in Sheriff Lee's sensational raid Saturday evening, when the minion of the law swooped down on their places and arrested them and confiscated their slot machines, run in defiance of the law, have been bound over to the next Carlton county grand jury by Judge Skemp in $250 bonds each, charged with violating the law against gambling machines. The reform wave is sweeping over the city. The law compelling curtains to be removed from pool halls is being enforced, and cigar stores have been warned to do away with the dice box, as well as the slot machine.

CONCRETE EMBANKMENT SWEPT AWAY BY FLOOD.

Menominee, Mich., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—One hundred feet of concrete embankment at the Menominee-Marinette Light & Traction company's big dam at Grand Rapids was swept away Sunday afternoon in the surging flood that has swollen the Menominee river to abnormal proportions for the past week. The embankment had just been constricted and will hamper the construction company considerably and probably delay the erection of the plant at least several weeks.

St. Paul, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Merald.)—Maj. W. C. Handy, managing editor of the Pioneer Press, routed two highwaymen who tried to hold him up at an early hour yesterday morning, and, by drawing a revolver, forced the robbers to take to their heels.

BEWARE OF SUNDAY PAPER.

Man Yawned Over It and Couldn't Close His Mouth.

New York, May 19.—Albert Oppert, aged 70, of Fair Grounds, L. I., yawned over his paper on Sunday until he dislocated his jaw.

"O-o-o-o, wowowowowo!" said he, eyes and mouth wide open.

"What's the matter? Why don't you shut your mouth?" the family asked, in unison.

Finally Dr. G. H. Carter was summoned. When he arrived only a few seconds were required to reset the jaw. The family worked over it half an hour.

ACCUSED OF ROBBING "MOTHER'S KITCHEN."

Spokane, Wash., May 19.—Burl Haggard, journalist, printer, hotel waiter and ex-convict, claiming to be a cousin of Rider Haggard, an English fictionist, and known in various parts of the inland empire as Harry Lavalle, is wanted at Lewiston, Idaho, for embezzlement and forgery, the accuser being Mrs. A. P. Eck, owner of Mother's Kitchen, for whom he worked.

He was seen in the Palouse country, south of here, a few days ago, and it is believed he is now on the way East. Haggard was arrested in Spokane five years ago for stealing from the Artesian hotel at Pullman, Wash., where he was clerk. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary at Walla Walla. He proved a model prisoner, and by "saving his copper" he was released after serving less than four years.

ST. CLOUD DEPOT WILL BE OF PRESSED BRICK.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new Northern Pacific depot, which is to be built in this city this summer, will be of pressed brick with granite trimmings, according to the advices received from St. Paul. The company came to the conclusion that a granite structure would cost too much money and the plans and specifications on which the contractors bid called for a pressed brick building. The size and interior will be the same as at first announced.

A Baby in the House

No joy or pleasure on this earth quite equals that which comes into the home when baby arrives. Who can describe the happiness of man and woman, joined in wedlock, as they look upon the delicate mite that is blood of their blood and flesh of their flesh? And who can depict the hopelessness and dejection that hover about the home where the wife is incapable of becoming a mother? Barrenness proceeds from some derangement of the distinctly feminine organs. Many of the common ailments known as "female troubles" cause it.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription overcomes barrenness by stamping out diseases of women, and by healing and curing ulceration. It tones up the system and restores strength.

It makes the baby's coming almost painless, and gives wonderful recuperative power to the patient. By making the mother strong and cheerful, it makes the little one healthy, vigorous and good natured.

Insist upon the medicine dealer giving you Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when you ask for it. Substitutes are often dangerous.

For 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, you can get a free copy of that celebrated doctor book, newly revised, up-to-date edition—the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, copiously illustrated with wood-cuts and colored plates. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

GROOM KILLED BRIDE AND SELF, BELIEVING SHE HAD ROBBED HIM

Portland, Or., May 19.—That L. H. Worley killed his bride of four days and himself is asserted by the police, after reading a letter left by Worley. The bodies of Worley and his wife, who was Miss Ruth Leroy of Lincoln, Neb., were found on Worley's farm near Redmond. They were married last Wednesday, and Friday the house was closed. It was burned on Saturday. Worley's letter follows:

"This is all a mistake. Ruth said this morning she did not want to live with me. She asked me how far it was to Shaniko, and this morning said she was going to Shaniko to earn a living and go back East again. I treated her as good as I could, and then she robbed me of all my money and was going to leave me. I could not stand it any longer, so think we both are better dead.

"L. H. WORLEY.

("Please let my sister know it; address Charles Lessner, Beaufort, R. F. D. No. 2, Franklin county, Mo.; also let Mr. Burkhart, his neighbor and best friend, know. Before God, I just found my purse in Ruth's stocking, with all my money, and she denied it. This is more than I can stand.—L. H. Worley.")

The tragedy was discovered by two women who went to the Worley farm to deliver a wedding present.

SUGGESTION BEARS FRUIT

Plan to Make First Street Park Is Warmly Received.

Vacant Property Adjoining Postoffice for Free Band Concerts.

The board of county commissioners and Mayor Haven are working together on a plan to turn the county's property on the west side of Fourth avenue west, between First and Second streets, into a park, where free concerts can be held, and where outdoor meetings can be conducted, in addition to using the place for ordinary park purposes.

The plan outlined in The Herald last week, of turning this plot of ground into a park, is thus, to all appearances, about to become a reality. The commissioners and the mayor are actively engaged in the preliminaries looking to the improvement. All the details have not as yet been arranged, but it is believed that the county will stand part of the expense of putting the block in question in suitable shape for the purpose intended.

There does not apear to be any city money with which the expense of free concerts could be borne, but there is a plan on foot to raise the wherewithal by private subscription. It is believed that plenty of cash to guarantee the success of the plan can be secured. The public generally is greatly interested in the movement, and some of the more wealthy of local citizens have intimated that they would be willing to contribute to the support of the movement.

It was suggested that the city and county come to some agreement over the property, whereby the city would stand most of the expense of improvements, if the county would grant the use of the land. In the light of present events, it does not look as if the city would have to stand any great amount of expense for improvement.

There is no intention on the part of the city or county authorities to spend an unreasonably large amount on the site, for it will be a matter of only a few years before the land will in all probability be used as a place for erecting the city hall. The plot of ground will, however, be leveled off and sodded over, and footpaths, benches, a bandstand, etc., will be provided, if present plans are carried out. The county is now using dirt taken from the courthouse site in excavating to level off the rough spots on the site, and already good progress has been made in this direction.

The proposed park is the most conveniently located to the business center of the city of any of the local parks, and, besides adding greatly to the appearance of the block, it would be largely patronized, and could be used at any time during the warm weather for outdoor meetings. A more convenient site for public band concerts could scarcely be found.

Even if the proposed bond issue of $50,000 for the use of the park commission goes through, none of this money would be available for improving the land in question, because it is expressly provided that funds raised in this fashion shall be for the purchase of park property only.

"The plan of a park at the corner of Fourth avenue west and First street, extending up as far as Second street, is a most excellent one," said Mayor Haven today. "I believe the project will go through all right, and there seems to be a good chance of our being able to raise enough money by subscription to guarantee the band concerts during the summer. This feature would be a popular one."

Mayor Haven has been strongly advocating free concerts in the parks ever since he went into office.

F. A. Patrick and other members of the board of park commissioners express themselves as favoring the park plan, if suitable means of carrying it out can be adopted.

The charges he made against his wife and Rev. H. A. Schoultz, pastor of the regular Baptist church at Fort Branch have been dropped.

CHURCH DOOR BROKEN OPEN.

Pastor's Wife and Son Arrested for Destroying Property.

Norwalk, Ohio, May 19.—Mrs. Emma Koehler, wife of Rev. Julius Koehler, pastor of the German Lutheran church, and Theodore Koehler, their son, were arrested charged with malicious destruction of property.

The arrests are the outcome of a church row that started several weeks ago in an effort to depose Rev. Koehler for conduct unbecoming a minister. A compromise was effected, but Koehler refused to give up the pulpit.

At 5 o'clock a door was broken open, and at the entrance stood Mrs. Koehler and her son. No trouble occurred, and the guard left the building. Later a warrant for their arrest was sworn out by Henry Browser, a trustee, who was one of the guards. The two were arrested at 10:30, and pleaded not guilty. Their hearing was set for next Friday.

NEW STYLES SCORED.

St. Louis Priest Says Modest Girls Make Best Wives.

St. Louis, Mo., May 19.—Scoring the new style in women's hats, which, he said, resembled inverted coal scuttles, Father E. T. Finan at Holy Angles' church said wives should not be chosen for their hats or their clothing, and that a bucket upside down was not a good omen for a happy married life.

Half the women in his congregation wore the new hats and tube gowns, and these called forth the remark of the pastor.

Father Finan made a plea for the simple girls, modest in manner and attire, who, he said, would make the best wives. The frenzied and foolish pursuit after extremes in fashion, as exemplified in the dish pan hat and directoire gown, he asserted, augured poorly for the permanency of matrimonial ventures.

STOWAWAY TRIES EIGHTEENTH TIME TO MAKE LANDING.

New York, May 19.—Bennie Axelrod, a Russian boy, with an overpowering desire to become a resident of the United States, who has come to New York eighteen times as a stowaway only to be turned back each time by the authorities, showed up with smiling face again yesterday and was taken in charge by the Sheltering society. This time he had entered the country by way of Canada, landing from the boat on which he had crossed at Halifax, and working his way to New York by easy stages. Bennie is only 15, and will therefore have to go back to Odessa again unless some one adopts him.

CLAIM GREATER EFFICIENCY

Builders Issue Statement, Declaring Open Shop Is the Thing.

According to a statement issued by the Duluth Builders' exchange, the open shop campaign it has conducted in this city has worked out admirably from every viewpoint.

There have been no reductions in wages and a large number of men have been employed. The builders claim that they have obtained better results because of the increased efficiency of the men under the new order of things.

Following is the statement sent out by the exchange, with a table of wages compiled by the organization:

"The Duluth Builders' exchange has operated under the open shop policy in the building trades for about a year and a half. That period has generally throughout the country been marked by a business depression bordering upon a panic, which has resulted in falling prices for materials.

"The building industry in other cities in that time has been substantially at a standstill, with a large percentage of mechanics unemployed. During this same period, however, the building industry of Duluth shows a gratifying increase, both in volume of work and number of men employed. Although hundreds of mechanics were brought in at the beginning of the open shop movement who remained after the local men returned to work on the open shop basis, there has been plenty of work for all. In fact, without the new men the increase of work could not have been cared for.

"The wages of first-class mechanics under the open shop policy have not been decreased or the hours lengthened. Better results have been obtained in the way of economy and speed of construction from the increased efficiency of the men, the freedom from labo rtroubles and the greater control of the employer in organizing and directing work. We believe it has been practically demonstrated that the open shop is a great and substantial benefit to the employer, the mechanic and the city of Duluth and that the welfare of the community and its industrial progress render its maintenance of vital importance.

"On account of the exceptional and favorable conditions prevailing in this city, we are glad to recommend that no reduction be made in the wages of building mechanics, but that the scale adopted last year remain unchanged."

The Wrong Color.

Booker T. Washington, on a tour of New England, formed a habit of eating Washington pie. Washington pie is a two-layer cake with a custard filling and covered with white icing. It is served in pie-shaped pieces. Stopping at a country hotel, Mr. Washington called for the delicacy. The waiter brought him something that resembled it, but the icing was chocolate instead of white. Mr. Washington looked it over, then turned to the waiter and said, "You've made a mistake. I wanted George, not Booker." If he was in Minnesota he no doubt would have asked for Golden Grain Belt beer. A glass should be served with each meal. Order a case for your home. Winona, Minn., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A single and a three-bagger were the only tangible things in the way of hits that Winona was able to outlieve against Murray's pitching in the game with Duluth yesterday. It is the same with Duluth yesterday, but they were enough to put the locals one tally. Nobody scored after the first inning when the locals got in their work, and the final score was 1 to 0 in favor of Winona.

The contest was a fast one all the way through and the fans showed appreciation of the good work done on both sides. Winona played an errorless game while Duluth made one. It was not a costly mistake, however.

The White Sox secured four hits from Byers but he managed to keep them well scattered that they did them no good as far as assistance in the matter of securing scores.

Brown who has been station agent for the White Sox at third, went in and caught yesterday, in the absence of a regular receiver. He gave an excellent performance. Bancroft joined the team during the day. Score:

Batteries—Byers and Moore, Murray and Breen.

SUPERIOR IS SHUT OUT.

Eau Claire Takes Game From the Swampers in Sixteenth.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—It took sixteen innings to decide the game between Eau Claire and Superior on the local grounds yesterday. The final score was 1 to 0.

Zero after zero went up on the score board. Neither side was able to get a man around the circuit. There is no telling how the zero treatment to the blackboard might have been continued had Hagenlock not dropped a long fly in right field.

That large black tally decided the game.

Bresser and Dickinson were the pitchers for Eau Claire and Superior respectively and both of them stuck until the last. The Superior thrower allowed but five hits, but his teammates made some exceptionally atrocious errors at different times. Superior got eight hits off Bresser. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Superior	0	8	4
Eau Claire	1	5	3

Batteries—Dickinson and Clapper; Bresser and Nolman.

LA CROSSE WINS.

Takes Snappy Game From Wausau By 4 to 0 Score.

La Crosse, Wis., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local team won from Wausau yesterday in a snappy game the final score being 4 to 0.

Mr. Scheiffer, who was throwing them over for the visitors, landed left handed in the fourth, when he suffered a slight explosion. The accident netted five hits for La Crosse and three runs. The locals scored one in the seventh.

Hopper, a new pitcher secured from Fort Wayne, was in the box for La Crosse and he was in rippling form, as it were. It was not until the sixth that Wausau garnered a single hang from him, and the statistics at the end of the contest disclosed a total of but four hits for the guests of the occasion. Score:

Cheek is Batted Hard.

Detroit, Mich., May 19.—Detroit drove Cheek from the box in the sixth, getting three hits and stealing three bases, but Arellanes held the locals thereafter. Rossman's wild throw to the plate following two hits gave Boston the game in the tenth. Three great fielding plays by Wagner, Speaker and Hooper prevented Detroit from scoring a run that would have ended the game in the regulation number of innings. Score: R. H. E.

FIGHTERS ARE READY

Johnson and O'Brien Meet In Six-Round Clash.

Colored Man Gets $5,000 for Eighteen Actual Working Minutes.

Philadelphia, May 19.—Jack Johnson and Jack O'Brien, who are matched to fight six rounds at the National Athletic club here tonight, are ready and only waiting for the gong. Neither holds the other cheaply, and both are in fine physical condition and fit to go a longer route than the six rounds scheduled. Johnson says he will end the fight before the sixth round, while O'Brien is confident he will outpoint the negro.

While a great number of sporting men look for the world's champion to get the better of the bout, there are many who express the belief that Johnson will have to fight hard to defeat the white man. The colored man has the advantage of weight, height and reach over the Philadelphian, but he has not been in the ring since he defeated Burns last December, and there are those who believe he is not now fast enough to avoid the jabs of O'Brien.

Both fighters with their retinue of assistants will come to the city some time during the day. Johnson has been training at George Cole's quarters at Merchantville, N. J.

With the exception of a few hundred $2 seats, which will be put on sale early this evening, the house has been sold out, and the largest crowd that ever saw a six-round fight in this city will be on hand. Sporting men from a distance began arriving early today to see the fight, some of them being from Pittsburg where Ketchel fought last night. Ketchel will be at the ringside to observe the work of Johnson. Jack McGuigan, one of the managers of the National Athletic club, will referee the fight. There will be no decision rendered.

Johnson's present visit to Philadelphia is quite different from that of two years ago. With one exception none of the local fight clubs cared to put him on their program on the ground that he was not a drawing card. The club which will give him $5,000 tonight for eighteen minutes actual work repeatedly turned him down.

IS EASY FOR KETCHEL

McGann Takes the Nine Count Six Times in One Round.

Fights Gamely But Is No Match for the Champion.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 18.—Six times last night Hugh McGann was down for a count of nine seconds in his six-round bout with Stanley Ketchel, champion middleweight of the world. Five times in the sixth round he was saved from a knockout by a second.

Twice he was knocked through the ropes, once clear across the press table into the seats of spectators. Ketchell apparently toyed with his opponent. Only the cheering voices of his champions from the audience inspired McGann several times to get on his feet again after being all but knocked out. For the first three rounds McGann fought hard and landed several times on the champion, but he apparently exhausted himself in the early rounds and could not face the powerful blows of his antagonist after the first half of the bout. No decision was permissible under the Pennsylvania laws. Never before has so large an audience witnessed a boxing bout in Pittsburg. More than 6,000 persons crowded Du Quesne Gardens, among them being men prominent in financial, political and business circles. Three preliminary bouts were pulled off, Young Jack O'Brien besting Young Blackall, both of Pittsburg, and Jim Perry of Denver having decidedly the best of Handy Williams of Kansas City, each in a six-round bout.

Prior to the final bout Tony Caponi of Chicago appeared in the ring and issued a challenge to the winner of the bout.

First round—McGann landed a light left to the face and clinched. Ketchel led a left to head and McGann came back with a left and right to body. Ketchel swung a hard left and missed. McGann landed a light left to face. Ketchel landed a left to face and stomach. Ketchel landed a left to body. McGann landed left to face. Ketchel got in two hard lefts and they clinched.

Second round—McGann led a left and missed; then clinched. Ketchel landed a hard right to the jaw and followed with left to same spot. Ketchel swung a left and missed, then jolted McGann's jaw with rights and lefts. McGann landed a light left to the jaw and clinched. Ketchel landed rights and lefts to the body and missed a left swing to the head. He then landed a heavy left to the body. Ketchel showered rights and lefts to McGann's jaw.

Third round—McGann landed on Ketchel's neck and clinched. Ketchel landed a right to the body and jaw. McGann landed two rights and two lefts to the jaw. Ketchel swung a left to McGann's face and missed a left to the body. He landed a right and left to the body and missed a left to the face.

Fourth round—McGann used oxygen between rounds. McGann put left to body. Ketchel missed left. Ketchel landed hard left to jaw, left to body. Ketchel landed left to face, left to body and hard right to body. McGann landed left to head. Ketchel landed left and right to body. McGann missed left. Ketchel landed left to kidneys and left to body, and missed hard right to body. Ketchel landed hard right to head and pounded McGann's kidneys. Ketchel missed with right. McGann landed hard left to Ketchel's head and backed him up hard with a left. Ketchel landed left and right to body. Ketchel landed left on head. There was a long clinch, with Ketchel punching. Ketchel landed hard right on jaw. McGann was down two seconds when gong rang.

Sixth round—Ketchel landed left and right to body, left to jaw, and dropped McGann for count of nine. Ketchel rained blows on jaw and body. McGann down for count of nine again. Ketchel landed left and right to head and knocked McGann over the press table. McGann made desperate rally but fell from a left to jaw. The count of nine for third time in this round. Ketchel landed hard left to jaw and right to body. McGann went down from right to jaw for count of nine again which was the fourth time in this round. McGann down again from left to jaw. Took count of nine for fifth time. McGann landed left and right to jaw. Long clinch. Ketchel missed left. McGann landed two lefts to jaw. Ketchel landed left and right to head.

No decision could be given under the law.

BUYS TERMINAL LANDS.

Northern Pacific Purchases Some Land in Town of Wilton, N. D.

Wilton, N. D., May 19.—The Northern Pacific railroad has filed with the register of deeds a deed for thirty-seven and one-half acres in the town of Wilton, which it has purchased from W. P. Macomber for the terminals of the new line to be built across the country from east to west. The land is in Burleigh county, south of the town and will be used by the road for its buildings and sheds. The object of coming to Wilton is to develop the coal mining interests, and will result in building up a mining town. When this road is completed there will be few quarter sections of land in Burleigh county more than twelve miles from a railroad.

It is the intent of the road to build from McKenzie north to Wilton, and make a complete circle of the county.

THE FORMAL OPENING

Weekly Gatherings at Golf Club Will Begin Saturday.

Duluthians Will Play for the Tom Morris Cup.

The Northland Country club will formally open its clubhouse for the season next Saturday. There will be an especially attractive table d' hote dinner served in the evening, and later there will be dancing. Beginning this week, there will be dancing at the club every Saturday evening during the remainder of the season, and the table d' hote dinners will be a regular features Saturday and Sunday evenings. A new chef and new waiters have been employed to look after the wants of club members.

The golf enthusiasts are now playing on the temporary greens, but by next week the regular greens will be in fit condition for use, and playing will begin on them. A spring golf tournament will begin in the near future, probably on Decoration day. The indications are that the list of entrees will be a large one.

The Northland club will play for the Tom Morris cup on June 16. This is regarded as one of the most important golfing events of the season. At the death in Scotland of Tom Morris, the world's most famous, and probably its oldest, expert golf player, a considerable amount of money was set aside for the purchase of cups to be contested for by clubs all over the world. Under the direction of the St. Andrew's club of Scotland these cups were purchased, at a cost of $1,000 each, and presented to different golf associations in several countries, the conditions being that clubs in the associations should play every year on June 16, Morris' birthday, for the cup.

The Northland club belongs to the Western Golf association, which has one of the cups, so Duluth will be among the contestants this year. The system is for each organization to select a team of eight, which plays against par, par meaning a perfect golf score. The association team coming the nearest this perfect score, or to par, as the golfers term it, will be awarded the cup.

It seems that some of the country sporting editors cut up upon the circuit of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league have been saying rude and malicious things about the members of the Duluth baseball team. Drat them!

A peevish person collecting salary from an Eau Claire paper said that our pets should go to a quiet spot, where there was no one to say to them nay, and practice long and arduously the great national game.

The season is young, brother of the quill, and before many moons roll around there may be a sad undoing for the southern end of the circuit teams. Verily, 'twas the tortoise that copped the rabbit in that race of long ago. A bad start is sometimes, in this world of uncertainties, a thing that augurs well for the subsequent success of a team.

It is too early to pass judgment upon the members of the Duluth baseball team. They have shown some good and some very bad form in the few games that have been played so far in the young life of the new league. They are a bunch of youngsters, and teams composed of young players very often get off with a bad start. It is the vet who plays the strongest card in his suit in the early part of the season. It is wagering a block of Bank of England stock against a share of Tonopah mining that the White Sox will be in the running before they have been grazing long in the home pastures.

There may, and undoubtedly will be, a few changes in the team. The team is largely an experiment at this stage of the game. It will receive its trial in the fire and water of the new league. In the early training season there was little opportunity to thoroughly try out the team. The elimination will come after the showing of the members of the team in the early stages of the pennant race.

The sporting editors of the villages may have their fun, for life in the village is lonely at the best, yet they had best reserve their full stock of adjectives for a later and more mature judgment. We are liable to be up at the gables on the pennant ladder ere two weeks have brought added troubles into our peaceful lives.

Cleveland fans are souring upon the might Napoleon La Jole. They are casting vituperation upon the head of the former idol of Ohio fandom. Plaudfully, "Here he comes!" More often of late they have been in the habit of shouting grouchfully, "There he goes!" They are saying that Cleveland can never win a pennant with La Jole in command of the team. The manager's lot is not a bed of roses. For references see McCloskey, Clark Griffith, Jimmy Collins, Veteran McGuire and a score of other guilders of teams who have bowed to the knockings of the fans.

Did you notice what our high school athletes did Monday? If the hillside institution had a larger team of the same quality that showed in the meet of Monday, they would be assured of a high ranking in the state interscholastic meet. As it is, with a handful of good men, Duluth should make an excellent showing at the state meet.

Johnny Kling, the greatest catcher of them all, who is at the present time refusing to listen to the appeals of the Chicago fans to join the Chicago Cubs, is, according to many accounts, a very vain chap.

He has established a score board in his Kansas City billiard hall. When the Cubs lose, Johnny is there with his chest out, listening to the remarks, "If Kling were there," etc. But when the Cubs have walloped the other team, Kling is awfully busy over the accounts in the inner office.

If Catcher Moran keeps on hitting at the clip he has maintained for the past few days, this Kling person can sulk in peace.

The present week will be a busy one with the pugilists. O'Brien and Johnson clash this evening at Philadelphia. Sandy Ferguson and black Joe Jeanette, the present hero of the Paris fight followers, will fight for the championship of France Saturday night. Then stubby Sam Langford, who is the father of eight pickaninnies and therefore needs the money, will fight Ian Hague, the latest dub upon the British heavyweight market. If Ian fights anything like his picture looks, he should be soft picking for the Boston negro.

Jack Johnson will sail for England this month. He will tour the British music halls and kind of look the situation over. Jack says that he will not fight while upon the other side of the water, but Jack's word has not proved too good in the past, and if the temptation is sufficient, it will not be surprising if the heavyweight champion will be meeting one of the winners of the bouts that are being staged in Europe with such regularity.

Golf Club Reorganized.

Menominee, Mich., May 19. — The Riverside Golf club of Menominee, formerly one of the finest organizations of its kind in the upper peninsula, has been reorganized after a lapse of several years. The members total over 100 enthusiastic golfers, several of them experts.

The city of Milwaukee has almost abolished the use of horses in all municipal departments.

S.S.S.
CURES SKIN DISEASES

In this article we want to explain to you the cause of skin diseases, and also offer suggestions, founded on reason and experience, which will enable you to cure yourself if you are afflicted with any of the various forms of this trouble.

The skin receives its necessary nourishment from the blood. Every pore is kept open and every gland kept healthy by continually feeding on the nutritious properties which are distributed throughout the system by a pure, rich blood supply. As long as this normal condition exists the cuticle will be soft, smooth, and free from eruptions; when however the circulation is contaminated with humors and impurities its supply of nutritive properties is diminished, and it becomes a sharp, acrid fluid which diseases instead of preserves the natural health and texture of the skin.

Lying just beneath the outer covering or tissue-skin is a sensitive membranous flesh which surrounds and protects the tiny veins, pores and glands. It is here the impurities of the blood are deposited, and the acrid matter causes irritation and inflammation which splits or breaks the thin, tissue-like cuticle, and the result is outwardly manifested in Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some other disfiguring or annoying eruptive disease.

It can readily be seen that since Skin Diseases are the result of bad blood, there can be but one way to cure them—purify the blood. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., are not able to do so, because they do not reach the blood. Such treatment is of no value except for its ability to temporarily relieve itching and assist in keeping the skin clean.

S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing all humors from the blood. S. S. S. cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles, and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated and inflamed by sour impurities, is nourished, soothed and softened by this cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and therein lies its ability to cure skin diseases. The trouble cannot remain when the cause has been removed, and S. S. S. will certainly remove the cause. It cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, pimples, boils,, blackheads, etc., and all eruptions of the skin. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

For six years I was severely troubled with a bad skin disease, located principally on the shins. The trouble would appear in the form of small yellow blisters, characterized by very severe itching, etc. I tried sarsaparillas, so-called blood purifiers, salves, ointments, lotions and treatment under a physician, but nothing did me any good. Becoming discouraged I left off all this treatment, and just about this time I saw S. S. S. advertised. One day I decided to give this medicine a trial, and after using it for a short while I began to improve. Of course I continued S. S. S. and it cured me completely. Quite a while has elapsed since I was cured and there has never been the slightest indication of the return of the trouble.

I had a bad case of Eczema, it being especially severe on my right hand. I was hardly able to use my hand in my work. I tried a great many things in an effort to get relief, but was unable to do so until I read of S. S. S. and determined to give it a trial. I used several bottles of this remedy and it cured the trouble entirely. S. S. S. put my blood in fine condition and left my skin soft and smooth. Though this was some time ago there has been no return of the trouble.
CHAS. J. WOLFE, JR.
904 S. Second St., St. Louis, Mo.

For four years I suffered severely with Weeping Eczema, located chiefly on the hands, both inside and out, and extended as far up as the wrists. I was under treatment most all the time, but could get no relief. One or two of my physicians said it was as bad a case of Eczema as they ever saw. I lost my finger nails once or twice as a result of the disease, and the itching, burning and pain I experienced I cannot express to you in words. I kept my hands bandaged all the while, but with only little relief. As I said, becoming discouraged, I gave up all treatment I was taking, and seeing S. S. S. advertised began it as a last resort. A few bottles convinced me that it was doing me good and I continued it, and in a short while I was entirely cured.

MARINE NEWS

BODY FOUND NEAR THE SOO

Probably Sailor From the Ill-Fated Steamer Clemson.

So Badly Decomposed It Cannot Be Recognized.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The badly decomposed body of a man, believed to be the remains of one of the crew of the steamer D. M. Clemson, which went down in Whitefish bay last December, have been found lying on the beach on the southeast side of Parisian island.

The body was discovered by an Indian named Joe John of the Geoulais Bay Indian mission, and had evidently been lying on the beach for some time. The body had been picked by vultures until little flesh remained.

A fact, which may lead to the man's identification, is that he had but one leg, although the other may have been lost in the ice after the body came to the surface.

The belief that the man was one of the Clemson's crew is based on the place where the body was found which is close to the supposed scene of the disaster and near the course the vessel was known to have taken.

The news of the gruesome discovery was brought here today. The Indian Joe John notified Supt. Rouse of the Canadian canal and the latter will do everything possible to identify the man.

The Clemson was lost in Whitefish bay early last December. The exact fate that befell her has never been learned. For days after the vessel was due her owners hoped against hope that she would be reported safe. Some wreckage was found that indicated the Clemson had broken up in heavy seas. The Clemson was owned by the Provident Steamship company and was commanded by Capt Chamberlain.

The records of the Clemson's crew at the Wolvin offices in this city do not show that anyone aboard at the time had but one leg.

NON UNION MAN BADLY BEATEN

Is Taken From His Boat and Brutally Assaulted.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 19.—Jacob Hilgen, a seaman on the steamer John Mitchell, walked into police headquarters last night in a badly battered condition. He said that he and three other members of the crew were forcibly taken off their boat by a gang of men who came alongside in a launch. They were taken to a hall on Lower Main street, where he was asked to join a union. Upon refusing to do so, he alleges, he was beaten and kicked.

The police rounded up the launch and arrested two men. An effort will be made to hold them on a charge of assault on the high seas. It is also alleged that the men on the launch captured six men on the steamer Andrew Carnegie. Several revolvers were found on the launch.

Harry McDermott, a sailor, was badly beaten last night.

YAWL PICKED UP.

When the Aurania went down the crew barely escaped with their lives, making their way over treacherous ice floes three miles to the steamer Bartow.

CHILI RELEASED.

Vessel Will Not Have to Unload Cargo for Repairs.

The steamer Chili, went went aground above the Canadian locks yesterday morning, was pulled free by the lighter Reliance during the afternoon. Several thousand bushels of grain were removed to reduce the draft sufficiently to permit the Reliance to release the stranded vessel.

The damage to the fore peak is reported slight, and it will not be necessary to unload the vessel for repairs.

The Chili is downbound with a load of grain from Duluth to Buffalo.

Negaunee, Mich., May 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bodies of Victor North and Edward Ylensen, the two miners who met their death in a sudden caveln at the Charlotte mine Monday, were recovered several hours after the disaster occurred, mangled and mutilated beyond recognition. Both men were natives of Finland and had been in this country for only a short time.

The funerals took place today and interment was in the local cemetery.

Interment took place in the local Catholic cemetery.

EMPLOYERS' SIDE HEARD

Arbiters From Six States Discuss the Marine Strike.

Livingstone Insists Only Issue Is the Open Shop.

Detroit, Mich., May 19.—Additional interest attached to the interstate arbitration board sessions today, owing to the uncertainty that involved the day's program. The arbitrators from six states, who convened yesterday seeking a settlement of the marine strike on the Great Lakes, devoted their first day's session to receiving statements from a number of officials of the labor unions. Today it was expected that the employers' side would be heard.

President William Livingstone of the Lake Carriers' association, who lyies here, seemed to be the logical man to present the employers' side, but Mr. Livingstone has repeatedly stated that the only issue he knew of was the open shop, which he held could not be arbitrated. Last night, however, the members of the conference emphasized the assertion that the leaders of the employes had not insisted upon the closed shop and the phrase "collective bargaining" was used repeatedly in referring to the demands of the employes leaders.

WITNESSES ARE ALL VOLUNTARY

None Are Subpoenaed By Arbitration Board at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., May 19.—That there has been no hint or thought of compelling any one to come before the interstate board of arbitration and testify, was the idea emphasized last night by John Lundigran of New York, speaking for the boards of arbitration of six states that convened here yesterday. In an effort to find some means of settling the present strike on the vessels of the Great Lakes.

"We are here to extend our good offices in any way that the parties at interest wish us to extend them," said Mr. Lundigran. He added that the announcement that President Livingstone of the Lake Carriers' association would not appear at the conference here, had reached the board only indirectly through the press.

Rev. Frederick Klump of the Michigan board of arbitration said the Michigan board had no authority to subpoena witnesses, but stated that no subpoenas had been issued.

The conference took a recess after hearing a statement from National President W. P. Yates of the Marine Engineers Beneficial association. Last evening Victor Olander of the Lake Seamen's union appeared before the conference accompanied by Secretary Sheridan of the Marine Cooks' union, and William Tyndall, lake business agent for the Marine Engineers' association.

It is expected that the conference will be ready to hear the employers' side of the controversy today. B. F Shadley of Illinois is presiding over the meeting and Joseph Bishop of Ohio, who was at one time president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, is secretary.

At the close of last night's session of the conference C. J. Doyle of the Illinois board stated that nothing more had been presented to the conference by President Yates of the engineers' Secretary Olander of the seamen, or Secretary Sheridan of the marine cooks, indicated that the employes in seeking a continuation of collective bargaining between the employers and employes would demand what is known as the closed ship.

Mr. Lundigran of the New York board said that another opportunity would be offered to the vessel owners to present their side of the question today. It was stated that the members of the conference had no wish to be present at a meeting between the representatives of the vessel owners and of the men if only such meeting could be brought about.

President William Livingstone of the Lake Carriers' association said last night that he had not received from the arbitration conference any letter inviting him to attend its meeting here. He said he would not care to say what reply he would give to any invitation that he might receive except that he would not attend any meeting to arbitrate the question of "open shop." Speaking of the "welfare plan" which Mr. Olander has severely criticised, Mr. Livingstone said that participation in the welfare plan was entirely optional with the employes.

OLD OFFENDER IN DULUTH

Man Held for Murder in Minneapolis Known Here.

Chief of Police Troyer this morning received a photograph of Frank Erickson, the burglar, who, in a running fight at Minneapolis last Sunday night, shot and killed a member of the fire department of that city.

Chief Troyer recognized Erickson as a man who was in the Duluth police court twice on minor charges about three months ago, and who stopped at the Bethel while here. The man was arrested locally for drunkenness and vagrancy, and was driven out of town under a suspended sentence, with the understanding that if he returned he would be placed in jail.

His record is being investigated on the chance of connecting him with the Connelly murder at Procter last fall.

WAR ON THE TOMATO CAN

Civic Crusaders Will Storm the Backyard Ash Piles.

Y. M. C. A. Light Artillery Armed With Rakes, Will Help.

While there is still some frost left in the ground, and while the weather is pretty cold, Mayor Haven said this morning that he believed it just as well to have the annual municipal cleaning days this week, as planned.

Accordingly, tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday have been set aside by the city's chief executive as municipal cleaning days, and everybody in a position to do so, will be expected to pitch in and give the front and back yards and the vacant lots such a securing as they have never undergone before.

The plan of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. to offer prizes to local boys who have the best looking yards by July 15, is meeting with great favor among the younger element of the city, and already there is a large list of entries. It is believed the idea will meet with great success. A number of the boys have already started in, greatly to the satisfaction of their parents.

Aside from putting the yards all over town in a more presentable shape, it is believed the Y. M. C. A. plan will do much in promoting a spirit of civic pride among the young, and awaken in them a new interest along this line. The prizes held out as an inducement makes them work with a vigor they have not heretofore displayed, and good results are looked for.

Mayor Haven selected the last three days of the week, so that one day would fall on Saturday, thus giving the school children an opportunity to do their share in the way of cleaning up. The school teachers have taken an interest in the movement, and are doing all they can to encourage their pupils to help in the campaign. By next Sunday Duluth should look as bright and shiny as a new silver dollar. The health department, under direction of Commissioner Patton, has been busy all spring in a cleanup campaign of its own, and has accomplished much in the right direction.

Health Commissioner Patton thinks that, with a system of municipal collection of garbage, such as he proposes, in effect, the necessity for a municipal cleaning day will be largely done away with, for he says that with a systematic collection in force, much of the untidiness now in evidence will be done away.

CASE WILL BE LONG DRAWN OUT

Much Evidence to Be Introduced in the Nichols Action.

The case of Mrs. Charles Nichols against the contractors, Lundquist & Hisley, who are erecting the new St. Louis county courthouse, was continued this morning in district court before Judge Dibell.

Mrs. Nichols is suing for $5,000, claiming that the company was negligent in that it did not furnish her husband a safe place to work. The case will be long drawn out, it is said by the attorneys invovived. There is much testimony to introduce on both sides, and they expect it to last out the rest of the week.

The plaintiff is trying to prove that the contractors were directly responsible for the accident, and they are attempting to prove the foreman who had direct charge of the work was at fault.

WORLD PEACE AGAIN LAUDED

Arbitration Conference Is Begun at Lake Mohonk.

Mohonk, N. Y., May 19.—Limitation of armament and the permanent establishment of peace throughout the world by arbitration of international disputes is the purpose of the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration which opened here today. More than 300 men prominent in educational, diplomatic and business circles, attended the conference which will be in session three days. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the American branch of the association for international conciliation, presided and in an opening address said that the greatest obstacle to the limitation of armaments appeared to him to be "the insistence by England on what is called the two-power naval standard."

Prof. Samuel T. Dutton, secretary of the Peace society of New York, in an address on the "need of a more effective organization in the peace movement," declared that the situation, which the conference faced, was more critical than two years ago and that the long voyage of the American battleships had placed us in a false position before the world.

Other addresses on kindred topics were delivered by Dr. George W. Kirchwey of Columbia university, Albert K. Smiley and Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood of Boston, secretary of the American Peace society.

Dr. Kirchwey in his address on the "Problem of Limitation of Armaments," said it was the plan of the committee dealing with the subject to ask President Taft "to invite all the great military and naval powers to act in conference for the purpose of devising and agreeing upon some effective plan for limiting the growth, and if possible for reducing the present size of the military and naval armaments."

FIRST AID IN FACTORIES.

New York Sun: It was a common practice among factory employes not so many years ago to apply tobacco, cobwebs, shavings or a coat of shellac to a wound incidentally received while at work. Those rough and ready methods today are replaced in practically every factory by more or less elaborate equipment for first aid to the injured.

To facilitate the treatment of injured employes at the plant of a well known manufacturing company a local hospital has been established, equipped with iron hospital beds, operating table and a complete set of surgical instruments. Dust-proof boxes containing antiseptic gauze, absorbent cotton, a cup and pins, as well as an enameled pail for use in washing wounds are placed in readily accessible places in all parts of the works for emergencies.

Occasionally accidents in a factory are of such a nature that immediate attention is necessary. To meet these cases one plant has installed a hospital signal system. By pushing a button in any part of the shop, says System, a red light is switched in the assembly department, where the hospital attendant works, and the injured employe is taken immediately to the hospital, where he is met by the attendant. The attendant is a graduate of the course of first aid to the injured and is competent to take care of any simple cases of flesh wounds and bruises.

A careful record is kept of all cases treated. The accidents for the most part are not all serious, and the time saved in treating a flesh wound or bruise can be actually credited against the cost of the necessary equipment.

PROGRAM IS COMPLETE

Services for Memorial Day Outlined at Committee Meeting.

Parade and Mass Meeting Big Features for Monday.

The program for the observance of Memorial day in Duluth was outlined at a meeting held at the Commercial club room this afternoon, at which were present John La Vaque, representing the G. A. R., and Dr. Bowden B. P. Neff and S. S. Williamson for the Citizens' staff.

Memorial day falling on Sunday this year, it has been arranged to have the ceremonies begin on the Friday preceding, with exercises in the public schools.

A detail of Civil war veterans and representatives of the Citizens' staff, has been assigned to visit all the schools in the city, and many of the suburban schools. This will take place Friday afternoon in all of the schools except the high school, where a special program has been arranged for Friday morning.

On Sunday Gorman and Culver posts of the Grand Army will attend divine service at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church in the forenoon, and at the First Baptist church in the evening. Special services for the veterans have been arranged by the pastors of both churches.

Monday will be generally observed throughout the city as a holiday. The usual Memorial day parade, which will be the feature of the morning, will be under command of Maj. Beseke, and the line of march will be from the Armory to the First Methodist church.

The following will appear in the parade, in the order named: Guard of police, Culver post, G. A. R.; Gorman post, G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, Spanish-American veterans, state militia, Knights of Pythias, cadet corps from the East end, cadet corps from the West end, Gorman Drum corps and band.

Mayor Haven will preside at the services to be held at the First Methodist church, and Lieutenant Governor Eberhart has been secured to deliver the principal address. The musical program has not yet been completed.

The parade will be disbanded at the church with the exception of the school boys, who will continue to the high school where addresses will be made by M. W. Bates, B. P. Neff and Alderman Moore and others.

The afternoon will be spent at the cemeteries where the graves of dead soldiers will be decorated. The ceremonies at the cemeteries are in the hands of the Gorman post.

If the weather permits the Woman's Relief corps of Culver post will strew the waters of the harbor with flowers in memory of the departed sailors. This has been a custom locally and will close the day's ceremonies.

Back to Washington.

Congressman C. R. Miller will leave tonight for Washington to resume his congressional duties. He will make a personal appeal within the next few days to the war department to have the approval of the Grassy Point bridge plans reconsidered.

SUPERIOR NEWS

OFFERS COMPROMISE.

Mayor Crumpton Wants to Fix Saloon License at $800.

Although the high license ordinance introduced last evening in the council was saved from defeat by Mayor Crumpton, who advised that it be referred to a special committee, it was shown that the low license men have a majority in the council.

The ordinance would, if passed, reduce the number of saloons to 100 and raise the liquor license to $1,000. Those who went on record for low license at $500 were: Aldermen Anderson, Chadwick, Morisette, Grimsrud, McCutcheon, McGilre, Paddock, Royce, Russell and Tomlinson. Those who declared in favor of a $1,000 fee were: Aldermen Bomsch, Hagreen, Keough, Kennedy, Schaefer and St. Onge.

The mayor stated that the matter might be compromised by setting the license at $800. The matter is tabled for the present.

COPPER STOCKS QUITE FIRM

The Market Shows Fair Strength—Unaffected By Rogers' Death.

Copper stocks were a bit irregular during the session today, but with the exception of North Butte, which was slightly lower, the listed stocks closed fairly firm.

The death of H. H. Rogers had a slightly bearish effect upon the market at the opening, but not much. It is said that during the last year, Mr. Rogers had been in the market but very little.

North Butte opened at $61.50, declined to $60.75, rallied to $62, declined to $61, and closed at $61.25 bid and $61.50 asked. Amalgamated opened at $82.25, advanced to $83.37½ and closed at $83.12½ bid and $83.37½ asked.

Greene-Cananea opened at $10.50, advanced to $10.62½ and closed at $10.62½ bid and $10.87½ asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $103, advanced to $104 and closed at $103 bid and $104 asked. Giroux went off from $8.12½ to $8.87½ and closed at $7.87½ bid and $8 asked.

Anaconda opened at $50.62½, declined to $50.12½, rallied to $50.75 and closed at $50.75 bid. Owing to the death of Mr. Rogers the dividend meeting of Anaconda, scheduled for today, was postponed. Superior & Pittsburg sold at $14.25 and closed at $14.25 bid and $14.50 asked.

Butte & Superior sold up from $2.37½ to $2.62½ and closed at $2.37½ bid and $2.50 asked.

Globe was in good demand on the local curb. It advanced from $4.75 to $5.25 and closed at $5 bid and $5.50 asked. MAKES PROTEST AGAINST HASTE

Beveridge Warns of the Hardship to Thousands of Jewelers.

Washington, May 19.—Reverting at the beginning of today's session to action taken by the senate yesterday adopting a provision requiring names of makers to be placed on watchworks, Mr. Beveridge today protested against what he characterized as undue haste in disposing of that paragraph and said this provision worked hardship on tens of thousands of retail jewelers.

Mr. Paynton endeavored to obtain a reduction on duty on bottle caps from 45 per cent ad valorem, but the paragraph was adopted as reported by the finance committee. Lace making machines will be taxed at the rate of 45 per cent ad valorem when imported into this country, although they have been admitted free of duty in the past, as the senate adopted the provision to that effect recommended by the committee. It did not go through without opposition. Mr. Aldrich told Mr. Beveridge such machines were liable to be made in this country and Mr. Beveridge retorted: "Then this is a duty on liability."

Mr. Stone declared that on that theory the senate could not put anything on the free list. Mr. Aldrich said he had great doubt about admitting any machinery free of duty.

Mr. Paynton supported an amendment placing linotype typesetting machines on the free list instead of continuing a duty on them of 30 per cent ad valorem. He said he favored this because the linotype business was a monopoly with from 300 to 400 per cent profits, reaching out to control the typesetting machines of the world.

CATS GET DRUNK.

New York Press: John Noble Cumming has four cats. About a year ago he called on me for information as to the most humane method of destroying fur kittens. Of course, I suggested drowning or chloroforming. Apparently he did not have the heart to make way with the little fellows, as they are now full-grown toms and pussies. "I wouldn't take a million for them," he says. "I take one drink a day and that is a milk punch, not too strong with whisky, but just strong enough. My four cats form a semi-circle in front of me, stand on their hind legs and wait to be served with a piece of coffee cake soaked in my punch. Of course, there isn't much left for me when they have had their fill. They get drunk, stand on their heads, frolic all over the house, roll on the floor, scrap, quarrel and finally fall asleep. It's better, than catnip."

WHEAT HAS GOOD BULGE

Prices Go Up More Than a Point in America.

Flax Is Rather Quiet But Firm in the Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 19.—Wheat was in active demand from the outset today, and the closing prices were more than a point over yesterday's in the American markets. Shorts are busy covering, and their activities lent strength to the market. Cables were also higher and foreign crop news was bullish.

Liverpool closed ½@¾d higher, Berlin ¾c higher and Budapest ⅞c higher.

The May option closed 1⅜c higher in Duluth and Winnipeg, 1¾c higher in Chicago, 1¾c higher in Minneapolis; unchanged in New York, St. Louis and Kansas City. The July option closed 1⅜c higher in Duluth, 1¼@⅜c higher in Chicago, 1¼c higher in Minneapolis, 1⅜c higher in New York and St. Louis, 1@1⅛c higher in Kansas City and ⅞c up in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ⅜@½c higher in Chicago and oats ⅝@¾c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The late decline in America yesterday was partly reflected here at the opening this forenoon, at which time values were ⅛d lower. Following the opening and during the remainder of the morning session, the market was well supported with values ¼d to ⅜d higher than the opening. Support was the fault of shorts covering, due to the continued unfavorable weather conditions in South Russia and a good demand reported from the continent, with Germany still bidding freely for nearby cargoes, which were held 3d higher. Both French and English country markets were very firm under light supplies, spot markets firm and talk of light shipments from Argentina for the week. At mid-day, the market was firm and unchanged to ¼d higher than yesterday.

"Corn was quiet at the start and unchanged. Later July advanced ⅜d on the scarcity of La Plata offerings."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 2 against 7 last year, and at Minneapolis, 115 against 129 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 117 against 127 last year. Chicago received none against 22 last year, Winnipeg received 20 against 48 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 282,000 bu, last year 318,000 bu. Shipments 365,000 bu, last year, 269,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 30,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 287,000 bu, last year, 621,000 bu. Shipments, 273,000 bu, last year, 451,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 45,000 bu.

Wheat was fairly active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened late at $1.27⅝@1.27¾, declined to $1.27⅝ and closed there, a gain of 1⅜c over yesterday. July wheat opened 1¾c over yesterday, advanced to $1.27⅝ and closed at $1.27⅝, a gain of 1⅜c over yesterday. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Active Covering By Shorts Results in Wheat Gains.

Chicago, May 19.—Advances in the price of wheat at the leading European markets started active covering by shorts at the opening of trading here today resulting in gains of 1c or more compared with yesterday's final quotations. The strength abroad was due, it was said, to unfavorable crop reports from Russia and Germany. Light receipts here and in the Northwest helped to create bullish sentiment. July opened ⅝@¾c higher at $1.14⅛@1.14½ and within a few minutes had been forced up to $1.15⅛.

The top for July was reached at $1.15½. There was a moderate reaction during the final hour on profit-taking, but the close was firm with July up 1⅛@1⅜ at $1.14⅞@1.15.

Firm cables, light acceptances from the country and greatly depleted stocks here caused strength in the corn market. Prominent commission houses led the buying. July opened ⅜@⅝c higher at 68⅜@68¾c and advanced to 69¼c.

The market was firm all day and closed with July up ⅝@¾c at 68⅞@69c.

Unfavorable crop reports prompted liberal purchases of September oats by shorts, resulting in a strong market early in the day. July opened ¼c to ⅝@½c higher at 51⅝@51⅞c to 51¾c, and sold up to 51¾c.

Provisions were firm despite a 5c decline in live hogs. The market was bullishly affected by liberal sales of cash meats late yesterday. Prices at the opening were unchanged to 5c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Unfavorable Weather in Southern Russia Makes the Cables Strong.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 19.—Unfavorable weather in Southern Russia and strong foreign demand made the cables strong. This strength was reflected in the local market at the opening. Stocks decreased 600,000 bu for four days. Light offerings made further advances, and the market was fairly strong. July closed 1¼c higher than yesterday. Minneapolis today received 115 cars against 120; Duluth, 2 against 7; Winnipeg, 20 against 48. September opened $1.08⅜; high, $1.09@1.09½; low, $1.08¾; close, $1.09⅛. July opened $1.26½; high, $1.27⅜@1.27⅝; low, $1.26½; close, $1.27¼.

Cash wheat was in fair to good demand. Elevator interests were not buying much, and the lower grades were inclined to be easier. Country and local millers were good buyers. No. 1 northern sold for 1@4½c over the July option, and No. 2 northern for 2@2½c over. No. 1 northern, spot and to arrive, $1.31; No. 2 northern, spot and to arrive, $1.29; No. 3 wheat, $1.27@1.27¾; No. 3 yellow corn, 74¼@74½c; No. 3 white oats, 56⅞@56⅝c; No. 2 rye, 82¾@85¾c.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 1,429 tons. There was no change of any importance and the trade continued in the same old rut. Demand was strong and far in excess of the supply. Shipments were light and prices steady. Bran in bulk, $24.00@24.50.

Flour continued to be unchanged. Shipments again were very light. Eastern orders were for small lots and foreign inquiry was light. Prices were unchanged. Shipments, 36,217 barrels. First patents, $6.10@6.30; second patents, $6.00@6.20; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.35@3.55.

Flax — Receipts, 1 car, against 5; shipments, 2. Light offerings made the market inactive. Prices were quoted 1 cent above the Duluth July option. Close, $1.72¾.

Barley—Receipts, 21 cars, against 7; shipments, 6. The market was steady and some thought it slightly firmer. Receipts not good, especially for malting grades. Prices were unchanged. Closing range, 66@68c.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Opened Lower on Rogers' Death But Quick Rally Followed.

Market Showed Effect of Realizing Sales in Final Hour.

New York, May 19.—News of the death of H. H. Rogers, president of the Amalgamated Copper company, reached the financial district just before the stock market opened. Amalamated Copper opened at a decline of 1⅜ in response to this news. Consolidated Gas also ran off 2⅛. Otherwise the market was little affected and fractional gains almost equalled the declines. Reading fell a point and Kansas City Southern and Colorado Fuel 5⅛. The dealings were only moderately active.

A quick rally followed the opening depressed prices. Amalgamated Copper recovered ¾, but other weak features, especially Reading, rebounded to a fraction above yesterday's closing. New York Central, St. Paul, Third Avenue and American Beet Sugar lost 1 and National Biscuit preferred 1¼. Erie second went up 1 and Toledo, St. Louis & Western 1¾. After the support had become effective prices yielded again. Buying orders were awaiting the decline and again checked it. Standard Oil sold in the curb market unchanged from yesterday's price.

Prices were held quite rigidly firm, but there was little activity and only a few stocks showed positive strength. St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Western Union and Pullman rose 1½. Wabash preferred 1⅞ and American Malting preferred 2⅝. Lake Erie & Western preferred fell 2 and Pittsburg Coal preferred 1. Before noon United States Steel rose to 59⅛, the highest price on record. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed irregular. The market showed the effect of sales to realize in the final hour, but reactions did not run above fractions. Wisconsin Central lost 1¼. American Cotton Oil advanced 1⅝, New York, Chicago & St. Louis second preferred 1½, Illinois Central, Lake Erie & Western, Pittsburg, C. C. & St. Louis, International Pump, United States Rubber and Third Avenue 1. Colorado Fuel preferred sold at an advance of 7⅜. American Malting 3½, and Sloss-Sheffield Steel 2½. Prices hardened again in the final dealings.

MANILA'S NEW WATER WORKS.

The inauguration of Manila's new water supply marks the completion of a project of great importance to the city. The new water supply is taken from the Mariquina river, twenty miles northeast of Manila.

The watershed above the point of diversion covers about 140 square miles of mountain and forest and is withdrawn from settlement. Private property within this reservation will be expropriated, says the Colonial Review, and the entire district will be freed from human contamination forever.

The reservoir is rectangular in plan and measures 509 by 764 feet and is 20 feet deep. Its capacity is 50,000,000 gallons. The water enters through a concrete lined conduit four and one-half miles in length, of which a small amount lies near the surface of the ground and was constructed in an open ditch; the balance is in a tunnel, which at the deepest point is 180 feet below the surface of the ground.

At frequent intervals along the conduit are inclined shafts with steps for entering the tunnel to inspect, clean or repair. At one point the conduit sinks under the bed of the Duiutan river and at another it is carried across a stream by a 60-foot concrete arch bridge.

The water is carried from the headworks to the tunnels by means of a riveted steel pipe line forty-two inches in diameter and ten and one-half miles long. The pipe is carried under the Mariquina river, but this section, in place of steel, is of cast iron. Most of the other streams are crossed by means of concrete bridges, but at two points the pipe is carried across by steel truss bridges where the width of the stream is too great for concrete.

The dam is 460 feet long on the crest and about eighty-five feet in extreme height. It is built of cyclopean masonry, or concrete in which large stones are embedded. Behind the dam will be a storage basin which will serve the city during the dry months when the discharge of the river is less than that necessary for the supply.

The cost of the completed work is about $1,500,000 as far as the Deposito, and the distribution system to be installed throughout the city will cost $500,000 more.

The new system supplies 22,500,000 gallons of water each twenty-four hours—enough to give every man, woman and child in the city 100 gallons a day.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1909.

Our market never was in better condition and I firmly believe that at no time since I have been in the copper stock business have we had such a great future ahead of us as we now have in the city of Duluth. Every store in this city and every wholesale house will be greatly benefited if some of the mines which are now getting near the producing stage turn out right. I am going to say a few things in my own way and I will leave it to the thinking people whether I am right or wrong. Let us take for an example the Butte & Superior mine which is fast proving itself to be a real mine of very great responsibilities. It may weaken or strengthen as far as the stock is concerned, but with developments both from a zinc and copper point of view and which are very satisfactory up to this time you must now all agree with me that real value for this property is fast establishing itself and this is what counts. You are now past the place where you say "if we win we win big and if we lose we lose it all."

For a time it looked as if the people might lose and this meant a lot for the Northwest and the people of this city. Now, then with this mine fast proving that it is worth more money than the shares represent you are at once thrown on a safe basis, which means very much.

Think how many poor people own this stock, hundreds of them and already your stores are finding that collections are easier and your banks are finding many deposits growing for the simple reason that if Duluth people now want to sell this issue the outside is willing to take the stock off their hands at going prices. The market is no longer local.

It reaches from Boston to Seattle. Now then take the Ballaklava, an absolute success with big bodies of high grade ore shown up and one of the greatest new properties in Butte. Next fall you will hear from this mine in a way, for the value is represented there also, and this mine has already done our city a great deal of good. I was the first broker to advise the purchase and I have no apology to offer for it is a wonderful success and you have never heard me say one thing against this mine, no man could and tell you the truth. You will see Butte-Ballaklava stock sell above $20 next winter and we therefore advise the purchase. This one will also help our city and our banks.

Now comes the two Scotts which are absolutely the best purchases from this level of any stocks listed in this country. You are getting so much value for your money that you must make money on the shares. The mines have great responsibilities. The Scott on Butte hill alone should make the stock sell at $60, which would only mean $6,000,000 for the mine where you can mine and mine and mine for years and years to come. This is no prospect but a real mine with enough low grade ore upper levels to keep it busy for many years and think of the high grade ore opened up by the West Colusa on the 1,

BAILEY ASSAILS JOHNSON ON THE TARIFF QUESTION, FOR ALLEGED INTERVIEW

Says Quoted Remarks, If Authorized, Are "Reckless of Truth."

Is Stirred By Reference to Activity of the Southern Roads.

SENATOR JOSEPH W. BAILEY.

JOHNSON MAKES DENIAL.

St. Paul, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson, when asked today if he had read the statement made in the United States senate yesterday by Senator Bailey of Texas, in which Bailey criticised the governor as making alleged untruthful statements in regard to the minority in the senate in its attitude toward the tariff bill, said:

"So far as Mr. Bailey is concerned I do not care to make any denial of the charges he makes, but I do care to have other senators in the south know that I did not make the statement that the railways of the south influenced any of the Southern senators. Nor did I make any statement reflecting on any senator from the South or any other section.

"I did say that the Republican party would be held responsible for the result of the extra session and could not screen itself with the co-operation of a few Democrats acting with the conservative Republican element of the senate."

Washington, May 20.—Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota was made a feature of the senate tariff debate by Senator Bailey of Texas, when Bailey attacked the supposed tariff views of the Gopher executive.

When Governor Johnson was in Washington a few days ago an effort was made to interview him on the tariff question and the governor said he has not been keeping close track of the debate in the senate for several days, but added that if the bill was in about the same shape as when he had last been closely reading the newspapers he did not think much of it.

Senator Bailey, in the course of a speech on the bill, referred to the published interview with Governor Johnson.

"If this represents the views of

WHAT JOHNSON SAID TO HERALD CORRESPONDENT IN WASHINGTON

"Governor Johnson declined to discuss politics either state or national. He spoke in glowing terms of the hospitality of his Virginia friends, and if the governor was given to slang he would doubtless have said he had a 'bully time' in the old Dominion.

"The governor will leave for home tomorrow night. Asked if he had any views to express on the tariff situation, he said:

"'I have not read the papers closely for the last two weeks, and don't exactly know the situation.'

"When told that the situation was much the same as it was two weeks ago, he smilingly said:

"'Then I don't think much of the tariff bill.'"—From Herald Washington Bureau Special Correspondence, printed Friday, May 14.

TROUBLES AT AN END

New Sultan Says Asiatic Turkey Will Be Quiet.

His Speech Read to Deputies By Grand Vizier.

Constantinople, May 20.—The members of the chamber of deputies took oath this afternoon in the presence of the sultan to uphold the constitution of Turkey and to protect the sheriat and the rights of the nation.

The ceremony took place in the chamber and a great crowd gathered outside the buildings and gave an ovation to Mehmed V when he appeared on the scene. Accompanied by the grand vizier his majesty ascended the presidential tribune. He then handed his speech to the grand vizier, who read it.

The address made reference to the good relations existing between Turkey and the foreign powers and the desire of Turkey to strengthen these ties. Referring to the disturbance in Asiatic Turkey, the sultan expressed his keen regret and gave assurance that they would not occur again. This passage made a good impression. The remarks of the address was punctuated by applause.

SHOOTS FIANCEE, THEN HELPS HER TO HER RESIDENCE

Chehalis, Wash., May 20.—Raymond Geisler, aged 21 years, shot his fiancee, Miss Lilly Cassada, and after helping her to her home, six blocks distant from the scene of the shooting, went to his own home, where he later shot himself. Both lovers are seriously wounded with slim chances for recovery.

HILL FOR MODERATOR

Chances Good That the Chicagoan Will Be Elected.

Presbyterian General Assembly Begins Work in Denver.

Denver, Colo., May 20.—The hundred and twenty-first general assembly of the Presbyterian church convened at the Central Presbyterian church in this city at 11 this morning.

The chief work of the first day is the election of the moderator, and after a formal morning session, at which Rev. Dr. B. P. Fullerton of St. Louis the retiring moderator, delivered his address, the commissioners, as the delegates are called, adjourned until 3 o'clock, when the ballot begins.

The indications are that one ballot will be sufficient, as a late caucus last night resulted in the withdrawal of two candidates and a coalition that enhanced to a marked degree the chances of Rev. Dr. George P. Hill of Chicago. The two candidates whose withdrawal was decided upon last night are Dr. Robert Mackenzie of New York and Dr. Howard Agnew Johnstone of Colorado Springs.

TAFT EXPECTS TO GET TARIFF BILL BY JUNE 20.

Charlotte, N. C., May 10.—Although some senators and representatives who recently have talked with the president have taken the view that congress will not be through with the tariff bill before Aug. 1, Mr. Taft has come to the conclusion, from consultations with leaders in the senate and house, that the bill will be in his hands not later than June 20. The president expressed himself positively on the subject today.

Mr. Taft adheres also to the belief that when the bill does come from the conference it will constitute a revision of the tariff in the generally accepted sense and that it will be such a measure as will warrant his signature as a step in the right direction.

THOUSAND POUNDS OF POWDER WRECK PLANT.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 20.—Over 1,000 pounds of powder in the wheel mills of the Oriental plant of the Du Pont Powder company, located in Fair Chance, Pa., near here, exploded last night. No one was injured, but the plant was wrecked, windows shattered for a radius of several miles and the mountain woods set on fire. For a time nine other magazines, containing 500 pounds of powder each, were in danger.

FETE TAFT ONCE MORE

Southerners Again Entertain President; North Carolina This Time.

Celebration Held Over the Mecklenburg Declaration.

Charlotte, N. C., May 20.—President Taft's presence in Charlotte today lent notable interest to the annual celebration of the signing of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence, which it is claimed was the first step toward liberty taken by the American colonists. The president's participation marked the culmination of a three-day celebration.

The Mecklenberg declaration has long been the subject of stubborn controversy. It is declared by its supporters to have ante-dated the famous declaration of July 4, 1776, and has also been denounced as a "myth." The differences between the upholders of the Mecklenberg document and its critics have long been considered irreconcilable. It was with great elation, however, that the people of North Carolina secured the acceptance of Taft to attend the festivities of the closing day of the 1909 celebration.

It is claimed that the Mecklenberg

"METEOR" TRAIN WRECKED; DEATH

Tramp Is Killed and Seven Passengers Seriously Injured.

Vinita, Okla., May 20.—The "Meteor," a fast passenger on the St. Louis & San Francisco railway, eastbound, was derailed at midnight last night at a point twenty-two miles west of Vinita. A tramp was killed and seven passengers seriously injured.

VANCOUVER REGIMENT OUTSHOOTS JAP RIVALS.

Vancouver, B. C., May 20.—Eight officers of the Japanese training squadron went out on the rifle range yesterday afternoon to shoot against a picked team of the Vancouver Sixth regiment. When all returned in the evening the officials declined to give out a score. The Japanese officers smilingly declared that they would stick to the big guns aboard ship after this, while the Vancouver military men called it a hollow victory for themselves and let it go at that.

Last night official Vancouver and the officers and cadets from the cruisers attended a reception given by Consul Yada. Tonight the officers of the ships will hold a reception aboard the Aso and Soya.

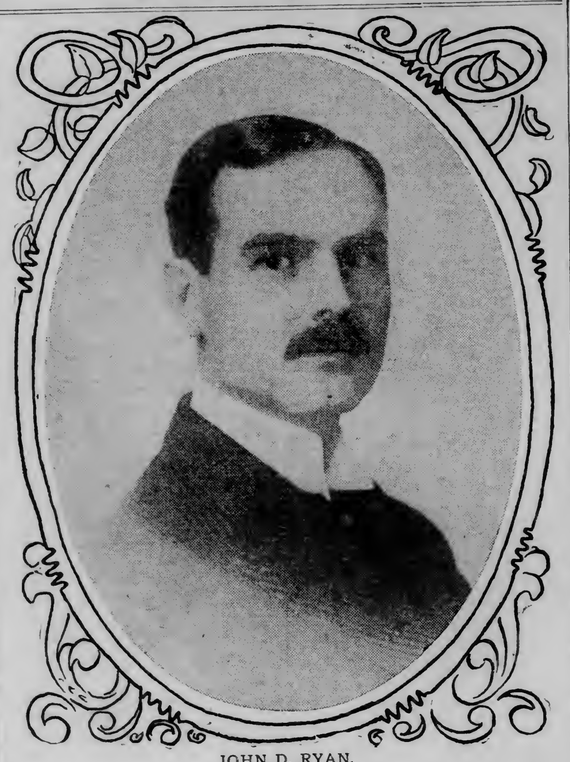
RYAN SUCCEEDS ROGERS AS AMALGAMATED COPPER CHIEF; FUNERAL FRIDAY



JOHN D. RYAN.

Standard Oil Magnate's Body Will Be Taken to Fairhaven.

Care of Private Estate to Be Assumed By Son.

Telegrams of Condolence Sent From All Parts of Country.

New York, May 20.—Evidence of the esteem in which H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil capitalist and railroad builder, was held by his friends here was given today by the calls of many prominent business men and financiers in the Rogers home to express their regret at his death. Telegrams of condolence from all over the country arrived in large numbers.

Arrangements for the funeral were completed today. The sevices will be held in the Church of the Messiah at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Rev. Robert Collyer officiating and a quartet from the Mendelssohn Glee club will sing. The body will then be taken to Fairhaven, Mass., and services will be held Saturday in Memorial church, which Mr. Rogers gave to that community. The interment will be in a mausoleum, which Mr. Rogers constructed some years ago in Riverside cemetery in Oxford near Fairhaven.

Rogers' duties as president of the Amalgamated Copper company are expected to be taken up by John D. Ryan, now president of the Anaconda Copper company, who was his closest business associate.

The care of Mr. Rogers' private estate is expected to fall upon the shoulders of either his son, H. H. Rogers, Jr., or his son-in-law, Urban H. Broughton, who has had much to do with Mr. Rogers' affairs in recent years, and has represented him in many important matters. The son, however, has in the last two years been gradually assuming some of the tasks which have to be borne by a man having so many important interests as Mr. Rogers, and the feeling prevails among business men, with whom the young man has been brought into contact, that he has qualified to continue the conduct of the estate.

Undertaker Who Thought Him Joking Carries Them Out.

Seattle, Wash., May 20.—C. B. Smith, commonly known to all seafaring men of the Pacific coast as "Shanghai" Smith, who committed suicide here yesterday, following the granting of a divorce to his wife, made all arrangements for his funeral several weeks before he died.

Two months ago Smith entered an undertaking establishment and announced that he was going to end his life soon. He said he wanted the firm to take charge of his funeral, and wrote out an order authorizing the firm to take his body when he died.

The undertaker thought Smith was joking, but he kept the order and yesterday took charge of the body as Smith had directed.

ARE HELD BY SEA ICE

Five Hundred Passengers Marooned a Mile From Shore.

Allan Liner Mongolian Stuck in St. John's Harbor.

North Sydney, N. S., May 20.—Advices from St. John's, Nfld., indicate there is little change in the position of the Allan line steamer Mongolian, caught in the ice floe off the entrance to St. John's harbor. The steamer is bound from Liverpool and has 500 passengers.

Although only a mile from shore, the steamer is wedged tightly in the drift ice, unable to move in any direction. It is believed, however, that the passengers are not in serious danger. The ice, though sufficient to form an effectual barrier to the steamer's progress is nont thought heavy enough to crush her.

In the event of its being necessary to remove the passengers, they probably could cross the ice to the shore, although such a passage might be accompanied by danger.

The night on board the Mongolian was an anxious one despite the fact that the officers assured everyone that shore could be reached easily and that ample warning would be given if the stout side of the steamers showed any signs of being unable to withstand the pressure of the ice. The passengers,

Columbus, Ohio, May 20.—Somewhere within the walls of the penitentiary Harvey Johnson, a negro life prisoner, who was received only a few days ago is believed to be hiding, undiscovered, notwithstanding that for the last eighteen hours the guards have been searching for him.

The entire floor in the bolt shop where Johnson worked has been ripped up and it was found that he crawled beneath the floor. His working clothes were found there and also an improvised ladder.

NEW SWISS MINISTER IS NEARING AMERICAN SHORE.

San Francisco, Cal., May 20.—The Japanese liner Nippon Maru, which will enter this port tomorrow, has a number of notables on board. The most important of these is Vice Admiral Sotokichi Uriu, a graduate of Annapolis, who comes to this country as the personal representative of the emperor of Japan. He will deliver the annual commencement address at his alma mater. He is accompanied by Mme. Uriu, who is an alumnae of Vassar.

Dr. Paul Ritter, newly appointed minister of Switzerland to this country, and Amos P. Wilder, former consul general at Hong Kong and recently appointed to a similar post at Shanghai, are also among the Nippon Maru's passengers.

O'BRIEN TO BE JUDGE

Will Succeed Justice C. B. Elliott, Who Goes to Philippines.

Wilbur Booth of Minneapolis Made Judge of District Court.

St. Paul, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is announced here today that Associate Justice Charles B. Elliott of the state supreme court has been appointed by President Taft as a federal judge in the Philippines to succeed Charles A. Willard, recently appointed federal judge in Minnesota. Governor Johnson has appointed Thomas D. O'Brien of St. Paul, former state insurance commissioner, as Judge Elliott's successor on the supreme court bench.

Judge Elliott was originally appointed justice of the supreme court by Governor Johnson on Oct. 1, 1904, and served under the appointment until Jan. 1, 1905, when the term to which he had been elected commenced.

Governor Johnson this morning filled the vacancy created in the Hennepin county district court by the recent death of Judge Donahue. There were about a dozen aspirants for the judgeship, and after hearing their claims the governor today announced the appointment of Wilbur F. Booth of Minneapolis.

RAILROADS

WRECK ON IRON RANGE

Nine Cars Are Derailed Twenty Miles This Side of Ely.

Passengers on Noon Train Are Transferred to Special.

Six loaded ore cars and three box cars of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad were derailed at 7:30 this morning at mile post 97, twenty miles this side of Ely. The cars jumped the track and were thrown into the embankment.

Traffic is tied up at the present time. The passengers on the train from Ely, due in this city at noon, were transferred to a passenger train that was sent up to the scene of the wreck. This train is expected in the city at 2:30 this afternoon.

Officials of the operating department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad at Two Harbors state that no one was injured in the wreck, though traffic may be tied up for twelve hours as a result of the derailment. At the present time wrecking crews are working to get the derailed cars upon the track.

COOK RETURNS FROM THE EAST

Nothing to Give Out Regarding Canadian Northern Plans.

Wirt H. Cook, president of the Duluth & Rainy Lake railway, returned this morning from a business trip to Chicago and Toronto. While in Toronto Mr. Cook was in conference with the officials of the Canadian Northern railway regarding the plans for the construction of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway from Virginia to Duluth.

Just what decision may have been arrived at in the conference Mr. Cook did not state today. He stated that he had nothing of a news nature to give out at the present time.

The plans for the construction of the new railroad from Virginia to Duluth are being considered in the Toronto office of the Canadian Northern railway, according to the statement of President William Mackenzie and other officials of that road.

TRAFFIC WAR IN PROSPECT

Canadian Roads Are Hot After Business to the Northwest.

It stated in traffic circles that there is a small-sized traffic war on between the Canadian Northern railway and its rival, the Soo. The opening of a Chicago office of the Canadian Northern is an attempt to get some of the traffic bound for the Canadian Northwest. With the completion of the Wisconsin Central, now the Chicago division of the Soo, the Soo railroad may be expected to make a greater bid for that business than it is doing at the present time.

It is stated that the Canadian Northern will go after immigration business upon a greater scale than it has ever done before, and that every effort will be made to get the great bulk of travel that is pouring from the states of the Middle West to the Canadian Northwest provinces.

Railroad Notes.

On May 23 a parlor-cafe-observation car will be placed upon the day train of the Northern Pacific railway, between Duluth and Staples.

Fred T. Holmes, at one time connected with the Duluth passenger office of the Great Northern railway, has been transferred from Des Moines to Kansas City. Mr. Holmes will be traveling passenger agent of the Great Northern from Kansas City points. Mr. Holmes is well known to railway men of this city.

M. M. Hubbert, who was formerly city passenger agent at the Great Northern at Duluth, has been transferred from city passenger agent at Chicago to traveling passenger agent of the Great Northern at St. Louis.

CHILDREN ARE REPEATING

Winners in Cow Contest Not Satisfied With One Prize.

Write a letter about Borden's Peerless Evaporated Milk.

Cut a label off a can of that milk.

Cut out the coupon that you will find in another part of The Herald.

Put them all together and send to the contest editor of The Herald.

And the next day you'll have a prize, perhaps of $3, if yours is the best letter sent in, or $2 if it is the second best.

Any number of Duluth boys and girls, between the ages of 12 years and 21, are writing letters, and getting prizes, too, but a good many of the young people are not reading the instructions carefully. Yesterday's prize for the letter was won by Harry Kenner of 1814 East Second street. If you forgot some of the conditions in your first letter, try it again.

Three things you must remember: Write the best letter you can; cut the coupon out of The Herald, and be sure to enclose the label from the can of Borden's Milk.

In the cow picture contest, Werner Wipson of 5 East Seventh street, won the $2 prize. Werner is 12 years old, and he drew a very grand cow indeed. Estelle Altschul of 127 East First street, won the second prize of $1 yesterday. Estelle is a busy little artist these days, for she won the first prize Tuesday and the second prize yesterday. That is one of the very nice things about this contest, you can be in it every day if you want to and win a prize just as often as you do the best or the second best work.

The Duluth boys and girls and young people who are not getting busy in the Borden contest are missing a fine chance to make some money.

James Holmes, colored, who shot and slightly wounded Jack Buell last evening in a brawl in a Third street saloon, was discovered and arrested this morning by the Superior police. He demanded an examination and his case has been set for May 24. In default of $2,000 bail he was remanded to the county jail.

His partner, Bruce Webb, who was also mixed up in the affray, is still in hiding. After Holmes made his getaway last night from the rear door of the saloon he made tracks for one of the coal docks and spent the remainder of the night with a colored watchman, a friend.

This morning he stepped outside of the shack for a moment and was spied by an officer, who took him in custody.

Bean was one of the first patients to occupy the new asylum, which was opened up a short time ago. He was brought to Superior from Mendota. Although he is not a raving maniac, he is known to have a criminal record, having served a sentence in the Marquette prison in Michigan and another in the reformatory at Green Bay, Wis.

The discovery of his escape was made by one of the asylum attendants at 3 o'clock this morning. It is supposed that he escaped through a window, but nothing of a definite nature is known.

The police were still searching for him this afternoon. He is a man of a very light complexion, measures about 5 feet 6 inches, and weighs about 150 pounds. He wore a gray suit.

A reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer has been offered by the city of Superior, and a reward of $50 for the return of the watch.

FIRE THREATENS LUMBER YARDS

Spark From Burner Ignites Pile at Alger-Smith Mill.

What might have proved to be a stubborn fire, and one which might have done considerable damage to the lumber yards at the Alger-Smith mill at West Duluth, yesterday afternoon, was averted by the quick work of the employes of the mill.

A blaze was noticed about 2:30 o'clock on one of the lumber piles by one of the workmen. An alarm was turned in, but before the firemen arrived on the scene, the men at the yards had pulled out a hose and were directing a stream of water on the flames.

The firemen took but a few minutes to put out the blaze. The loss was slight, but might have been considerable had the flames escaped the notice of a passing workman at the time. It is thought that the fire started from a spark from the mill burner, blown on the lumber pile.

PREDICTS YEAR OF HIGH PRICES

Patten Addresses the Flour Men's Club In Chicago.

Chicago, May 20.—James A. Patten, whose operations in wheat have received national attention during the last few weeks, reviewed the wheat situation and gave his opinion of the market in an address before the Flour Men's club of Chicago.

"I predict," said he, "that high prices will prevail all over the world for a year to come in wheat, and that red winter wheat (soft wheat) will sell as high in America a year from now as it is selling for today.

"I cannot dwell too strongly on these laws of supply and demand and the theory that the prediction of wheat in the United States has not kept pace with the increase in population, and I want to suggest that the trade each year will have to realize this condition in its future dealings and study from this standpoint. The wheat lands are being cropped to death. Changes must come or we will suffer the result."

THREE FAILURES ARE ANNOUNCED

Sederquist, Barry & Co. Assign; Others Go to Wall.

New York, May 20.—The assignment for the benefit of creditors of the brokerage firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co. of Boston and New York, was announced today on the consolidated exchange, in which the firm had a membership. The assignment is said to have been due to the failure of customers short of stocks to put up margins. It is understood the firm has no outstanding commitments on the New York consolidated exchange. Its business in the city was not large.

Two Other Failures.

Boston, Mass., May 20.—The failure of Sederquist, Barry & Co. was followed by the suspension of Edward P. Cramm & Co., 7 Congress street. It was stated that Cramm & Co. were creditors of Sederquist, Barry & Co., and this was confirmed when E. P. Cramm joined Jacob and Frank Ahrens in involuntary bankruptcy proceedings against the Sederquist company in the United States district court.

A third failure, said to be due to the assignment of Sederquist Barry & Co., is the suspension, at noon, of Phillips & Pette, with offices at 105 Summer street.

LABEL LEAGUE MEMBERS MEET.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Independent Label league was held last evening at Kalamazoo hall. The members expressed themselves during the discussion of the evening as in favor of insisting upon union label goods. The market is well supplied with union goods bearing the label, and they, as wives of union men, should insist upon having such goods, they said. The matter of becoming affiliated with the international union was discussed, although no action was taken. The sweatshop methods, which are depriving so many women and children of the opportunity for happiness, would soon be a thing of the past said the president of the local union, if the members would insist upon having the label on supplies that come into their homes.

The next meeting of the league will be held Wednesday, June 2.

The members will be entertained at a thimble bee Thursday afternoon, Aug. 27, by Mrs. D. Rose of 2127 North Sixtieth avenue east.

Tucker was read showing that Mrs. Tucker has property worth $100,000. Mrs. Tucker in her affidavit said that her income was $1,750 a year.

LESS THAN A MILLION

The New Courthouse Will Cost Less Than the Estimate.

Saving of About $40,000 Over the Original Figures.

The total cost of the new St. Louis county courthouse will be $959,240.58, as nearly as can be figured now.

These figures come from the courthouse commission and are based on the contracts already let. There are but two more contracts to let, but provision for them has been made in the figure mentioned above.

The shades for the building and the portable electric lights are all that remain and a liberal allowance has been made for the superintendent's expenses, his salary and incidental expense connected with the finishing up of the building.

The building has up to this time cost $820,014.84. Architect's fees, which are 5 per cent, amount to $41,600.74. This brings the cost of the building proper up to $871,515.58.

The furniture, both wood and metal, cost $43,425. The grading contract amounted to $29,300. The superintendent's expense, together with his salary and other expenses, is estimated at $15,000. This brings the total cost to $959,240.58.

The estimates made in the first place or at the beginning of the erection of the building, were $975,000. Some of the contracts have fallen below the original estimate, however, and the county is the gainer.

To Detroit and Return $12.00.

Via the South Shore, in connection with steamers of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company. Leaving Duluth June 8, 11, 16 and 18. Toledo, $12.50; Cleveland, $13.50; Buffalo, $14.

ARE EXPLORING NEAR STAPLES

Duluth Concern Taking Options on Some Promising Properties.

Staples, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Juniata Mining company of Duluth, which is doing exploratory work in southern Cass county, in the vicinity of Esterly, northeast of here, have secured a good number of options, by which, in case iron is found, the company will receive a mineral deed to an undividual three-fourths interest.

At the present time the company is drilling on the Walter Smith farm on section 28, township 135, range 32, having purchased the property from him at a consideration of $50 per acre.

The Ross farm of 320 acres, lying immediately northwest from there, has also been purchased at $30 per acre.

Minneapolis people have begun picking up all the available cheap lands in this and adjoining townships, one party securing 200 acres and another securing several hundred acres.

From present indications, and from the general opinion of mining experts, it is believed that the richest ore yet found is located in this immediate region, extending from Staples south and in a northeasterly direction to Leader, and thence across the foothills to Pine River and thence into Crow Wing county, crossing near Grand Rapids and connecting with the original iron ranges.

STAPLES' NEW DEPOT.

Contract Let By Northern Pacific for $50,000 Structure.

Staples, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Northern Pacific Railway company has let the contract for the erection of a magnificent depot here. The building is to be modern in every particular, with commodious offices, bath and toilet, and with well ventilated waiting rooms. The building is to be of brick and erected at a cost of about $50,000.

STATUE DEDICATED TO REV. JOHN WITHERSPOON.

Washington, May 20.—In memory of his illustrious services as patriot, philanthropist and theologist, a handsome statue was dedicated today to Rev. Dr. John Witherspoon, famed as a Scotch Presbyterian minister, signer of the Declaration of Independence, member of the Continental congress and once president of Princeton university.

It is the first time that a statue has ever been erected in this city by popular subscription to a signer of that great instrument. Assembled to do honor to the memory of Witherspoon were diplomatic representatives of foreign governments, men high in the official and industrial life of the nation, many of the descendants of the noted Scotchman and others.

The statue, which has been erected on the triangle formed by Connecticut avenue and Eighteenth and N streets, directly in front of the Church of the Covenant, is of bronze, and represents Witherspoon in oratorial attitude. He holds a book in one hand, and faces the south.

MONEY TO END STRIKE

Witness Tells How "Skinny" Madden Got His Cash.

Force to Cut Price, in Case of Tea Company.

Chicago, May 20.—Wider latitude in the introduction of evidence was given the prosecution today by Judge McSurly in the case against "Skinny" Madden, F. A. Pouchot and M. J. Boyle, labor leaders, charged with conspiracy to extort money in the settlement of a strike against the Joseph Klicka company.

McSurley's ruling followed several hours' argument and allows the state to introduce witnesses not directly concerned in the Klicka case, but who, it is said, will give testimony tending to show that the alleged extortion was merely an incident of a general policy pursued by the defendants.

The first witness called by State's Attorney Wayman under this ruling was Jacob S. Charmer, a building contractor, who told of a strike called last September on the plant of the Jewell Tea company.

"I asked Pouchot why the strike had been called and he said that certain sheet metal sleeves for the coffee roasting plant had been placed in the plant by non-union labor. I told him if that was his only kick I would have the sleeves torn out and new ones put in by union men."

"'Oh don't bother about that; leave them where they are,' Pouchot said. He told me to see Madden and make him a cash offer to settle the strike."

Witness proceeded to relate a later interview with Madden in which he alleged Madden demanded $2,750 as his price for calling off the strike. The witness said he reduced it to $2,700.

"'You'll have to get off your high horse,' I told him. Then I went to see Fred V. Skeff, president of the tea company. We talked it over and then I returned to Madden. "'You've got to use some common sense,' I told him, 'We've got to agree on a decent price or fight it out on other lines.' Then he came down to $1,500.

"I asked him how Skeff was to pay the money and he said Skeff should bring along a confidential man to meet a similar agent who would be with Madden. These two agents were to be left alone in a private room where the money was to change hands. Skeff said he brought the money in $100 bills, put them in an envelope, and left the sum on the desk in the office used by Madden."

UNITARIANISM DEFINED.

Charles W. Ames of St. Paul Tells Conference What Members Believe.

St. Paul, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles W. Ames of this city, in addressing the Unitarian conference at Unity church here, in discussing the joys and privileges of the faith, told something of the belief in these words:

"We rejoice because ours is a free faith. We are bound by no trammels of theological dogma. We do not feel obliged to cramp our thought to make it fit into the language of other times and other peoples, nor do we have to twist and distort and interpret the language of the past to fit our thought. We are not bound to accept the theories of God and man which prevailed when the earth was the center of the universe, and not an infinitesimal speck of matter floating in infinite space. We need not limit ourselves to a story of creation which represents the life of the human race on our obscure planet as the culmination of eternity."

"The Faith Cure Phase of Modern Healing" was discussed in a notable address by Rev. J. V. Blake of Chicago. In discussing "The Effective Church," Rev. Arthur O. Weatherly of Lincoln, Neb., maintained that the great question of the time was the social problem.

The addresses yesterday afternoon were delivered by Rev. C. F. Elliott of Quincy, Ill., and Rev. John W. Day of St. Louis. The speakers of last evening were Rev. W. Hanson Pulsford of Chicago and Rev. F. A. Gilmore of Madison, Wis.

LIVE FOWL AT LOFTY PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, May 20.—Live fowls, the kind that produce eggs for table use, are selling in this city at the highest price paid in many years, according to statements of South Water street men today. Incidentally, the famous Thanksgiving day bird—the turkey—is at a discount compared with its smaller rival, turkeys selling today at 15 cents per pound, live weight, while live hens are bringing 16 cents. This condition of affairs is said to be due to the unusually high price which has prevailed for grain during the past year and to the record-breaking price of eggs, which, during the spring months, has been the highest ever recorded for the similar period in this market.

SPUR TO LUMBER CAMP BEING LAID

Brooks-Scanlon Co. Prepare to Ship Logs From Ely Lake.

Eveleth, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Brooks-Scanlon Lumber company is laying a spur track from the Missabe tracks to its lumber camp near Ely lake. The Shea homestead is being stripped of its lumber and as soon as the spur is laid the logs will be sent away for sawing. The city council may decide to take advantage of the new spur track so that coal for the pumping station near St. Mary's lake can be delivered there by the tracks instead of by team.

The Iron Range road has some surveyors getting the grade for the new tracks, to take the place of those now running past the Gilbert mine. The new line will be a considerable distance from the town, but the tracks will not be laid for a year. Gilbert will then use the Virginia branch of the Iron Range road.

EAGLES FLOP WINGS.

Members of Eveleth Aeries Celebrate Close of Contest.

Eveleth, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eagles enjoyed a banquet last night at Monitor hall as a fitting close to a contest for members.

The lodge was divided into the "Bald" and "American" Eagles, and the contest was on for several months. The contest ended May 1, with the Bald Eagles winning, having secured the majority of the new eighty-three members.

Last night the American Eagles paid for losing by giving the banquet. About 125 local Eagles were present, while many from Hibbing, Duluth and Virginia also joined in the festivities.

The local Elks, whose institution of the new lodge was postponed until next week, are making elaborate preparations for the banquet and ceremonies which will be held the night of the instituting. About 250 Elks from Duluth are expected. These will come on a special train, if possible, accompanied by a band. To make room for all the guests at the Globe, tables will be set both in the banquet hall and the lobby. The orchestra will have to be placed in the hotel office. Everything possible is being done by the local Elks to make the affair a big one. About eighty members will organize the new lodge.

The local order B'rith Abraham is making preparations for its banquet Sunday at the Monitor hall to celebrate the first anniversary of the organization of the local order. Many out-of-town lodge members are expected.

ELY PETITIONS FOR FINE PARK

Asks the Council to Acquire Property on Crossman's Point.

Ely, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A petition, signed by a large number of citizens, was presented at the last meeting of the city council, asking the city to take steps at once to secure a site for a city park on Crossman's Point, about half a mile from the water and light plant.

The council referred the matter to the committee on public grounds and buildings for a report at the next regular meeting. The site suggested is a beautiful spot, situated on a peninsula extending almost three-quarters of a mile out into Long lake, and has a fine growth of trees on it which would be a valuable asset for a park. The shores of the peninsula are diversified, part being shallow, and having a gravel beach and suitable for bathing. Other parts have precipitous banks, from ten to twenty feet high. The place is well and beautifully located as pertains to convenience and the lay of the ground, and easy of access from the city. The council will probably find legal difficulties in the way of the project, as the present city charter does not permit of the acquisition of such property outside of the city limits. The charter will probably be amended in the near future, in order that the city may construct a more modern sewer system, and provide for such public works and improvements as are asked for by the petitioners.

ROB WORKMEN OF CLOTHING

Sneak Thieves From Duluth Caught After Taking Trousers.

Hibbing, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—About 12 o'clock last night while the men in the Oliver machine shop were out washing up, preparatory to eating their lunch, two men entered and stole some trousers which were hanging on the wall and which contained watches and money.

The theft was quickly noticed and Officer Cole gave chase and captured one of the thieves. The other man was captured by the machinist. Officer Cole lodged both men in jail, where they gave the names of George Ansruth and George Grimes. Their case will come up this afternoon. Both give Duluth as their home.

FIND BAY GUILTY; GIVEN STIFF FINE

Hibbing Man Fined $50 and Costs for Mixing With Officer.

Hibbing, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the trial of the case of the village of Hibbing vs. Oscar Bay, which was carried over from Tuesday in the municipal court, the jury was out about ten minutes and returned a verdict of guilty.

The trial was the result of an argument which occurred last Tuesday. It developed from the testimony introduced that Frank Bay, a brother of Oscar, who is managing the Borin bus line of Chisholm, was racing down Third avenue with another bus driver. They were noticed by Officer Dan McLeod, who at once went down to the Hibbing hotel where they stop, and told Frank Bay that if he did not stop his fast driving he would have to arrest him. About this time Oscar stepped in and dared McLeod to arrest Frank. McLeod told him that he was not talking to him, whereupon Bay started in to abuse him, calling him vile names and telling him that he could not arrest anybody, the result being Oscar's arrest and the trial. Bay was fined $50 and $28 costs or sixty days in the county jail.

GIVEN JUDGMENT FOR PART OF DEBT.

Eveleth, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.—John Skerjonic, who sued Rudel Mise for money supposed to be loaned the latter, amounting to $59.11, had a judgment rendered in his favor yesterday by Judge Prince for $39.20. The judge decided that the $35 which was first loaned to Mise was a legitimate debt and the $4.20 was interest. The rest of the money was loaned for gambling purposes, and therefore could not be collected.

Karl Goreman who was arrested for assault and battery, pleaded guilty and was fined $5, which was paid.

however, displayed admirable patience. Fishermen and many other persons from the city journeyed out over the ice during the early morning and many messages were sent on shore.

Told By Passengers.

To those who visited the Mongolian the passengers recounted how the ice pack bore down on the steamer yesterday as she neared the coast, until, hemmed in on every side, further progress was completely stopped. Then came the effort to the little steamer Prospero to break through the ice at the harbors entrance and open a lane for the larger steamer. Many of the passengers bound to Halifax and Philadelphia on the Mongolian thought that the pressure would perhaps enable them to land. There was much disappointment when the ice pack was seen to gather steadily around the little steamer until she also succumbed to its mighty power.

The two steamers lay practically in the same position throughout the night. There was some movement of the big bergs as the tide rose and fell, and the weight of the great ocean currents swept along shore from the northeast, extended in shore.

During the forenoon it was noticed that the ice was jamming up a bit on the shore, and the Mongolian had been forced a trifle to the southward.

Many climbed Telegraph hill, an eminence overlooking the scene, and the entrance to the harbor, but even at a height of several hundred feet there was no sign of clear water for at least twenty-five miles off shore, while reports from the North stated that every bay, harbor and inlet was choked with ice.

Procession of Bergs.

The weather today was favorable for both vessels. The morning broke cloudy, but with only a slight breeze from the north and there was no indication of a shift of wind to the eastward, for the barometer held high.

Many old inhabitants are unable to remember such an extensive ice field off St. Johns as that which has amassed here during the past two days. The sight of a mighty procession of bergs marching steadily down the coast to their dissolution on the grand banks is a familiar one to inhabitants of the east coast. But these small cities of the mighty glaciers of Greenland and Spitzbergen have marched singly or in small groups and it is unusual for them to mass up into a field forty or fifty miles wide and hundreds of miles long. Steamers seeking their port in the spring have been caught and held for several days, but it is in many years since a vessel has been completely surrounded by an ice field.

Many of the passengers were surprised at the extent of the field when they came on deck this morning. They went to bed last night confident that a lead would be opened up in the morning and that the harbor would be gained. But when they found the Mongolian in an even dinner strip they became somewhat discouraged, although assured by the officers that there was no danger. They soon became resigned to the conditions and settled down by the cliffs either for release or for word to go over the side and start over the ice for shore.

This latter contingency seemed remote at noon, for the Mongolian was still making a stout fight against the bergs.

declaration was signed May 20, 1775. A body of colonists met in Mecklenberg, near Charlotte and resolving themselves into a committee of safety, declared they drew up a declaration of independence. Unfortunately for the discussion which has followed the original copy of the Mecklenberg declaration was said to have been lost in a fire which destroyed the home of John McKnitt Alexander, in whose keeping it was. Among Alexander's papers, however, it is related that a copy of the original, signed by him as a delegate and clerk of the convention, was found. It was in 1825 that the people of North Carolina first formally observed May 20. In 1830 the legislature of the state appointed a committee to consider all the evidence obtainable concerning the affairs. The committee affirmed the genuineness of the Mecklenberg resolutions. Today, the date May 20 is emblazoned on the great seal of North Carolina, the declaration appears in the statute books of the state and each year the anniversary is observed. Among the residents of Charlotte are many descendants of those who are claiming to have framed and signed this first declaration of American independence.

The president, who yesterday was the guest of Petersburg, Va., upon his arrival here today was met at the railway station by a committee of citizens and escorted to the Selwyn hotel. As the regular Southern railway train bearing the president's car crossed the city limits, a presidential salute of twenty-one guns was fired by the Charlotte artillery. Arriving at the hotel, the president held a reception for one hour. Later, with scores of Union and Confederate veterans for his escort, the president, accompanied by Mrs. "Stonewall" Jackson proceeded to a reviewing stand, from which he witnessed the passing of the most notable parade ever held in this city.

To act as military escort to the president during his stay in Charlotte Troop E of the Eleventh United States cavalry, a battalion of the Seventeenth United States infantry and the Seventeenth Infantry band, arrived two days ago. Today this detachment of regulars headed the military division of the parade. Altogether there were eight divisions to the pageant.

Checked By Militia.

Mr. Taft was greeted by an immense throng which had gathered at the Southern railway station. A heavy rain fell during the morning, but ceased just before Mr. Taft reached the city.

It required the service of several companies of militia to keep the cheering crowds at the depot in check as the president alighted and made his way to a waiting carriage. Mr. Taft, accompanied by Capt. Archibald Butt, his military aide, was met at North Charlotte by a local committee. Despite the cessation of rain as the president arrived, the weather continued threatening, but in no wise interfered with the carrying out of the day's program.

Interest in the president's visit to Charlotte centered in the attitude he would take toward the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, the anniversary of the signing of which, is celebrated throughout the state of North Carolina the 20th of each May. Mr. Taft assumes the position that regardless of the exact language of the declarations made in May, 1775, a full year before the signing of the Jefferson declaration at Philadelphia, July 4, 1776, the fact remains that there was a Declaration of Independence on the part of citizens of North Carolina.

"It is not so material as to the exact language used," said the president today. "The measure of a declaration for the principles of civil liberty and self government is not so much the abuse or denunciation of the former controlling power as the provisions made for the future form of government. The impressive thing about the North Carolinian proposition is the sensible way the people of the state, after deciding to sever relations with Great Britain went about the matter of setting up a government of their own. They appointed selectmen, provided for their military officers, their courts and forms of legal procedure, It showed not alone a desire for liberty but the ability to govern and a thorough knowledge of the subjects."

The sharp controversy which was waged about the Mecklenburg declaration has had to do largely with the language of the document signed either May 20 or May 31, 1775. It has been charged that the language of the declaration as accepted in North Carolina was too much like that employed by Jefferson to have been original. The president in his speech today did not undertake to reconcile the long existing differences. The important thing after all, he pointed out, is the ability of Anglo-Saxons to rule.

BAILEY ASSAILS JOHNSON

Mr. Johnson," Mr. Bailey said, "then he might better be at home studying the tariff question than seeking Democratic favor in other states. If this interview was authorized or sanctioned by Governor Johnson he was utterly reckless of the truth and is disqualified for any station. His explanation is that the railroads of the South have interested themselves in this legislation and have overcome the consciences of some senators. He ought, if he knows that, in the cause of truth to specify who are the men to whom he refers."

Defining the Democratic attitude toward the tariff question, Mr. Bailey declared that the day when Democrats should favor free raw material had passed and said that doctrine was expressed by Democrats in the past who had hoped by such favor to attract Northern manufacturers.

"The Democratic party," said Mr. Bailey, "repudiated the heresy of free raw material."

He defended the vote of Democrats who favored a revenue tax on iron ore. He ridiculed "5 per cent reduction" in articles of the pending bill, which he said were for the benefit of manufacturers using the articles receiving the reduction.

The discussion then shifted to the iron and steel schedule.

"I was called upon and asked to vote for a duty on iron ore by men who represent the United States Steel corporation or subsidiary companies," said Senator Smith of Maryland when pressed by Mr. Tillman to say how he knew the Steel corporation wanted a duty on iron ore. Smith defended his vote for free iron ore as one to encourage competing steel corporations.

The senate dropped into a party discussion and Democrats and Republicans, using at times strong language, taunted each other with the degree of dissensions each party has suffered during the consideration of the tariff. The debate was precipitated by Bailey, who charged the Republicans with entering into a conspiracy by exaggerating Democratic dissensions in order to hide their own difficulties. He said he had by careful observation recently become convinced "that a deliberate and systematic plan had been inaugurated to obscure the differences on the Republican side by exaggerating the differences on this side."

This statement called Mr. Hale to his feet, Mr. Bailey readily giving way to the senator from Maine. Mr. Hale assured the senator from Texas that there was no reason for such suspicion and he added that the fact was that the newspapers seizing upon dissensions in either party, displayed them prominently as picturesque features. He assured the Texan that nothing beyond that in his opinion existed in respect to his suspicion of conspiracy. Mr. Hale declared that there would be no failure to enact a protective tariff bill, and he declared that when it was all over all the Republicans would support it and all the Democrats would oppose it.

FAVORS POLICY OF VAN CLEAVE

President of National Association of Manufacturers Talks.

New York, May 20.—John Kirby,, Jr., was unanimously elected to the presidency of the National Association of Manufacturers. The election was made the occasion of a demonstration in favor of J. W. Van Cleave, the retiring president, whose policy Mr. Kirby pledged himself to follow.

"Mr. Gompers," said Mr. Kirby, "has said that while Mr. Van Cleave would pretend to refuse a renomination, he would in reality be dropped by the association. If Mr. Gompers could have been present today when Mr. Van Cleave was made the recipient of every mark of appreciation and respect within the gift of the association and its members individually, he would undoubtedly have amended his judgment of the causes lying at the bottom of my election. Now that I have been chosen to succeed Mr. Van Cleave, however, I don't know where his consolation is to come from.

"Our organization is pledged to face the labor question. It involves a great principle which cannot be fooled with, compromised with, or temporized with. If America is to remain America. The life of the American Federation of Labor is hanging by a thread and there would be no militant organized labor today if it were not for the support of misguided philantrophists and women's societies, who are constantly keeping up the agitation. My policy will be that of James W. Van Cleave. I do not believe in compromise with criminals. It is better to bring the whole labor question to a pointed issue instead of temporizing and fooling with it. The only way to deal with this animal is to take it by the horns till it is made obedient."

NO GRIEVANCE, BUT CALLED OUT

Story of Cement Finisher at "Skinny" Madden's Trial.

Chicago, May 20.—A ray of light was flashed into the dark places of at least one building trades strike in Chicago, and a study in contrasts presented between the labor leader and the man called out on strike without knowing that he had a grievance. Incidentally there was allusion to practical trades unionism in San Francisco, the inference being plain that in the opinion of the attorney asking questions, the calling and settling of strikes in that city, in certain instances, have been much influenced by the quiet transfer of money from one purse to another. These features and others were presented when the state opened its case against Martin B. "Skinny" Madden, president of the Associated Building Trades Council of Chicago, and his associates, F. A. Poucha and M. J. Boyle, all of whom are charged with conspiracy to extort $1,000 from the Joseph Klicka company, a Chicago concern, which fell afoul of a strike on its plant last winter while it was in course of construction.

In the calling of the strike last winter occurred the study in contrasts as told in Judge McSurley's court, for the strike was called by Madden, furclad and not unconscious of a diamond pin, from his automobile, and the order hit, amongst 150 others, Jacob Dublanski, a cement finisher, who refused to walk out because he had a wife and six children to care for.

"When men came and called the strike, what did they tell you?" Dublanski was asked.

"Just told us there was a strike and we should quit."

"Then what."

"Then I told him I had a wife and six children, and one of the men asked him who was going to pay for our lost time."

"And then?"

"Then he went to the foreman and stopped us."

ATTACKED AGENT WITH A KNIFE

Dan Schmidt Is Charged With Stabbing Carl C. Melland.

Dan Schmidt was arrested last night, charged with using a knife on Carl C. Melland, who works for a local employment agency. A knife cut two inches in length was inflicted on the latter's forehead, and it was necessary for a physician to take several stitches in it.

Melland, while signing up men for construction work in the U. & I. saloon on the Bowery, rejected the application of Schmidt. Schmidt flew into a rage, and it is claimed he drew a knife and attacked the employment man, striking on the forehead with the blade.

Other men in the place jumped to Melland's assistance, and overpowered Schmidt, holding him until the arrival of Patrolman Hartz, who placed him under arrest.

In municipal court this morning Schmidt pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault, and his hearing was set for next Monday.

STUMBLED; WANTS BIG DAMAGES

Mrs. Blanche C. Balmer Is Suing the City for $12,000.

Mrs. Blanche C. Balmer stumbled on the sidewalk near her home on Palmetto street in October of 1908. She claims the city was negligent in the matter of keeping its sidewalks in proper repair and wants $12,000 as the result of the fall.

She says that she was returning home from a party with her husband and a friend quite late at night, when at a certain point on Orange street the three stumbled and fell in a heap. She claims that a loosened plank caused all the trouble.

The city will claim that they did not exercise due caution.

The case is being heard before Judge Hughes of the district court.

GLASS FLIES IN SALOON BRAWL

Alfred Nieme Is Frightfully Cut About the Face.

Alfred Nieme, 26 years of age, was frightfully cut about the face by a beer glass, in a brawl in the K. bar, 350 Lake avenue, yesterday afternoon. It is claimed the glass was thrown by Axel Saufka, who was arrested, together with Nieme. Both men were booked on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Nieme received much the worst of the encounter, and when he arrived at the police station was covered with blood. It took ten stitches to sew up the gash in his face. He was also cut in the cheek and neck, and flying pieces of glass lodged in his eyes. Saufka says Nieme attacked him, but the latter claims all he did was to ask for a match.

The trial of both men has been set for next Monday afternoon.

Sam F. Fullerton state fish commissioner, is in Duluth today on his way to the Rainy river, where he will attempt to collect for the state fish hatchery at St. Paul, a quantity of the eggs of the yellow-bellied wall-eyed pike. If Mr. Fullerton is successful in his efforts in collecting the eggs of the Canadian pike, they will be mixed with the fry already in the Minnesota lakes.

The fish commissioner states that the mixing of the Canadian species with the species of pike at the present time in the Minnesota waters, will be a good thing for the fish, as it will improve the species.

Mr. Fullerton has been very busy this spring collecting eggs from Gull lake, Whitefish lake and Pine lake, all in the vicinity of Brainerd. Other eggs have been collected from Battle lake, in Ottertail county; Big Pelican lake, in Becker county, and the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac. Over 160,000,000 eggs have been collected by the force of the state fish hatchery, and these are at the present time hatching in the St. Paul hatchery.

Many of the fry will be placed in the lakes and rivers of the northern part of the state. All of the eggs collected in the lakes and rivers of this state are of the whilte bellied pike. The trip that Mr. Fullerton is on at the present time, will take him to international waters. The spot that the commissioner will visit, is where the Rainy river enters the Lake of the Woods.

At this point nets have been set out, and it is hoped that a large number of the Canadian pike will have been caught by the time Mr. Fullerton reaches the spot.

At the present time the lakes of Minnesota are fairly well stocked with fish, according to Mr. Fullerton. He deplores the fact that this state has not more hatcheries. There are only two in the state at the present time, the one at St. Paul, and the one at Glenwood. There is an appropriation for a hatchery between Deerwood and Glenwood. This hatchery it is hoped will be built in the near future.

The state fish commissioner points out that Wisconsin, with one-twentieth of the water area that Minnesota possesses, has eight hatcheries. Michigan, with not nearly the number of inland lakes and streams that are possessed by this state, has nine hatcheries.

"If we had more hatcheries in this state," Mr. Fullerton says, "the fishing would be much better, as the fish department would be enabled to stock the lakes with more fish than it is is able to do at the present time, with its limited facilities."

Trays for the collecting of the eggs at the Rainy river have been shipped there and it is hoped to secure a fine collection. Mr. Fullerton states that a car of fish will soon be on its way to the northern part of the state. These fish will be placed in the waters of this section of the state.

To Make Shoes Wear Well.

If possible purchase shoes three months before you want to wear them. To make the soles more durable, pour some castor oil into a plate, stand the soles in this and leave for three days. The oil must not be deep enough to touch the leather. Then wipe the soles with a cloth, rub a very little oil into the leather, and put the boots away until you need them. You should never be out of golden grain belt beer. A glass should be served with each meal. Order a case today. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Duluth Branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

SHOT DOG AND IS ARRESTED

J. W. Thompson Discharges Firearm in City Limits.

James W. Thompson of 16½ East Fifth street was arrested today, charged with discharging firearms within the city limits. The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. N. I. Bakken, who says she saw Thompson shoot a dog belonging to a neighbor.

The sad demise of the canine occurred yesterday. The animal had been bothering Thompson. Mrs. Bakken says that, not content with killing the dog, Thompson shot several more times at different objects, evidently to get in practice, and even went so far as to point his revolver at a little boy to frighten him.

SECRETARY THOUGHT THAT HE "HAD 'EM"

Harry Lemont, secretary to Mayor Haven, thought judgment day had come last night. It took him five minutes of hard study, pinching himself, etc., to decide whether he was alive, dead or dreaming. A voice as from the grave, coming out of the pitchy blackness of the night, smote his ears at 2:30 o'clock this morning, and, awakening him from sound and peaceful slumber, caused all the trouble.

"The—mayor—is— not — in. The—mayor—will—be—in—very—soon. You —may—be—seated—and—wait — for — the—mayor."

That is what the voice was saying. It came from somewhere very near at hand, yet did not seem to be in the same room. Mr. Lemont sat up in bed and rubbed his eyes. He rooms at the St. Louis hotel. The curtains were lowered, so it was very dark. A cold sweat broke out on his brow, as the unearthly voice continued its refrain, in a dreary monotone, speaking slowly, with pauses between the words, as if a school boy were studying his reading lesson.

"The—mayor—is—out," continued the voice. "The—mayor—will—be—glad— to—see—you—when—he—returns. Be —seated—please. The—mayor—is—liable—to—be—busy—for— some — little —time."

After finally convincing himself that he was still alive and that he was not dreaming, the mayor's secretary climbed out of bed and turned on the light. The voice, repeating the words he so often said during the day, continued, and he soon learned that it came from the next room.

One of the Jap bellboys, on the night watch, was studying his nightly English lesson, and had selected a vacant room next Mr. Lemont's for the purpose. How he happened to decide upon those particular words the secretary does not know.

TWO CARLOADS OF ICE CREAM CONES

A Duluth Firm Receives 1,500,000 of Little Confections.

Time was when all-day suckers were the style. All has changed since that time, however, and now the up-to-date youth spends his pennies at the nearest store, where the man hands out ice cream cones.

How very popular these ice cream cones are in Duluth s hard to realize. And not only among the children are they popular, for often their parents are just as eager for the little, cold-filled inventions as are the younger members of the family.

This summer they are to all appearances going to be more popular than ever. One Duluth firm yesterday received 1,500,000 cones by rail from an Eastern city. It took nearly two cars to carry them, and they expect to order more before the season is over. It was the largest consignment of this class of goods ever received in this city, and it stands to reason that the corner man will not run out this season.

Besides this shipment, Duluth has several factories where the cones are manufactured. They are manufactured here by the thousands, but the demand far exceeds the supply, and so outside firms have to be called on to help out occasionally.

The technical points being argued by the opposing attorneys are expected to take until that time to settle.

The attorneys for the plaintiff claim that there is cause for action on the ground that the boy was invited to

MAY OMIT CALIFORNIA

Japanese Chambers of Commerce to Visit Many Cities.

Lack of Interest Shown By Coast State Merchants.

Seattle, Wash., May 20.—It is not certain that the members of the Japanese chamber of commerce in their tour of the United States next September will visit California, because of alleged lack of interest by the business men of that state. J. D. Lowman, member of the committee that has been traveling in the East, arranging for the journey of the Japanese, said:

"There is considerable doubt as to whether we will visit California, as the California people have been hanging back and evidently are afraid to make any move toward having this party to be there."

The representatives of the chambers of commerce of Japan and its leading trade experts were invited to visit the Northwest and the entire United States by the chambers of commerce of Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and Spokane.

Among the cities that will entertain the Japanese are Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Pittsburg, Chicago, Indianapolis, Omaha, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Rochester, Syracuse, Grand Rapids, Milwaukee, Tacoma, Portland, Spokane and Seattle.

FRANCE DEMANDS INVESTIGATION

Two Governments Will Act in Case of Raiders.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 20.—The murder of Joe Emge and Joe Allemand, sheepmen, and Jules Lagier, a herder in Big Horn county, April 2, by a band of masked raiders, will be investigated by the French and United States governments, according to a special from Basin, Wyo.

France has demanded an investigation of the death of Lagier, a French citizen, who had been in America ten months, and will also conduct a separate inquiry through the French consul in Chicago.

It is stated that a confession has been made by one of the raiders implicating five prominent stockmen of Big Horn county and two cowboys.

NELSON FAVORS AN INCOME TAX

Says Question Should be Taken Up at Next Session.

Washington, May 20.—"As an independent proposition, I am in favor of the income tax," said Senator Nelson yesterday.

"It is my opinion, however, that the subject should be considered and passed at the long session of congress next winter. It should not be injected into the discussion over the measure revising the tariff."

This is the first direct statement of his position on the income tax that Senator Nelson has authorized since the question has been agitated during this congress.

In the senate a few days ago Mr. Nelson said he favored an income tax in the event that the new tariff law failed to provide sufficient revenues for the needs of the government. He did not elaborate his position at the time, but he now says he favors an income tax as an independent proposition.

"Fix a moderate rate of taxation on incomes," he continued. "I think a rate of 1½ cents would be fair and equitable. Then put the whole matter up to the supreme court, in order that the constitutionality of the principle may be passed upon again."

Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa, the leader of the Republican income taxationists in the upper house, declared that seventeen Republicans would join with the Democrats in support of the compromise measure that has been evolved. "This means that the measure may be passed at this time," said Senator Cummins.

BATTLESHIP ON LAST STAGE OF RIVER TRIP.

Bayou Sara, La., May 20.—Before sunrise this morning the battleship Mississippi began the final stage of its journey up the river to Natchez. Anchored in more than eighty feet of water off Bayou Sara, and with the soundings which have been made and reported between this place and Natchez more than ample to accommodate the big man-of-war, little apprehension is felt for the safe passage of the warship. Bayou Sara's population turned out in force to bid the Mississippi farewell, and the levees were lined with enthusiastic crowds. This is the last stop the Mississippi is to make in Louisiana on its upward trip to Natchez.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Dalbert McKelg of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

TIME FOR CHURCH TO SPEAK WHEN THE DIVINITY OF CHRIST IS DOUBTED, DECLARES PRESBYTERIAN MODERATOR

Denver, Colo., May 20.—Rev. B. P. Fullerton of St. Louis, retiring moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, delivered has address at today's session. He said in part:

"It is important at a time like ours in the life of the church that we consider with care some things about which there is need of a larger and clearer vision. When accredited ministers of the church deliberately cast suspicion upon a truth so fundamental as the Deity of Christ, is the time not ripe for the church to declare itself? Arianism is not so bold now nor so blatant as in the past. It would be less dangerous if it were. Its approach is subtle now, it conceals itself behind plausible theories and to the uninitiated appears as well-established truth. The hurt, however, to the cause comes rather from a lack of positive conviction in the church upon this great doctrine, a lack of well-defined notions concerning it which do not hesitate to defend themselves.

"First of all, the church needs today, as it has needed in all days, a correct vision of the nature of Christ and His relations to it. If He is its head, its foundation, the source of its life, then it is important that the vision of Him be accurate; for if the foundation be impaired by inadequate conceptions of its strength, on what can we build hope?

"First, as to His nature. The church needs to rediscover His deity, for so long as we question His deity we will necessarily be timid and hesitate when He commands and will doubt the accomplishment of the tasks He imposes, but when the church can say with Thomas, as its doubts depart, 'My Lord and my God,' nothing is impossible to it.

"The church also needs a view of its own character, functions and resources. What is the church but the company of the redeemed, the body of which He is the head, the branch of which He is the vine. The church is, therefore, a unit. There are different functions but one body. Spiritual unity, do you say? Yes, redeemed by the same blood, deriving its life from the same vine, guided by the same head and resting on the same foundation; and yet engaging in outward denominational struggle for supremacy that pays poor homage to Him whom it calls Head and Lord. Is that the way spiritual unity expresses itself? Does not spiritual unity express itself rather in organic unity or some kind of organic federation which gives proof of the existence of that deeper and more significant unity which we call spiritual?"

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The May social affairs of the Young Women's Christian association will take place in June. The May morning breakfast will probably be planned for the first week of June and the banquet to the workers in the membership contest, which it was first thought would be served the latter part of May, will also be made a large social function during the month of June.

The May morning breakfast in June will probably appeal to many of the hostesses for during May the spring flowers, which are always chosen for decorations at this affair, are not numerous and the later date will make it possible to hunt the woods for the first blossoms with more certainty of securing them.

The banquet to the workers in the recent membership contest will be a gala affair. Degrees will be conferred upon the workers according to the number of members secured during the contest. Nearly 600 new members and renewals were added to the role during the six weeks of the campaign.

Little else but the routine work is being done at the association these days as the presence of the workmen in the building makes any plans for the receptions and formal opening of the building most uncertain.

SHE SHOULD VOTE.

So Decides the Political Equality Club.

That women should be extended the privilege of voting was the decision reached by the judges who listened to the debate last evening before the members of the Political Equality club. The rights of women was upheld by Erling Mostue, John Skadberg and Ralph Johnson of the senior class of the high school and the following members of the junior class argued in favor of denying her the right: Harry Zlatkovsky, Rupert O'Brien and Alfred Ott. The judges were A. E. McManus, Hans B. Haroldson and Albert C. Gillette.

The same debate was held at the high school recently and the decision reached by the judges at that time was opposite to the one reached by the judges last evening.

Following the debate Mr. McManus made a stirring speech in favor of women's suffrage. Although not identical, the interest and accomplishments of men and women are of equal value, contended Mr. McManus, and woman should not be governed and her children compelled by laws in which she has no voice. Mr. Haroldson and Mr. Gillette also spoke in favor of extending the right of franchise to women.

PUPILS' RECITAL.

Piano Students of Mrs. Edna Harris Appear.

Expressions of sincere praise were heard from those who listened to the piano recital by the pupils from the classes of Miss Edna Harris in their annual concert last evening at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The program reflected credit on Miss Harris and was carried through with vigor and smoothness. "Rondo Caprice" was well played by Ruth Strickland. The tone quality and interpretation were good. Ruth Stewart played Rubinstein's "Melody in F" with expression and finish. Exceptionally well executed was the number "Impromptu," by Reinertsen, played by Olga Johnson. Her style of playing is artistic, and for tone and quality this number was unsurpassed on the program. The last number was Weber's "Rondo Brilliant," played by Josephine Flodders. Her interpretation was excellent and she showed an unusually brilliant technique throughout the difficult number. For an encore number Miss Sanders played a Chopin Waltz, which was also much enjoyed. Miss Everington was in good voice and sang in a charming manner, receiving two hearty encores.

Miss Elizabeth Maddox gave an enjoyable violin solo, and Miss Brotherton recited well.

One of the most important of the spring musical events will be the concert next Sunday evening at the Pilanten auditorium when Shovgaard, the Danish violinist, will be presented in a finely chosen program. Shovgaard has appeared in Duluth before and his recital will be acknowledged as one of the leading violinists of the day. He will be assisted by Miss Marie R. Hovey, soprano, and Alice McClung, pianist. The demands for seats is heavy and this concert coming after a lapse in professional recitals, will be welcome. The program is as follows:

ABOUT THE WAISTS.

The Features to Be Popular This Season.

Lingerie blouses are, of course, still popular and, at their best, charming. But the cheap blouses, lavishly trimmed in coarse lace embroidery, are an abomination, as they have always been.

For ordinary wear a very simple tucked blouse of fine linen or batiste or a fine cross bar batiste with only a little good lace or embroidery is far preferable to the more elaborate models in cheap materials. Handsome tailored blouses, severely cut and tucked, but of fine materials, are shown in many shops and are exceedingly good looking when worn with one of the attractive separate collars or stocks.

• • •

The Dutch collars are comfortable and cool and almost invariably becoming to young women. Fine French lingerie blouses with round or square Dutch neck finish are among the smart things, and will doubtless be popular with those to whom they are becoming.

• • •

Another kind of blouse which deserves mention is that of the tub models in white and color, which have the advantage of carrying out the the costume color scheme instead of seeming altogether separate affairs, and yet have coolness and washableness. In white embroidered with color and in batistes, linons and cotton nets which have dainty designs of white and color many delightful blouses are shown, and frequently the figured material, whose note of color be it understood, is very slight, is trimmed in narrow bands or borders of plain color to emphasize the color note.

• • •

Lingerie dresses are worn a great deal this season and will undoubtedly remain extremely popular through the summer season. A larger use of color is noticeable than was the case last year. It is apparent in both the dresses themselves and in the accessories in the way of trimming.

• • •

A great deal of embroidery is used and it would hardly be possible to lay too much stress upon this fact. It appears not only in bands, flouncings and all-overs of machine work, but in the most elaborate and extravagant form of handwork. There is a distinctly new pattern of embroidery called Richelieu. This is in guipure effect and appears in both machine and handwork.

• • •

Chinese and Japanese patterns are also fashionable, and the open English designs are also seen a great deal. Irish crochet is also quite popular. Combinations of lace and embroidery are employed on the most elaborate dresses. Practically everything is trimmed lavishly at present.

UNBLEACHED MUSLIN

Makes Pretty Curtains and Hangings For Summer.

The possibilities of unbleached muslin are not appreciated.

This cheap material is of a mellow, creamy tone, which lends itself peculiarly to artistic decoration.

For summer cottage hangings it is a most desirable material, the unevenness of weave suggesting certain silken fabrics.

A pretty bedroom in a cottage at Atlantic City is to have the walls papered with delicate pink and yellow roses upon a creamy ground.

All the hangings—the window curtains, the door curtains, the bedspread, the couch and chair covers and cushions—are to be of unbleached muslin finished with bands of cretonne to match the wallpaper.

German Rest Cure.

The woman who is nerve tired and cannot sleep ought to try the German rest cure.

It is a very simple method, for patients are made to work—that is all.

If a patient has insomnia she is set to sweeping off the garden walks, raking up the cut grass, at all kinds of light outdoor tasks calculated to make her physically tired.

She could do it just as well at home, of course, but she never would.

So she takes her course of labor because it is the thing to do, she is told. Soon, to her great delight, she finds herself ready for her healthy sleep at night. She is also generally quite willing to take a nap in the daytime also.

BOYS' BARE LEGS SHOCKED SOME VIRTUOUS CITIZENS

Horrible!

High school boys have been seen running along some of the residence streets clad only in their track suits. The short-legged trunks and sleeveless covering for the upper portion of are body are too much for the modesty of a pure and virtuous community, and some spotless soul has made complaint to an alderman, who, in turn, carried the complaint to Mayor Haven.

The boys have made it their custom to take their evening workouts at the close of school, and almost every day can be seen trotting along the same streets. Mayor Haven will visit one of these streets in a closed carriage, with heavy curtains at the windows, with smoked glasses covering his eyes, and with smelling salts and restoratives handy, and if the shocking sight of bare, boyish, sprinting legs is enough to put him in a condition where restoratives are necessary, he will ask the boys to wear more clothes in their workouts in future—maybe.

SAYS HE SHOT TAME GROUSE

Fight Followed Killing of Bird on McKay's Farm.

Andrew Sieverson, arrested near Dibell station by Deputy Game Warden John Green, pleaded not guilty before Judge Windom in municipal court yesterday when arraigned on a charge of violating the game laws by shooting a white-breasted grouse out of season.

The arrest was made on complaint of Dr. John McKay, who says he engaged in a fight with Sieverson and two other men immediately following the shooting of the bird, when he remonstrated with them for having killed it. Sieverson's hearing was set for Saturday morning.

Dr. McKay says that for several years past a number of white-breasted grouse have been homing on his farm at Dibell, and that, owing to the fact that they have never been molested by any one about the place, they became almost as tame as chickens. According to his story, Sieverson and two other men, about ten days ago, saw some of the birds on the railroad track. One of the men had a gun and began shooting at them.

Dr. McKay started to run toward the spot, but the men paid no attention to him. The man doing the shooting fired four times without hitting any of the birds. Then, Dr. McKay says, he handed the gun to Sieverson, who killed one of the grouse at the first shot. The doctor then became engaged in an argument with the trio, and when one of them started to attack him he knocked the man down with his fist.

The doctor says Sieverson began throwing rocks at him, and that he threw back in self defense, striking Sieverson in the back. Sieverson denies having shot the bird and says he did not know the two men with him. Dr. McKay says he can prove that Sieverson was afterward seen with the grouse, and that the party ate it at a camp not far from the scene of the shooting.

MISSION OF CORSETS.

Fruitful Theme for Discussion at Medical Institute Meet.

St. Paul, Minn., May 20.—Is the corset the correct thing for women to wear and does it perform all the functions it is intended to? On this question there was a decided difference of opinion at yesterday's session of the Minnesota Homeopathic institute at the old capitol. Dr. T. W. Ashley of River Falls, Wis., thought that there was little use in the corset save as a beautifier and stated, that in his opinion, most corsets were harmful.

"Men rather than women should be wearing corsets today," said Dr. Ashley. "I cannot see any use in them save as a beautifier of the body, but though God never made women for corsets, they have been worn so long that they need them now."

"Corsets are all right," said Dr. Anna H. Hurd of Minneapolis. "I wear them and I know. I know some are bad for the health, but I think the straight front kind are best. They support the abdomen rather than compress it as others do. I don't know what Dr. Ashley knows about it, but if he—"

"Well, I'm a married man and I ought to know," interrupted Dr. Ashley. His remark proved too much for the rest of the convention and business was abruptly suspended for a few moments.

Dr. E. L. Mann of St. Paul, dean of the college of homeopathy at the university, reported in favor of retaining the college and abolishing the two chairs, which the regents had offered to give the homeopaths in place of the college. The report provoked much discussion and it was not until after noon the meeting adjourned. Dr. Ashley discussed "Endometritis" in an able paper.

Last evening the annual banquet of the institute was held at Field-Schlicks' tea rooms, at which time President George B. Balson of Lake Wilson delivered his annual address.

WOODSMEN'S GHASTLY FIND.

Ashland, Wis., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The unwritten story of a natural or violent death was revealed yesterday when woodsmen from the O'Brien lumber camp, located between here and Odonah, in passing through the timber, came upon the skeleton of a man leaning against a tree. The clothing had been burned, and the indications were the fire of last fall did it. The skeleton showed a man about six feet in height. There was nothing to lead to an identification, and the coroner, after examining the gruesome find, decided an inquest was unnecessary. The skeleton will be buried by the county.

Whether the man expired while leaning against the tree or was killed may never be known. The same veil of mystery covers his identity.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

A. C. M.: My dear girl, never use a depilatory or "hair remover." A chemical that is powerful enough to kill hair is likely to prove harmful to the skin. None of them has permanent effect. They remove the hair for only a few weeks at the most, and it comes back thicker and blacker than ever.

Esther V.: I was glad to read that you are recommending my almozoin complexion jelly recipe to your friends. I do not understand why your cousin was unable to get almozoin from her druggist, for it is almost as common as camphor. I never advise the use of anything that is difficult to obtain and if your druggist should be out of any ingredient he can easily procure it from his wholesaler if he wants to. The shampoo recipe you ask for consists only of 1 teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. It lathers freely and will thoroughly cleanse the scalp. By shampooing the hair with canthrox every 2 or 3 weeks it will remain soft and fluffy. Canthrox also relieves itching and irritation of the scalp. Beauty specialists charge 75 cent to $1.00 for canthrox shampoos. You can take one at home for about one cent. If troubled with dandruff read answer to Elsie J.

Mrs. R. L.: The rough and itching skin of your baby indicates that it is suffering from eczema. Any form of eczema or simple skin disease in child or adult is relieved by pouring on the affected surface of the skin a small quantity of a lotion made by mixing 4 ounces of luxor with 4 tablespoonfuls of alcohol and ½ pint of water. Repeat the application several times each day until the irritation disappears.

Annie G. and Belle R.: It is right and proper that you girls should desire to have bright, clear and sparkling eyes, for they are a wonderful charm in woman. You can make a good eye tonic by dissolving an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. One or two drops in each eye will promptly relieve your eyes of dullness, redness, or inflammation. It will strengthen your sight and is used regularly by many who wear glasses. It does not smart or burn.

Helen N.: You are not the only girl with a sallow complexion and oily skin who cannot find a face powder that pleases her. But you need not despair. There are other aids to beauty more satisfactory than face powder and the use of washes is becoming more popular everywhere, notwithstanding their high price. Here is a recipe for a wash that you can make at home and it will cost much less than any manufactured brand. Dissolve 4 ounces of spurmax in a half pint of hot water and 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This will make a complexion beautifier that whitens and softens the skin without the use of powder, and it also tends to remove pimples, tan and freckles.

"Polly Prim:" Don't apologize. I welcome the opportunity to reprint recipes as often as they are called for. I know from experience how easy it is to lose a newspaper clipping. Almozoin complexion cream jelly is made by mixing 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine, 1 ounce of almozoin and ½ pint of water. Let it stand. This can be used for every purpose for which a cold cream is used. For massaging, apply with the fingers, rub with the finger tips in a circular motion, and the dirt and grime will promptly roll off the skin. It thoroughly cleanses the pores, clears the skin, removes blackheads, tan and freckles and makes large pores small. It contains no fat or oils that will cause superfluous hair to grow, but it keeps the skin moist, smooth and pliable.

Elsie J.: Neither you nor your husband will be embarrassed by dandruff settling on your shoulders if you follow these directions: Brush the hair and apply a quinine hair tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinola in ½ pint of alcohol and ½ pint cold water. Apply one a week. This tonic removes dandruff, stops falling hair and keeps the scalp in a healthy condition, promoting the growth of hair and making it glossy and abundant.

Kate R.: Do not be alarmed because you have become fleshy. Most of us gain weight in winter. To make a never-failing flesh reducer, get from your druggist 4 ounces of parnotis and dissolve it in a pint of hot water. Take 1 tablespoonful 3 times a day ust before meals. Arise early every day and take as much outdoor exercise as you can.

Alex J.: If your blood were in healthy condition you would not be afflicted with the ugly pimples and sallow skin you complain of, and it is not likely that any salves or lotions applied externally will give you relief. You must purify your blood and arouse your liver to normal action. I feel sure that this recipe will benefit you: Dissolve 1 ounce of kardene and ½ teacupful of sugar in ½ pint of alcohol, then add 1½ pints of hot water. Take 1 tablesponful before each meal and upon retiring. This recipe will give you a full quart of good blood tonic and liver remedy that has cured many cases of pimples, blotches, scrofula and other eruptions of the skin. It is an excellent spring medicine for it increases the appetite and tends to strengthen and build you up.

I. C. R.: A brisk walk in the fresh air will do a common headache lots of good.

D., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual conventions of the grand lodges of North Dakota of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and Degree of Honor came to a close last evening, to meet again two years from now at Minot, that city landing the next biennial session after a spirited contest with Jamestown as the other candidate for the honors.

One of the important actions taken by the Degree of Honor lodge was the adoption of the level plan of insurance. LOSES HIS LIFE TAKING PICTURE

Devotee of Camera Is Drawn Into Whirlpool Taking Snap Shot.

Menominee, Mich., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Swept from a frail raft, from which he was taking a photograph of the Big Quinnesec falls on the Menominee river, two and one-half miles from Niagara, Carl Wennegren, 22 years of age, was drawn into the whirlpool in the twinkling of an eye and thus far his body has not been recovered.

Accompanied by several Niagara friends, Wennegren rowed down the Menominee to a point near the dam, where he and his friends went ashore. Anxious to obtain the best picture possible, he secured a small raft and pushed into the stream. The moment it struck the current, the frail craft whirled around with great force, hurling him to his death, less than fifty feet from his powerless friends.

It is of bronze, stands ten feet high and weighs seven tons. The statue is a replica of the monument of Father Marquette that adorns the rotunda of the capitol of Washington, and the one erected in the Upper Michigan city, which takes its name from the early-day missionary, and it was moulded by the master hand of the same Italian sculptor. It will be mounted on a massive three-piece granite base, ten feet in height and weighing three tons. The dedication will occur the first part of August, it is expected. Appropriate ceremonies will mark the event, and among the large number of prominent men who will take part, it is hoped that President Taft will be included.

LOSES HIS LIFE WHILE ESCAPING

Pursued by Mob After Stabbing Man Finn Drowns in the Red.

Moorhead, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pursued by an angry mob thirsting for revenge, John Prafn, a Finlander, dashed through the streets here yesterday afternoon, and, jumping into the Red river, struck out for the Fargo side. When he was about midstream he sank, presumably being overcome by a cramp, and at last accounts his body had not been recovered. Prafn had stabbed a stranger, and his act so infuriated the witnesses of the attack that they gave chase, the crowd gathering adherents as it swept through the street crying for vengeance.

SCHWITTAY ACQUITTED.

Sensational Marinette Charges Appear to Have Fallen Flat.

Marinette, Wis., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. E. Schwittay, who on complaint of the bar association was deposed from the office of district attorney, was acquitted of the charge of perjury found against him by the grand jury. It is probable that Governor Davidson will now hear the merits of the charges brought against Mr. Schwittay, as he had determined not to do anything in the case until this accusation had been cleared away.

FIRE HAS SUSPICIOUS LOOK.

Section Boss' Home Burns After Men Are Left Out.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 20.—A gang of twenty Greeks employed on the Great Northern near Carlisle, seven miles from here, struck for higher pay and the section foreman gave them their pay checks and told them to go. Half an hour later his residence went up in flames, and the Greeks are strongly suspected of having set the fire in revenge. The gang came to this city and their leader is in jail, but it is doubtful if anything can be proved.

THREATENS TO KILL WIFE AND HIMSELF.

Mankato, Minn., May 20.—Jacob Bochhardt, 68 years old, was arrested Tuesday on complaint of his wife, aged 75, on the charge of threatening to kill himself and her.

Boehnhardt pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Comstock and stood trial.

Boehnhardt denied any intention to do anybody harm. It developed that he and his wife were married last year, and have not gotten on well together.

The court adjudged that Boehnhardt furnish a peace bond for $100 until July 1, when he is to appear and abide the further order of the court, or is to leave the city or be committed to the county jail.

RELIES ON BIBLE PROMISE.

Winona Minister Will Not Accept Money Raised at Socials.

Winona, Minn., May 20.—Convinced that the raising of money by suppers and ice cream socials to pay ministers' salaries is wrong in principle and contrary to the teaching of God's word, Rev. W. E. Thompson, pastor of the Wesley M. E. church, has served notice on his ladies' aid society that he will not accept money so raised in payment of his claim.

Henceforth he will depend wholly in God's promise, Psalm 37:3, "Trust in the Lord and do good, so shalt thou dwell in the land and verily thou shalt be fed" for the supply of every need. No further credit will be asked of any business man and those to whom he is indebted at present will be paid in full as soon as the Lord finds messengers by whom to send the money which he earns from week to week.

CUTS SELF WITH AX.

Marquette, Mich., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—His ax striking a clothes line as he was engaged in chopping wood at his home, A. O. Heine, a Manistique, Schoolcraft county, man, was hit on the head by the descending blade and received a severe scalp wound. He was rendered unconscious by the force of the blow. He will recover. It is considered remarkable that Heine escaped probable fatal injury.

FIRE-PROOF MILLS TO BE BUILT AT LADYSMITH.

Stevens Point, Wis., May 20.—W. E. Ule is back from Ladysmith, where he was allowed the contract for building a pulp mill and a sulphite mill in Ladysmith and a pulp mill nine miles south of that city on the Flambeau river. These mills will be built entirely of steel, brick and concrete, making them entirely fireproof. He will begin the work, which will require all summer, next Monday morning.

BEMIDJI BAND IS AMONG POSSIBILITIES.

Bemidji, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bemidji will doubtless have a good band during this summer and the outdoor concerts on the city dock will probably be again commenced after the first of next month.

Franz F. Freund, a resident of Red Lake Falls, who has held the position of director of the band at that place for the last five years, is in Bemidji and is looking over the local band proposition at the request of several prominent business men.

Some of the local band men and Mr. Freund are circulating a subscription list among the local business men and if promises of sufficient money to pay a good salary can be secured, the leader will be engaged immediately. Bemidji has material enough for a band, but lacks a good leader. This difficulty, however, now seems to be in a fair way to be done away with.

HOSPITAL PATIENT'S BODY IN THE RIVER.

Newberry, Mich., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of a man was found in the river below Newberry Tuesday by some fishermen, which was identified by the physicians of the Upper Peninsula hospital as Thomas Doran, a patient who escaped from the hospital last October. His home was at Gladstone, Mich.

The body was largely decomposed and identification could be made only by the name on the garments which he wore from the hospital.

NEW THEORY SPREADS RAPIDLY OVER COUNTRY

Colorado Woman Gives Reasons For Her Abiding Faith in Cooper.

L. T. Cooper's theory concerning the human stomach, is being given more respect and comment every day.

Cooper claims that 70 per cent of all ill health is due to stomach trouble. When interviewed about his theory recently, he said: "Stomach trouble is the great curse of the twentieth century so far as the civilized races are concerned. Practically all of the chronic ill health of this generation is caused by abnormal stomachic conditions. In earlier days, when the human race was closer to nature, and men and women worked all day out of doors, digging their frugal existence from the soil, the tired, droopy, half-sick people that are now so common, did not exist.

"To be sure, there was sickness in those days, but it was of a virulent character, and only temporary. There was none of this half-sick condition all the time with which so many are afflicted now-a-days.

"I know positively that every bit of this chronic ill health is caused by stomach trouble. The human stomach in civilized people today is degenerate. It lacks tone and strength. This weakness has gradually come through a sedentary existence. I further know that few people can be sick with the digestive apparatus in perfect shape. The sole reason for my success is because my New Discovery medicine tones the stomach up to required strength in about six weeks' time. That is why I have had more people come and thank me wherever I have gone to introduce my medicine, than I have had time to talk with."

Among the immense numbers of people who are now strong believers in Cooper's theory and medicine is Mrs. Julia Hofflicker, living at 810 Ussle avenue, Canon City, Colo. Mrs. Hofflicker says:

"For seven years I suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble. I was subject to frequent attacks of severe sick headache. I had to be very particular as to the kind of food I ate. I could not eat vegetables of any kind, nor anything sweet, and even then I would be in distress after meals. Any food of a solid nature caused a feeling of heaviness after eating.

"I tried everything I could hear of, and took many different remedies without benefit. Finally I heard of the Cooper remedies and obtained a treatment of Cooper's New Discovery.

"I never in my life found a medicine so helpful. The first bottle put my digestive organs into good condition, allaying the pain in my stomach as well as relieving the severity of the headaches to a very large extent. Since taking a thorough course of this medicine my trouble has entirely disappeared, headaches and all, and I never felt better in my life.

"I would not be without Cooper's New Discovery in my house. Any one who is suffering in any way from stomach trouble should not hesitate in giving it a trial."

The Cooper remedies are sold by all druggists everywhere. A sample bottle of Cooper's New Discovery mailed free upon request by addressing The Cooper Medicine company, Dayton, Ohio.

CRITICISM OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

There is matter of wide public importance in the decision of the district court of Freeborn county in the libel suit brought by James A. Tawney, member of congress from Minnesota, against the Albert Lea Tribune, a daily newspaper published in Mr. Tawney's district which does not, unhappily for Mr. Tawney, subscribe to his views or support his tenure upon his official position.

Shortly after the controversy between congress and Theodore Roosevelt, then president, over the secret service item in the sundry civil appropriation bill, during which the president widely opened the doors of the Ananias club and bade Mr. Tawney enter and make himself at home, the Philadelphia North American published an editorial comment upon Mr. Tawney which rapped that statesman pretty severely. The St. Paul Dispatch republished the comment, and in its turn the Albert Lea newspaper did the same thing. Kicking against the pricks, and resentful of the criticism, Mr. Tawney brought a libel suit for $10,000—not against the Philadelphia newspaper or the St. Paul newspaper, but against the newspaper in his district which has sought his political unprosperity.

The Albert Lea Tribune based its defence upon the ground that the criticism of the member of congress contained in its columns was such a criticism of a public officer as was within its rights as a public journal, and therefore privileged. Judge N. W. Kingsley of the district bench, before whom the case was being heard, sustained this point, and dismissed the suit. Whereupon Mr. Tawney, who was on the ground in person to prosecute his action, gave notice that he would appeal to the supreme court. The question involved is of such great importance that the further course of the suit will be watched with much interest.

Judging from the reports at hand, the decision is a wise one, quite in harmony with sound public policy, and it should stand. For the safety of the republic, and for the sake of pure public service and honest dealing by public officials with their creators and masters the people, reasonably wide latitude must be given to the press in the matter of criticising the conduct in office of the people's servants. It is true that this rule should not protect scurrility and bushwhacking abuse not in the interest of the public. It should not be so strained as to permit editors, for personal reasons, to make groundless attacks upon the character of public officials, any more than upon that of private individuals. There is no danger of such a construction as would include these abuses of the privilege.

But on the other hand, the people must rely to a very great extent upon the vigilance and fearlessness of the press in exposing and attacking corrupt, malfeasant or nonfeasant public officials, whatever the character of their offices. A rule of law that leaned too heavily toward the side of the public official, exposing the press unfairly to prosecution and punishment for libel when engaged honestly in the public service, could not fail to deprive the people, in a very large degree, of the protection now furnished by the press against their betrayal by public officials. Newspapers should be left free to bestow criticism wherever criticism is due, without fear that in the pursuit of this most important public duty they are likely to be obstructed and punished because there is incidental to that public service the necessity of wounding the feelings of the officials who have deserved criticism.

AFTER DIAZ---WHAT?

President Porfirio Diaz has been president of Mexico continuously since 1884. He has announced his willingness to serve another four-year term and will undoubtedly be re-elected.

The rule of Diaz in Mexico has been enlightened. The country has prospered in material things and the people have gained in true liberty. But after Diaz—what?

Diaz became president through revolution. Like other Latin-American republics Mexico has been, and is, subject to constant revolutions. One of these made Diaz president in 1877. During his term the Constitution was amended so that no president could be re-elected until four years from the end of his term of office. Diaz accordingly retired in 1880. The administration of his successor, Gonzalez, also his friend, was distinguished by peace and internal development. Diaz was peacefully elected to succeed Gonzales in 1884. His administration was so satisfactory that the people voted to amend the Constitution to permit of two consecutive terms and later to abolish all limits of time as to presidential service, and Diaz has continued to be re-elected president every four years.

Although Diaz came into power on the crest of a revolutionary wave, his administration has been very peaceful. During his first administration there were two revolutionary attempts, both of which he easily put down. Since his second election and inauguration in 1884, however, he has ruled in peace. His administration has been constitutional and with the full consent of the people of Mexico. Under it Mexico has been spared the revolutions which have harrassed the other Latin-American republics. The country has prospered and gradually grown more and more stable.

But if Diaz dies and others succeed to the presidency, not so wise and not so content with constitutional power, what then? It seems almost inevitable that under conditions which permit a president to be re-elected term after term, Mexico will in time entertain a usurper in its White House and that at least one more revolution will sweep the country ere liberty is finally and firmly seated.

TAXATION NORTH AND SOUTH.

The St. Peter Free Press, discussing the statement that the present legislative representation in this state imposes upon the north unjust taxation without representation, says:

> There is a discrepancy sure enough, but it is by no means in favor of Southern Minnesota. Under the present apportionment the latter has a representation of perhaps 20 per cent more than it is entitled to, nevertheless it pays an average tax of 60 per cent more than its neighbors on the range. There would not be near as much opposition to a new apportionment were the people on the iron range willing to consent to an equitable taxation, but as long as they insist upon existing tax conditions they should not blame the people in this part of the state for their present attitude. It is purely a matter of self defense, as it were.

This is very important if it is true. If the people of Southern Minnesota are paying on an average of 60 per cent more taxes than the people of Northern Minnesota, it is clearly a condition that calls for redress. But is it the condition that prevails? Let us analyze the situation and see.

For purposes of comparison, let us take St. Louis, Lake, Cook, Itasca and Koochiching counties, in Northeastern Minnesota, and compare them in the matter of state taxes with enough counties in the district in which the St. Peter Free Press is published to make up an equal population as nearly as possible. The northeastern counties named had in the 1905 census 151,191 people. The counties of Carver, Dakota, Le Sueur, McLeod, Nicollet, Rice, Scott and Sibley, all in the Third district, had 153,413 people, a few more than the northeastern counties. A fair test of the proposition is a comparison of the financial relations of these two sections with the state. Bear in mind that the population of each section is practically the same.

The northeastern counties paid into the state treasury last year $917,870.10, and the Third district counties paid $173,621.98. The northeastern counties got back from the state in school and road distributions $162,383.70, and the Third district counties got back $219,653.60.

In the northeastern section 8 per cent of the entire state population paid 25 per cent of the entire state tax and got back 6 per cent of the entire state aid. In the Third district counties 8 per cent of the population of the state paid 5 per cent of the entire state tax and got back 7 per cent of the state aid. The northeastern counties paid a quarter of the total direct state tax, and the Third district counties paid less than one-twelfth.

The people of the northeastern counties paid $6.09 per head in direct state taxes, the people of all the state paid $1.84 per capita, and the people of the Third district counties paid $1.19 per capita. The people of all the state got back from the state $1.33 per capita, the people of the Third district counties got back $1.37 per capita, and the people of the northeastern counties got back $1.09 per capita.

The people of the Third district counties got back from the state $36,031.62 more than they paid in to the state, and the people of the northeastern counties paid in to the state $755,486.40 more than they got back.

Every northeastern county got back from the state LESS THAN IT PAID IN TO THE STATE. Every Third district county got back from the state MORE THAN IT PAID IN.

* * *

For emphasis, let us reduce these figures to tabular form:

	Northeast counties.	Third Dist. counties.
Paid to the state	$917,870.10	$183,621.98
Got back from state	162,383.70	219,653.60
Percentage of total state taxes paid	25	5
Percentage of total state aid received	6	7
Per capita payments to state	6.09	1.19
Per capita receipts from state	1.09	1.37
Surplus of receipts from state	.....	36,031.62
Deficit of receipts from state	755,486.40	.....

The St. Peter paper says that the people of its section, on an average, pay 60 per cent more taxes than the people of this section. These figures show a very different state of things. The authorities are the state auditor's report, the Legislative Manual and the 1905 census.

The St. Peter paper says that perhaps Southern Minnesota has 20 per cent more than its share of representation. Let us compare the two sections in that respect, also. The Legislative Manual shows that the eight Third district counties have eight senators and eleven representatives. Practically the same number of people in Northeastern Minnesota have three senators and six representatives, with a two-fifths share in another senator and two representatives. Koochiching and Itasca counties are part of the Fifty-second district, which also includes Cass, Aitkin and Carlton counties, which are outside of the section covered by the comparison. So that instead of 20 per cent more representation, these Third district counties have better than 100 per cent more representation than the same number of people in Northeastern Minnesota.

If this isn't taxation without representation, what is?

THE CITY'S ANNUAL BATH.

Duluth's annual cleaning period starts today, and it is to be hoped that no householder in the city will fail to put his house and grounds in wholesome and sightly condition.

While the annual spring cleaning custom is very important, Health Commissioner Patton is right when he says that "it is high time the city of Duluth were awakening to a realization of the fact that a bath once a year whether it is needed or not is the wrong system." It is not enough for a city to be clean once a year. It is better, of course, to be clean once a year than not to be clean at all, but it is infinitely better to be clean all the year around, and the work for a clean and healthful city will not have reached the climax of its usefulness until the habit of keeping the city clean all the year around is firmly established.

"There is no more excuse for any larger accumulation of dirt in the spring than there is in the fall," says the health commissioner; and again he is right. Just now the main thing before the city is the duty of making the spring clean-up thorough. Not to be overlooked for a moment, however, is the fact that dirt is dirt any time of the year, and that a bath once a year is no more sufficient for a city than it is for a human being.

Mehmed V is said to be redheaded. If he doesn't improve on Abdul the Damned, he will be in luck to have any head at all.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Tanned and healthy after his sojourn upon his farm at Pine City, J. Adam Bede, the birch bark statesman, greeted friends at the St. Louis last evening. Mr. Bede came up to Duluth for his lecture this evening. He came here early, as he stated that a man must be in Duluth at least two days before all the good citizens know that he is in town.

Mr. Bede said that at the present time there was a quietness in labor circles. As to the rural and agricultural districts of the country, the Pine City statesman is of the opinion that they are paying but little attention to the tariff, and were it not for the agitation that the tariff tinkering is occupying in the press, Mr. Bede is not so sure the farmers of the country would know or care anything about it.

In the centers where a great many men are employed, such as Pittsburg, Cleveland, New York and Chicago, Mr. Bede says they are watching the progress of the tariff making with fervent interest. It means to them whether more men will be employed, believes Mr. Bede, and for this reason both the employer of labor and the employe are vitally interested in what disposition is made of certain schedules that it is believed will have an effect upon the industrial situation.

And in speaking about tariff, Mr. Bede says that it is local in its nature. Each locality is interested in certain tariffs. It is national in its application; but essentially local in its effect.

Moreover, Mr. Bede does not believe that the farmers of the nation as a whole, are vitally interested in the passage of the schedule for free lumber. They are probably in favor of free lumber, says Mr. Bede, for the reason that they have read the arguments for it, and believe that the removal of the duty would give them what lumber they use, at a lower cost. Yet at the same time the Pine City statesman does not believe that the farmers as a class, are greatly interested in the removal of the duty from the lumber that the Canadians would ship across the international boundary line.

As to the tariff upon wheat, Mr. Bede states that the farmers of North Dakota and those states near to the Canadian boundary line, are naturally opposed to the removal of the duty upon wheat. The farmers of this state, Mr. Bede does not believe, are very much opposed to the removal of the wheat tariff, simply for the reason that they are not raising sufficient wheat to have the tariff effect us one way or the other.

Last evening he ventured an opinion as to why Uncle Joe Cannon was such an unpopular man with the people of this country at large.

Mr. Bede explained that there were 391 congressional districts.

In each of these districts, Mr. Bede explained, the congressman was naturally attempting to get as much as he possibly could. Before Mr. Cannon became speaker of the house he was chairman of the appropriations committee. It was the duty of Mr. Cannon and the other members of the appropriations committee to add the total recommended appropriations from the 391 congressional districts, and when the sum total reached too high a figure, to scale the total to meet the funds at the disposal of congress.

The man from home would give little ear to the grenearal needs of the situation, explained Mr. Bede. He would be chagrined and mad because his pet request had been reduced or perhaps turned down. He would return home and set up a howl.

In his present position, Mr. Bede explains, Mr. Cannon has naturally much to do with the appropriations made by congress. Today the congressman returning home without the desired appropriation sets up a howl at the venerable Uncle Joe. That is the reason why Mr. Bede believes that the grizzled veteran who guides the business of the house is one of the most unpopular men in this country with the mass of the people, and one of the most popular men in the national capital, with those who really know and love the true Uncle Joe.

And returning to tariff, Mr. Bede says there is a yell going up all over the country regarding the various new schedules that are being submitted. He points out that some man in one section of the country is for one thing; another citizen in another section of the country is for another tariff schedule. Capital is for one thing; labor is for another.

Referring to Cannon, Mr. Bede explains that the veteran leader of the house loved a man who is a fighter, no matter if this man opposes Uncle Joe with tooth and nail. As long as this man is a good fighter and fights honestly, Mr. Bede says, the old leader of the house will pay that man a measure of respect.

Mr. Bede states that he never won the friendship of the leader of the house of representatives by fetching and carrying for him.

Uncle Joe won't stand for that sort of thing. It was by opposing him and telling him in several instances where he was wrong that Mr. Bede says he came to be pretty good friends with Uncle Joe Cannon.

"Uncle Joe has been in congress thirty-eight years, not counting the two years that he was retired to the quiet and complacent Danville, Ill.," said Mr. Bede. "He knows human nature by instinct and long training. He likes men on the square—good, hard-fighting men. Uncle Joe is ruler and a hard fighter, and for that very reason he admires men who are stickers for a cause, and men who will fight hard for what they want."

THE WEATHER.

While the fog and rain of the northeaster were missing yesterday and today, the wind was most unpleasantly cold. The weather man looks for showers this afternoon, with but little change in temperature.

A year ago today there was a northeaster blowing.

The sun rose this morning at 4:26 and will set this evening at 7:32, making fifteen hours and sixteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Temperature changes were generally unimportant during the past twenty-four hours, but the weather has become somewhat warmer in Wyoming, Montana and Alberta in consequence of decreasing pressures over those districts. The barometer is highest over the St. Lawrence valley and North Pacific districts. Disturbances central over New Mexico, Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee caused rains over Nebraska, Eastern South Dakota, Southern Minnesota, the lower Mississippi and Ohio valleys, and Gulf states during Wednesday or last night. The further development of the southwestern low pressure may cause occasional showers at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, May 20.—Forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion Iron ranges—Probably showers this afternoon, tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature; moderate northeasterly winds.

Chicago, May 20.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 1 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan and Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota and North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday.

Pointed Paragraphs.

A well digger says there's always room at the bottom.

The average girl would rather be in love than be happy.

If we didn't have to work there would be no fun in loafing.

Speechless amazement is one of the things that go without saying.

Do everything reason tells you to do—unless conscience vetoes it.

If you are in a small place it may be because you won't fit in a big place.

All the world may be a stage, but just the same stage money does not pass.

The optimist expects to get a good hand even when the other fellow shuffles and deals.

The way to make a woman happy is to make her believe that she is making you unhappy.

One trouble with fate is that it hands us corn beef and cabbage when we want pie and ice cream.

The man who believes that two can live as cheaply as one never had to reckon with milliners and dressmakers.

Even the Bible-reading girl is apt to be skeptical when she turns to the page where the date of her birth is recorded.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A girl's notion of an ideal hero is one that would be in a padded cell if he wasn't on the stage.

What convinces a man he is having a good time doing anything is for none of his family to be along.

It takes a woman to admire herself for the beauty she would have if her figure, feature, eyes, and complexion were just a little different.

The outrage to the average person about being run over by an automobile is that he wasn't in the machine doing it to the man who did it to him.

Pertinint' to Travelin'.

I'd like t' travel 'round, an' yit
I never could git used t' it.
There ain't no rest, I've allus said,
In sleepin' in some feller's bed
Y' never knowed, an' what is more,
No knowin' who slept there before.
In spite o' that I've traveled some
Without a-losin' sight o' home.

The point is this: My travelin' here
'S been mostly in my rockin' cheer
That I git into every night—
I shuck my boots, an' then I light
Right out, an' fore you know I'm gone
With that 'ere feller Stevenson,
Across the world, a thousand miles!—
T' Hebredes—er Treasure Isle.

Er mebbe wander, arm in arm
With Field, around the Sabine Farm,
An' hear the merry laff an' shout
Of children 'at he wrote about;
Er mebbe hang t' Kiplin's hand,
An' flit t' India's coral strand,
T' hear the bells, er tag behind
Mulvaney an' his reckless kind.

An' when the clock is workin' round,
I allus hunt untwell I've found
Jim Riley—ol' time friend o' mine—
An' go with him to Brandywine;
Er meet Don Difers, mebbe, who
Jim wrote about—an' like him, too—
An' gass of things that "in an' out"
A country sawbones knows about.

Git sleepy, too, and nod away,
An' havin' had my holiday
An' seen the world, like other men,
I want t' git back home again;
An' here's where MY plan beats a mile
Them folks who goes in steamer style—
I shet my book an' I'm at hum
With Myry and the rest of 'em.
—JOHN D. WELLS, in Buffalo News.

It May Be So.

A lot of people tell me jokes
That I have heard.
I listen to the woes of folks
That seem absurd.
A chap can't always get away,
And people bore me every day.

Perhaps I retail jokes to those Who think them stale.
Perhaps some people think my woes
A tiresome tale.
I never thought of it before,
But maybe I'm a dreadful bore.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The services of Mrs. Emma P. Ewing, a noted lecturer on cooking and domestic economy, have been secured by the Ladies' Work Circle of the Pilgrim Congregational church and she will be in Duluth at some date in the early fall.

E. A. McNair returned yesterday from a six weeks' stay in Dakota, where he has been booming Duluth by voice and photograph.

A group picture of those who took part in the minuet at the Washington centennial was photographed yesterday. Those in the group are Miss Sue Stearns, Miss Carrie Mixer, Miss Lottie Leland, Miss Jennie Sutherland, Miss Ida Bowen, Miss Marguerite McKinnon, W. P. Mosher, R. Cromble and R. S. Powell.

Miss Minnie B. Rainey, who is sojourning in Minneapolis for the benefit of her health, is no better.

Worth W. Preston and Miss Elizabeth B. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, all of this city, were married on May 15 by Rev. W. M. Barker in St. Paul's church. They have begun housekeeping at Lakeside.

Steve Brodle, the bridge jumper, jumped over Passiac, N. Y., falls today and was uninjured.

Capt. C. S. Barker will have one of the finest residences in the city. It is to be built of brownstone and fine pressed brick and will cost $15,000.

O. G. Traphagen, the architect, has been engaged by the Presbyterian society to prepare plans for the new church building to be erected on the Culver lots, corner of Second street and Third avenue east. It will cost $50,000, will be built of stone and will seat 1,000 persons.

L. T. Kellogg of Stillwater has bought from Oppel & Sons of Duluth, 4,000 skins of otter, mink, lynx, beaver, muskrat and other animals. The skins all came from the Vermillion region, the animals being trapped by Indians. They were valued at a little over $1,000.

Mrs. Samuel Levine has returned from an extended visit through the East.

John W. Nelson has opened a stationery store in the West end.

The Spirit Lake, Iowa, Beacon speaks of an invention just patented by a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Selleck of this city, Mrs. Grace L. Foster, who spent last summer in Duluth. The patent is for an adjustable pedal or stop to be used with organs or other foot instruments, so as to place the pedal within reach of the little one who may be practicing on the instrument.

W. D. Tomlin has been appointed for a second term as state boiler inspector for the Fifth district, embracing all the northern half of the state.

G. A. Libby of Kansas City has secured the contract for grading and paving Central avenue, West Duluth. His bid was $18,600.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Ely Miner: "My constituents demand my vote for the tonnage tax." How about the bushel tax? Had "my constituents" been attending to their own affairs instead of trying to saddle all the taxes of the state on the northern end, the "bushel tax" would not have slipped through any more than did the tonnage tax.

Floodwood Broadaxe: The Lake County Advocate thinks W. E. Culkin of Duluth would make an ideal governor, and launches a boom for Mr. Culkin. Many states, including Minnesota, have made governors out of much poorer material than Hon. W. E. Culkin.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: No doubt Governor Johnson would gladly have vetoed the bushel tax bill had his attention been specially directed to it, but at that particular time the farmer members of the state legislature, and their constituency, were too busy trying to cripple the iron industry of the state with a tonnage tax to give a care to anything else.

Detroit Record: If it is found that the Republican majority is so bound up by trust influences that it is unable to give the people a square deal, and such a tariff schedule as the business interests of the country demand as a whole, there are millions of voters who will conclude that it is time to make a change. There is a political storm brewing, and it remains to be seen whether certain party leaders will heed its protest in time to seek the shelter of honest legislation for the people. "The people be damned" may have been considered good argument in the days of Vanderbilt's prime, but not so following a Roosevelt administration.

Mora Times: The new Aldrich tariff law does not look good to the people of this section of the country. There is altogether too much revision upward or none at all.

Virginia Virginian: There was a colored gentleman in the elevator tax bill passed by the last session of the legislature and he has hopped out on the farmers. Though the bushel tax is wrong, it is hard for Northern Minnesota to extend sympathy to their brothers of the south. The arguments against the bushel tax are identical with the arguments against the tonnage tax. Northern Minnesota says both are wrong. Will Southern Minnesota say both are right?

Pine River Sentinel: A good newspaper is a necessity for any town, but a poor one is worse than a luxury. When you patronize one conduct your self in such a way so that you are not doing so from a charitable standpoint, but because it "delivers the goods." A newspaper, like anything else, should deserve patronage to get it.

Walker Pilot: It is being said that Frank B. Kellogg is to try to do the same thing to Moses Clapp's grip on the United States senate, as he is doing in the trust business. That is to say, he is out to bust it.

Onamia Pioneer: Senator Clapp in a recent speech warned the administration that unless it kept faith with the people in a downward revision of the tariff the masses would turn to the Democratic party in the next elections, all of which goes to show that the more evenly divided political parties are the better it is for the country.

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Cleveland Leader: "Vot's der difference between capital unt labor?"

"Capital don't haf ter labor, unt labor don't haf der capital."

Detroit Free Press: "Jones seems to think that he's invaluable to the firm."

"What makes you think so?"

"He's telling everybody that he can't possibly get away to go to the game today."

Cleveland Leader: "Isn't it awful when you find that you can't trust your best friend?"

"Not so awful as when you find that you can't get your best friend to trust you."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "For mercey's sake, Tommy! Didn't I tell you not to fight with that Mercer boy?"

"Yes, ma. But where you made your mistake was in not telling the Mercer boy that he mustn't hit me first."

Judge: Stealthy Steve—Wah ain't de only industry what dem fly-in-de-air merchines gwine revomulutionize. Dey gwine revomulutionize de chicken business. Dey won't leave no tracks. Ah's gwine be president of de Moonlight Trackless Poultry Transpo'tation some day—if dey don't nuffin interfere wid mah plans befo' time.

Chicago Daily News: The Grocer—I hear your wife supports the family by takling in washing, Uncle Rastus. Is it true?

Uncle Rastus—Yes-sah; dat's wo it am, sah.

The grocer—Well, don't you feel just a little bit ashamed of it?

Uncle Rastus—Shamed? No, sah; dere's nuffin' degradin' erbout washin', sah. Ah's proud ob de ole woman, 'deed Ah is.

Kansas City Journal: "My wife believes that what is to be will be."

"Well?"

"And she believes it will all be my fault."

New York Press: The thing that worries a man about being rich is how he can get richer.

Cleveland Leader: Mamie—Did he say I was crazy?

Estelle—Worse than that.

Mamie—What?

Estelle—He said you were "a padded sell."

Atlanta Constitution: "The old man doesn't look happy, yet you never hear a word out of him around the house."

"No, but just watch the expression he puts into a beatin' of a spring carpet."

The Period of Personal Politics.

Mark Sullivan in Collier's: Twice in the history of the United States a great party has broken up and disappeared; for one period of twenty-four years there was but a single party. That was "a period of personal politics." Men, instead of following a party or a principle, separated into groups about several great leaders—Adams, Jackson, Clay, Calhoun and Clinton. These men had much the position that Roosevelt, Bryan, Folk, Hughes and Johnson have today. "We are all Federalists, we are all Republicans," said Jefferson in his famous inaugural address. As well could Taft have uttered an analogous statement. As majorities and statistics go, there are seventeen Democratic states; actually there are but nine in which Democratic principles can be said to find effective expression.

WEST END

SUNDAY BALL IS FROWNED ON

Methodist Ministers Pass Resolutions at Conference Condemning It.

Sunday baseball came in for a scoring last evening, when resolutions were passed against it by the delegates to the Duluth district Methodist Episcopal conference at the closing session.

Another resolution relative to the saloon question was also passed by the ministers, in which it was declared "that the war on the saloon must continue with unabated zeal, until the last saloon shall have closed, and the infamous traffic is forever ended."

Resolutions were passed thanking Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of Grace M. E. church, and his congregation, for the hospitality accorded the delegates during the three days' meet, and those assembled also expressed their appreciation of the district superintendent, Dr. E. C. Clemans.

The work of the Deaconess home was one of the main subjects for discussion at the concluding session last evening. Those who spoke about the work of the home from various standpoints were: Mrs. M. J. Kreidler, Miss E. Gorby, Miss M. Corps and Miss A. Gift. Mrs. Kreidler is the superintendent.

SENATOR WORKS WILL SPEAK

Will Address City Democratic Club in West End.

Senator S. D. Works of Mankato, author of the enabling act that allows cities of this state to be governed by the commission plan of municipal government if the voters of the cities so wish, will address the City Democratic club at the Irwin-Sloan hall in the West end tomorrow evening.

Mr. Works is known as one of the most able orators in the state. He has prepared an address on the commission plan of government for cities, and will explain the plan in detail and show just what benefits a city may hope to derive from this form of administration.

PLAYGROUND SITES.

Two Are Selected By Special Committee of Commercial Club.

Children's playgrounds now seem assured for the West end.

Two sites for the recreation spots have been selected by the members of the West End Commercial club's special committee on the matter.

One of the playgrounds, will, if the wish of committee is carried out, be located on West Third street at the corner of Thirty-ninth avenue west, opposite the Bryant school. For many years it has been somewhat of a rendezvous for children and during the past winter it was used for a public skating rink.

The committee recommends that the other romping ground be located above Fifth street between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west. The place is in a thickly populated neighborhood and would surely be popular with the children.

The committee, which comprises J. J. Moe, Dr. O. A. Oredson and J. W. Preston, will report back to the club at the next meeting. An effort will then be made to interest the playground association in the project for the West end sites.

Ascension Services.

Today is Ascension day and it is being observed in some of the West end churches.

Tonight at St. Luke's Episcopal church, special services will be conducted by Rev. Roderick J. Mooney, at 7:45 o'clock.

At St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, special services will be held this evening. The rector Rev. William E. Harmann will occupy the pulpit

Talk Paving Matters.

Another step toward securing paving for Garfield avenue was taken last evening at a joint meeting of the property owners and several of the city officials. The matter was talked over and sentiment was shown to be growing in favor of the proposition among the indifferent owners.

Among those who were present at the meeting and who spoke, were Mayor R. D. Haven, City Attorney Wilson, City Engineer McGilvray, J. W. Preston, president of the board of public works, and Alderman J. J. Moe.

Commissioner Annoyed.

A similarity between the names of Joseph W. Cummings and Joseph E. Cummings has kept the former, who is a county commissioner, in hot water for the past two days.

A suit was filed in the district court Tuesday against Joseph E. Cummings by Ole A. Oleson, alleging that Cummings defrauded him out of valuable water power rights, and asking for $15,000 as restitution.

A number of the commissioner's well-meaning friends at the West end have been mentioning the matter to him and he wishes to be understood as having nothing to do with the case.

Indian Relics Found.

Several Indian relics were unearthed yesterday afternoon by two West end fishermen on a trip up Miller's creek. The find was made by Charles Geistman and John Waaden, and it included a rusty scalping knife, a tomahawk, flint and arrowheads.

The men stumbled across the relics purely by accident. They were walking along the shore of the stream when one of them noticed what he thought was a curiosuly shaped stone. It was found to be an arrow head. The rest of the find was buried only a few inches under the surface.

The discovery was made about two miles north of Lincoln park and the boulevard.

Talks to Workers.

Rev. C. P. Ecklund of Burlington, Iowa, who is conducting the revival services now on at the First M. E. church at the West end, spoke this noon to about seventy-five mill hands at the Scott-Graff mill yard.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon he addressed a gathering of ladies only at the church. Tonight services will be held at the church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street.

West End Shortrails.

The condition of Mrs. A. Anderson of 2610 West Fifth street, who was injured by a fall Monday, was today reported as improving.

The choir of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church met last evening for rehearsal. The young ladies treated the young men to a surprise by serving refreshments after the affair.

Elvin Pearson, who was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Luke's hospital last week, during the absence of his parents, was today removed to his home. His condition is very favorable for a speedy recovery. Mrs. Pearson is also reported as being convalescent at Rochester. The Pearsons reside at 2109 West First street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the church. A short program will be given and refreshments will be served.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frykdahl, Thirty-eighth avenue west and Magellan street.

Arthur Hendricks of Twenty-sixth avenue west left this morning for Spokane.

Miss Martha Saastad will leave this evening for Bruno, Minn., after a visit with Mrs. Andrew Thompson of 2018 West Superior street.

The first annual ball to be given by the Ladies' auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will take place this evening at Columbia hall. Blewitt's orchestra will furnish the music.

Arthur Burmeister expects to leave soon for Pittsburg.

George Christenson is building a $1,000 frame dwelling on the south side of West Seventh street, between Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth avenues west.

Iver Anderson left yesterday for Ashland. He will return soon.

E. G. Swanstrom is reported very low today at his home at 2110 West First street.

Four West enders left yesterday for Sweden. They are Gust Lindsy, Fred Nelson, Adolph Sundell and Svante M. Carlson. They expect to visit their old homes while there.

Mrs. L. A. Cox entertained the members of the cast of "The Hypnotist," the Second Presbyterian church play, Tuesday evening at her home, 1713 West First street.

William Anderson has gone to Minneapolis on a short visit.

Anton Thorstad has resigned his position with John Moir & Co. He will conduct the Malcolm tea store.

The various clubs of the St. Luke's Episcopal church have taken up quarters in the old Central Butter & Egg company building at Nineteenth avenue west and Superior street. The company moved recently to its new quarters on Michigan street.

SETS FIRE TO HUSBAND.

Wife Pours Gasoline on Drunken Spouse—He Jumps Into Canal.

Joliet, Ill., May 20.—Because, she says, her husband was cruel to her and the children, Mrs. Frank Martincic threw gasoline on the man and set him afire. His head, shoulders and arms in flames, Martincic ran screaming to a canal half a block away and jumped head foremost into the water. When he came out he telephoned to the police for help and was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where he is in a critical condition.

Officer Stukel arrested the wife. Three children, the youngest 1 year and the eldest 5 years, are with her in a cell.

THE GOPHER SOON READY

Duluthians Will Scarcely Know Ship When She Leaves Yard.

Many Improvements Have Been Made on Naval Militia Craft.

Duluth will scarcely know the good ship Gopher when she emerges from dry dock some three weeks hence.

During the dull winter months ship carpenters were busily plying their trade upon the Gopher, making a great number of improvements in that veteran craft.

A large sum of money has been expended upon the Gopher the recommendations of the naval constructor who inspected at the maneuvers last summer being carried out.

With the remodeled ship, the Minnesota militia will probably make a more brilliant showing even than last year, when the Gopher's crew captured nearly every honor.

Perhaps the greatest improvement has been made on the deck, where a bridge such as the big warships have has been constructed. A new conning house has also been added. In appearance the Gopher will be much more trim than formerly, and she will bear a closer resemblance to the regular ships of the navy.

The engines have been thoroughly overhauled and considerable new machinery has been installed. The hull has also been attended to, giving the boat great seaworthiness. The copper plates on the hull, some of which were torn off when the Gopher came through a heavy sea in Lake Superior while returning from the maneuvers last summer, have been added to and reinforced.

Within three weeks or so the Gopher will be ready to leave the shipyard.

ENTERTAINMENT IS A SUCCESS

Boy's Department Program Is Enjoyed By a Large Audience.

The closing entertainment of the season was held last evening by the Boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. at their building. Every seat in the auditorium was filled, and the audience was enthusiastic.

The first part of the entertainment was a program of music by the Boys' department orchestra, and they presented a program that did great credit to the instructor, C. A. Gregory.

The second part of the program was a play, entitled "The Flying Wedge." It was given by the Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church and was under the direction of Miss Agnes Johnson. Those taking part in the play were Mrs. T. McGuire, Miss E. Anderson, Miss Pryer, Miss Forbes and Miss McCaskill. Mr. Batchelor and Archie Glass of the Boys' department assisted.

During the intermission Miss Wilson gave a vocal solo and had to respond to an encore.

The annual auto ride, which opens the summer activities of the Boys' department, will be held Friday evening, leaving the boys' building at 7:30 and returning at 9. A number of automobile owners of the city have very kindly loaned their machines for the party. The outing committee will serve refreshments.

JOLTS ST. LOUIS SOCIETY.

Heiress Balks Because Not Consulted as to Guests.

St. Louis, Mo., May 20.—The innermost circle of the city's society received a jolt when Miss Mary Fullerton, St. Louis' richest girl and a niece of J. Pierpont Morgan, balked at attending a luncheon in her honor because she had not been consulted about the list of guests until it was too late to make any changes.

Dining rooms, lavishly decorated for the occasion, were dark, costly viands, ordered and prepared, were untasted; guests who had dressed for the dinner and who were notified of an indefinite postponement at the last minutes, ate their accustomed meal at home, and the host, McNair Ingleffitz, took a ham sandwich at union station and left immediately for Chicago.

A sick brother served as the excuse for which the twenty-four invitations were recalled by special messengers.

MANY WITNESSES IN NICHOLS CASE

Nearly Whole Courthouse Crew Called to the Stand.

The case of Mrs. Charles C. Nichols against the firm of Lanquist & Illsley, the contractors who are erecting the new St. Louis county courthouse, is still on before Judge Dibell of the district court. There are many witnesses, practically the entire working force being called to testify in the case. It is expected the case will last the rest of the week.

Mrs. Nichols is suing the contracting firm for $5,000 for the death of her husband in October of last year. She claims that the firm did not furnish him a safe place in which to work, and the company is endeavoring to prove that the foreman was directly responsible for any accidents that happened, as he was in charge of the work.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF GRIP

P. J. Murphy Calls for Stolen Article and Is Arrested.

P. J. Murphy got into trouble this morning and was arrested because he called at Joe Rich's confectionery store on West Michigan street and asked for a grip that had been stolen from Andrew Miharjinski.

Murphy and Andrew rode down from the range together on a Missabe train. Andrew had his grip beside his feet on the floor, but when he came to leave the grip was missing.

Andrew put the Duluth police wise, and they located the missing article in Rich's store. He said it had been left there by a stranger. An officer hung around until Murphy came in and asked for the grip, and then arrested him.

RUBBER BOOTS LOST HIM A JOB

Mike Malks Wants His Employment Office Fee Back.

"This man's boots will hold too much water; send us no more like him."

These words were written on the back of Mike Malks' employment office ticket by the foreman of a log drive near Biwabik, Minn., and was the only reason given for refusing him work.

Malks showed the ticket to the police this morning, told them it had cost him $1, and that the agents who hired him refused to give his money back, although work had been refused when he arrived at the camp named. Investigation developed the fact that Mike reported for work wearing rubber boots, something unheard of among experienced rivermen, who wear leather footgear, with calks in the sole. It is assumed the foreman took Mike for a green hand, because of the covering he had for his feet.

The police told Mike they would see what they could do about getting his money back.

BIGAMIST GETS TWO DAYS.

Man Who Took "Joking" Wife's Word Gets Light Sentence.

St. Joseph, Mich., May 20.—Robert Buck on Tuesday served the first half of his sentence for bigamy and on Wednesday served the second half. Buck pleaded guilty to a bigamy charge. Evidence showed that after he and his wife separated, wife No. 1 wrote Buck to get another wife; that she would get a divorce. Buck took her at her word and married a second time, whereupon No. 1 had him arrested on a bigamy charge, saying she was only joking about the divorce. The court held Buck technically guilty and gave him the lightest sentence ever imposed for that offense in Michigan.

The Next New Fire Engine Will Be Motor Driven.

Many Long Runs in Duluth Hard on the Animals.

The next fire engine purchased for the Duluth fire department—and one is needed at the present time—will in all probability be of the motor-driven variety. It is understood to be the intention of the authorities to have all the fire-fighting apparatus of this type, as soon as the city's finances will permit.

The success of the auto police patrol wagon, recently purchased, will help the movement along. Motor-driven fire apparatus has been and is being successfully used in other large cities of the country, and it is believed that it will be even better adapted to use in Duluth, on account of the grades here, and on account of some of the long runs that have to be made.

There are very few cities in the country that have to spend as much money on fire horses, in proportion to their size, as Duluth, because running up the local hills, dragging heavy loads, is the hardest kind of a strain on horse flesh, and no animal can stand it without showing the bad effects. Some horses last longer than others at the work, but all of them are prematurely weakened by it.

Another hard run for Duluth horses is between West Duluth and the West end. The West end department has a very large district to cover, and in case of an unusually large fire at West Duluth, has to run clear to that section of the city to help out the West Duluth department. The Lakeside department also has some very long runs to make.

It is claimed that motor-driven fire engines and other apparatus would be a saving to the city, because of the saving on horse flesh. It would, of course, take a very powerful engine to drive a fire engine up some of the local avenues, but it is contended that the expenditure for acquiring such an engine would be a good investment, and economy in the long run. Better speed could be made than under present conditions, and more satisfactory service would be given all around. With the motor vehicles, the continual expense of replacing horses killed by the tremendous strain would be done away with.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 23. Acts xv, 1-35: The Council at Jerusalem.

By Rev. J. S. Kirtley.

Paul and Barnabas are once more back at Antioch in Syria, their starting point, after an absence of perhaps three years. This is near A. D. 50. Their principle of preaching to Jews and Gentiles alike and offering them equal privileges in the church is established. The news of their success was received with great joy and they spent some time at work in Antioch. Just at this time the great controversy of Paul's lifetime opens, and the lesson tells about it.

THE LESSON.

I.

Antioch Seeks Aid From Jerusalem.

1, 2. "And certain men came down from Judea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the custom of Moses ye cannot be saved. And when Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and questioning with them, the brethren appointed that Paul and Barnabas and certain others of them should go up to Jerusalem unto the apostles and elders about the question."

1. The Question at Issue.

Here we have the opening of a struggle that never ceased as long as Paul lived. It was a warfare waged against Paul, and the dominant, conquering conception of Christianity, for which he stood, by a party within the church.

As soon as the first Christians saw that salvation was to be offered to the Gentiles it brought up a serious question: Must they first become Jews? All of them seemed to think so. Stephen's teaching broadened their thoughts; the conversion of the Samaritans still further. The conversion of Cornelius showed them that in one instance at least a Gentile could be saved without first being circumcised, and then entering upon a life of obedience to the ceremonial law, but they did not seem to draw the universal principle from it.

The brethren at Jerusalem were all prejudiced against Gentiles; they were still observing the ceremonies themselves; their conception of a Messiah's reign was a world of Jews."

2. Three Parties at Jerusalem.

Though the question was settled, it took a long time to work the Judaism out of the body, and there was a wing of the church at Jerusalem that would not broaden. The habit and training of their minds were stubborn, their Scriptures gave a seeming sanction to it; they were averse to seeing Gentiles excused from the burdens of discipline they themselves had borne.

Three parties had early emerged in the church life in Jerusalem—the progressives, with burning zeal, like Stephen and Philip, who at once followed the lead of Providence and went preaching to every one who needed the gospel; the teachable conservatives, like Peter and James and John, who had to be taught powerfully before they would believe that Gentiles did not have to become Jews before they could be saved, and who observed ceremonies themselves as a matter of expediency; and the Pharisaic party, who never ceased to demand that circumcision and the rest of the ceremonial law was necessary to salvation. The latter were fairly good people, and at first confined their efforts to the church at Jerusalem. But when they heard of the Gentiles coming in at Antioch and other places, they organized a propaganda and sent out emissaries to counteract the teachings of Paul. Paul was their special aversion. They were an example of fairly good men contending for a false idea, and growing more and more narrow, false, vicious, unscrupulous. They hastened first to Antioch, and seem to have begun their pernicious work about the time Paul and Barnabas returned.

These "certain men"—Paul calls them "false brethren, privily brought in, who came in privily to spy out our liberty, which we have in Christ Jesus, that they may bring us into bondage." (Gal. 2:4.)

3. The Agitation at Antioch.

What effect on the church at Antioch? Why, as they came from the headquarters, they ought to know.

The Jewish Christians would have grave concern, as their love of the law was appealed to, and the Gentile Christians would wonder if Paul had not been mistaken about it.

Paul saw the meaning of it—that if their view prevailed there would soon be no Christianity left. In their teaching, faith in Christ was not sufficient and a ceremonial was made a merit. Paul was full of burning zeal in defense of the gospel, and he and Barnabas, as the leaders, withstood them a long time. But they were persistent, malicious, brazen; they falsely claimed that they represented the apostles at Jerusalem, and intimated that they had been sent out by the church at Jerusalem.

4. A Wise Investigation.

How would they ever know the certainty about it? Send to Jerusalem. They would find out whether these men were sent by the church there; whether their teachings were held by the mother church. Besides, it was revealed to Paul that he must go up to Jerusalem about this question, as he tells us in his account of this controversy. (Gal. 2.)

The church appointed a committee, as we would call it, to go up to Jerusalem. Of course, Paul was on the committee, because he was the chief preacher and he must be there to state the case and tell the doings of God. Barnabas was also on the committee; he was a leader; he was popular at Jerusalem; he was a Levite, connected with the priestly family, and would be conciliatory to his brethren. Others were on the committee. Titus, a full-blood Gentile, went along, (Gal. 2:1), whether on the committee or as a traveling companion to Paul, we know not. He would be a living witness to the power of the gospel to save without the aid of the ceremonies of Moses.

II.

The Frank Consultation. 3-5.

"They therefore, being brought on their way by the church, passed through both Phoenicia and Samaria, declaring the conversion of the Gentiles; and they caused great joy unto all the brethren. And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the church and the apostles and the elders, and they rehearsed all things that God had done with them. But there rose up certain of the sect of the Pharisees who believed, saying, It is needful to circumcise them, and to charge them to keep the law of Moses."

1. The Good Journey.

An escort of honor was sent with the committee for some distance. They chose the well-made Roman road that ran along by the seashore, through Phoenicia and Samaria, but not through Galilee, because they would meet warmer-hearted, broader, Jewish Christians, won by the same men who first preached at Antioch. They did not want to encounter the narrower type of Jewish Christians. Those Christians were all gladdened at the news of the conversion of the Gentiles. The deep question, whose settlement they were seeking, was not mentioned to them, it would seem; but left to be discussed after they had conferred with the brethren of Jerusalem.

2. The Animus of the Enemy.

Personally and officially they were received with warmth by the whole church, with its officials, and we see throughout the whole period the prudence of Paul and the narrow program of the Judaistic party. At that first public reception Paul and Barnabas wisely rehearsed the story of their work, among Jews and Gentiles, without raising any questions, and the result of it was evident in the joy it gave to the more sympathetic brethren. That was all. But the narrow party sprang up and violated the spirit of a purely fraternal occasion by making their demand that Gentiles should be circumcised and keep the whole law of Moses. At Antioch they only said the Gentiles must be circumcised; at Jerusalem they disclosed their whole purpose. It was logical. If circumcision was necessary, then all that goes with it is necessary. If you are saved by ceremonies, then you must not omit one. The issue is at last joined, in its plainest form, at the headquarters of Christianity. A clear decision is necessary now.

3. A Private Interview.

After this reception Paul and Barnabas, as Paul tells us in Gal. 2, had private interviews with the leading men—Peter, James, John and others—and then they all gathered at a later time, it would seem, to give a final decision.

4. The Living Argument.

The omitted verses tell how Peter told of the conversion of Cornellus, a Gentile; Paul told of the glad conversion of many Gentiles; James, the brother of our Lord and now at the head of the mother church, summed it up and decided that the Gentiles must not be compelled to become Jews.

III.

The Decision Formulated. 22-29.

"Then it seemed good to the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men out of their company, and send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas; namely, Judas, called Barsabbas, and Silas, chief men among the brethren; and they wrote thus by them, The apostles and the elders, brethren, unto the brethren who are of the Gentiles in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, greeting: Forasmuch as we have heard that certain who went out from us have troubled you with words, subverting your souls; to whom we gave no commandment; it seemed good unto us, having come to one accord, to choose out men and send them unto you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, men that have hazarded their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. We have sent therefore Judas and Silas, who, themselves also shall tell you the same things by word of mouth. For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things; that ye abstain from things sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication; from which if ye keep yourselves, it shall be well with you. Fare ye well."

1. The Church on Record.

There had been no discord at any time among the apostles and elders. The church as a whole acted. The decision was unanimous, which means that the Judaizers either voted with the majority or submitted without bringing in "a minority report," so to say, thinking that the concessions asked of the Gentiles were partly in their favor. If they professed to accept the decision it was not in good faith, for from that day on they carried on a systematic propaganda and waged a cruel war on Paul as long as he lived. They sent their emissaries everywhere for years after this, who followed up Paul with vicious and malicious charges. They would tell his converts that his version of the gospel was not true; that he was not one of the twelve apostles; that he had no authority from the other apostles. They perverted his noble self-denial in abstaining from marriage would seem; but left to be discussed after they had conferred with the brethren of Jerusalem.

2. The Trouble Makers Condemned.

It condemned the spirit of the men who had troubled them and disclaimed having given them any authority. It declared high confidence in Paul and Barnabas as men who had rendered up their lives for the sake of the gospel. It claimed that the Holy Spirit had given them to understand that it was his decision, too. It recognized their salvation without circumcision. It made no demand on them save that they humor the prejudices of their Jewish brethren in not eating things offered to idols, nor eating blood, nor things strangled, whereby they might eat blood. The other prohibition—to abstain from fornication—was not of the same nature, in the eyes of the Jews, but it was with Gentiles, and it would be more effective in this connection.

It was wise to send this in black and white. It was wise to send two leading men with them to corroborate the letter and expand its teachings, and to show high respect for the church at Antioch.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

A fragment of a lost historical work of the second century by a Jewish Christian named Hegesippus gives some very curious information about this James "the brother of the Lord." He is said to have been known as "James the Just," or "Righteous," on account of his exceeding strictness of life. He was a total abstainer and a vegetarian. He wore his hair long, used no oil and was dressed not in wool, but in linen. He spent so much time kneeling in prayer, beseeching God to pardon the people, that his knees became hard like a camel's. How much of the details can be accepted as historical it is impossible to say.—Pollard.

"Christianity, with its stimulus to thought and its insistence upon liberty, has vastly promoted discussion of theology."—Peloubet.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What prejudice can finally stand before Christian love?
2. Can a discussion be conducted in the interest of truth rather than triumph?
3. Is primacy in the church to be anything more than personal?
4. Is there any stronger proof of Christ than a Christian?

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

JOHNSON FAILS TO LAND EFFECTIVELY ON O'BRIEN

Philadelphia Man Makes Great Showing Against Colored Champion.

Eastern Cities Send Large Delegations to the Match.

Philadelphia, May 20.—Jack Johnson, the big colored heavyweight champion, failed to win over Jack O'Brien, the Philadelphia light-heavyweight, last night in six rounds. The fight was even, and the concensus of opinion was that it should have been a draw had a decision been permissible. O'Brien's marvelous fast footwork and his superior blocking saved him from damage in several close mixes, and three times he was forced to his knees by the great strength and weight of Johnson in the clinches. It was a fast fight, O'Brien doing the greater part of the leading. Johnson was slow on his feet and appeared not to be in the best condition.

Tickets sold at premiums, the $10 sets going at $15 and the lower priced places at corresponding increases. Speculators swelled to control the choice places, but there was little haggling over the price. The three special trainloads of New Yorkers and big delegations from Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburg and even Chicago did not hesitate because of the speculators' exactions.

O'Brien came to the city from King of Prussia inn, his suburban training place, early in the afternoon. He had worked hard to condition himself and was enthusiastic about his chances. "I know I'm going to give the big black a chase for the decision," he said. "He is trimber because he has a big advantage in height and weight he has a cinch, but I shall fool him. I will show him a few tricks."

While every one conceded O'Brien's fitness, there was a lack of enthusiasm about Johnson's condition. There was much talk about his lax methods in training and his apparent lack of seriousness in his work.

No Betting.

There was little or no public betting on the fight at the ringside. The fact that no decision is allowed on six rounds on this scale was responsible, of course, for this. There was some private wagering, however, that O'Brien would have the advantage on points on this he was favorite at odds of 5 to 4.

Johnson did not seem to have any doubts about the outcome of the first match since he came into the championship. He was going about the city in a motor car in the afternoon, and in the course of his visits called upon the National Athletic club officials and asked for his guarantee. He got it in one thousand dollar bills, and grinned broadly as he tucked it away in an inside pocket.

"Oh, I ain't worrying about tonight. I expect to knock O'Brien out in less than six rounds. I am in good shape, yes, sir, in mighty good shape. Just you watch me and see."

Just to fill in the time before the big show, three bouts between ambitious youngsters were brought on. The earnestness of the young boxers amused the crowd, which had packed the pavilion more than an hour within the time set for the big fellows to come on.

Orderly Crowd.

It was a most orderly crowd and might well have been taken for a gathering of delegates to a political convention, or even a less decorous assemblage, but for the roped enclosed ring, with its circle of glaring electric lights above. Many men of eminence in Philadelphia and New York financial and professional and political life were at the ringside.

Three tiresome six-round preliminaries, prolonged the wait until 10:20 before Johnson, the first to appear, shouldered his way through the crowd, aisles and climbed into the ring. His reception was cordial, but not enthusiastic, and there was even some hooting by the galleries.

O'Brien came on a minute later and sprang nimbly upon the platform. The crowd cheered him frantically. He grasped Johnson's hands perfunctorily and took his corner. Johnson quickly came over, looked over O'Brien's bandaged hands and appeared satisfied. A telegram was read from Billy Delaney announcing Johnson on behalf of A. Kaufman for a fight at San Francisco. Johnson had Yank Kenny, George Cole and Frank Nadell while O'Brien's seconds were Abe Attell, George Chip, Jack Harlon and Jack Hagan. Alex. Haddie, O'Brien's handler-in-chief, who seconded him in his recent fight with Ketchel, did not appear in the role of advisor, but came into the ring in his street clothes and cordially grasped O'Brien's hands.

"I am 192 pounds," said O'Brien, as he sat in his corner, while the gloves were being drawn on. Johnson looked fifty pounds heavier as he got up and dropped his big bathrobe.

Stanley Ketchel came forward to be introduced. His shock O'Brien's hand and wished him success, then crossed and greeted Johnson. The big black fellow eyed Ketchel up carefully, smiling broadly as he acknowledged the greeting.

Fight by Rounds.

O'Brien looked to be in splendid shape as he took off his bathrobe. Johnson appeared rather bulky about the waist line, but his splendid muscles stood out in arms and shoulders. It was 10:29 when the gong sounded and Johnson rushed O'Brien to the ropes. O'Brien came back with a left to the face and in the clinch Johnson rushed O'Brien off his feet. O'Brien put left to face lightly, but Johnson only grinned and forced O'Brien to the ropes, sending him to his knees. They fenced and fiddled carefully. O'Brien trying a long left to Johnson. Johnson put one in O'Brien's face without damage and O'Brien landed a left to the face in return. O'Brien was in and out like a flash and Johnson set himself for a counter, but it was smothered. O'Brien's quickness of foot stood him in good stead against Johnson. The round was even.

Round 2—O'Brien led for the face, but was blocked and Johnson lifted him off his feet in the clinch that followed. The crowd booted Johnson, but he only smiled and rushed O'Brien to the ropes. Marvelous duckling saved O'Brien from damage and they sparred cautiously. O'Brien caught Johnson with a stiff left on the face three times and the crowd cheered frantically. Johnson rushed him to the ropes, landing [illegible] on the body lightly. Both appeared winded and Johnson waited for O'Brien to lead. Johnson went after O'Brien like a whirlwind, but quick foot work took the Philadelphia man out of harm's way. O'Brien did the cleaner work in this round.

Round 3—Johnson missed left and took a light stab in the face in return. O'Brien was in and out like a flash, landing left on the face; but took a stiff jab in the stomach at close range. Johnson forced O'Brien shambling after him rather slowly and awkwardly missed two lefts and a right for the head. Johnson set himself for O'Brien's

JACK O'BRIEN,

Round 4—O'Brien put left to the face and took a right on the body and they sparred cautiously. O'Brien caught Johnson a jarring smash on the face with his left and Johnson's mouth showed the effects. Johnson slowed up and waited for O'Brien to lead. The crowd yelled for O'Brien to "Come and show him up" but Johnson only grinned and walked in. He caught O'Brien a glancing right on the head and a left on the body O'Brien was going away and the blows lacked steam. O'Brien feinted and missed a left swing, going to his knees from the impetus of the blow. Johnson appeared slow and had no advantage in the round. If anything it was to O'Brien's advantage.

Round 5—Johnson caught O'Brien a left on the face and O'Brien went down, but was up like a flash and fighting strong. Johnson tried to send in his right uppercut that proved so effective with Tommy Burns, but was blocked. A right to the face cut O'Brien right eye badly, but he came back with a left flush on Johnson's mouth. Johnson viciously pinning O'Brien to the ushers and wrestling him down. O'Brien did most of the leading at this stage, and as the gong sounded sent a hard left to Johnson's face.

Round 6—They shook hands gingerly for the wind-up and sparred cautiously. O'Brien led a left which landed on the body good and hard. Johnson only smiled, and held up his hands to indicate that he had blocked it. O'Brien rushed in again and tried hard to land on the face and body but was blocked in his efforts. Finally he sent a stiff left to the face and took a hard counter on the head in return. Johnson met O'Brien with a left to the face and he stepped in and the round ended in a clinch.

Johnson had nothing to say after the bout; except that he thought he had the better of it. O'Brien was enthusiastic over his showing. He said he has accepted a proposal to meet Al Kaufman in San Fdancisco in the near future.

Jeffries Elated.

Chicago, May 20.—"Nothing that Jack Johnson can do in or out of the ring makes the slightest difference to me," said James J. Jeffries when he heard the results of the O'Brien-Johnson fight tonight. "I will be ready to talk fight to Johnson when I have finished my present theatrical engagement some time in July. Then I will be ready to step up for a fight within five months of the date of signing. If Johnson will meet me then and talk business, well and good, but I do not think he wants to meet me in the ring. The matter is entirely in his hands when July comes."

Jeffries heard the result of the O'Brien-Johnson fight in his dressing room at a local theater. Every time O'Brien scored a point a smile would spread over Jeffries' face and he would nod in approval. It was apparent that Jeffries sympathized with O'Brien.

After the description of the bout was finished, Jeffries grunted in his characteristic manner. "The result of the fight is no surprise to me, although I expected Johnson would do better. O'Brien is a flashy man in a six-round fight and could keep almost any one off for that length of time," he said. "Johnson, with his superior height and weight, should be able to make a better showing than he did. On the whole the result is what might have been expected and will make no change in my plans."

THE SEASON IS ABOUT TO BEGIN

First City League Games of Year to Be Played Sunday.

By-laws and a schedule for the baseball season were last night adopted by the officials of the City Amateur Baseball league at a meeting held at the store of the Northern Hardware company.

Several changes were made in the original constitution, which was drawn up some weeks ago. All past difficulties have been smoothed over and next Sunday the teams will begin the season.

The Cascades will meet the Duluth Heights team on the latter's grounds. The Hammers will meet the Duluth Reds at the Thirty-second avenue west grounds, and the Union Match company team will meet the Adams aggregation on the West Duluth diamond.

The schedule calls for three games each Sunday.

Fitzgerald Gets Decision.

New Orleans, La., May 20.—Young Fitzgerald of Milwaukee was awarded the decision on points at the end of a ten-round bout with George Kitson of Brooklyn at the Royal Athletic club. Fitzgerald scored a victory by an extremely narrow margin.

Superior	1	6	.143

Winona, Minn., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The locals scored twice in the seventh inning yesterday and took the fourth straight from Duluth by a score of 2 to 1.

Duluth had scored one in the first inning, and up to the lucky seventh the Winona side of the score board was barren of numbers. Then Dauss issued free transportation to first for a Winona player and one of his fellows slammed out a three-bagger, scoring the chap. A bunt by another Winonian brought in the hard-hitting gentleman who awaited the opportunity on third.

Both teams played errorless, snappy baseball, the Duluth team making a better showing than at any other time during the series. Score: R. H. E.

SUPERIOR SHUT OUT.

Eau Claire Has No Difficulty Defeating the Swamp Jumpers.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local team shut out the Superior aggregation yesterday, the victory being the fourth successive one. The final score was 5 to 0.

Guhl, the locals' pitcher, was in great form. He was most chary about issuing passes or giving him to the batter, he allowed the visitors but four while Eau Claire gathered a total of seven during the game.

Disaster befell Superior in the fifth, when Eau Claire got four runs. The Swampers made two errors at critical periods, the mistakes benefitting the home team to a considerable extent. Score: R. H. E.

LA CROSSE WINS.

Takes Four Straight Games From Wausau Nine.

La Crosse, Wis., May 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The score in the game with Wausau yesterday was a tie in the ninth, when the home team snatched two runs and the game by a score of 4 to 2. This makes four successive games Wausau has lost to La Crosse.

Wausau made a beautiful start by getting two runs in the first inning. Dunbar deuled the locals a hit until the fourth inning, when they secured a sacrifice and two singles, after Mr. Dunbar had placed a man on first with a pass.

The other two runs were garnered in the ninth, when it also looked as if Wausau were going to tie the score. The bases were all cluttered up with Wausau men, when Mr. Moes made a long drive to center field, but Klein got it and stopped further festivities. Score: R. H. E.

One Game Postponed.

Rain prevented the game scheduled between Kansas City and Toledo.

(By Bruce.)

Tuesday evening the senior eight went over the mile and a half course at a mid-season clip. Coach Murray Peyton, in a motor boat, was alongside of the eight all the way up the stretch, using his megaphone to coach them.

The juniors rowed down the course later in the evening, getting their legs into the drive, but the boat failed to move along with that rythm that is necessary.

From the way the two crews are going at the present time, the race this week should be one worth journeying over to the Park Point clubhouse to witness. The seniors have had the advantage of a longer training period, and they have also more old and experienced men in the boat. However, the juniors are a scrappy lot, and the first clash of the season is one that is sure to bring out some strenuous efforts upon the part of the two crews.

The stroke used by the juniors is somewhat longer than the one used by the juniors last year. Dr. Lynam is constantly coaching the candidates to get the full benefit of their slide, something, by the way, that they have failed to do up to the present time. The boat, however, is going as smoothly as it could be expected to travel at this early stage of the game.

They have just begun to wear off some of the ragged edges. From now on the work will be of a nature that will bring out the stuff that the crew is composed of.

In Tuesday evening's practice the boat made the most even progress it has made this year. There were times when it was sloppy, and the men failed to keep the boat upon its keel. At other times the boat traveled fairly well, and the way the men got their legs into the drive was a bit of encouragement to the coach.

Every member of the two crews is sighing wearily for better weather. There hasn't been an evening this year when the weather conditions could be called anything like ideal. There has been a biting wind, just enough to chill an oarsmen the moment he stops hard rowing, and until the weather becomes better adapted to outdoor exercise, the best results cannot be obtained.

There will be just about two months' work from the present date before the regatta at St. Paul. This is not taking into consideration the practice nights that will be interfered with by weather conditions. These two months will necessarily have to be filled with the hardest kind of work by the members of the two crews. Both the senior and junior crews of the Minnesota Boat club have had a good start in outdoor work over the Duluth crews. This handicap will have to be overcome by good, conscientious work. The spirit shown by the juniors the present week is the most encouraging sign that has been present during the season.

Old Roman Comiskey appears to have handed Joe Cantillon of the Washington Americans, a lemon, wrapped up beautifully, 'tis true, but nevertheless, a lemon, in trading First Baseman Jiggs Donahue, Outfielder Cravath and Pitcher Nick Altrock for Pitcher Burns. This Burns showed good form with the Washingtons last year. Moreover, he is a youngster and should have many good days ahead of him. Altrock is about all through with the big leagues; Cravath is of doubtful quality, and Donahue has failed to deliver of late. When they beat the old Roman, they must be eating breakfast when the chesty rooster emerges from the coop.

"Mistah Arthah Johnson, gentlemen." With a smile that showed every gold tooth in his ebony colored head, Mistah Johnson crawled through the ropes of the National Athletic club in the sleepy burg the other night. He was being introduced to the members of the club, who had not gathered to see the Johnson-O'Brien contest, but one earlier in the week.

Did the Philadelphia gents take kindly to the introduction of the man from Galveston? They did not. They hooted and hissed, and made so loud a demonstration against the grinning black, that his ear-wide grin faded from his broad face.

Some friend of the big negro, with literary aspirations, had written a speech for the occasion. However, Lil' Arthah was given no opportunity to deliver his speech. This incident plainly shows in what regard the new champion is held by the sporting fraternity of this country.

Just think of the members of the Chicago American baseball team—some of them—refusing to call for their checks. The men who failed to greet the treasurer of the team with a cheery little nod, when that gentleman passed out the money that some lucky individuals collect twice every sultry summer month for having a good time, were actually conscience stricken. It does sound funny, Clarence, to tell of a baseball player, a professional one, being conscience stricken. These men believed that they had not earned their money. You know the Chicago Americans haven't won a game for ages.

Do you suppose that any of the members of the Duluth White Sox will fail to greet Mr. Kuehnow, when that glad day upon which the ghost walks rolls around?

Young Mr. Ketchel really had a very pleasant little time the other evening at Pittsburg. He was opposed in the fistic seance by one McGann, who, by the way is no relation to the man who held the fuse. Mr. Ketchel received in the neighborhood of $5,000 of government prints for his part of the entertainment. Mr. McGann received a good beating. That is the difference between a champion and a dub. No, Mr. Ketchel never attended college.

A FIGHTING CHANCE ONLY

Duluth Track Team Is Facing a Strong Field.

The Coach Is Hopeful of Scoring Some Points in the Meet.

Manager D. W. Hiestand of the Duluth high school track team is not inclined to overrate the abilities of the twelve men who will go to Minneapolis Friday afternoon to compete in the interscholastic track and field meet, which will be pulled off on Northrop field on Saturday.

This is the first year that the Duluth high school has attempted to get together a team that will make any material showing in the annual meet at Minneapolis. The boys are all novices on the track, with no training except what they have been able to get this spring. None of them have ever run on a regulation cinder track such as that of Northrop field, nor with spiked shoes.

The annual meet is given under the auspices of the University of Minnesota and this year twenty-five high and preparatory schools will be entered. They represent practically all the larger secondary schools of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Wisconsin. Among them are such schools as Shattuck and Hamline, both more advanced athletically than the local high school.

It is the relative strength of the teams that Duluth will have to oppose and the fact that the home team is green comparatively that leads Manager Hiestand to feel that any points made will be a victory for the Duluth boys.

Allen Johnston, one of the best men on the team, strained the muscles in his side and back during practice Monday and it is doubtful what showing he will be able to make Saturday. Bill Stevens, one of the hopes of Duluth in the mile and half-mile runs, is on the sick list. Stevens is sure for points when in condition, and it is hoped he may shape around by Friday, when the team leaves for Minneapolis.

Duluth will have no entries in the hurdle, pole vaulting and hammer throwing contests. The team is rather one-sided and no efforts have been made to qualify men in these events. The strong points of the Duluth boys and the events in which they have hopes of scoring will be in the flat runs from the 100-yard dash to the one-mile run.

In the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes Stanley McCrea and Arthur Helmer are the local's strong men, and Taylor and Quinn will make their best showing in the 440-yard race.

Some protest has been entered by different high schools on allowing Shattuck and Hamline to enter their trained athletes in what is really a high and preparatory school series of contests. Both are above the grade of high school and in athletics, essay, during the football and baseball seasons, to rank with the colleges. They generally are represented in the inter-collegiate meets of Minnesota.

Twelve men will go down to represent Duluth. All but two of these will be in the high school next year, and it is hoped the experience they get in Minneapolis, coupled with another year's training, will put the men in a position to enter the next annual meet with a fair show of landing Duluth near the head of the list of winners.

The boys who will attend and compete Saturday are: Allen Johnston, Arthur Helmer, Asher Taylor, Earnest Merritt, William Stevens, Clifford Thornton, Arnold Berg, Stanley McCrea, Charles Mooney, John Quinn, Herbert McMeekin and Glen Goldsmith.

EVENING MEAL IS SUPPER.

Ruling Made By Judge in Illinois Damage Suit.

East St. Louis, Ill., May 20.—Judge Moyer, in the city court yesterday, ruled that the evening meal is supper, not dinner. The question arose in the suit of Miss Grace Lowe against the Alton (Ill.) Bakery & Confectionery company, the defendant being charged with having served plaintiff with ice cream which poisoned her. When witnesses were asked in court what they ate at a class feast, several called it dinner, while others called it supper, until confused jurors got the court to make the ruling.

GREAT LAKE MARINE NEWS

LIVINGSTONE STANDS PAT

Says the Lake Carriers Have Nothing to Arbitrate.

"We Have No Strike—All Employes Are at Work."

Detroit, Mich., May 20.—A committee of three members of the joint board of arbitration, Messrs. Klump of Michigan, Doyle of Illinois and Woerner of Indiana, called upon President Livingstone yesterday and held a lengthy discussion of the situation with him.

At the conclusion President Livingstone stated that the lake strike situation was absolutely unchanged. "I told the gentlemen from the arbitration board," he said, "that the Lake Carriers' association had nothing to arbitrate and therefore must decline their courteous invitation to appear before their board."

Detroit, Mich., May 20.—At last evening's session of the arbitration conference the board had before it a written statement from President William Livingstone of the Lake Carriers' association setting forth the points brought up informally when Messrs. Klump, Doyle and Woerner called on Mr. Livingstone yesterday. In his written statement Mr. Livingstone made six points:

"First, that the open shop was the sole issue as far as the lake carriers are concerned and is a fundamental principle which could not be arbitrated.

"Second, that it was not true that the carriers had asked their employes to sign contracts obligating themselves not to belong to unions.

"Third, that it was not true that there was any ulterior motive behind the lake carriers' welfare, or pension plan.

"Fourth, that the carriers were not tying up commerce, as they had not sufficient freight to load their boats to capacity.

"Fifth, that the carriers were paying the highest maximum wages ever paid on the lakes, notwithstanding last season's business depression.

"Sixth, that the carriers had no strike, their employes being at work and satisfied."

Mr. Livingstone, in his statement, said the carriers conceded the right of any man to join the union, but held that a man who did not wish to join had the same right to refuse. As to the welfare plan, he said it was arranged with the best motives and for the benefit of the men without costing the employes anything. He characterized as untrue the assertion that men could not obtain employment upon association vessels unless they joined the welfare plan, and said the latter was purely voluntary, many of the present employes not having participated in it. The welfare plan, he said, had no bearing on any legal claim or liability regarding accidents to the men. Regarding the business outlook, he said present freight conditions were no better than those of a year ago.

"We have no strike," he said. "Our employes are all at work and satisfied with all their conditions. Any difficulties existing are caused by the threats, intimidations, personal violence, and ill-advised, hot-headed actions of those who are unwilling to work on the open shop plan and who try to prevent those who are willing to work on that basis from doing so. "Our not meeting you in compliance with your request and our unwillingness to submit the questions involved to mediation or arbitration were not due to any discourtesy to the gentlemen comprising your board, but were based entirely on the reason already given, that the principle of open shop could not be arbitrated or modified."

REBUILDING FENDER PIER

Vessel Captains Warned of Obstructions at the Bridge.

Col. Graham D. Fitch of the United States corps of engineers in Duluth has sent out the following notice to vessel masters, under date of yesterday:

"During the next six weeks the rebuilding of the fender pier at the Duluth-Superior (interstate) bridge will be in progress. Scows will be working alongside of the pier, either on the north or south side. One opening or the other will be clear the full width of 200 feet at all times. The scows will not take up more than fifty or sixty feet of the opening at any time, and vessels will have 150 feet of clear space, if they desire to use the opening occupied by the scows.

"In case the scows are tied up at the pier at night, they will carry the lights required by the laws of navigation."

THREE MEN ASSAULTED

Serious Troubles Arising From the Lake Seamen's Strike.

A Revolver Is Drawn In a Superior Saloon Fight.

Three bad cases of assault were reported to the Head of the Lakes police last night, all arising from the lake strike situation. Jack Buell was shot in a Superior saloon; an oiler employed on one of the open shop vessels was assaulted by three union men on Fifth avenue, and John Sandberg, an employe of the Scott-Graff Lumber company, was evidently mistaken for a non-union seaman, and was seriously injured in a fight with four unknown men on Michigan street, near Twenty-third avenue west.

• • •

Mistaken identity was the cause of John Sandberg, an employe of the Scott-Graff lumber mill, receiving a severe beating late last night at the hands of four unknown assailants.

It is believed that the men who pummeled the unfortunate Sandberg mistook him for one of the men who have been working on the boats, thereby incurring the wrath of the Union Lake workers.

Robbery was evidently not the motive of the assault. Sandberg had some money upon his person, but no effort was made to obtain this. This leads to the belief that the men believed that Sandberg was a lake worker.

The assault occurred on Michigan street near Twenty-third avenue west. Sandberg was returning from work at the mill. The four men leaped upon him from a dark corner and he was not given an opportunity to defend himself.

It was reported to the police at noon today that Sandberg's injuries are even more serious than was first supposed, and it is expected that he will be confined to his bed for some time.

• • •

Jack Buell, a union structural ironworker, was shot and painfully though not seriously injured, in a saloon conducted by William Ratze, at Third street and Cumming avenue, Superior, last night. As a result the police are searching for two negroes, one of whom fired the shot that narrowly missed killing Buell.

Buell was standing at the saloon bar when the two negroes entered. He recognized them as two who had been hired to take the place of union men in the structural iron work at the Northwestern Fuel company's dock No. 2. One of the men, Bruce Webb, engaged Buell in conversation.

During the course of the discussion Buell called Webb a "scab." The negro resented hotly and the two men were soon fighting. During the resulting confusion the other negro, William Holmes, pulled a revolver from his hip pocket and fired full in Buell's face.

The bullet struck just above the left eye and glanced off. Buell fell to the floor, and it was believed at first he was dying. The two negroes took to their heels at once. Dr. Specht was summoned and pronounced Buell's injury slight. He said if the bullet had struck a trifle lower the result would have been fatal.

The police were soon on the trail of the two men. The fight preceding the shooting had been fast and furious, and the police were able for a time to trace the men by the trail of blood.

A visit to Webb's boarding house showed that the men had been there. Considerable blood was found about his room, and in a grip was found a bloody cartridge box. It is believed the men had gone hastily to the room for more ammunition, in preparation for a flight and further trouble if they were followed.

Both Webb and Holmes were Pittsburg men and came to Superior a few weeks ago as employes of the Hilland-Patterson company, which has the contract for the structural iron work on the Northwestern dock.

The Superior police believe that the men are in hiding in the city. Both had money coming to them from their employers and it is thought likely that they have found refuge with friends and will lie low until they can collect it.

• • •

Another fight, arising out of the strike situation, that might have resulted seriously, but for the timely intervention of a passer-by, occurred near the wholesale house of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company, on Fifth avenue west last night.

An oiler who has been employed on one of the open shop vessels had been in the Lake Carriers' association shipping office near the foot of the street. When he came out he was followed several blocks up the street by three men, believed to be union men or union sympathizers.

He was attacked and assaulted by all three. A man passing at the time saw the assault and went to the oiler's assistance. The men took to their heels. The oiler was hurt but slightly. He said he had been to the shipping office, but refused to give his name or the vessel on which he had been employed.

A SUBMARINE SIGNAL SYSTEM

Lighthouse Tender First Lake Boat to Be Equipped.

The lighthouse tender Hyacinth, which has been in Duluth harbor several times, will have the distinction of being the first boat on the Great Lakes to be equipped with submarine signalling apparatus.

While submarine signals are used extensively on the coast, it was not until recently that the government decided to establish them on the lakes. Lightships are being provided with signals, and fog signal stations may later be provided with apparatus. The danger of collision is minimized by the submarine devices.

By means of the receiving 'phones, which are similar to the ordinary telephone, the pilot can determine the position of any lightship and guide his vessel accordingly. A number of lightships at the straits are provided with submarine sound-producing apparatus.

FREIGHT WAR ON THE LAKES

American and Canadian Owners Cut Rates on Grain.

Canadians Trying to Get Trade They Regard as Theirs.

There promises to be a lively competition this year between the American and Canadian vessels for the grain carrying trade between ports at the Head of the Lakes and the seaboard.

Last year, for the first time, grain was carried by Canadian vessels from Fort William to Montreal as low as 3½ cents per bushel, while the rate by the American route by way of Buffalo to New York was 7 cents. As a result, much of the grain shipped from the Head of the Lakes went to Montreal.

The American vessel owners have become alarmed this year at the prospective loss of their trade, and the grain carrying rate between Buffalo and New York has now been lowered to 4 cents, making the through rate from this end to New York about 5½ cents instead of 7 cents, as it was last year.

The 3½ per cent is a starvation rate for Canadian vessels, while American owners claim to be able to net a small profit at their reduced rate. American vessels have always carried from 75 to 90 per cent of the Manitoba grain shipments. American owners thus reaping the profit which the Canadians claim should come to them.

Canadian vesselmen have been handicapped in the past by the want of sufficient storage facilities at Montreal, thus in a measure forcing shipments by way of Buffalo. This defect has been provided for this year by the erection of large water-front elevators and greatly increased trackage. The new steel sheds at Montreal are capable of handling 150,000 tons of grain a week.

The keenest rivalry is developing between the American and Canadian owners—the former to retain the trade they have monopolized for so many years and the latter to gain control of a trade they think rightfully belongs to them. Further reductions in rates may be expected.

IS KILLED INSTANTLY

Fireman Falls Into Hold of the Steamer Superior.

Was Member of Eagles and the Firemen's Union.

Instantly killed by a fall through the hatchway into the hold of the steamer Superior at the Peavey elevators, 600 Garfield avenue, about 5 o'clock last evening, the lifeless body of Peter Foster was picked up and was taken last evening to the undertaking rooms of Durkan & Crawford.

Little is known of the accident, as no one seems to have seen it. The fall caused almost instant death, the man striking on his head.

Peter Foster was born in Germany thirty years ago, and had been in this country since he was 15.

He was a member of the Marine Firemen's union of Buffalo and Eagles lodge, No. 46, of that city. He was known on the lakes as a steady and reliable man. For three years he sailed as fireman on the steamer Superior of the Western Transit company's line.

Foster's death was purely accidental. He fell from the main deck to the bottom of the hold.

The marine firemen and the Eagles will have charge of the funeral, the time for which will be set later. So far as is known, Foster had no relatives in this country.

AVOID LIQUOR AND PROFANITY

Inspector May Revoke Captain's License for Either Cause.

Several important changes affecting the equipment and regulations of vessels on the Great Lakes have been made by the board of supervising inspectors. The new rules, which have just been issued by the board, are designed to secure safer quarters for passengers and crews and minimize intoxication and abusive language by officers on lake boats.

One new regulation in regard to fire buckets says that only six buckets can be kept on the upper or boat deck. There are boats on the lakes, particularly passenger boats, that have as high as ninety buckets on those decks. The new rules had been made with a view to distributing the buckets about the boat.

Safety of the crew and passengers sleeping below decks on all steamers over 100 gross tons is provided in an amendment which requires all such quarters to be equipped with a bell to be operated from the bridge or pilot house.

An important rule in regard to intoxication or use of abusive language has been adopted. Whenever any inspector shall find any licensed officer on board a boat who is under the influence of liquor or any other stimulant and unfit for duty, or when any officer shall use abusive or insulting language to or assault an inspector while on official duty, the inspector shall immediately revoke the license of the officer without further trial or investigation.

WILL GATHER IN DULUTH

Leaders in Lake Labor Troubles Will Meet Here.

Strike Headquarters Are Transferred to Head of Lakes.

The call has been issued for a general mass meeting of union labor, to be held in the old Elks' hall, 122 West Superior street, next Tuesday night.

The object is to bring together representatives of the several unions affiliated with the International Longshoremen's union for a general discussion of the strike situation, and the meeting is important, in that it may bring the longshoremen to a decision on the course they will pursue in joining with or holding aloof from the several unions that are now striking against the open shop plan of the Lake Carriers' association.

T. V. O'Connor, president of the International union will be present and will probably preside at the meeting. Mr. O'Connor is a man of national importance in the labor world and his position as head of the strongest labor organization on the Great Lakes gives weight to his opinions on questions involving union labor.

Claude Wirtz of Detroit, president of the Scowmen's union and Thomas Dolan of Chicago, national president of the dredgemen will be present and address the meeting. Martin Col of Duluth, president of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association, who has been in the East for some time in attendance at various labor conferences, will return home before Tuesday and is expected to speak for the tugmen that evening.

Victor Olander, secretary of the Lake Seamen's union, who is now in Detroit attending the meetings of the International association, has signified his intention of coming to Duluth for the occasion.

The organizations that are affiliated with the International Longshoremen are the dredging or so many years and the latter to gain control of a trade they think rightfully belongs to them. Further reductions in rates may be expected.

TELEPHONE BY WIRELESS TRIED ON LAKE MICHIGAN.

Manitowoc, Wis., May 20.—Wireless telephone from a lake boat will have its first real test today from the new steamer United States of the Indiana Transportation company on its maiden trip to Chicago. The steamer left here at 7:30 o'clock this morning with a party of nearly 100 on board, including Dr. Lee Forrest, who is connected with the wireless system with which the steamer is equipped.

It is the intention to keep the wireless telephone system in connection with Milwaukee, Chicago and Manitowoc during the trip.

MOTT WAS NOT ON THE ADELLA SHORES.

Engineer R. S. Mott was not a member of the crew of the Adella Shores, which went down with thirteen men in Whitefish bay during the storm early in May. His name appeared in the published list of the crew.

Mott was chief engineer of the Shores for three years, but at the close of navigation last year he left the vessel to go as chief engineer of the S. N. Parent of the Great Lakes & St. Lawrence Transportation company.

ASKED TO STAY AWAY

Assemblymen Requested to Be Absent at Election.

Governor Davidson's Alleged Campaign Desires Are Related.

Madison, Wis., May 20.—That Governor Davidson asserted that he desired the election of F. A. Edmonds as chairman of the Republican state central committee in the last campaign because he believed that if Mr. Edmonds was selected as chairman Senator Isaac Stephenson would bear all the expenses of the state campaign, is the assertion of Peter J. Kohler, manager for Republican Candidate S. A. Cook in Milwaukee county, before the senate investigating committee.

Mr. Kohler also gave interesting testimony in regard to political conditions in Milwaukee.

Assemblyman Twesme, who answered a senate committee subpoena, also proved a frank, interesting witness. William L. Easman, who looked after Candidate McGovern's interests in Milwaukee, told the committee he knew that paid election inspectors usually carried their precincts for the candidates who hired them. Three newspaper correspondents testified that Assemblyman Domacrowski told them that he had been approached by some one to stay out of the joint assembly the day United States Senator Stephenson was elected.

HIGH MARKS FOR WHEAT

New Levels Attained By Nearby Options in Duluth Market.

Flax Also Reaches Highest Point for the Last Crop.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 20.—Wheat pursued a somewhat irregular course, as far as fluctuations are concerned, during the session in the American markets today, but some new high price marks were attained.

In Duluth, May wheat sold at $1.20 and July at $1.28⅞, which are both new high prices for the crop.

Buying was well sustained until the latter end of the session, when the bears managed to crowd values off from the high level of the day. However the close was fractionally above that of yesterday.

Liverpool closed ½d to ⅝d higher. It was a holiday in the continental markets.

The May option closed ⅛c higher in Duluth, Chicago and Minneapolis, ⅛c lower in New York 1⅛c higher in St. Louis unchanged in Kansas City and ⅜c up in Winnipeg. The July option closed ⅜c higher in Duluth, ⅝c higher in Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City, ⅛c lower in New York ⅜@½c up in Kansas City and ½c higher in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ⅜c lower in Chicago and oats ¼@⅜c lower.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market was firm at the start and ¼d higher, offerings were light and support good, and during the morning values gained an additional 3d to 4d, with the principal strength in July and September, in which the shorts covered. The strength in American yesterday, together with the expectations of light shipments from Argentina and insignificant exports from Australia this week stimulated support. The Russian official report is bullish. Spot markets were very firm and there is a good demand for nearby cargoes. Country markets were very firm and there is a good demand reported from the continent for nearby stuff. Toward mid-day the market suffered a decline and reversed the advance was lost, due to realizing owing to the cooler weather in Russia, brilliant weather in the United Kingdom and light rains in Argentina. At this time the market was steady and 4d to 5d higher than yesterday.

"Corn was steady at the start and unchanged. Later July advanced in sympathy with the strength of American markets today, but some fine offerings Du Bar Argentine agent estimates the shipments of wheat this week at 1,200,000 last week 1,976,000, last year 1,320,000. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Advance, Based on Bullish Foreign Advices.

Chicago, May 20.—Wheat prices advanced more than 1c during early trading today on general demand, based on bullish foreign advices. Liverpool was 2@3d higher compared with yesterday's close and shipments from Argentina this week were estimated at about one-third those of a year ago. Light stocks in this country also helped to inspire bullish sentiment. Prices at the opening were ¾c to 1⅛c higher than the previous close. July was at $1.13¾@1.13⅝. Later the price advanced to $1.16.

The market lost much of its bullishness in the final hour on selling by influential houses. July sold off to $1.11⅝. The close was firm with July 1c@1¼c at $1.15½@1.15⅝.

Corn for May delivery touched a new high record mark for the season when it sold at 70c at the opening of trade. The market in general was firm on buying by commission houses due to some extent to the strength of wheat. July opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher at 68⅝@69c to 69⅛c and sold at 69⅛c.

An easier tone developed later in the day, July selling off to 68⅜c. The close was rather weak with July down ⅝c at 68⅛@68⅜c.

Oats also advanced to new high marks for the crop, May selling at 59⅝c and July at 52¼c. The September delivery was again in active demand by leading commission houses. Offerings were limited to small sales by local holders. July opened ⅜@½c to ¼@⅝c higher, at 52@52⅜ to 52¼@52½ and sold at 52⅜c.

There in provisions was quiet, and the market was firm, owing to a 5c to 10c advance in live hogs. Prices at the start were 2½@5c higher.

Sunderland of Omaha wired: The Burlington crop report says: "Weather has been especially favorable for giving the corn crop a good start in Nebraska. Planting is well along in all parts of the state where corn is raised and in many places the planting is completed. On the Minock division seasonable rains and can see no reason why there should not be a good crop. On the three Eastern divisions the chances are fine for a big crop."

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Market Opened Higher and Trading Was on Large Scale.

Failure to Increase Harriman Dividends Caused Lively Selling.

New York, May 20.—The opening dealings in stocks were on a large scale and prices in most cases were higher, but a considerable proportion of declines made the tone irregular. Realizing in United States Steel was reflected in the first sale of 8,000 shares at 59⅜ and 59⅝, compared with yesterday's last price of 59¾. International Pump declined 1, Sloss-Sheffield Steel rose 1½, Reading and Bethlehem Steel preferred 1 and Illinois Central and American Malting preferred large fractions.

Business became livelier as the trend of the market became definitely upwards. Prominent stocks, such as Reading, Union Pacific and St. Paul were taken freely at advancing prices, which created a more cheerful sentiment. There was but a slight show of interest in the metal list, outside of United States Steel, which hovered near yesterday's close. Atlantic Coast Line moved up 2 points, Reading 1⅝, International Paper preferred and National Railways of Mexico, preferred 1½ and St. Paul, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and American Linseed preferred 1. Western Maryland improved a point, but met heavy selling orders which drove it back 2¾. St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred and Federal Mining preferred also lost a point.

The strength of Southern Pacific, which rose 1⅜ to 124½, a record figure, held the market. United States Steel extended its record to 60, but held only momentarily. A fractional reaction followed in the whole market. Republic Steel preferred gained 1¾, Iowa Central preferred 1⅝, Southern Pacific preferred, Louisville & Nashville and American Can preferred 1. Reading second preferred declined 2. Bonds were firm.

Disappointment at the failure to increase dividends of the Harriman stocks caused a lively selling movement after 12 o'clock, in which Union Pacific fell back 1¾ and Southern Pacific 1½ from the top prices. A number of other stocks also weakened materially. Atchison and Chesapeake & Ohio being forced a point under yesterday's closing. Amalgamated Copper and General Electric 1¼ Consolidated Gas 1½ and Western Maryland 2⅝. Lake Shore sold at 226, compared with 300 in August, 1907.

Buying for both accounts caused a trifling rally, after which the market receded again to lower than before. Delaware & Hudson gave way 1¾, Hocking Coal and Third Avenue, 1¼ and C. C. & St. Louis, United States Steel, Colorado Fuel and Allis-Chalmers 1 below yesterday's final prices. The St. Louis-Southwestern stocks were bid up 1¾ and Central Railroad of New Jersey also rose 1 without helping the list.

The market closed easy. Another effort to rally prices was followed by another relapse in which Reading, Northern Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Kansas & Texas preferred, Wabash preferred, New York Central, Erie first preferred, Anaconda, Tennessee Copper and American Sugar fell a point under last night. Union Pacific 1⅜, and Delaware & Hudson, 2¾. American Hide & Leather preferred rose 1.

Suburban Home Places

The real estate columns of The Herald today describe many attractive acreage properties.

In this, as in every phase of advertising, The Herald contains many exclusive propositions not offered elsewhere.

LINE STEAMER IS FREE FROM ICE AFTER TWO-DAY CAPTIVITY; NO DEATHS

The Mongolian Finally Breaks Loose From Frigid Bonds.

Women Have Hazardous Walk Across Floes to Tug.

Vessel Sails Away in Direction of Bay Neulls.

St Johns, N. F., May 21.—The Allan line steamer Mongolian early today freed herself from teh ice pack off the which she has been imprisoned for two days.

The Mongolian did not make any attempt to enter St. Johns harbor the ice conditions making such a course apparently impracticable. The steamer worked off shore, and at 8 a. m. was making slow progress through the heavy drift ice.

It was believed on shore that the steamer was proceeding towards Bay Neulls eighteen miles south of St. Johns, where there was a possibility of her making harbor.

One of the most interesting of the many features which have marked the detention of the big steamer was the walk across the ice from the steamer of five passengers, among them two women. They were Dr. Jo. Pierson and wife Dr. Hunt, Miss McPherson and a Mr. Stephenson. They were anxiously watched both from the steamer and

BREAD FAMINE PARTLY RELIEVED

Small Loaves Sell for Ten and Fifteen Cents.

Chicago, May 21.—The price of May wheat on the board of trade was advanced ½ cent to a new high price today. A small quantity went to a belated short at $1.30½.

New York, May 21.—The trend famine on the East side caused by the strike of union bakers has been only partially relieved by the demands for bread made on Brooklyn, the Bronx and other sections. Small loaves, where they could be had at all, are selling for 10 and 15 cents. Bakers in other sections of the city, unaffected by the strike sent their wagons loaded with bread into the East side and profited by the high prices.

CHARGED TO EMPLOYERS

Defense in Madden Case Alleges Attack on Unions.

Says Prosecution Is Really Blow at Organized Labor.

Chicago, May 21.—Attorneys Brady and Jennings today began the introduction of testimony for the defense in the trial of "Skinny" Madden, F. A. Pouchot and M. J. Boyle, labor leaders charged with extortion in calling and settling strikes.

State's Attorney Wayman finished the presentation of direct evidence for the state yesterday. Mr. Brady's first act today was to request that the prosecution indicate what particular counts of the indictment it would put before the jury. This Judge McSurley overruled. A motion to take the case from the jury and acquit the defendants, on the ground that no case had been made against the accused, met a similar fate.

The defense will attempt to show that the Chicago Employers association, desiring to break up trades' unionism in Chicago, is behind the prosecution.

Charles S. Holt of Chicago Gets the Second Place.

Denver, Colo., May 21.—The general assembly of the Presbyterian church met at 9 o'clock this morning and before adjournment at noon the organization for the actual business of the church executive body was still under way.

Dr. William Henry Roberts of Philadelphia was re-elected stated clerk, a position he has held for twenty-six years and Charles S. Holt of Chicago, was appointed vice moderator. Dr. James M. Barkley of Detroit was elected moderator late yesterday, receiving 503 votes against 292 for Dr. Edgar Hill of Chicago.

The various voting districts submitted their nominees for the standing committee which will be organized before the day is over.

The four hundredth anniversary of the birth of John Calvin will be celebrated this afternoon. Elaborate preparations have been made to make the event noteworthy.

Aside from the regular assembly sessions, the business activities of the day will be taken up in the preparation of committee reports. Much interest attaches to the report of the committee on Sabbath observance. Reports of the activities of the church in various cities in seeking the Sunday closing of saloons and places of amusement.

The second day's session of the woman's board of home missions will also take place, and the annual report of Mrs. Ella A. Boole, secretary of the board, will be submitted. Addresses will be made by missionaries to the Indians and in foreign settlements, and the standing committees will be selected.

JAPS SEND CASH TO HOME LAND

Make Money at Farming in the Pacific States.

Tokio, Thursday, April 15.—According to statistics there were in December, 1906, 59,100 Japanese subjects in the United States, and out of that total 53 per cent were in California and neighboring states. In California 50 per cent of the total were found, and of these, 26 per cent were engaged in labor on railways and mines, the remaining 24 per cent being occupied with agriculture.

It is in the last-named enterprise alone that anything like signal success has been attained. There are 14,000 Japanese farmers in California, and they own 192,500 acres, devoted to fruit and vegetables. Many of the settlers have been living there ten to thirty years and speak English well.

An important feature is their contribution to trade with Japan, but much more remarkable are the sums remitted by them to their home country. In 1901 they sent to Japan $3,750,000, in 1905 nearly $5,000,000, and in 1906, $5,633,000.

VIRGINIA SENATOR FOR HIGH TARIFF

JOHN W. DANIEL.

Washington, May 21.—Senator John Daniel of Virginia led the fight for a higher tariff on certain articles, in the senate yesterday, exciting much interest because of his advocacy of low duties in the past. The finance committee had reduced the house rate and the Virginia senator, in whose state are several quebsacho factories, sought to have that figure restored. He did not succeed, and the duty was fixed at half a cent per pound, instead of seven-eights of a cent as proposed.

London, May 21.—Premier Asquith, Foreign Secretary Grey and popular opinion, according to the Pall Mall Gazette, have overcome the scruples of the ultra-economists in the ministry and the cabinet has decided that the four contingent Dreadnoughts mentioned in the naval estimates shall be laid down before the end of the fiscal year.

Thirty-eighth Battleship.

Paris, May 21.—The superior council of the navy has decided upon a program that includes bringing the number of French battleships up to thirty-eight, a total that would insure France fourth place among the naval powers of the world. It is proposed to lay down in 1910 two 21,000-ton vessels of an enlarged Danton type. The armament has not yet been decided upon, but the council is in favor of twelve 12-inch guns in six turrets, those aft to be superposed. The naval artillery experts, however, have brought forward arguments in favor of sixteen 10.8-inch guns in eight turrets.

HIDING NEGRO CAN'T BE FOUND

The Penitentiary Guards Search High and Low Without Success.

Columbus, Ohio, May 21.—Harvey Johnson, the negro lifer who escaped from his guard Wednesday night and is supposed to be hiding in some part of the Ohio penitentiary, has not been found, though the prison guards have been doubled and an all-night search through the penitentiary was made. The big sewer that leads from the prison to the Scioto river was searched today, but Johnson was not found. Orders have been issued to shoot him if he refuses to surrender.

New York, May 21.—The funeral today of Henry H. Rogers, president of the Amalgamated Copper company and active head of the Standard Oil company, brought together many men prominent in the business and financial districts of this city. Although the attendance at the services in the Church of the Messiah, at 10 a. m., was limited to intimate business associates and friends, those included so many of the leaders of the New York business and financial world that their absence from their usual activities had a noticeable effect upon the business of the financial district.

GRIND OUT MORE DUTIES

Senators Get Through With Small Grist of Articles.

Aldrich First Member to Appear in the Chamber.

Washington, May 21.—Mr. Aldrich was among the first of the senators to appear today. The earthenware and glassware schedule was immediately taken up and several sections disposed of before there was any disturbance. Magnesite brick and chrome brick were, on motion of Senator Penrose, included in the articles given an ad valorem duty of 55 per cent.

The rate on lime was temporarily fixed at 5 cents per 100 pounds, with the understanding that it would be subject to further consideration later.

Fluorspar and feldspar were given a duty of $3 a ton, instead of $1.50, as provided by the house. This amendment was proposed by Senator Bradley and approved by the committee on finance. On request of Mr. Rayner the paragraph was then temporarily laid aside, to be taken up later for final action.

The paragraph relating to plaster rock or gypsum, taxed at 40 cents per ton by the house, was amended by reducing the duty to 20 cents per ton.

She was given leave of absence from her duties as teacher in the high school at the beginning of the year so she could visit her brothers in France.

It was thought after the success of Wilbur and Orville that Miss Wright would give up teaching, but she has just notified the board of education that she will be ready to resume her duties in September.

MILLIONS FOR FAMOUS THEATER

Playhouse Made Famous By Fisk and Gould, Sold.

New York, May 21.—The famous old Grand opera house, at Twenty-third street and Eighth avenue, has been sold by the executors of the Jay Gould estate to a company formed to purchase it, for $1,000,000.

Many memories of Jay Gould and Jim Fisk and incidents of the late '60s and early '70s are linked with the famous theater. It was here that Gould and Fisk took refuge from the mobs on "Black Friday" in 1873. In the building is a vault of heavy masonry extending from the basement to the roof, the floors of which are reached by a narrow circular stairway in the stones. Fisk and Gould concealed themselves in this vault when the infuriated crowd attacked their offices in the Wall street district.

One of the boxes in the theater is known as the Gould box, and is kept locked. It seats from twenty to thirty persons, but has never been occupied except by members of the Gould family.

END OF OLD MANHATTAN

New York's Famous Play House Is Being Torn Down.

"Pinafore" Was First Presented in America in This Theater.

New York, May 21.—Not a week passes in New York that some structure, rich in the memories of other times, does not fall under the wrecker's hand to make way for a more capacious and modern building. This week the old Manhattan theater in Greeley square, with its memories of Thespian triumph long ago, goes down to make way for a great railway terminal.

All the buildings in the block bounded by Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets and Sixth and Seventh avenues have been razed except the Manhattan. The profits of a 10-cent moving-picture show gained a respite for the famous old playhouse, but its day has finally ended and the row of footlights across which the strains of "Pinafore" first floated to an American audience will go out forever.

The Music Hall Beginning.

Probably no theater in New York is more closely linked with the history of the American stage of the last thirty-five years than the Manhattan. When Josh Hart built it in the early '70s and opened it as a variety house, the project was watched with interest by all theater folk because of its uptown location. That class of shows was not generally attended by what was known as the better class of theater-goers in those days, and many were the prophecies of failure for Hart's Eagle theater, as the place was then called. But Hart went to England and engaged a first-class company of music hall stars, and his house was popular and profitable from the start.

One-act burlesques formed most of the entertainments in the music halls of those days, and among Hart's stars were Julia Mathews and George H. MacDonald, who were exceedingly popular in London. Other players who made their first hits there were James S. Mafflt, the clown; "Johnny" Wild, "Jim" Bradley, Harry Kernell, Like schoolcraft and Jennie Hughes.

When Henderson Came.

William Henderson saw even bigger possibilities in the house which was famous from one end of the country to the other for its beauty, and he leased it, to put in a more legitimate line of amusement. Until a year or two ago the walls of the house were lined with the portraits of Booth, Barrett, McCullough, Maggie Mitchell, Modjeska and Keene. The smoking room contained the finest collection of programs and playbills to be found in all New York. Henderson changed the name of the house to the Standard, and its popularity was instantaneous.

Gilbert & Sullivan's first success "Pinafore," the foundation of their fame and fortune was first produced in London in 1878. For success it was the "Marry Widow" of its time. London looked at it critically, ruminated ponderously and burst into loud British guffaws. The world at large acclaimed Gilbert, whose "lab ballads" had set every one rhyming, the laureate of lyricists and Sullivan's melodies put music into the soul of every wight that could turn a tune or shake a foot.

"Pinafore's" fame leaped across the Atlantic, but the American producers were inclined to sidestep it on the theory that it was "too English" for this side.

Did It Succeed? Well—

J. C. Duff, the father-in-law of Augustin Daly, saw the possibilities in "Pinafore" and tried to persuade Henderson to produce it. Failing in this, he rented the Standard theater and in 1878 put the piece on with the best company of comic opera performers that he was able to find. The cast included Thomas Whiffin as Sir Joseph, Hart Conway as Capt. Corcoran, William Davidge as Dick Deadeye, Eva Mills as Josephine, Mrs. Whiffin as Buttercup and Verona Jarbeau as Hebe. Many residents of New York had seen the piece in London and its cleverness had so appealed to them that it needed little advertising. It was the hit of the decade. New York went wild about the satire, music and masterful lyrics of the piece, but still managers were skeptical of its drawing power outside. It was another year before the company was sent on the road.

Mr. Duff, the Prophet.

Nor did "Pinafore" escape that unerring commercial vapidity that names canned beans after a saint. There was Pinafore everything, from tripe to teething rings. No toilet table was complete without a full line of "Pinafore Bloom of Youth," "Pinafore Face Bleach," "Pinafore Nail Polish," "Pinafore Hair Luster," etc. "Pinafore" pumps and "Pinafore" hair puffs! Bangs were prevalent in those days; the miss with her forelocks trimmed to the tip of her nose reveled in the distinction of being a real "Pinafore girl." Duff had proved himself a prophet; "Pinafore" became more than a craze; it became a mania—a nightmare!

With the Memories Now.

Early in the '80s the Standard theater was partly destroyed by fire. But it was rebuilt and for a time was managed by J. M. Hill. Duff then leased the house and produced such operettas as "Boccacio," "Fatinitza" and "Trip to Africa." About twelve years ago Harrison Grey Fiske purchased control of the playhouse and named it the Manhattan. It then became the scene of Minnie Maddern Fiske's triumphs. She produced such plays as "Hedda Gabler," "Leah Kleschna," "Tess of the d'Urbervilles," and the Manhattan held its place as the leading art theater until about three years ago.

Now it has gone to join the memories of "Pinafore." Its curtain is rung down upon a flood of history and soon the rumble, clash and din of subterranean trains will drown the last whispers of its fame.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

Baseball on Range.

The Mountain Iron "Tramps" will play the Buhl "Sluggers," Sunday, May 23, at 2:30, at the Buhl Athletic grounds.

Pietz Suspended.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 21.—President O'Brien of the American association has suspended Manager Pietz of the Louisville club of the association for a period of three days, commencing this date, for umpire baiting in the game at St. Paul on May 30, on recommendation of Umpire King.

Track Team Leaves.

Members of the Duluth high school track team left today for Minneapolis, where they will compete tomorrow in the interscholastic track meet on Northrup field. Though the team is not a large one in point of numbers, there are some strong men on it, particularly in the sprints, and it is believed that the members of the team will make a very good showing.

BANG GOES ANOTHER BELIEF.

When we were children we were told that the earth was round like an orange, and we were foolish enough to believe it. Moreover, we have been passing this intelligence along to the present generation in the smug confidence that we were doing the right thing.

But now comes Prof. E. H. Lowe of the Royal society and makes us ashamed of ourselves, says Lippincott's Magazine. He says that our planet is not round like an orange or like a ball or anything else as homely as that.

On the contrary, he declares what in fact everybody ought to have known long ago, that "the lithosphere is an ellipsoid with three unequal axes, having its surface deformed according to the formula for a certain spherical harmonic of the third degree and displaced as a whole relatively to the geoid, in the direction toward Southeastern Europe."

RATHER PAY THAN SERVE.

Melbourn Times: Australians still tell stories of the C. I. V.'s, although the war is a far memory. One, a member of the Stock exchange, was left one wet and miserable night to guard a wagon-load of goods.

He shivered in the unsheltered place for some hours, pondering many things, and then a bright thing struck him just as the colonel came around on his tour of inspection.

"Colonel," he asked, "how much is this wagon worth?"

"I don't know," was the answer. "Much or little, we can't afford to lose it."

"Well, but colonel," persisted the amateur soldier, "you might give me a rough idea of the value."

"About £200," said the colonel testily.

"Very well," was the answer. "I will come down to the camp and give you a check for the amount. Then I'll turn in. I wouldn't catch my death of cold for twice that much."

What the colonel said is not recorded.

WAS FORMER DULUTHIAN

Dakota Murderer and Suicide Formerly Lived in Duluth.

Double Tragedy Follows Charges Against Gray and His Sister.

W. C. Gray, who killed his sister and then committed suicide at Mitchell, S. D., Tuesday, as stated in a dispatch to The Herald Wednesday, formerly lived in Duluth. He was an undertaker here for several years, and the woman also resided here with him. It was generally supposed that they were man and wife.

The two were charged with incest, and when the officers arrived at the house to arrest them they were refused admittance. After succeeding in breaking into the house they searched the rooms. In the attic they found Miss Gray hanging dead from a rafter, with several bullet holes in her head. The dead body of Gray, with a bullet wound in the head, self-inflicted, was in the same room.

Gray's three children were found in a room on the lower floor. Neighbors of the Grays recently made a complaint about them to the sheriff, and he, with the state's attorney, visited the house to take them into custody.

While in Duluth Gray was an undertaker. First he had a shop at 231 North Fifty-fifth avenue west. After being in business there about four years he opened an undertaking establishment uptown, at 203 and 205 East Superior street. Early in 1904 he closed this place and went to Virginia.

Gray had a very unsavory reputation while a resident of this city, and was regarded with suspicion by his brother undertakers. His frequent movings were necessary, it is claimed, because as soon as his methods became known he could get no business.

After he left Duluth there were ugly rumors floating around of dark crimes committed in his place, but no official investigation was made. The tenant who occupied the East Superior street rooms after he left the city is reported to have found charred human bones in the basement indicating, it was thought, that Gray made a practice of burning bodies to save the trouble and expense of preparing them for burial.

TO ATTACK PARK POINT

Good Ship Gopher Will Shell Shore and Land Troops.

Bloodless Battle With Soldiers Planned for July 4.

If the joint plans of the Minnesota Naval Militia and the local companies of the Third regiment, Minnesota National Guard, do not miscarry, Duluthias will be treated to a sham battle on the glorious Fourth of July.

The affair is planned not only as a spectacle for the people, but as a drill for the members of both organizations.

It is proposed to have the infantry protect Park point from an attack by the steamer Gopher from the lake. The Gopher, bearing the members of the naval militia, will attack the sandy strip at some point along the lake and the infantry will try to prevent them from capturing the peninsula.

It is probable that the naval militia will go to Bark bay for practice Saturday, July 3, and it is proposed ti have the sham battle Monday afternoon, when the celebration of the nation's birthday will likely take place.

The naval militia, returning from Bark bay, will not know at what place along Park Point the soldiers are located, but they will shell the beach, and under the cover of this firing they wil send their landing parties from the ship. It will be up to the infantry to repulse them.

If the lake is too rough for the Gopher to send out landing parties, the attack will be made from the bay side.

The officers of both the naval militia and the national guard are in favor of the plan and the men are looking forward for the maneuvers with great interest. They will not only enjoy the sport of the thing, but figure that the drill will be worth while.

Ensign R. T. Hugo of the naval militia, and Lieut. Col. Resche of the Third regiment are making the plans for the battle. They hope to be able to secure two or three umpires who are familiar with plans of naval and army warfare, to referee the contest and decide which side gains the most advantages. Ensign Hugo is in communication with the naval officer in charge of the recruiting station in Minneapolis, and he will probably be the naval expert on the board of umpires. An army man is also to be secured.

The sham battle will probably attract widespread attention here. People can stand off to one side or sit in their pleasure boats and see the triumph of the army or the navy, as the case may be.

At any rate, it sounds mighty interesting and promulgators of the scheme have every confidence of success in pushing it through.

JAMES SHARP, "ADAM GOD," FINALLY PUT ON TRIAL.

Kansas City, Mo., May 21.—James Sharp, who calls himself Adam God, was placed on trial today for the killing of Patrolman Michael Mullane, one of the first persons slain in the riot of Dec. 8. It was first intended to try Sharp and his wife jointly, but separate trials were asked for today and granted.

This "ghost" story was among those omitted from Mr. Stead's famous collection: There was an ordinary cupboard door that always mysteriously creaked open at five minutes before midnight unless it was kept locked—and when it was locked it groaned and rattled instead, precisely at the same hour. Then came along a "spook" expert, who discovered that at five minutes before midnight the fast express train passed along the high road a mile away from the house and set in motion some vibratory wave that acted upon the cupboard and scared a whole household.

WELL KNOWN DULUTHIANS IN CARICATURE

W. T. BRAY,
One of Duluth's Well Known Architects.

BURROWS TO RETURN

Secures Long Lease on Two Superior Street Stores.

Well-Known Merchant to Again Make Home in Duluth.

M. S. Burrows, for many years a prominent retail business man of Duluth, has just closed a deal whereby he gains possession of the building at 105-107 West Superior street, one of the most desirable business sites in the retail district.

As representative of a corporation, Mr. Burrows has taken a long-term lease of the property, and as soon as the building now occupying the land can be remodeled and fitted up to suit the needs of the incoming tenants, Mr. Burrows will take possession of it, and the interests he represents will operate a new store there.

Extensive alterations will be made in the building, the work to be commenced as soon as the materials can be gotten on the ground. At present the structure is three stories in height. Another story will be added, and the entire third floor has been secured by Mrs. Webster for her restaurant. The ground floor and second floor will be used by the new retail store.

The plans also contemplate the strengthening of the foundations to provide for the additional story and the complete remodeling of the front of the entire building. When completed it will be a modern, up-to-date building in every respect. About $30,000 will be expended.

There has been considerable competition recently by different interests to get control of this property. The Orpheum theater people were especially desirous of leasing it for theater purposes, but were unable to make arrangements with the owner satisfactory to them. The location is ideal for a vaudeville house, and it was one of the first sites picked out by the Orpheum interests as adapted to their wants. The property is owned by a Manchester, N. H., man.

Mr. Burrows, who will re-enter business in Duluth as the representative of outside interests, was until about four years ago one of the best known merchants in the city. At that time he went out of business here, and later moved to Minneapolis, where he engaged in the buying and selling of Texas lands. He has always had unbounded faith in the business and commercial future of Duluth and he is much pleased to return to this city.

Mr. Burrows left for the East last night.

M. S. BURROWS.

Duluthians Come to the Relief of Family Near Barker.

Send Money, Food and Clothes to Starving Settlers.

Fifty dollars in cash, enough clothing to start a well-stocked second-hand store, and provisions sufficient to keep the family going for weeks, have been turned over to Frank Suech, the grocer, 329 West First street, who is receiving supplies for the Gallup family, discovered in a state bordering on starvation near Barker, Minn., by Thomas Lowry of Duluth.

Mr. Lowry reported that Mrs. Gallup, with seven children, was living in a deserted logging camp, two miles from Barker, in Carlton county, and that all they had in the house to eat was half a loaf of stale bread, while all members of the family were clad in rags. Mr. Lowry did what he could for them, and then had the story run in Duluth newspapers.

Immediately after the notices appeared, kind-hearted Duluthians began calling up Mr. Suech, who had volunteered to receive supplies for the Gallups. Wednesday he shipped about 700 pounds of clothing and provisions to the family, and he now has more than that amount to send forward. This will be shipped Monday, when Mr. Lowry and two or three friends will again visit the unfortunate family, and make arrangements for their care.

The oldest structure in the world originally built for a railway station is the now disused L. & N. depot in Lexington. It was begun in 1833. From the northwest corner of this building the first passenger railway car west of the Alleghenies started on its daily run to Frankfort. It has been used for almost three-quarters of a century, and stands as a landmark to remind the present generation of the old order of things in Lexington and Central Kentucky.—Lexington, Ky. Just Now

It is well for suit buyers to be more careful in making selections than at any other part of the season.

The markets are being flooded with "rejected styles" and left-overs, of undesirable fabrics, which to say the least, are not wanted in particular stores nor by particular women.

It is a feeling of safety in dealing as to style and as to reasonableness of prices that makes this store the favorite trading place. This point not only emphasizes the S. & B. store's leadership, but explains the reason for it. 'Tis the store with a distinguisht record of nigh a half century.

Man-Tailored Coats of COVERT AND BROADCLOTH— $16.50, $18.50, $19.50, $21.50 and $25.00.

We have just received many new models in stylish medium and full length coats of plain and fancy English coverts and black broadcloths. We also mention the new tailored cravenette coats (guaranteed rainproof), and the rubberized silk coats, in the most recent models. These lines, altho priced as reasonably as the less desirable styles usually offered elsewhere, are made from inspected fabrics by the S. & B. tailors, thus assuring particular women of their perfection.

AT $16.50 we are showing a 52-inch tailored model in fancy English covert that is an excellent value.

AT $18.50 a 50-inch semi-fitted coat of plain heavy twill covert, strictly tailored.

AT $19.50 we show a smart English top coat, 38 inches in length, lined thruout with peau de cygne. The same model in black broadcloth at $21.50.

SEN. WORKS IN DULUTH

Will Speak Here on "Municipal Government By Commission."

Was One of Northeastern Minnesota's Staunch Friends.

Senator S. D. Works of Mankato, one of the gallant twenty-four who played fair with Northeastern Minnesota in the fight against the tonnage tax bill in the state senate, and one of the few men from Southern Minnesota who had the courage of his convictions, arrived in Duluth this morning, at the invitation of the City Democratic club, to deliver a speech this evening at the Irwin-Sloan hall in the West end on "Municipal Government by Commission."

Senator Works was the author of the bill which became a law at the last session of the legislature, permitting cities to adopt the commission form of government if they so desire, and members of the City Democratic club, who were anxious to learn more of the much-discussed system of municipal government, and also to hear one of Northeastern Minnesota's staunchest friends speak, invited Senator Works to deliver an address this evening. No admission will be charged to the meeting, and any one interested in the subject, or any friend of Senator Works is invited to attend.

"I don't look upon the commission form of municipal government as a panacea for all municipal ills," said Senator Works this morning. "It won't cure all municipal evils at one step, as some people seem to expect, but it is a step in the right direction, I believe. The tendency in smaller cities is to elect men of small affairs to public office. I don't know whether that is the case in Duluth or not, but it is in many of the smaller cities. They often elect men who may be perfectly honest and the best of citizens, but men of small affairs, who are not used to large business matters, and expect them to handle a city budget of perhaps half or a quarter of a million dollars, and handle it right. Under the commission form of government you will have at least one man of good business ability.

"Mankato will be the first Minnesota city to vote on the new plan. There will be a special election there in the near future to decide whether or not the commission form of government will be adopted. The plan they are voting on is something along the line of the Berkeley, Cal., plan. The new law does not tie the Minnesota cities down to any one plan, and they can adopt the Des Moines plan or the Galveston plan or modify any of the present plans if they so desire.

Senator Works is also a warm supporter of reapportionment.

"It is not a debatable question," said Senator Works. "There is no doubt whatever, but what we should have a reapportionment, and that many of the counties are being most unfairly treated. Nobody can deny that, but some of the boys in the last legislature who really favored a reapportionment had to oppose the plan submitted because it was not a fair one. For instance, down in my district, with 32,000 population, they tried to attach a Republican county, where there are about five Republicans to one Democrat, while other solid Republican districts with perhaps 25,000 population were untouched. We should have a reapportionment, but the political phases of it should be eliminated and a fair and equitable adjustment reached."

TRANSFERRED TO NOME.

Unexpected Order Received By North Dakota Federal Official.

Fargo, N. D., May 21.—Special to The Herald.)—Planning to resign in order to join his family at his new home in Oregon, Head Deputy Valentine of the United States marshal's office, was surprised to receive notice of his transfer under the civil service rules to the Alaska department with headquarters in Nome. He was ordered to report at Nome June 15. It is probable that the change will have no effect on his plans and he will retire from the service as he intended.

J. J. HILL RETICENT.

Railroad Magnate, Returning From East, Declines to Be Interviewed.

St. Paul, Minn., May 21.—James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad, has returned from Washington, D. C., after a week's absence.

He refused to be interviewed on the tariff bill, or any of the questions which are just now engaging the attention of the country.

PRINCETON WILL HAVE A MONTHLY MARKET DAY.

Princeton, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of business men was held on Tuesday morning at Henry Avery's store for the purpose of considering the advisability of establishing a monthly market day for Princeton. The proposition was thoroughly discussed and it was unanimously agreed that a venture of this sort would be a good thing for the farmers as well as the mercantile establishments of Princeton.

ZION LACE INDUSTRIES, ZION CITY, ILLINOIS

ZION LACES and many interesting features of manufacture are on exhibition in one of our show windows. This display is educational and every person should see it.

From 3,400 to 4,500 bobbins are required to thread one lace machine, besides the beam and warp, making a total—when the machine is threaded—of 13,000 threads in actual work. When a machine is fully threaded there are 6,700 miles of cotton on it, enough to reach from here to England and nearly back again.

See the illustrations of the various machines in operation—where they take in the thread and turn out the dainty, attractive laces—also skeins of yarns, yarn spools, lace bobbins and carriages—pieces of lace just as they come from the machines. Especially interesting is the process of clipping, scalloping and separating. The exhibit is so unique and the values so unusual that a visit will be of material interest to you.

There are both Edges and Insertions, varying in width from ½-inch to 2 inches, and ranging in price—12½c, 10c, 8c, 7c, 6c, 5c.

"CRANKS" OF WISCONSIN

Was Long Fight to Get the Progressives Into Power.

Money and the Reactionary Party Beaten in the End.

Washington, May 21.—Consider, if you please, the Wisconsin delegation in congress as a political phenomenon. In the senate it is headed by La Follette—accent on the "fol," please—who is really regarded in the upper house as a "crank," as Nelson of Minnesota said, because he refused to vote on the duty on lead ore on the ground that he was interested in ore lands. In the house the delegation lined up almost solidly with the insurgents in the recent fight on rules, and the members voted almost to a man for downward revision whenever they got a chance.

Also it will be recalled that in the Republican national convention at Chicago last year the Wisconsin member of the committee on resolutions presented a minority report calling specifically for a "reduction of the tariff" and for the physical valuation of railroad properties as a necessary preliminary to proper regulation of freight rates.

That Refreshing Wisconsin Idea.

The case of Wisconsin, then, really commands attention from persons with a decent amount of human curiosity as to the development of American politics. For the last seven years the Roosevelt policies have swept the country. The people were evidently strongly with the president. They responded every time he called on them. But congress was never with him. Whatever progress was made in the legislation was made under compulsion. T. R. drove them to it. As a whole congress today is distinctly reactionary in temperament.

Wisconsin furnishes the notable exception, with Iowa next, and Kansas, Nebraska and certain other Middle Western states beginning to break away through such men as Bristow, Murdock and Madison in Kansas, Burkett, Brown, Norris, Hinshaw and Kinkaid in Nebraska, and Crawford in South Dakota.

The progress in Wisconsin furnishes a clue to the situation. For years after the progressive movement began it had no representative in congress. All the members worked with the organization which was dominated by the railroads.

Then La Follette Got Active.

Then, back in 1894, the La Follette movement began with La Follette managing the state campaign. Two years later he appeared as a candidate for the nomination for governor. He made a strong canvass and went into the convention with votes enough to elect him. But they mysteriously faded away under "influences" that were brought to bear by the railroad machine.

In 1898 he tried again, with the same result. On the night before the convention opened delegates who were for him began coming to his room in a steady stream to tell of offers of money to desert to the machine. Once more the nomination that he believed was his was snatched away.

In 1900 he was nominated and elected. Two years later he won again, and in 1904 he became governor for a third term. By this time the state was strongly for the progressive movement. But so strongly were the reactionary representatives intrenched that they were returned term after term. By 1900 Cooper of Racine was lining up with the progressives. But it was not until 1906 that the first important congressional victories were won. Then Nelson of Madison, Cary of Milwaukee and Morse of Antigo, all La Follette men, were sent to congress in place of representatives of the old type.

United With the Democrats.

In the Third district Babcock, who died recently in Washington, was making a bad record, but it was found impossible to dislodge him. So the progressives united with the Democrats and elected a Democratic representative in a district that was normally Republican by 10,000. It isn't pleasant to say harsh things of the dead, but from a strictly party standpoint this action was justified by the emergency that existed. Last year the Democrat was defeated by a Progressive Republican, W. A. Kopp.

A fourth Progressive, Kustermann of Green Bay, supplanted a machine man in 1906, and though he hasn't always voted with the others, he has generally been "right."

One of the most important triumphs came last year when Jenkins, chairman of the house committee on the judiciary, one of Cannon's strongest lieutenants, and a pronounced Reactionary, was beaten by Lenroot, three times speaker of the Wisconsin lower house, and thorough going Progressive.

It Takes Time to Do It.

Three members of the old delegation remain—Esch of La Crosse, Davidson of Oshkosh and Stafford of Milwaukee. But Esch and Davidson have responded to the sentiment of the state and are now accounted "near Progressives." Stafford is the only out and out Reactionary left.

"It takes time for the change in public sentiment to express itself in the congressional delegations," Senator La Follette said the other day. "The people are inclined to return the same man to congress year after year, and if he is a reactionary they frequently don't discover it for some time, but gradually an awakened public sentiment can be depended on to pick off the men who do not really represent the opinions of their constituents. It won't do to get impatient. You can't remedy abuses in a day. You have to work persistently —and wait."

The history of Wisconsin is being repeated in Iowa under Cummins. And the example is likely to spread.

SOME OF THE ODD THINGS HAPPENING

BURGLAR, AGE 11, TELLS OF EXPLOITS IN COURT ROOM.

Chicago, May 21.—Exploits of Peter Ochab, an 11-year-old burglar, and two boy companions were told in the juvenile court. Ochab's father had been out of employment for more than a year, and the family has depended upon the wages of an 18-year-old daughter, who worked in a glass factory. The girl recently contracted tuberculosis and the family was destitute.

This led the youthful Peter to break into the home of C. F. Morris the night of May 14 and steal clothes and jewelry. He and his two companions, one 13 years old and the other 11 years old were arrested.

Peter had to stand on a chair in the witness box, that Judge Pinckney might see him. The boy confessed calmly.

"How did you get into the house?" asked the judge.

"We went in at the door."

"Was the door open?"

"No, I had a little piece of iron that I broke the lock with."

"You don't mean that such a little fellow as you broke into this house at night?"

"Yes, I had to do it."

"Why did you steal the umbrellas?"

"It was raining when we left the house."

Judge Pinckney sent the boy to the juvenile home and paroled his companions to probation officers.

DREAM OF BOY CAUSES A PANIC IN CATHEDRAL.

New York, May 21.—A little Italian boy's bad dream caused a small panic in the chapel of St. Bridget's cathedral, where 1,200 persons were attending a mission service. The lad, who had fallen asleep in one of the pews, suddenly awoke and cried, "Fire!" In a moment the congregation made a mad rush for the doors. Father Michael Angelo cried that there was no fire and halted those in the front seats, but those in the rear pews continued the rush to the street. All reached the street in safety.

BATTLESHIP LIGHT FRIGHTENS NEGRESS SO THAT SHE DIES.

Forochie, La., May 21.—Adeline Hawkins, a negress of this place, was frightened to death by the powerful searchlight of the battleship Mississippi on its way up the river to Natchez. "It is the judgment light!" she exclaimed, and then fell dead.

Kills Germs

Nothing in medicine is known which accomplishes such vast good in so short a time with weak, broken-down, worn-out, diseased stomachs and sluggish, torpid, lazy livers, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a standard remedy for germ-laden, impure blood. When you feel dull and sickish, the bile is not flowing right, and the whole system suffers. The organs lack power to convert food into energy. Bacterial germs thrive at the expense of the blood corpuscles. To escape worrisome stomach trouble and liver complaint, go to the aid of the blood corpuscles and kill off the germs that would otherwise invade your system.

Every day's delay means getting further away from health. Don't blunder. Use the intensely, effective, non-alcoholic---non-secret---Golden Medical Discovery---the standard stomach, liver and blood medicine for more than 40 years. Get the genuine bearing Dr. Pierce's fac-simile Signature as shown in cut.

Gravest diseases spring from bowel neglect. When the bowels quit working, the liver, sympathetically, goes on strike; the stomach gets out of order and the blood impure. The first aid and the best is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They move and strengthen the bowels and make them regular—curing constipation with its long train of resultant disorders.

FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE

(Note—Suggestions from citizens of needed reforms will be welcomed.)

THAT CIVIC SURVEY

One of the suggestions at the civic banquet held during the winter for the improvement of Duluth, was for a survey of the city which would include a careful investigation of conditions, and plans for needed improvements.

To those who favor such a scheme for Duluth in the near future, the following brief account from Hampton's Magazine for June, of the survey of Pittsburg by Paul U. Kellogg, will be of interest to many:

"Reserving as yet the great bulk of her husband's fortune, Mrs. Sage created a fund of $10,000,000, called the Russell Sage foundation, administered by a board of economists and sociologists, for the purpose, not of alleviating want and suffering, but of studying possible means of removing and preventing poverty. This is a new use of money, and it calls for expert handling.

"One of the first experiments financed by the trustees of the Sage Foundation is known as the Pittsburg Survey. This was an investigation, carried on through the year ending in November, 1908, into industrial and social conditions of the wage-earning population of Pittsburg. The Smoky City was selected for investigaton not because conditions are worse there than elsewhere, but rather because they are typical of all great American industrial centers.

"To select precisely the right corps of trained investigators, and properly to direct their work through a year of strenuous endeavor, was a task of considerable magnitude. This responsibility was intrusted to Paul U. Kellogg, hitherto managing editor of Charities and the Commons, which magazine is henceforth to be called The Survey. Under Mr. Kellogg's generalship the Pittsburg survey was carried on by the Charities Publication committee, a constituent committee of the New York Charity Organization society, and the city was treated to a house-cleaning such as few cities have been favored with, even in the palmy days of the muck-rake.

Mr. Kellogg's weapon was not, properly speaking, a muck-rake, but a scientist's probe. 'What we started out to find,' to quote his own explanation, 'was not the shortcomings of the people who govern Pittsburg. We are not concerned with what a Schwab or a Corey has done in his personal capacity, but rather with conditions which have been created in the upbuilding of great fortunes in the steel industry—the human cost of making steel. If you want to put it in that way.

"Hours and wages in the steel industry; industrial accidents; conditions of housing in typical mill communities; hours of work, wages and the industrial status of women; the economic cost of typhoid; needs and possibilities of civic reform; water supply, floods, smoke, waste; schools, courts, hospitals, police and health departments; all these and more were brought into the scope of Mr. Kellogg's investigators.

up, and the Greater Pittsburg of the Pittsburg survey was the fact with which the young director carried it through. Instead of outraging civic pride, the survey stimulated it into new life. The survey has been a direct help to a dozen civic and philanthropic movements; others have since sprang up, and the Greater Pittsburg of the future will probably be a much healthier and happier Pittsburg."

PLAYGROUNDS

Playgrounds are oft'times said to be a fad, writes Henry S. Curtis in The Survey.

With many people they are a fad. Perhaps the majority of those who are taking the movement throughout the country do so without a very definite idea as to what should be accomplished. The reasoning might be summarized, thus: A neighboring city has done it, and we ought to give the children a place to play, so let us start a public playground. There is a common feeling that the playground is a good thing and that, consequently, all right-minded people should promote it. As a matter of fact any place that gives the children an opportunity to live in the open air and to play vigorous games is a good thing physically, but if not wisely directed it may prove a very bad thing socially. If the playgrounds become the resort where the "gang" impresses its ideals upon others, as it is almost sure to do without supervision, it will become a veritable school of crime. The greatest service which social workers can render this new movement is to give it ideals; to insist that it is not an institution for the making of health and muscle alone, but for the building of character, that the people placed in charge be men and women of a high type; that social results be even more constantly sought than physical results—in other words, that playgrounds aim at the same things in character at which the private agencies, the Young Men's Christian association, the settlements, the institutional churches and the boys' clubs have aimed.

PLAN FOR COAST DEFENSE.

German Inventor Has Scheme for Magnetizing Waters.

Berlin, May 21.—A startling naval invention for the protection of the German coast, harbors and seaports is receiving the serious attention of the German naval authorities.

A German naval engineer named Hollmann applied to the German patent office for a provisional patent for an invention which is intended to destroy any hostile fleet attempting to blockade or attack German ports.

According to the inventor, stations must be erected along the coast and at the mouths of rivers, which will be equipped with the strongest electric magnets that can be manufactured. When these are in action it is claimed that they would exercise a sufficient attractive force to make ironclads and other protected vessels deviate from their course. These magnet stations are to be situated where shallow and deep water alternate.

The hostile ships would be drawn into the shallow water, where they would ground and lie helpless, at the mercy of the guns of the forts.

Although the invention smacks strongly of romance, yet it is noteworthy that competent authorities deem it of sufficient importance to be subjected to a thorough examination.

In this connection it may be added that electric cranes capable of lifting weights of five tons by magnetism only are already in use at German harbors.

ELOPERS IN SUICIDE PACT.

Attempt Failed, Parents Forgive and All Are Happy.

Paris, May 21.—Two young people who had fallen in love with each other ran away together, and ended their escapade with a tragic scene in a room next door to the one occupied in a hotel at St. Germain by M. Camile Saint-Saens, whom they disturbed rather unexpectedly in his musical reveries. The young man is 22, and the son of a judge in Paris, while his sweetheart, who is only 16, but looks 18 or 20, is the daughter of an officer now dead. They had grown desperately fond of each other after meeting a few times, and as their hopes were not encouraged by the young man's father or the girl's mother, they made up for it by writing sublime and heroic epistles to each other in secret. They met again for a few minutes, and the youth was of the opinion that that state of affairs could not last, and so was the girl. An automobile could take them anywhere, miles away, and then they would write and force the hands of their parents. The young lady agreed, and when walking one day with her "bonne" in the Bois de Boulogne she managed to slip off, and found her way to her lover's car, which was waiting by the roadside.

They drove off at great speed, so great, indeed, that the car broke down in sight of St. Germain. An empty cab came along just in time, so that they left their motor and drove to the nearest hotel, where they were given a room next to the one occupied by M. Saint-Saens. The youth had only a sum of $150, and the girl a few jewels. A telegram was sent to her mother to quite the lady's fears, but the harmony between the romantic couple was soon disturbed. How it came about is not yet known, but all of a sudden two shots were heard, and when the hotel people broke into the room they found the girl with a wound in her jaw and the young man's hand pierced by a bullet. They then told their story so far as to say that they were runaways, and of course, the parents were soon at the hotel. The young people are on a fair way to recovery, and though it was alleged that they had intended to commit suicide they now declare that they do not care to die, since their parents seem to be willing to hasten the wedding.

Seeding About Completed.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 21.—J. W. Scott of Gilby was in Grand Forks yesterday looking after business interests. He states that the farmers of his section of the county have practically completed their seeding operations. The wheat has come up out of the ground in good shape, the recent rains having proved wonderfully beneficial.

WOMAN AGAIN GETS BALM FOR FEELINGS.

Moorhead, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A verdict of $1,500 was awarded in the Clay county district court to Bertha K. Halness, in a breach of promise suit which she brought against a young farmer, John A. Anderson. This was the second trial of the suit, in the first one the plaintiff being given $2,500, but a new trial was granted.

OLD SPUDS ARE LOWER

Many Stocks Which Were Held Back Now Coming Out.

Drop of Fifteen Cents in Price Is Feature of Produce Market.

With new potatoes coming in more freely all the time, the market for the old stocks has gone off during the week.

The decline in the spud prices was one of the features of a quiet produce market this week. For a time the old potatoes were selling on Michigan street at $1.25 a bushel, which was a pretty high level. Last week they dropped 10 cents, and this week the price went off 15 cents.

Receipts of new potatoes from the South are increasing every day. They cost about $1 more than the old ones. If they have been properly stored during the winter, the old potatoes are just as good as the new ones, so the wise householders are picking up the old ones and saving money by it. The commission men say there is no real need of getting in new potatoes until the old stocks are entirely exhausted, but some people ask for them, and it is customary to have them in.

There was a feeling in the street that the market did not at any time warrant a $1.25 price level for old potatoes. A number of dealers held their stocks back, however, to create a false shortage and send prices up. During the past two weeks they have been letting go, causing a slump in prices, which was as marked in its way as the rise of the previous weeks.

* * *

Receipts of green vegetables are increasing every day. With a little warm weather, the season for them will be on in earnest. Consumers do not call for green stuff to any large extent until the summer weather comes.

* * *

Tomatoes are higher than they were last week. They are quoted now at $2.75 for six-basket crates.

* * *

Long radishes are in the market at 30 cents per dozen bunches. Round radishes are still 75 cents.

* * *

Celery is 35 to 45 cents, unchanged from last week.

* * *

Receipts of pie plant have been very good. It is selling at 8 cents per pound.

* * *

Strawberries are a leading feature of the market. The stocks are fresh and good and the price unchanged, at $2.25 per crate of twenty-four quarts.

* * *

Oranges are also a feature. Receipts of the fruit continue to be large and the quality excellent. Prices are unchanged from last week.

* * *

The banana market is also unchanged.

* * *

California lemons are selling at $3.75 a box and limes are $1 a box.

* * *

Grapefruit is offered at $5 per box and apples are $7 per barrel.

* * *

With the exception of the decline in old potatoes, the staple vegetable market has been without a change in quotations during the week. Local stocks are ample to care for the demand at the present price level.

* * *

* * *

Renovated butter declined to 24 cents a pound during the week, but other grades are steady and unchanged. Creamery prints are selling in the wholesale district for 30 cents a pound and tubs are 28 cents. Packing stock is 17 to 18 cents.

* * *

* * *

Fancy clover honey is quoted at 17 cents a pound. The quotation on cases is $4.50.

* * *

Fresh eggs are 22 cents a dozen.

* * *

Meat prices continue to hold very firm. While there have been no actual advances in prices this week, the undertone is stronger and further advances in some lines are expected.

* * *

There is a particular stringency in the market for lamb and mutton. Prices for these stocks had a somewhat sensational bulge last week and they have not eased off a bit since then. Receipts have been very light.

* * *

Beef prices also maintain a bullish tone, unchanged from last week.

* * *

The market for poultry and fish is without feature, and last week's quotations hold over.

RELATIONS PLEASANT

There Are No Serious Jars in Holland's Royal House.

The Hague, May 21.—"Wilhelmina, Queen of the Netherlands." That is how she signs herself, and that is how she wishes always to be styled. It is not only incorrect to speak of her as "Queen of Holland;" at court it is "bad form," and those who do it get snubbed for their pains.

Holland is merely a geographical term. The Netherlands have a famous history, and Queen Wilhelmina is very proud of it, as becomes a daughter of the house of Orange, which freed the country from the tyranny of Spain. When she was a child the story of the atrocities of Philip and Alva moved her to such horror that she declared she would never have anything to do with the Spanish royal family when she became queen. Yet curiously enough, King Alfonso was the first monarch with whom, of her own accord, she made friends.

One day she heard her mother speak with pity of the baby king, younger even that her own daughter. "But if you're sorry for him," said Wilhelmina, with the remorseless logic of the childish mind, "you ought to be sorry for me, too." "But poor little Alfonso is so much younger than you are," said Queen Emma. "Then I'll write a letter to him," replied Wilhelmina, and at once began a correspondence which lasted for many years and is intermittently kept up still.

Decides Quickly.

Her sudden decision to write to Madrid was characteristic of the young queen. She makes up her mind quickly. She has none of the cautious solidity which is supposed to be a typical Dutch trait. Her grandmother was Russian, and there is something of the Slav in her composition. There are times when it disconcerts her ministers and courtiers even now. Here is an instance. When the German emperor visited her, she talked to him in French. "Why don't you speak German?" he asked, knowing that she could do so with perfect ease and fluency. "Because I prefer French," she said, with a gleam of mischief in her eye.

When she was younger there were naturally many more occasions than there are now upon which her self-will and quick temper blazed out. Wilhelmina has never spared herself since she reached years of discretion from any fatigue or boredom which she felt her position demanded of her. She has hardened herself to drive in an open carriage, no matter what the weather may be, and at army maneuvers she has been known to ride for hours in drenching rain, firmly declining her mother's offer of a seat in the closed carriage. She goes through all business of state most conscientiously, and even used to sit through concerts, when it was necessary, with exemplary patience, trying to conceal the fact that music was not only indifferent, but positively a nuisance to her.

However, she has since her marriage felt more sympathy with singers and musicians, for the reason that Prince Henry is, like most Germans, very musical. She now does her best to appreciate music, and even took singing lessons with the prince soon after they were married, because he wished it. The silly and malicious stories about the bad relations between husband and wife are only worth mentioning to give them a contemptuous denial.

Differences of Taste.

Of course, the queen and Prince Henry, like all other married people, have their differences of opinion and taste. She does not share his sporting interests, for example, and he is not quite so ardently religious as she is. But she follows with affectionate attention the size of his "bags" in the shooting season, and he turns up pretty regularly at the "morning prayers" which the queen instituted a few years ago, and which she conducts herself. The servants and officials gather in the dining room at 9 o'clock, she reads to them a psalm, a chapter of the Bible, and the Lord's prayer, and then they all sing a hymn. No one is obliged to attend, but it is needless to say that so short a cut to the royal favor is not neglected.

At first the prince was not popular. They do not like Germans in Holland, least of all at The Hague. But his good-humored acceptance of a difficult position gradually broke down hostile feeling, and when he took so prominent a part in the rescue of the Berlin survivors at the Hook of Holland the tide of opinion turned and ran strongly in his favor. The queen never likes him to be long away from her. They ride and drive together a great deal, and they are both very keen about their farm at the Loo, where they are buying a great deal of land. As often as they can they dine together quietly, and breakfast is a meal they always share.

TILLMAN CRITICIZES AND ALDRICH SAYS PERHAPS HE IS ALL RIGHT IN CRITICISM

Washington, May 21.—Senator Tillman yesterday proffered some advice to Senator Aldrich. It came at the close of the day, after the finance committee's triumph on white lead.

Before another paragraph could be taken up, Mr. Tillman arose and said he wanted to make a suggestion to the chairman of the committee on finance.

"We have," he said, "ust spent the best part of a day in a useless wrangle, resulting in the usual victory of a majority of eight or ten votes for the astute manager in control of this bill. I want to suggest that he might get a good many more votes if he would enforce the rule which forbids a senator to speak more than twice on the same subject.

"I am not sure," said Mr. Aldrich in reply, "that I do not deserve the suggestion and criticism of the senator from South Carolina. I have been hoping that much of the discussion here which seemed unnecessary would cease."

"But the talk grows deeper every day," said Mr. Tillman.

"Not deeper," replied Mr. Aldrich, smiling.

Mr. Aldrich appealed for relevancy in the discussion in the paragraphs of the bill. "I accept," he said, "the criticism of the senator from South Carolina because I think it is deserved."

Mr. Tillman being accused by Mr. Bacon of being the chief offender in speaking many times on the same amendment, protested, and his protest was followed by a statement by Mr. Aldrich that it was his intention at an early day to satisfy the senator from South Carolina that the tariff bill should be proceeded with "morning, afternoon and night, until disposed of."

"We don't want any night sessions," appealed Tillman. "I want to say," continued he, looking over the senate chamber in a hesitating manner, "that while I don't want to call down castigation upon my head, speeches for home consumption are getting too frequent for my comfort."

Mr. Bacon declared that what the senate needed more than anything else, in his judgment, was dignity.

The senate then proceeded to adopt with little discussion several paragraphs of the chemical schedule. The duty on acetate of lead was reduced one-eight of a cent a pound below former committee recommendations. The senate distributed its attention among the three items in the tariff bill providing a duty on an extract of chestnut bark used in tanning, known as quebsacho; on cotton seed oil and on white lead. On each of these articles the senate was led by the committee on finance, although the committee was induced to change its original suggestions on both white lead and cotton seed oil.

The lead duty fixed by the committee was originally 2¾ cents per pound, but Mr. Curtis, a member of the committee, today suggested reduction of ⅛ cent apound, bringing the figure down to 2⅝ cents, and Chairman Aldrich accepted the reduction. Even this increase over the house provision excited sharp criticism, especially from Mr. Curtis' colleague, Mr. Bristow, who contended that the duty would prove to be a direct tax on the consumer. When the vote was taken the committee obtained its usual triumph, the figures standing 41 to 32 in favor of the Curtis amendment. As usual, Senators Beveridge, Bristow, Brown, Burkett, Clapp, Cummins, Dolliver, Gamble, La Follette and Nelson voted with the Democrats. Senator Borah voted with the Republicans.

Probably the most interesting contest of the day was that over the question as to whether there should be any duty on cotton seed oil. Senators Tillman, Bacon and Money made an intense fight against the senate provision fixing a tariff of 3 cents a gallon on the ground that it would injure the sale of cotton seed. After the controversy had gone on for some time, Mr. Aldrich withdrew the provision.

Mr. La Follette sought to reduce the duty on quebsacho to one-fourth of 1 cent a pound, but his amendment to that effect was rejected, 29 to 38.

J. ADAM IN A HAPPY VEIN

Says the World Is Getting Better Every Day.

J. Adam Bede, former congressman from this district, took occasion to say a good word for the much maligned United States senate, in the course of his lecture on "The Nation's Problems," delivered last evening at St. John's English Lutheran church.

Of the senate he said in part:

"I know I am taking my life in my hands when I praise the senate, but I am going to do it anyway. There never was a time when the character of the men at Washington was so clean as it is today. Our United States senators are striving harder for the public weal and are more patriotic than in times past."

Mr. Bede was in a happy vein and the lecture was interspersed with humorous allusions and anecdotes. Speaking of labor and millionaires he said: "This country possessed no more civilization when Lincoln was born than at the time of Noah and his Ark. It took 6,000 years for the industrial world to get from the head of the needle to its point. Every labor-saving device creates a millionaire and every millionaire is a problem. We have many such problems today, but who would prefer to go back to the old days when there were no sewing machines, for instance, in order to remove the millionaire."

The speaker dwelt at some length on the problems of human happiness. He believes the world is getting better daily and his predictions for the future glory of the United States politically and socially were hopeful in the extreme.

"Many people," he said, "take their cue from the perusal of the newspapers. The newspapers publish things that are unusual and unusual things are always wrong. The good things are not published. All the newspapers in the world couldn't publish the good things done in Duluth in a single day—yet two or three are able to print the evil. I don't blame the newspapers, but I do believe the world is growing better, and some day there may be no evil to print and the newspapers will go out of business."

Mr. Bede was introduced to the audience last evening by Mayor Haven. The attendance was not large, but the speaker kept those present in good humor and his efforts to entertain and amuse were much appreciated.

Breakfast Sense.

Overloaded Stomachs Make Poor Workmen.

Health is a state of normal, spiritual, mental and physical function. It has a definite physical symptom, the chemical equilibrium of the blood and organic secretions.

That is the assertion of authority. With the stomach over-loaded with food that sours and is hard to digest the blood is loaded with the sour acids and gases, the head aches, the nerves are shattered, bowels disordered, and ill health reigns supreme.

Can one be pleasant, industrious, capable in such condition? The remedy is simple—wholesome food, open air exercise and right thinking. Often the right kind of breakfast means a splendid day's work with head and heart and hand.

A bad breakfast means a day of nasty temper and unsatisfactory results. Start the day right with E-C Corn Flakes or Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes or milk or cream. Always ready to serve—crisp and delicious. If you haven't already eaten them—you've missed something good—order today and you'll not regret it.

Remember it is only the famous Egg-O-See process that makes the E-C Corn Flakes and Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes so delicious and healthful.

WILL BE REINSTATED.

Suspended Marinette District Attorney Will "Go After" Few People.

Marinette, Wis., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of his acquittal on a perjury indictment, A. E. Schwittay of Marinette will be reinstated to the office of district attorney by Governor Davidson on June 7.

Several weeks ago, the governor temporarily removed the district attorney from office pending the investigation, but when the hearing day arrived, stated he would rather have a jury try the case, than himself act upon submitted evidence.

Encouraged by the popular sentiment in his favor, Schwittay is planning to make his weekly newspaper "The Searchlight" a daily and announces that he expects to have his plant ready by June 15. The Marinette Eagle Star, the only English daily, here, has been extremely hostile to Schwittay.

CROOKSTON OPERA HOUSE SCHEME TO BE BOOMED.

Crookston, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.—At a special meeting of the Commercial club last evening it was voted to extend the limit of membership from 100 to 125 and increase the membership fee from $5 to $15. As there are now twenty-four applications on the waiting list the full membership allowed will be filled at once. The membership will later be raised to $25.

It was also decided to raise a $10,000 bonus at once for the erection of a new $15,000 opera house, a proposition having been made from a Minneapolis concern. It is the intention of closing the deal within the next thirty days so that bookings can be made for the local opera house for the coming fall and winter.

The remains are being held at Flood & Horgan's undertaking rooms, awaiting word from relatives.

SECULARIZING OF HOMES DECRIED AT CHURCH MEET

Denver, Colo., May 21.—The home is being secularized, according to the report of the committee on religious education made to the Presbyterian general assembly, and as a consequence there is a pressing duty facing the Presbyterian church.

"The social and industrial conditions of the present day are depriving our homes, even our Christian homes, of some of their most beneficent features," the report says. "The family room and the family lamp have disappeared from many homes. The household rarely meets in its entirety until the evening meal, when perchance all can sit down together after a strenuous day at their diverse occupations, to spend a brief hour together, only to be separated by a variety of social and other engagements which consume their evening, frequently to a late hour.

"With the multiplicity of demands upon their time, there is scant opportunity for the family altar, for instruction of the children in Bible knowledge, for the nurture of Christian character. In the present condition of family life, the hope that the home will supply the deficiencies of the day school in the matter of formal religious instruction is a vanishing one. It is a struggle for the home to maintain in any fair degree its own religious atmosphere and discharge its own function in the matter of the nurture of the youth.

"The church is responsible for religious education. Whether we think that the state ought to give religious instruction or not, we must reckon with the fact that it does not give it. Our lament that the home is failing to give the amount and the kind of religious instruction the children ought to have does not change the fact that the failure is conspicuous and lamentable. Both these facts emphasize the further fact that if the church does not furnish this education our children will grow up without it. The church is the sole educational agency in the field of religion, without a rival, almost without a competitor. This solitariness of the church in this field serves to make conspicuous one of her great functions, never more essential than now.

"With these facts before us it is obvious that there is a present and pressing duty facing our church, which by her traditions and practice is committed to the most intelligent, thorough and effective performance of it."

The committee's report says the nature of the work to be done precludes haste in the formulation of a system of religious education, and in the initiation of it.

DIVORCE INCREASE DEPLORED AT PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY

Denver, Colo., May 21.—One of the interesting reports submitted to the Presbyterian general assembly was that of the special committee on marriage and divorce. The committee, which asks permission further to consider these subjects for report to the next assembly, calls attention to the alarming increase of the number of divorces, as shown by the government census, which, the report says, tells a story that surprises the people and shames a Christian nation. Continuing, the report says:

"Although it is a fact to be deplored that the scandal and sin and sorrow resulting from the laxity of law that makes divorce and speedy remarriage possible show sad and shameful continuance, and that the efforts to resist and lessen these evils that threaten the permanence and purity of the family life, the stability of the state and the life and power of the church seem unavailing, yet the united efforts of the churches, of national and state officials and the bar associations of the United States and conspicuously the faithful and persistent work of the national divorce congress, which invited the representatives of the inter-church conference to confer with it, encourage us to believe that the movement has made great progress and to hope that reforms will be accomplished which will in time wipe out much of the dishonor and disgrace that makes Christain America conspicuous in permitting a laxity that makes our record our shame.

"There is a strong sentiment yet against the enactment of a national law regulating marriage and divorce, owing to the jealousy of states to preserve their rights. But the states should seek the closest possible uniformity and secure the least possible perplexity and the best results for the purity of our people and for the peace and prosperity of our Christian nation.

"We submit the following statistics: In 1887 the total number of divorces granted was 27,918 and in 1906, 72,062. The total number granted in twenty years was 945,625. Certain states granted divorces as follows: Pennsylvania, 1887, 1,097 divorces, and in 1906, 3,027; New York in 1887, 1,042 divorces, and in 1906, 2,669; North Dakota in 1887, 57, and in 1906, 320; Ohio in 1887, 2,061, and in 1906, 4,781; Kentucky in 1887, 949, and in 1906, 2,050; Illinois in 1187, 2,663, and in 1906, 5,943; Massachusetts in 1887, 752, and in 1906, 1,546, and Virginia in 1887, 305 and in 1906, 1,074.

"Surely this surprising and alarming increase in the number of divorces granted should call a halt, and impress all who care for their country and love righteousness with the necessity of discovering, if possible, the causes of such a condition and the possible cure for such a calamity."

DECORATED BY SULTAN

Former Duluth Lake Captain Hero of Magazine Story.

Valiant Seaman Now in Command of the Turkish Navy.

In the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post there is an article upon Americans who have been decorated by foreign rulers. It will be interesting to many Duluthians to know that Capt. Buckman, who a decade or more ago was known to many people in this city, is mentioned in the article.

At the present time the valiant captain is in command of the royal fleet of the sultan of Turkey. At one time he was a captain upon one of the boats of the Great Lakes. He made this port and at that time was well known to the seafaring men of this harbor.

It was Buckman who was in command of the City of Everett, a vessel that took a cargo of wheat to India during the time of the great Indian famine.

The captain received his degree of royal commander of the fleet through a courageous act. The story in the Post states that there was a plot to kill the sultan who has so recently been deposed by the Young Turks party, by the use of an infernal machine. This plot was hatched in August, 1904.

The sultan was in the habit of getting into the carriage when leaving the mosque. For some reason the commander of the faithful did not enter his carriage at the time calculated upon by his would-be assassins. The infernal machine exploded at the precise time it was set for, killing more than two score of soldiers, footmen and servants. The explosion of the infernal machine threw the bodyguard of the sultan into the greatest confusion. The soldiers gathered in front of the mosque completely lost their senses. They began firing into the scattering crowd adding to the general confusion and killing and wounding many. It was Capt. Buckman, formerly of this part of the country, than an official in the navy of the sultan, who rose to the occasion.

Drawing his revolver he rushed across the esplanade, running in the blood of the killed and maimed, and stood with feet drawn up in military attitude beside the sultan, who stood firm and collected through all the confusion.

"I have the honor to place myself at your majesty's service," said the gallant captain, in a voice as cool and even as if he were giving a command at a practice drill.

That Abdul-Hamid appreciated the display of courage and coolness of the American was plainly shown. He took from his own neck the ribbon of the Osmanieh order and placed it around the neck of the intrepid captain.

Since that time Buckman has been admiral of the royal Turkish fleet. He holds the position today, and there is little chance that he will lose his title through the changes that have taken place in Turkey.

A number of Duluth men were discussing the career of the adventurous Buckman in the lobby of the St. Louis today. He was known some years ago in this city as an ordinary fellow, a daring chap, who was fond of rowing, and a man who possessed the utmost self-confidence. At that time he had not thought of seeking honors in a foreign navy. He drifted to Europe and in some manner entered the service of the Turkish navy. The Turkish navy is nothing to boast of, to be sure, and it is probable that the American's knowledge of vessels, coupled with his ability to make a bold and imposing front, won him his captaincy. But when the moment for swift and decisive action came, the American did not permit the opportunity to pass.

CANUCKS AFTER INFORMATION

Want to Know How Free Employment Agencies Are Conducted.

The Canadian labor bureaus are gathering information as to the success the State of Minnesota has met with, in its free agencies in Duluth and the Twin Cities, with a view of adopting across the line such features of the American system as will tend to increase the efficiency of the Canadian labor agencies.

James Walsh, manager of the Duluth state employment office, has received a letter from F. F. Trimble, agent of the free employment bureau of Toronto. Mr. Trimble states that he has heard much of the practical working of the Minnesota system. He states that the Toronto office is conducted under the auspices of the board of associated charities and that a movement is now on foot to combine it with the national department of charities.

The free agencies in Canada are all municipal, none of them being under national control, or receiving support from the national or provincial treasuries.

Mr. Walsh is asked to give his opinion as to the advisability of connecting the labor bureau with the department of charities and also as to what American labor agencies do toward forcing the deportation of undesirable workmen. The letter in duplicate has been sent to managers of labor bureaus in various cities.

WILL ASK FOR A NEW TRIAL

Attorneys for Schreiber Claim to Have New Evidence.

A motion for a new trial for William Schreiber, who was convicted at the March term of the district court of the murder of Frank Massapust, near Cook, Minn., will probably be made late this afternoon by Ross & McKnight, attorneys for Schreiber, on the ground that new evidence has been discovered which will throw additional light on the case.

Just what this new evidence is the attorneys refuse to state. They claim, however, that the aspect of the whole case will be changed, and their hope for a new trial at this time is strong.

On the morning of Nov. 9, 1907, the body of Massapust was found in the ruins of his shack, which had burned the night before. Schreiber was not suspected until he tried to cash a check for the dead man's money in Wisconsin some months after the happening. The signature was forged and Schreiber was at once arrested and brought to Duluth for trial, with the result above stated.

Rev. J. T. Moody of the Bethel and several others have, during the last few weeks, been busily engaged in gathering funds with which to finance a new trial.

There are nearly 88,000,000 sheep in Australia and New Zealand, 10,000,000 cattle and 1,871,000 horses.

Trade of the United States with its American neighbors in 1907 amounted to nearly $1,000,000,000, against a little more than a third as much a decade ago.

SOLD WHISKY TO WRONG MAN

Gus Lilia Under Arrest For Selling Habitual Drunkard.

Gus Lilia, bartender for Frank Sandstedt, who has a saloon on First street, between First and Second avenues west, was arrested this morning, charged with selling whisky to Thomas Sheenahan, after the police had ordered all saloon keepers to refuse him a drink.

Lilia says he did not know the man was Sheenahan. At the time the latter is said to have secured the drinks, he was working on a plumbing job in the saloon. This was on May 10. The next morning, after securing the drinks, Sheenahan appeared in municipal court on a charge of being drunk, and was fined $20 and costs, with twenty days in jail as an alternative.

The man was arrested for being drunk again last night, in the West end, by Officer Root, but this time he claims to have secured the whisky in Superior.

ARE OPPOSED BY MINISTERS

The Workers for Sabbath Observance Deplore This Contending Force.

Denver, Colo., May 21.—Among the reports presented to the Presbyterian general assembly is that of the committee on Sabbath observance. The report says the battle for the maintenance of the American Christian Sabbath the last year has been more aggressive than ever.

"Not only," says the report, "have the friends of the Sabbath met with concentrated opposition from interests which we always find inimical to the Sabbath, but the past year we have been saddened by the fact that in an important battle in New York state we have encountered the opposition of some ministers of the gospel."

FIELD OF HONOR COMMISSION.

Blackwood's Magazine: Perhaps wit is stimulated by a slight derangement of the nerves, and good things said on the field of battle are sometimes recorded. When "Bully Egan" fought Curran with pistols, the bulky Egan complained that his opponent was as thin as a blade of grass. "Let my size be chalked out upon your body," said Curran, "and any hits outside of the line shall not count."

It was not good form, however, to make a parade of magnanimity, and the coxcombical practice of firing in the air or "dumb shooting" or "children's play" was strictly prohibited by the rules, of which thirty-six were drawn up by representatives of the five most eminent counties—Galway, Tipperary, Mayo, Sligo and Roscommon—in 1777. They met at the summer assizes at Clonmel and seem to have done their work very gravely and honestly, including a special rule for "simple, unpremeditated encounters with the small sword." There is a large element of absurdity about it all, no doubt, but even duelling has had its place as a rough, inefficient test of manhood.

WEAK PEOPLE NEED A TONIC

Strength for the Day's Work Depends Upon Good Red Blood to Nourish the Body.

There are thousands of people, who are without ambition or strength to do their day's work and who are always tired out, have but little appetite and a poor digestion, cannot get a refreshing night's sleep and are subject to headaches, backaches and nervousness because their blood is impure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give quick relief and permanently cure such men and women because of their direct action on the blood, which they purify and build up to its normal strength. As the blood becomes pure and red it strengthens the muscles, tones up the nerves, makes the stomach capable of digesting the food and repairs the wastes caused by growth and work. In a word it gives perfect health.

The usefulness in every family of a safe and effective tonic is shown by the following statement of Mrs. A. B. Gates, of No. 807 East Second street, Duluth, Minn.

"I suffered for over a year," she says, "from general debility, which was brought on by overwork. I had no ambition to do any work and the least exertion used me up. My appetite was poor and I was very nervous at times. I could not get a good night's rest. I was often confined to bed for a day or so and certainly felt miserable.

"I doctored with local physicians for a time but did not get any help from their medicine. I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through a friend and gave them a trial. They soon gave me strength and I was able to do my work. I have since kept the pills in the house and recommend them highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not like ordinary medicines. They do not act on the bowels but they may be said to actually make new blood. In this way they reach many diseases caused by depraved or vitiated blood and they have cured severe cases of rheumatism, sciatica, nervousness, St. Vitus' dance and have accomplished miraculous results in partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SERAGLIO OF SULTAN

Three Hundred of Abdul Hamid's Favorites Held By Military.

Lavish Way in Which the Sultan Lived Is Shown.

London, May 21.—The downfall of Abdul Hamid has been accompanied by the dispersal of the most remarkable seraglio in the history of the world. Three hundred beautiful women who were Abdul Hamid's temporary spouses, thousands of pretty slave girls and an even greater number of stalwart eunuchs suddenly found themselves at the mercy of the soldiers attacking the palace. Panic reigned among the lovely inmates of the harem. They knew the character of their own countrymen too well not to realize what their fate would be once their lord and master had lost his power. The English newspaper correspondents have referred but little to this painful aspect of the fall of Yildiz Kiosk, but the continental press has devoted considerable space to accounts of the terrible scenes which occurred.

Every one of the sultan's favorites had been jealously guarded from the prying eyes of strangers from the moment she entered the harem. A Cullinan diamond could not be more closely watched over than a female member of Abdul Hamid's establishment. For any unauthorized person to be detected in proximity to the apartments of the fair ones was equivalent to the signing of his death warrant. In this respect the sultan set an example which his subjects have strictly followed. Cases are on record of ventriloquist Europeans surreptitiously visiting Constantinople harems. They have been caught and there has been only one alternative of death—the diabolical cruelty of the Turk and the enormity of the offense in his eyes have made it essential that the alternative shall be the severest punishment that can be devised. It is well known that more than one prominent Englishman has had to choose between this and a watery grave in the Bosphorus.

Sultan Lived in Luxury.

As a voluptuary Abdul Hamid has a reputation unrivaled in history. He professed to be a person who practiced exemplary moderation in all kinds of pleasure. Certainly he was something of an ascetic as far as eating and drinking were concerned, but he placed few restrictions on other inclinations. At Yildiz Kiosk he lived amid the most luxurious surroundings, had magnificent establishments for each of his four legal wives, and, in the seclusion of a series of most gorgeous apartments kept fully 300 beautiful companions, who remained during his pleasure and were periodically "weeded out" to make room for new arrivals. There was no difficulty as to the sources of supply. It was realized that there was no surer path to Abdul Hamid's favor than to present him with a pretty slave girl for his seraglio. Each inmate was under the strict supervision of several eunuchs, and could command the services of half a dozen girl attendants. Such a huge household was, of course, an enormous expense. Yildiz Kiosk in recent years had a population of over 12,000 persons, and the cost of providing for them was fully $20,000,000 per annum.

The women of the establishment were allowed no free communication with the outside world. Any letters received or sent by them were scrutinized by officials who acted as palace censors. If they took exercise in the grounds they were heavily veiled, and surrounded by attendants, who were ready to report immediately any not strictly in accord with the routine of the establishment. The system of domestic espionage was carried to the length of permitting no locked doors in the women's private apartments, so that, neither sleeping or waking, could they ever feel secure from prying eyes.

Soldiers Capture the Harem.

It was into this unique abode of the sultan that a horde of soldiers, flushed with the triumph of their plans and eager to seize the fruits of victory, burst. For several days the inmates had been enduring the horrors of anticipation. They had been living without gas, water, and electric light, and towards the end of the siege, without provisions, all supplies having been intercepted. The majority of them are said to have had nothing to eat except beetroot leaves. In their weak, half-famished state, they were in a condition bordering on collapse when the troops entered the apartments of the harem. The eunuchs made no show of resistance and were at once seized and placed under a strong guard. Then the captors turned their attention to the women, whose terrified screams woke the echoes of the great palace. Pale and trembling they shrank into the corners of the rooms and tried to hide behind the curtain hangings, but there was no place that could afford them more than temporary concealment. The correspondents refrain from detailed reference to the plight of these poor creatures, but there seems no room for doubt that the officers failed to exercise proper restraint over many of their men.

The hundreds of women in the harem and their female attendants who were left behind by the sultan when he was taken to Salonika are stated to have been distributed among their captors. It is reported that they have been sent off in detachments to the residences of the victors who got them. Some are said to have appeared to be resigned to their fate, but others were weeping and groaning as if in the depths of despondency. Their despairing attitudes told clearly enough of the terrible ordeal they had passed through. It was rumored in Constantinople last week, and the rumor seems well founded, that not one of the female inmates of Yildiz Kiosk escaped from the soldiers.

ACCIDENTS IN THE INDUSTRIES

Appalling Total of 500,000 Killed or Maimed Each Year.

New York, May 21.—Five hundred thousand is the insurance estimate of the army of wage-earners withdrawn last year by death or maiming in industrial occupations in the United States. This is equivalent to wiping out every man, woman and child in Baltimore. The money loss in wage-earning efficiency is at least $250,000,000. Fifty per cent of these casualties are preventable, in the opinion of the engineering profession.

What can be done to lessen this annual waste? An effort in this direction is the establishment in New York of the American Museum of Safety and Sanitation.

Wood and metal working machinery; stamping, grinding and polishing machine; presses; cranes and hoisting machinery; transportation security by sea and land; safety lamps and explosives; quarrying, agricultural and chemical industries; safety from fire—all these will be represented. Also, there will be a section of sanitation, to include improved dwellings, first aid to the injured, prevention of industrial diseases, respirators and methods for supplying pure air and insuring health.

There are ten trans-Atlantic museums of safety, where industrialists may go to learn how to avoid killing or maiming those who work in their shops, factories, mines, fields, railways, buildings and ships. To these museums a man about to begin any kind of business may go to learn what appliances he needs to safeguard himself against enormous annual expenditures for damages and to protect his workingmen from loss of life, limb or health while in his employ.

In America the insurance interests estimate the annual loss to companies from preventable accidents to be $125,000,000. This does not include costs of defending suits at law, in which the person injured receives in judgments scarcely $500 on the average, of which his lawyer usually gets one-half.

One-half of $500 is a small sum for a wage-earner to receive for partial or total incapacitation for life. Many of these cases become a charge upon the general community. The owner of the mill or shop in which the hurt or utterly disadvantaged wage-earner has met disaster has to share this burden in his taxes, along with the costs he has shouldered in the litigation to determine the damage sustained, while the final award to the injured man or to the former employer is often unfair and unbusiness-like. The worker gets less, and the employer pays more than he ought to.

ANNA HELD TO RETIRE

With $1,000,000 Saved, She Is to Quit the Stage.

Lauds New York and Tells of Plans for Investments.

New York, May 21.—With a stocking full of American dollars and a determination to quit the stage and "make her eyes behave," Anna Held, in everyday life Mrs. Florence Ziegfeld, has sailed away for a summer in Europe. Before leaving she announced that, having made $1,000,000, she would retire from the stage after next season. She also said she had plans for a high-priced amusement resort near Fort George, asserting that her agent was negotiating for the estate of C. K. G. Billings at Fort Washington. With Miss Held sailed her husband's father and mother and her daughter, Lily.

Soon to Quit Footlights.

"Yes, I am sailing for Europe with the very pleasant knowledge that at the end of my stage career I have more than $1,000,000," said Miss Held. "The end of my stage career? I mean it. After my tour on the road next season there will be no more Anna Held behind the footlights.

"Of course I am proud of my record. I have lasted longer on Broadway than most women do. Twelve years I have held my own there. My work may not have been important. There are some people—the—oh! very good people—who may say my work is very bad. Perhaps in a little country town that might have been.

"But in New York? New York is wise. New York is tired at night. New York wants to laugh and be interested—excited. I think it is a good thing that I have given New York what it wants. For dear New York, no matter what those high brows say, does not take its theater seriously. Its people? They go to the theater and see the mimics of the gay and naughty, and they go home and are just as domestic and church-going as ever. The corruption of New York? It is to say it in Albany, but not on Broadway. We know here that it is not wicked to laugh at the thing we would not do ourselves.

Loves the Saved Million.

"Those million dollars! I love them. Every single dollar. No, I do not mean what you think. But every dollar of that money I made because my work was good. I did not speculate much. Very little. If I told how little they would call me a piker, I have saved, saved, saved and invested. I have invested in the theaters; I have bought real estate sometimes; I have bought the government bonds and the real estate. But nearly always for the income and never, except for the pastime, have I fooled with what they call the margins.

"This money I have made in this dear United States. I shall invest it here. I began in a music hall in Paris. I came to America, and at the very beginning I got a salary which makes me a fool that I ever stayed in Paris at all. Since then it has always been larger and larger. But I tell you one thing, I am gay on the stage.

Plans Novel Resort.

"My agents make arrangements, even today, by which I buy many acres near Fort George—the Billings estate, I think you call it. There I shall have a place where nice people can come and enjoy themselves. There will be a restaurant, some shows, all very high class, and gardens. It will not be for the crowd, it will be for the people who pay $2 for their theater seats and sometimes buy a box and who are not afraid of champagne. Near that I shall build a home for myself.

"I hate to say I will stop. I hate to believe it. But Mr. Ziegfeld is a very severe man. He says that next year is the end. So, I am afraid perhaps that it is."

THIRD OPERATION PREVENTED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill. — "I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was so sick that two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation. I had already had two operations, and they wanted me to go through a third one. I suffered day and night from inflammation and a small tumor, and never thought of seeing a well day again. A friend told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, and I tried it, and after the third bottle was cured."—Mrs. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon Street, Chicago, Ill.

If you are ill do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until an operation is necessary, but build up the feminine system, and remove the cause of those distressing aches and pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

FOR THE BIRD CROP GUARDS

Campaign to Save Insect Eaters Will Sweep the Nation.

New York, May 21.—Protection of the insect-eating birds, whose destruction caused a crop loss of almost $1,000,000,000 to this country in the last year, will be made a campaign issue throughout the nation as the result of a general movement which was organized in this city today. Backed by the granges and other bodies representing the farmers, orchardists, ranchmen and planters of every section of the land, the National Association of Audubon Societies is preparing to obtain from every present and prospective representative of the people in every state in the Union definite declarations of their stand on this question of the conservation of the bird resources of the commonwealth. Where the forces of the milliners have been able to exert political pressure to legalize their poaching upon the feathered guardians of the crops, the people will rise this year to demand that their own interests be protected, it was declared by leaders of this new campaign today.

Representing an industry valued at less than $12,000,000, a few Broadway feather dealers have just succeeded in defeating in this state the Francis bill, for the protection of the insect-eating birds, behind which agricultural interests worth over $500,000,000 were solidly arrayed. In spite of the united efforts of the 83,000 farmers represented in the state grange and the Audubon workers, who were backed by the press and people of almost every community in the state, it was reported today that the hiring of a lawyer "whose political influence was undoubtedly used to prevent any open consideration of the bill on the floor of either branch of the legislature" had, with other machinations of the milliners, resulted in legalizing for another year their traffic in property that belongs to the state. As a first step in the general national campaign for the birds who guard the crops the record of each legislator on this matter will be submitted to his constituents and every effort made to secure from each district in this state representatives at Albany next year who will be pledged to heed this strong demand from their agricultural supporters.

California, Missouri and Oklahoma have just been reported as adopting laws defending their bird crop guards against the ravages of the feather dealers, which are substantially the same as the bill which the milliners have just strangled in this state. Similar laws forbidding the sale or possession of the plumage, skin or body of the insect-eating non-game birds, irrespective of whether said bird was captured or killed within or without the state, are already in force and working for the protection of the farmers in Iowa, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, South Carolina and West Virginia. From every other state and territory in the land communications are being received at the headquarters of the movement urging an immediate effort to arouse the people to campaign for their feathered crop protectors against the forces of the millinery interests.

FURORE CREATED

By Latest Novel That Exposes Club Life in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 21.—The latest novel, "The Woman in Question," which has evidently been written from clubs in Pittsburg, was placed on sale here in spite of efforts on the part of the Pittsburg rich to have it not handled here. There was a great run on the bookstores, both by those who were not of the swell clubs and who wanted to know, as well as those who belonged to these clubs and who feared they had been exposed.

There were many funny incidents at the bookstores during the day. Many scandals, yet unpublished because of official legal action, were sought in the book.

Perhaps the case for which the book was searched most thoroughly was the Gulick divorce of two years since, when five well-known men are said to have been named as corespondents by the husband, but in which case the papers were boldly stolen by the attorneys, who declare they will never bring them into court.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MENACES TO BOATING TO BE REMOVED FROM LAKE

PLEASURE CRAFT ON BEAUTIFUL LAKE BEMIDJI.

Bemidji, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bemidji Boat club has taken active measures to prevent the accumulation of "deadheads," stray timber and other refuse on the shores of Lake Bemidji or in the lake that would impede boating.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the club it was decided that all members of the club should form a committee of the whole to visit all parts of the lake and inspect the shore at all points, with reference to locating favorable places for docks and landing places, also to locate any "deadheads" or other obstructions in the water and assist in removing the same. The club will also place stationary buoys at one or two points where there are sandbars, etc. There is a rocky obstruction a quarter of a mile from Diamond point and a sandbar out from the bridge over the Mississippi river, on the east shore of the lake, which will be distinctly marked.

The officials of the Crookston and Bemidji lumber companies will cooperate towards keeping the lake clear of obstructions.

The club will also clear away an obstruction, which lodged in the Mississippi river three miles east of Lake Bemidji, which will afford a clear water route for boats from Bemidji dock, eight miles down the "Father of Waters" to the power dam belonging to the Beltrami Electric Light & Power company.

The club has also adopted a new pennant, which is blue in color, with the letters "B. B. C." arranged somewhat differently than was at first proposed.

It is the intention of the club to hold several regattas during the summer, and a number of foreign supply houses, as well as local firms, have volunteered to give prizes for competition at these events.

It is estimated that at least 150 launches will be used on Lake Bemidji this season. Last year there were eighty-five, and fifty have been added to the number this spring.

HER RIGHTS ARE DEFINED

St. Paul Judge Decrees What Belongs to Divorced Woman.

Is Entitled to Money Minor Children Pay for Keeping.

St. Paul, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mother is entitled, as against the father, to the money which their minor children pay from their earnings for board, and she is entitled to half of the furniture in the home purchased during their wedded life with earnings of the husband and children.

That was the decision of Judge John Finehout in municipal court, the opinion being based on the finding by the court that there is a contract in the nature of a partnership between husband and wife, she furnishing the labor and he the money to run the home.

It is the first decision of the kind in Minnesota, and is given in the action of Caroline John against her former husband, Carl John, to recover about $400 worth of personal property, including household furniture and the wife's wearing apparel.

The marital troubles of the Johns were given much publicity some time ago, when each of the parties applied for a divorce, and each was given one. Mr. John contested the present suit on the ground that his wife, having been divorced for statutory causes, had no right to any of the personal property.

THUNDER SHOWER IS VERY WELCOME

First of Season Visits Red River Valley—Farmers Rejoicing.

Crookston, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the past thirty-six hours copious rains have covered the entire Red River valley, and farmers and business men are jubilant. The first real thunder shower of the season came yesterday afternoon, and with warm, growing weather the grain and grass are shooting up as if by magic. Practically all grain seeding is finished, though in some places there is some barley and flax yet to be seeded.

Many of the farmers are seeding potatoes and corn. The potato acreage will be 25 per cent above that of last year, and the corn acreage will be better than doubled. There is also a much larger acreage of clover, alfalfa and other grasses being seeded.

CHEAP FENCE WIRE IS BENEFIT TO FARMERS.

Crookston, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The present low price of fence wire is being generally taken advantage of by the farmers of this section to construct additional pastures. Wire is selling for 20 cents less than ever before in this section, thus materially decreasing the cost of fence construction. To facilitate crop rotation, many farmers, instead of having one large pasture, will have two or three smaller ones and change oftener.

Fargo Entertaining Bankers.

Fargo, N. D., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo is entertaining the bankers of the Third judicial district today. The program for the morning and the early afternoon sessions provided for addresses and business meetings. The latter part of the afternoon was devoted to an auto ride, and this evening there will be a banquet and a vaudeville show.

TWO BROTHERS SUICIDE.

One Takes Life Because He Broke Promise Not to Remarry.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 21.—Brooding over his broken promise to his dead wife, that he would not re-marry, Gadu A. Olson, an Elk Mound farmer, committed suicide by drowning.

Olson's brother Henry committed suicide here a few years ago by hanging himself.

SAWMILLS VERY BUSY.

Big Plants on Chequamegon Bay Are Humming These Days.

Washburn, Wis., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is estimated that about 170,000,000 feet of lumber will be cut for the Stearns Lumber Company of Odanah by the mills at present working in this section. There are seven sawing on Chequamegon bay at present, running full blast.

Two mills at Bayfield and one in this city are running night and day and others are running on the day shift. This company was compelled, on account of the forest fires which raged on the Odanah reservation last summer, to cut an immense amount of timber and this will all be sawed in the mills on the bay during the summer. A large amount of labor is given employment and times will be very brisk throughout the Chequamegon bay region this summer.

PIONEER PRESS ANNOUNCES.

St. Paul Paper Tells of Its Sale to the Dispatch.

St. Paul, Minn., May 21.—The Pioneer Press announces this morning that the negotiations which have been pending for several days between the Pioneer Press company and the St. Paul Dispatch have been completed and that the owners of the latter paper have purchased the controlling interest in the Pioneer Press. The announcement says:

"Our reasons for making this sale were, first, that the price was satisfactory. The stock of the company was widely scattered and much of it in the hands of owners not in a position to take business risks. Further, the wide distribution has always made difficult the concentration of authority so necessary in newspaper management."

Tams Bixby is president of the reorganized Pioneer Press company and Webster Wheelock is one of the directors. It is understood that the evening edition of the Pioneer Press will be discontinued in the near future and that the two papers will be gotten out at the same plant in the Dispatch building.

North Dakota City Has Entertained Extensively This Week.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks is today the Mecca of the high school people of North Dakota. Four big events take place here today and tomorrow and as a result the high school teachers and pupils have assembled in great numbers.

A DAINTY KITCHEN SINK.

The kitchen sink can be kept as clean and dainty as a tea cup—and why should it not be?

A spic-and-span housewife insists that her sink shall be as clean as the china washed in it.

The problem is simple; merely rinse the sink thoroughly with warm water and Gold Dust, after each dish-washing. Make this suds in the dish-pan, and thus remove the last particle of grease from that much-used utensil.

Gold Dust has the peculiar quality of dissolving and "cutting" grease. It is, therefore, valuable, not only for keeping the sink and pans sweet and clean, but for keeping the sink "trap" and pipes clear.

These will never become clogged with grease if Gold Dust and plenty of hot water be used for washing the sink each morning and evening.

TONNAGE TAX AND LOCAL TAXES.

The one argument for the tonnage tax that has even a semblance of soundness—and it is only a semblance—lies in discussion of the fact that in certain iron mining communities the total tax rates are lower than they are in some other communities. They are lower in some mining communities than they are in other mining communities, and the tax rates in some mining communities are as high as any in the state, but these facts are deliberately shouldered to one side by those who are using this argument to convince the people of Southern Minnesota that there ought to be a tonnage tax for state purposes on iron ore. Their object is to show that the mines do not pay enough taxes because in some mining communities the total tax rates are lower than the average in the state.

That this reasoning has deceived many is evident from the frequency of its use during the debate throughout the state on the tonnage tax. That it is false reasoning, having no relation whatever to the tonnage tax, is made clearly evident by the simplest and most superficial analysis of the argument and of the facts.

The fundamental fact which those who make this argument ignore is that the tonnage tax relates to state taxation, and that differences in local tax rates relate solely to local taxation. The state tax rate is precisely the same in every section of the state and upon every dollar's worth of property in the state. Last year's state tax rate of 3.33 mills applied equally to a dollar's worth of mining property in St. Louis county and to a dollar's worth of merchandise in Houston county. The sole issue as to the state tax is equality of valuation. If valuations are fairly adjusted, the taxes will be fairly adjusted, because the tax rate is the same.

Differences in local tax rates are brought about by differences in tax levies or in the amount of property in a locality. A lower tax levy will make a lower tax rate, and a higher valuation will make a lower tax rate.

The average tax rate for the entire state last year was 26.98 mills. In forty-eight out of the eighty-five counties it was less than that and in thirty-seven counties it was more. St. Louis county was below the average, with an average rate of 18.59 mills, but it wasn't the lowest. The Nicollet county rate was 17.94 mills. An attempt to level this up by increasing the state tax in counties below the average couldn't stop at St. Louis county with its 18.59-mill rate; it would have to include Nicollet with its 17.94-mill rate, and take in all other counties that have rates below the average.

The unfairness of those who make this argument, however, is shown by the fact that from St. Louis county they pick out Great Scott township with its rate of 13.7 mills, and overlook Eveleth with its 73.1 mills; that they take in the town of Fayal with its 14.7 mills, and forget Ely with its 47.1 mills. They assume that these low rates are due to the failure of the iron mines to pay proper taxes because the mining town of Great Scott in this county has a rate of 13.7 mills, and they overlook the fact that the town of St. Louis, which has no mines at all, has a rate of 9.9 mills.

Take, for instance, the town of Great Scott, which contains mines valued at over $5,000,000. Its total tax rate is 13.7 mills, but this is because its local expenses are low, amounting to only $72,658.94 this year. The total rate is low because its local rate is low, and its local rate is low because its expenses are small and its valuation high. There is practically nothing in the township except its mining locations, and hence its local expenses are modest. If people in that town are situated so fortunately in the matter of taxation, that is no reason why the state should step in and demand a larger state tax than it asks from other communities whose expenses are high and whose tax rates are therefore greater. The state now gets from this town, as it gets from every other community, taxes based on a rate of 3.33 mills. The rate for local purposes is only 5.1 mills, and this is because of the high valuation and the low local expenses. The high valuation, however, increases the state's revenues enormously, so that the state's interests are fully safeguarded. No matter how low local tax rates may be, the state rate remains the same. The higher the valuations, the lower the local rate, but with the state rate remaining as it is, the increased valuation means an increased state tax.

There is no more reason why the state should apply special methods of taxation to St. Louis county because its average tax rate is below the average than there is why it should apply special taxation to Nicollet county, whose average is lower still, or to any other county whose rate is below the average. The state rate is the same in all counties, and if Nicollet county, by low local expenses, or St. Louis county, by low local expenses and high local valuations, enjoy low local tax rates, that is altogether aside from any question involving state taxes.

The point may be easily conveyed by illustration. Suppose the village of Lake Park, Becker county, had an assessed valuation of $500,000 and a local expense of $0,500 a year. This would make a local rate of 13 mills, with, say, 7 mills for state and county rates. Suppose an iron mine worth $2,000,000 were discovered within the limits of that village. The valuation would jump from $500,000 to $2,500,000, and the expenses remaining the same the local tax rate would be reduced to 2.6 mills. The state would get $8,325 instead of $1,665, which it got under the old valuation, and the county, too, would get more. But the total tax rate for Lake Park would be reduced from 20 mills to 9.6 mills. Should the state, on that account, step into Lake Park and demand a special tax because of that low tax rate?

A FRIEND OF JUSTICE.

Duluth is honored today by a visit from Senator S. D. Works of Mankato, who comes to address the Democratic club of the West end upon the commission plan of city government. Senator Works is an authority upon this subject, and he was the author of the bill passed by the last legislature which permits home rule charter cities to substitute that method for the old one. No more promising thing than this has been proposed in recent years, and the state will owe Senator Works a debt of gratitude for his public spirit and energy in making it possible for cities to drop the worn out old method of city government along political lines, and substitute for it a government along business lines.

This isn't the chief thing of interest to the people of this section about Senator Works, however. When the tonnage tax bill was in the senate he gave it careful study, and though he had at one time believed in the bill, though the people of his district were apparently in favor of it, though it was evident that it was going to pass anyway, he stood like a rock against its passage after he came to the conclusion, as a result of careful study, that it was unjust and unfair. It was an act remarkable not only for its wisdom and justice, but more remarkable still for its courage.

Senator Works is one of the big men of the senate—one of the big men of the state, in fact—and his intelligence, industry and rigid integrity have been large factors in the last two sessions of the legislature.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA.

The Commercial West, published at Minneapolis, prints an editorial about Northern Minnesota that is distinctly worth while. It is good reading for those who live in the empire it describes, and it will be good reading for those who don't live in it, and who therefore, in all probability, haven't the faintest idea what a realm of potential richness and greatness it is.

The Commercial West truly says: "This northern half of Minnesota has about one-third the population density of the southern half, but has natural resources in timber, water power, iron ore and uncultivated agricultural land that are perhaps unequalled by any other like section of the globe. Northern Minnesota has the area of Ohio and substantially as great natural resources as Ohio once had, but with only one-tenth of Ohio's present population. Northern Minnesota is the equal of Switzerland in area, but is greatly its superior in arable soil and railroad facilities, as well as in mineral and timber wealth and water power resources; but it has only one-fifth the population of Switzerland.

"This makes it plain that Northern Minnesota offers rare opportunities to the settler and investor, as well as to the captains of industry in mining, manufacturing and agriculture. All that this great industrial empire needs is more population, and located as it is at the center of the continent of North America, with the best of transportation facilities from all directions, the influx of immigration will be speedily forthcoming—indeed, is now swiftly on the way.

"Let it not be inferred, however, that Northern Minnesota, notwithstanding its vast abundance of unseized and unexploited resources, is a howling wilderness. It already has more railroad mileage than Maine or Massachusetts. It has close upon 600,000 population, all busily engaged in the forests, mines, cities, farms and railroads. Its freight tonnage by rail exceeds the total for all New England. Its vessel tonnage clearing at the port of Duluth exceeds the total freight tonnage clearing from New York. The Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges, the greatest in the world, are only partially developed, while the new range, the Cuyuna, is in the cradle of its first exploitation. In water power resources the great water power at International Falls, the equal of that at Minneapolis, and the equally great water power on the St. Louis river between Cloquet and Duluth, are two out of the several score which Northern Minnesota is yet to develop.

"Among the finest agricultural lands in the world are the famous wheat lands of the Red River valley in the western section; and yet they do not exceed in fertility the timber lands and unreclaimed swamp lands of the great timbered plateau surrounding Mississippi head waters and extending north to Rainy river. In this fertile section there are still upwards of 1,500,000 acres of government lands subject to homestead entry and something like 2,000,000 acres of state lands which can be bought for $5 to $15 per acre on easy terms with long-term payments at 4 per cent. The threat at the prosperity of this region from the tonnage tax was happily averted by a timely veto by Governor Johnson. There is probably no section of the West today which offers greater opportunities to the enterprising young man than Northern Minnesota."

Well said, this, and every word of it truth. No similar area in the world has greater possibilities or offers more splendid opportunities than Northern Minnesota, and Duluth is its capital, its warehouse, its financial and business center and its market.

A STRONG APPOINTMENT.

It would be impossible to improve upon the wisdom shown in the appointment by Governor Johnson of Thomas D. O'Brien of St. Paul to take the place of Justice Charles D. Elliott of the supreme court, who has been selected by President Taft as an associate justice of the upreme court of the Philippine.

Thomas D. O'Brien is an upright citizen, one of the most conscientious and public spirited in the state. He is a learned lawyer, one of the ablest in Minnesota. He is a man of wide vision, of keen judgment, of sound humanity and of wise impulses. In short, he is a big man, pre-eminently worthy of the high place to which he is called, and his appointment will strengthen the Minnesota supreme court very materially.

Governor Johnson has had high praise generally for his appointments, but he has made none that will be a greater credit to him than this one.

Senator Bailey's attack on Governor Johnson seems to harmonize with what people have said about "Johnson luck."

San Francisco graft investigations thus far have cost $213,319, but they were worth it.

There will still be an opening in vaudeville for Castro and Abdul. Wish Aldrich and Cannon, our pretty pair of tyrants, were as ripe for that kind of a job.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

H. W. Irwin of Eveleth, vice president and general manager of the Eveleth Electric Light company, who was a guest of the St. Louis yesterday, states that in proportion to the expense of obtaining electric power the electric lighting of the city of Eveleth is given to the citizens upon a cheaper basis than the light of the city of Duluth.

Mr. Irwin stated that some one in Eveleth had started a story of the rates for electric lighting being too high. He stated that the rates did not admit of as much profit to the company as did the rates charged in this city, simply for the reason that the electricity of Eveleth was manufactured by steam power, while the electric lighting of Duluth is generated by water power.

The greater expense of the coal, the cost of shipping the coal to Eveleth, according to Mr. Irwin makes the profit to the company smaller than the profit accruing to the Duluth company, though Eveleth charges 2 cents more a kilowatt hour than they are in this city.

At Eveleth the maximum price charged to consumers is 12 cents a kilowatt hour. At Virginia the charge is 13 cents a kilowatt hour. At Ishpeming the price is 12 cents a kilowatt hour. At Coleraine the charge is the same. At Two Harbors, where there is a municipal plant, the charge is also 12 cents.

Mr. Irwin stated that the company at Eveleth was charging the lowest possible rates that it could under the conditions, and that the very fact that the municipal plant at Two Harbors charged the same rates to the citizens of that city was good evidence that the city of Eveleth was getting rates that were just and reasonable.

While the charge per kilowatt hour for the users of lights in Duluth is 2 cents a kilowatt hour less than the charge in Eveleth, Mr. Irwin explained that electricity was engendered much cheaper in this city than in Eveleth, and that the percentage of profit to the company in this city was probably greater than under the higher rates in Eveleth.

Mr. Irwin further stated that the average charge for electricity in many of the cities of this country is 14 cents. He states that the towns of the range and the city of Duluth are charging lower rates than many cities of the country.

* * *

M. J. Conley, who comes to this city often, stated at the St. Louis yesterday that he was the only Irishman in the neighborhood in which he lives—the West side of Milwaukee. He is the only man of the Hibernian race. All his neighbors either have come from the Fatherland or their mothers and fathers have been born in the country of the Rhine.

"When I first moved into that neighborhood I imagined that I was going to be very lonely," said Mr. Conley. "My wife shared the same view of the situation as I did. We both believed that the absence of congenial Irish-American friends would be a loss that our Teuton friends could not make up for.

"Well, we soon found that we were mistaken in this idea. The German people are the most sociable people in the world. My wife and I have gone to German picnics and we have gone to German parties galore. We have had just as good a time as the most Dutch of any German there. They did not let the fact that my wife and I are of Irish extraction, interfere in the least with their social attentions to us. Say I am pretty strong for the Irish, loyal to my countrymen and all that, but any time they start to tell me that the Germans aren't there, when it comes to being considerate of a person's pleasure and overlooking radical differences, you will have to show me.

"And although I am the only Irishman, as far as I know of, in the entire ward, after the strangeness of the situation wore off, I have not felt in the least lonely. Now the Ancient Order of Hibernians might censure me for making that statement. However, it is true. Not that I don't long for the Gaelic wit of my countrymen at times, for I do, but these German people have certainly made it nice for the Conley family, overlooking the fact that my first name is Mike. I am beginning to be a firm believer in the song, which states that "It Was The Dutch."

"You can almost say that Milwaukee typifies a part of any German city. In some parts of Milwaukee English is spoken very little. Yet it is one of the best cities in this country, one of the most prosperous and one of the most solid industrially. Milwaukee is a great city, but to think that an American city should possess a ward where there was only one Irishman! I was of the opinion that they would ask me to move away, as they probably wanted to keep the unique distinction of not having an Irishman in the ward. However, as I said, they have been very courteous to the Conley family and you may believe that I have learned to revere my German friends."

THE WEATHER.

The weather is delightfully fair today. It would scarcely anger citizens if it became delightfully warmer, but it is something to have the sun shining upon the city. The minimum temperature last night was 40 degrees above zero. The sunshine is scheduled to continue today and tomorrow, but not much change in temperature is expected.

A year ago today it was raining and windy.

The sun came up this morning at 4:25 and is scheduled to go down behind the hill at 7:43.

Of weather conditions Mr. Richardson says:

"Barometrical disturbances central over Utah and Southeastern states caused light to heavy rains in the eastern lake region, Ohio valley, Atlantic and Gulf states, the Southwest, Rocky mountain districts and extreme Northwestern Canada during the past twenty-four hours. The temperature changes were generally unimportant, except that the weather is somewhat warmer in the Far West, due to failing pressures there. The disturbances of barometric pressure favors generally fair weather at the Head of the Lakes tonight and Saturday."

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

Stillwater Gazette: There is evidently no doubt that the daily newspapers of Duluth, The Herald and the News Tribune, are fully awake to the great importance of the proposed canal to unite the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river. These papers look upon the proposition as a sound business investment and are giving it a most hearty and cordial support. It not only means much to Duluth, but is of the greatest importance to all the cities, towns and villages through which the canal will run, as well as the entire state of Minnesota, and all the other states that will come in touch with the project. Stillwater is taking the initiative in this matter and is meeting with encouragement from Duluth as well as the cities along the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers.

Monticello Times: The Duluth Herald, which is the best by far of any daily newspaper in the state, issued a "Prosperity Edition," on April 30. It certainly looked good, and Prosperity was upon every page. It covered every interest minutely and interestingly in which the great city of Duluth (destined to be the metropolis of the Northwest) is interested. The Herald management has the congratulations of the Times.

Anoka Free Press: The Free Press recently received a 96-page issue of The Duluth Evening Herald. Usually these monster blanket-sheet issues make us tired on first glance, and we lay them aside to be looked at some day when we get very old, or go to jail, or to the poorhouse, and have nothing else to do. But this one of The Herald's was so attractively gotten up, and contained so many alluring features, that instead of going to church we spent a Sunday in looking at its pictures and reading some of the articles, which proved both interesting and instructive. The Duluth Herald does several things better than anybody else, and getting out special editions seems to be one of them.

Paynesville Press: The Duluth Herald set a new pace in Northern Minnesota journalism when it issued a 96-page "Prosperity" edition a few days ago. The number is devoted to the commercial, mining, agricultural and other resources of that region, and is a masterpiece of the journalist's, printer's and engraver's art.

Hibbing Tribune: The spectacle of a city of 80,000 people crying out against the daily inhuman treatment of its dumb beasts of burden but incapable of devising a remedy, is not an elevating spectacle. Yet such is Duluth's case.

Strangers in Duluth by the score marvel daily at the huge, high-piled loads which draft horses are compelled to drag up the steep hills of the city. Residents of the city wax indignant every day at the outrage. The newspapers score the condition and demand a remedy. For months this has been the exact status of affairs, and Duluth is today abusing its horses just as it did months ago, and just as it has every day since. Nobody has been able to suggest an ordinance that will be effective. The humane department of the city calmly says that the matter is difficult, and lets it go at that. The city officials prepare an ordinance and the owners of teams rush into the newspapers with protests, and nothing is done.

Meantime man's inhumanity to dumb beasts in Duluth goes daily on and men coin money out of it.

A New Nursery Jingle.

Sing a song of sixpence,
Pocket full of holes,
Papa on his uppers,
Mamma at the polls.
Bridget with the copper
At the kitchen door,
Baby having tantrums
On the parlor floor.
Oldest son a-bumming—
Hasn't any job—
Oldest daughter slumming—
Studying the mob.
Other kids just roaming,
Like a flock of sheep;
Pa comes home at gloaming,
Blues some six feet deep.

And when the polls are opened,
Oh, how the ballots sing!
But ma comes in at midnight,
Too tired to say a thing.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Waverly Star and Tribune: Congressman W. S. Hammond, the only Democratic representative from Minnesota, is being spoken of quite frequently as the ideal candidate for governor in 1912.

Warren Register (Rep.): The political pot is beginning to boil in Minnesota. The Democrats have been so encouraged by their control of the state administration for three successive terms that they have decided to make a fight all along the line next year. Of course, Governor Johnson's personal popularity is their greatest asset, but they also figure it out that the squabble in congress over the tariff and the apparently widespread dissatisfaction with the record made at the recent session of the state legislature will be of immense assistance to them. They are planning redhot fights against the sitting congressmen in the First, Fourth, Fifth, Eighth and Ninth districts, but they are quite as likely to lose the Second district. They are probably banking on the tonnage tax rumpus and another fight at the primaries, between Miller and Bade, to land their man inthe Eighth. Governor Johnson will probably be put forward as the party's candidate for United States senator and if so, a strenuous attempt will be made to capture the legislature.

Little Falls Herald: A number of the people throughout the state are making much ado about Sunday baseball playing. We would venture to say that their number in proportion to the population is quite insignificant. Just so long as it is the custom or is necessary to work six full days a week the Sunday afternoon game will be played, and with general approval.

Fairmont Sentinel: Is it not rather early early to launch gubernatorial booms? There is no election held this year. Governor Johnson or his successor will be elected one year and six months hence.—Princeton Union.

And in the meantime Hon. Robert C. Dunn's ear will keep very close to Mother Earth.

Albert Lea Tribune: There are two kinds of Republicans, standpatters and revisionists. But is the census bureau big enough to count all the kinds of Democrats?

Laporte News: If Northern Minnesota had a fair representation in the legislature, the tonnage tax would not be so popular with certain politicians, to the south.

Fairmont Sentinel: Think of it! Aldrich and Cannon framing a tariff bill and Billy Taft winking the other eye! Were the people ever more basely betrayed?

Winona Independent: To have a president veto a Republican tariff measure would be something "different" in American politics, but it is not likely that President Taft will furnish a sensation of that sort.

Fairmont Sentinel: Unless we mistake the signs of the times nine good Democrats will get certificates of election to serve the people of Minnesota in the next congress of the United States of America.

Real Impetus Given to Governor Johnson's Boom.

All doubt as to the genuineness of the boom started for Governor Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1912 has been removed by Senator Bailey of Texas, who has arrayed himself in vicious opposition to the aspirations of the Minnesota man. The opposition of Bailey and Democrats of his type was all that was needed to remove the blocking wedges and send the Johnson boom merrily down the ways to a successful launching.

Governor Johnson is to be congratulated upon the fair prospect that now promises to meet the prosecution of his campaign for the nomination. The outlook would have been much less promising if he had incurred the handicap of the support by Bailey and Democrats of his school instead of happily securing their open hostility.

The Deserter.

Chicago Record-Herald: "Do you desire to have it understood," asked the judge, addressing the lady who wanted the divorce, "that your husband deserted you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Please tell the court as concisely as you can how he deserted you."

"Two months after we had completed our wedding trip he scolded me because he thought I was extravagant in the matter of getting clothes, and I went home to my people."

"Yes. Proceed."

"Well, I waited and waited and waited for him to come and beg me to return to him, and he never did."

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Chicago Tribune: Captain (of baseball nine)—You think Stumpy is getting sort o' weak in his mind? Why?

Manager—He renewed his contract for this season without making a kick for a higher salary.

Christian Guardian: "How do you tell bad eggs?" queried the young housewife.

"I never told any," replied the fresh grocery clerk, "but if I had anything to tell a bad egg I'd break it gently."

Cleveland Leader: The Magnate—You will succeed, sir; you are a genius.

The Inventor—No, I'm not. If I were a real genius practical men like you would consider me a darned fool.

Washington Post: He (calling)—I'm here promptly, Miss Fannie.

She—Yes, Mr. Staylate.

He—I never like to keep people waiting.

She (significantly)—Waiting for you to come, you mean, of course.

Life: Mrs. Bryde—How do you like the biscuits, dearie? They're the first I ever made.

Bryde—They're the lightest and the best I have ever eaten in all my life!

New York Sun: The patriots were holding the Boston Tea Party. "But," they were asked, "don't you understand that the tax doesn't fall on the consumer?" Obdurately stupid they continued to heave the stuff overboard.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "How do the milliners manage to get out these enormous Easter hats on time?"

"Modern construction methods account for it. The steel framework is erected first, and then the trimmers can work on every story independently."

New York Press: When a man has been acting like the deuce he thinks it's magnanimous of him to forgive his wife for it.

Baltimore American: Visitor—And when your prisoners are unruly, how do you smooth them down?

Warden—Easily, ma'am. We iron 'em."

Chicago Tribune: "Isn't it too bad!" sighed Mrs. Lapsling. "I shall have to go to the dentist's again. I find I have another vicarious tooth in my upper jaw."

Chicago Daily News: "What do you think of Miss Calliope's voice?" whispered the tall girl with the mountainous pompadour.

"She sings like a pirate," growled the rude man in the starry vest.

"Like a pirate? Gracious! And what is the resemblance?"

"She's rough on the high C's."

Brooklyn Life: Mrs. De Crimp (day after election)—Where did you get the new hat?

Mrs. Poll Worker—My husband gave me $5 yesterday for my vote.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A girl is awful smart to make a man understand he is making love to her when he isn't.

A man can never appreciate the trustworthiness of a trolley car until he owns an automobile.

If a woman has to take care of her sister's baby overnight because its mother is away, she can call it a house party.

Getting over a honeymoon is just the difference between hothouse grapes for breakfast and going back to corned beef hash.

The hatefulest thing to a woman about her neighbors is how they are going to talk about her as soon as she gives them the chance.

Polluted Paragraphs.

Chicago News: A kiss on the lips is worth 3,000,000 on paper.

Occasionally a dressmaker gives her husband fits.

A malicious truth may do more harm than an innocent lie.

Chicken-hearted people are always ready to hatch up an excuse.

When a woman doesn't have her say it is because she is dumb.

The less a man has to fuss about the easier it is for him to grumble.

It is far easier to accumulate a past than to use it in your business.

It is easier to see through some fat people than through some thin ones.

Hard luck is a machine for testing your friends; it separates the wheat from the chaff.

If you would criticise your boss get fully a mile away from everybody, then whisper to yourself.

Sometimes the man who looks before he leaps gives the other fellow a chance to beat him to it.

It takes a hustler to distinguish the difference between an obstacle and a hindrance in his path.

TAMMANY IS PREPARING

Outcome of Hains Murder Trial Receives Popular Approval.

New York, May 21.—With election day still full six months ahead, more preliminary campaign moves are being begun in this city today than Gotham has ever known at this season in its fiercest years of municipal strife. In their desperate struggle to keep control of the $1,000,000,000 administration of the fat financing of the metropolis the Tammany chieftains are already deep in the hatching plots to shape the coming campaign to their advantage. Day and night the fences about their small army of office-hedding henchmen are being patched up by the wigwam bosses and their tolls made tight about every worker or voter within reach. The Tammany tribe was never stronger or better entrenched to battle for the city, it is reported privately today by men in Murphy's confidence. That the party in power will be pressed as it has seldom been in the history of the town, is now assured by the appearance of an anti-Tammany podiatry already formed, the like of which has never yet loomed up as early in the campaign. Before the political "silly season" sets in, this summer there will be many a mighty clash between the battle lines that are to wage a bloody battle for New York city.

Horseman vs. Husband.

On the eve of exodus of the social set from its Fifth avenue haunts during the winter whirl, no small sensation has been spread by the attempt to reopen the court proceedings that terminated the romance of Mrs. Burke-Roche and Aurel Batonyi, who has taught all swelldom to tool a coach and four. The brief marital carer of this Hungarian whip and the daughter of Frank Work has been eagerly watched by every one of the gilded society crowd to whom they both were well known for years in widely separated spheres. While the vivacious Mrs. Burke-Roche took a prominent part in the exclusive coaching runs of the socially elect, Batonyi was hired to hold the reins and tutor the novels in the arts of the box. In this role the Hungarian horseman is still more familiar today than in the recent part which he has played in high society and in the courts. While every park road and boulevard is filled with society coaching parties this week, this case is furnishing an endless theme for talk.

Court and Copy.

Now that a conviction for manslaughter has at last been obtained in a case as sensational and notorious as that of Capt. Hains, the public prosecutors of New York and its neighboring metropolitan counties are expressing the hope that their work may not always be balked by the hysterics of the yellow press. During the last decade hardly one verdict of guilty has been rendered in this city in murder cases which it has pleased the saffron scribes to make the mark for their maudlin shafts of sentimentality. Florence Burns, Nan Patterson, Sarah Koten and a dozen other women indicted for murder have walked easily out of court after their attorneys had capitalized with their juries the flood of fake sentiment from the yellow sheets. Patrick and Thaw alone were finally imprisoned after superhuman efforts by the district attorney's office; but both are alive today. Though no one gloats over the sentence of the weak little army officer, the outcome of the case is hailed as a promise of more trial by court than by copy in the future.

Scale Scandal Spreads.

That the scandal of the scales, which has already brought about the dismissal of half a dozen old employes in Uncle Sam's custom house here, is only begun is the opinion of some of the best authorities on the case in this city. Where figs, cheese and sugar are being found to be admitted under short weight through the connivance of a few of the government's job holders, it is believed that similar conditions must exist in almost every line of goods that come for entry to this port. Under the new collector of the port the official probe is now working overtime, and before the affair is allowed to end it is promised that every grafter, high or low, will lose his official head. To reach the men who stooped to plot with the weighers for the easy entry of their goods is an object which every honest merchant in town hopes Mr. Loeb will attain.

Plague for Pied Piper.

Beating back a horde of bold rats, the people of one whole section of the upper end of this island are threatened with being overrun by this novel city plague. From cellar to cellar and wall to wall this rodent army has crept upon the householders of Harlem in the face of brooms, traps, poison, streams of water and brickbats. No one is sure of the origin of this riotous crew of outlaw rats, though it is believed that many of them were evicted from their ancestral seats by the tearing down of a whole block of old structures in the neighborhood. Harlem is crying desperately for its pied piper.

The Lakeside Fire Hall.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It has been reported that the Duluth fire department, by reason of insufficient funds, is considering the matter of cutting out the Lakeside fire hall.

While the writer may not be familiar with all the fine points of municipal government, it looks to him to be only reasonable that, if retrenchment is the object, the proper way would be to curtail the expenses all along the line and not leave one part of the city without fire protection in order to make the service more efficient in another. Neither would it be justice to residents of Lakeside to compel them by taxation to help support a department of the city government from which they would receive little or no benefit.

About a year ago the writer invested in Lakeside property, and one of the principal inducements to him at that time was the fact of the location of a fire hall in that section, making ample protection in case of fire.

If we expect to keep up our reputation as one of the most progressive cities of the Northwest, we cannot afford to take any backward steps.

RESIDENT.

Duluth, May 21.

BASEBALL AT CAPITAL

Washington Firmly in the Grip of the Baseball Fever.

Senators Go to the Games, Notwithstanding the Tariff.

Washington, May 21.—With President Taft and Vice President Sherman setting the example, Washington is in the grip of the baseball fever, and the national game divides interest with the tariff, the revenue tax, and other weighty matters as they come before congress for settlement.

Every afternoon now when the home team is playing here, along about the hour of 3 o'clock, one can see autobiles draw nigh the capitol, and, after getting well filled with passengers, head in the direction of the baseball grounds.

The exodus from the senate end of the capitol is particularly interesting. Several members insist on going, the tariff to the contrary notwithstanding. Senator Crane goes on the slightest provocation. He plays the game well himself, being an expert pitcher, and likes to see a game of baseball better than to eat. Senator Culberson of Texas is a frequent visitor to the park. Senator Scott is another. Incidentally, Senator Scott gets as excited as any other fan sometimes, and roots as hard as he does for his measures on the senate floor.

Undoubtedly the best ball player in congress is John Kinley Tener of the Twenty-fourth Pennsylvania district, who says in his biography: "Played professional baseball, 1885 to 1890." Tener was one of the crack players of the Chicago team in those days.

It is said, by the way, that Mr. Tener may play a game or two with the Senators. He has been requested to practice with the team and has consented to do so, and the story goes that he may, if he finds his old time salary arm is in good condition, pitch a game or two.

Other pronounced professional "fans" are Former Senator Hemenway of Indiana, Representatives Vreeland of New York, Olcott of New York, Washburn of Massachusetts, Loudenslager of New Jersey, Asher Hinds, the parliamentarian of the house; L. White Bushey, the speaker's private secretary, and a host of others who get over among the real fans on the first base line.

"Baseball these days is a different proposition from what it was twenty years ago," said Frank Presty of Philadelphia, an old baseball player, who was in the city on business the other day.

"There were no masks those days; no chest protector for the catcher, and no shin guards. If the catcher wasn't on to his job, and got the ball right on his favorite front tooth, nobody kicked up any fuss about it. Just took at my teeth.

"Got a swift one among my molar collection when I wasn't looking, and when I woke up I found that I lisped and had lost five teeth without taking either or laughing gas, and no pain. The old system of baseball was as different from the fashion of these days as is the directoire gown from a mother hubbard contraption.

"Baseball has improved wonderfully in every respect. The rowdyism which used to be a regular thing at games, in the days gone by, is fast disappearing, and a baseball game today is just as safe a place of amusement and entertainment for your wife, as the most refined theatrical performance. Many of the players are college bred, and their influence is felt throughout the rank and file of the baseball player world.

"If I were managing a team I would use three pitchers in every game. The way the game is played today, a pitcher cannot last any longer than three innings. After the third inning, the best pitcher is a problem, not a certainty.

"Of all the managers of the ball teams, I believe that Jennings, of the Detroit players, is the best. He has the confidence and respect of his men. I have taken a deep interest in all of them, but I think Hughey knows his business. It's a fool manager who invites his players to go out and have a drink with him on the sly, and it's a fool manager who permits drinking among his players. To be a successful manager, one must be a diplomat as well as a gentleman, and a ball player and student of human nature."

Representative Butler Ames of Massachusetts has invented an airship, but he is not yet ready to give trial flights for the benefit of his fellow legislators. The craft, however, is said to be constructed on "correct principles."

The persons who claim that women do not amount to anything in politics have never met Mrs. Joseph W. Gaines, the wife of a representative from West Virginia.

Out in the Gaines district it is said that Mrs. Gaines is a better politician than her husband, and that she gets his votes which, but for her, might go to the other side. She is also her husband's most trusted adviser in things political.

Mrs. Depew is one of the best-dressed women in Washington. At the play, when she often wears a coronet of roses, she looks as if she might have stepped out of a canvas Boucher. She dresses, too, in exquisite taste, an art she has learned abroad, where she passed nearly all her girlhood and young womanhood. It will be remembered that there was some surprise felt when the venerable senator from New York won the hand of the beautiful Miss Palmer, who had refused titles galore, and turned her back, it is said, even on royalty, and there were many skeptics who thought that the wedding between May and December would prove to be an unhappy one, but there is in Washington no happier couple than the senior senator from the Empire state and his beautiful young wife.

Is Now Booming Business Beyond the Records of 1906.

Railroads Giving Big Orders and Metal Mills Active.

New York, May 21.—The New York Central order for seventy-one locomotives to be delivered by Aug. 1, the reported order of the Harriman roads for 500 steel underframe refrigerator cars, seveal large orders for steel rails by various roads, encouraging news from the Manitoba wheat field as to condition of winter wheat and the seeding for spring wheat, further data as to crop prospects in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas all contributed momentum to the stock market, vim to the iron and steel business and inspired confidence in all lines of traffic.

In financial affairs there was but little change; it is steady progress toward better prices, with money still easy and likely to continue so.

Stocks are strongly held for even higher prices than the full values they now command. Bonds are easily placed and our railway systems are now real favorites with investors, as they feel that transportation will continue profitable and insure steady interest and higher prices for the securities later on.

The news of idle furnaces and mills resuming operations, of thousands of men being added weekly to the industrial payrolls, of resumption of work upon uncompleted railway extensions, improvements and facilities; of new constructions contracted for—these are all features of the past two months, and they continue with each week, and their aggregate now has sent the total volume of our business affairs beyond the good records of 1906.

Signs of Depression.

There is no longer, anywhere in this country, any evidence of continued depression; every line of industrial and commercial affairs is steadily, solidly and surely growing better, and if our cotton, corn and wheat crops but give average annual returns this year the autumn and winter will break every record our affairs have ever made.

This week I have interviewed many heavy dealers in builders' supplies, and they inform me that current business is far better than they anticipated some months ago, while the prospects for the summer, autumn and winter have never been equaled.

Orders for material in many lines are beyond the normal output, which means future delivery, for stocks, in the majority of instances are at a minimum. As one brick manufacturer put it: "April was the best month for orders we ever had. May orders already exceed our monthly output and the new business being negotiated is the heaviest we ever encountered. This all means we must double our capacity at once."

The building record for 1909 to April 30 in New York city never was equaled, save in 1901, and prominent operators, exceedingly well informed, say that 1909 will eclipse all preceding years in the number of buildings erected as well as in the total value of the improvements.

The building permits granted since Jan. 1 in this city carry an aggregate stated value of upward of $26,000,000. This is for improvements alone, not taking into consideration the value of the real estate.

Imports Are Increasing.

These activities are giving employment to many thousands of men who last year were upon the idle lists or those of the half-time rolls. While the ocean freights have been very low in the tonnage for two years, the imports are increasing and the fall shipments in exports are expected to call to the docks thousands of additional stevedores or longshoremen.

There is not only no cessation in the matter of tunnels, bridges, surface lines and other facilities for transportation under, through and over the city, but those which have been placed in operation have proved so successful that there is a multiplication of efforts to obtain concessions to construct others.

The future growth of the city is being measured with more accuracy and calculation for a longer period of time than was done ten years ago.

The transformation that has been effected by the tunnels and the electric railway lines can now be clearly appreciated, while ten years ago it was a surmise and could not be foreseen in all its magnitude by the most progressive intellects.

Ten years ago a city of 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 of population was the maximum to be provided for in the estimate of managers of public utilities at that time.

The managers of today know that within twenty years the city and suburbs that have to be treated as city will run above 10,000,000 in number of inhabitants.

Despite the lead of London at present, it is believed that within two decades New York will exceed her in inhabitants, area, and by far in number of people entering the city daily for transaction of affairs.

Activity is the feature of American life, and it is this coming and going not only of those who reside within the city limits, but the daily thronging to the cities of those who domicile in the suburbs and at even farther distant points.

New York city today is the magnet of the masses of the population of New England, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

They fill the railway trains and throng the stores, streets and hotels.

New York Their Mecca.

If the roll of the active business men of Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Trenton, Newark, New Haven, Providence, Wilmington, Baltimore and Washington was called daily, it would be surprising the percentage of each city that would be reported as in New York.

Of those of Buffalo, Albany, Rochester, Elmira, Syracuse and Troy, this city is their headquarters and they shuttle back and forth almost daily.

A telegram from Pittsburg reports that the Pennsylvania Railway company has decided to send a special train with leading officials to determine where certain improvements shall be made. The Pennsylvania is ready to expend several millions of dollars in increasing and improving the facilities, and it is said the coke regions will be given special attention.

The improvements west of Pittsburg, which were suddenly checked by the panic, will be resumed, and, with the usual foresight of President McCrea, now that depression is over, his system will be as rapidly as possible put into full efficiency to take care of the immense traffic the good times are sure to bring to it.

It is computed here that the railway new construction in the United States for 1909 and 1910 will be more than double the new mileage of 1907 and 1908. The great majority of this will be in the South and trans-Mississippi, but as all the tools and machinery and the greater part of the material will be furnished by the North and East, this additional work will benefit the entire country.

The Rocky Mountain states, through their development in agriculture, as well as in minerals, are each day becoming a more powerful factor in the general welfare.

The lesson of this last panic should not be forgotten by the people of the industrial East and Middle West.

The basis of their prosperity is the prosperity of the other sections of the country.

Grand Master Here.

Fidelity lodge, No. 105, A. O. U. W., last night entertained Grand Master Workman W. L. Comstock of Mankato and Grand Secretary C. E. Larson of St. Paul, and a large delegation of visiting members from St. Paul. The visit here of the officers of the state organization and some of the out-of-town members was merely a social one.

Grand Master Workman Comstock gave an address at the Maccabee hall, where the social session was held. He will return to Duluth some time in July, when a big meeting of the order will be held. It is expected that Supreme Master Workman Narvis of Iowa will be present at that time.

POWER FOR RED WING

May Be Transmitted From Eau Claire and Menomonie.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 21.—The transmission of electrical current from Eau Claire and the Menomonie to the city of Red Wing, Minn., is fast assuming definite shape, and in the course of a short period a contract will likely be entered into by the local power company.

Representatives from the city of Red Wing were in Eau Claire Wednesday conferring with the officials of the Chippewa Valley Railway, Light & Power company on the feasibility of transmitting power from the plants at Menomonie and Eau Claire to that city. They want enough power to furnish all the industries at Red Wing as well as for lighting purposes, both business and residence districts.

Among the representatives from Red Wing were City Attorney Diepenbrock, Alderman W. C. Krise and two prominent manufacturers, C. L. Bremer and C. A. Bethge. The party went over the plant in this city and in the afternoon made the trip to Menomonie where the plant there was examined.

America has now triumphed over Egypt and India in holding what will soon be the largest irrigated tract of desert land in the world. This is what is known as the Twin Falls country in Idaho. The ultimate area under irrigation, when the entire Twin Falls project shall have been completed, will be 1,350,000 acres.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

If an old sore existed simply because the flesh was diseased at that particular spot, it would be an easy matter to apply some remedy directly to the place that would kill the germs; or the diseased flesh might be removed by a surgical operation and a cure effected. But the very fact that old sores resist every form of local or external treatment, and even return after being cut away, shows that back of them is a morbid cause which must be removed before a cure can result. Just as long as the pollution continues in the blood, the ulcer remains an open cesspool for the deposit of impurities which the circulation throws off. S. S. S. cures Old Sores by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of impurity and taint from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. When S. S. S. has cleansed the blood, the sore begins to heal, and it is not a surface cure, but the healing process begins at the bottom; soon the discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, and the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. Nerve and the Directoire

A prominent writer says: "You will need all your assurance the first time you walk out in your new gown." She means you will have to know you are absolutely fit, or you will not be able to wear it with seatisfaction. If you are too fat this assurance will be lacking, for if the directoire reveals anystout ladies are in duty bound, out of respect to their own peace of mind, to reduce—and reduce quickly—for time is short.

Exercising and dieting being out of the question as too tiresomely long winded and not desirable anyway as a sure means of reduction, the question arises, how shall any except very slim ladies fit themselves to wear the new mode with the necessary assurance. The answer is Marmola—½ ounce, no more, no less, mixed with ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces Peppermint Water; all of which any druggist will supply for a small sum.

This pleasant mixture helps nature to take off fat quickly, many losing a pound a day, and yet owing to the domestic character of its ingredients, it can do no harm. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime and test for yourself the truth of the statement that with Marmolo alone one can reduce any time as much or little as desired without fear of causing either wrinkles or stomach trouble. It provides the means whereby you can train down to the mode without interference to your diet or your habits.

TROUBLED WITH MICE

Feasting on Valuable Documents in Capitol at Washington.

Democratic Member From Birmingham in an Interesting Position.

Washington, May 21.—The nation's capital is having a sort of lion and mouse experience, with some variations. The mice are as real as the hero, or was it a heroine of the fable, and if there is any question of the fact that the United States senate can play the part of the lion, the questioner is referred to an eminent faunal naturalist recently arrived at Mombasa in Africa. In this present case there is no natural understanding between the lion and the mouse. Far from it. A little while ago it was the rats who were giving the senators trouble, by swarming from the capitol over the new office building. The rats, it was found, scurried through the subway. Now it is the mice that are making grief about the capitol. The great senate document room is not immune, and the mice get in there and feast on documents that it may have cost tens of thousands of dollars to produce. The room of the committee on privileges and elections is also overrun with mice. Traps have been bought and the war of extermination will soon begin.

If the Democrats should carry the next house of representatives, as they expect to do, Oscar W. Underwood, of Birmingham, Ala., would be chairman of the committee on ways and means, if he should be re-elected, as he probably would be. If the Democrats carry the house, they will do it on the tariff issue, and there would thus be presented the interesting spectacle of a Democratic ways and means committee, pledged to the immediate making of a Democratic tariff measure, headed by a man from Birmingham. If Birmingham stands for anything, on either side of the continent, it is the supremacy of manufacturing interests. Mr. Underwood in truth has confided to some of his friends that he might endanger his political life by his stands for real tariff revision, but he would go through with it. Free traders in congress regard him as a protectionist, and protectionists regard him as a free trader, in many cases. Mr. Underwood himself, in a recent speech, declared that he was a Democrat, a believer in tariff for revenue, with the duties so distributed that, incidentally, they should encourage American industry. This is rather a popular Democratic attitude nowadays.

Underwood is widely accounted the handsomest man in congress. He is 46 years old, born in Kentucky, educated in Virginia, a Southerner and an aristocrat in every inch of him, and has been eight or nine times elected to the house from the Birmingham district. He is looked upon as one of the most promising pieces of senatorial timber in the house. He is an excellent speaker and debater, a fine parliamentarian, a good lawyer, and despite his local interests at Birmingham, which makes his pathway as a tariff revisionist thorny, he has been so absolutely loyal to the leadership of Champ Clark that he commands the latter's complete confidence.

Private John Allen of Mississippi visited the scenes of his congressional triumphs recently, and while in Washington was constantly the center of a group of friends, for there have been few men in congress with a wider circle of friends than this gentleman from Tupelo. Mr. Allen was asked if he was practicing law. "I am, a little," said the former congressman. "I practice a little law and farm more. I have a big farm, and I enjoy it." "Are the joys of farming greater than the joys of congress?" "They are; much greater."

Discussing Canada's future, John MacDonald of Toronto, who recently visited Washington, said that in the best interests of Britain and the United States, and especially of Canada, annexation should never come to pass. "The United States statesmen of today are face to face with problems that may tax their ingenuity to solve," continued Mr. MacDonald. "Each nation furnished the other with models, examples to be reproduced or avoided, as the case may be; each is an inspiration to the other, whereas, if all were one, there would be mere growth of power, gradually becoming centralized, until in a few generations disruption would surely follow.

"In the interests of each, annexation should be avoided. Suppose, for example, that a Japanese and Chinese war with the United States, now a mere hypothesis, should become a reality. Would the United States be stronger or weaker with Canada annexed or separated? Annexed, the scene might not interest European nations to the extent of interfering to save the situation.

"Meantime, the energetic Mongolian might, in his own inimitable manner, obtain foothold on the Pacific slope, destroy the railway bridges, tunnels, and passes across the great tableland, as well as the American fleet, and remain in absolute possession, free from possible attack by the entire forces of the United States. Thus the Pacific could easily be made a Mongolian sea and the mountain passes the boundary line.

"But with Canada in full partnership with Great Britain, and her colonies, the British empire would not permit her Western coast to become oriental; nor would Australian and New Zealand shores be permitted to be so conquered. Thus, the United States would, in the independent alliance with Great Britain and her colonies, be infinitely more powerful than were Canada annexed."

Vice President Sherman occasionally leaves the chair of the presiding officer of the senate, and sits down in one of the seats on the floor, listening to the proceedings and discussions, while the president pro tem wields the gavel.

This is a new departure for the vice president, at least in recent years. Vice President Fairbanks never did it. He was either in his chair as presiding officer—and he was generally there—or else he retired from the senate chamber. Mr. Sherman, however, has brought the senate the practice of the house, where Speaker Cannon often leaves the chair and takes a seat among the members.

Where Credit Is Due.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I read in The Herald a few days ago a story about a boat with a broken shaft in the center of the loneliest part of the South Atlantic, and how, after the repairs were made, the captain got all the credit. Don't you think the chief engineer and his help ought to get some credit for the work they did? SECOND MATE.

OLIVE LOGAN'S FATE.

Authoress Lived in Clover for Time —No Pauper's Burial.

London, May 21.—There were a good many pathetic circumstances connected with the death of Olive Logan. When her fame and prosperity in America as a writer of books and plays and as a newspaper contributor began to wane, Lady Cook was attracted by her and brought her over to England as a kind of companion and secretary. For a while Mrs. Logan lived in clover and did a little writing for the London papers, but in the last year it became apparent that her mind was not as good as it had been, and she gradually disappeared from the Lyceum club and the other haunts of American women writers in London.

Early in the year Lady Cook went to Paris, leaving Mrs. Logan provided for in rooms in Ladbrooke Crescent. It soon became apparent, however that the once brilliant writer was not in a condition to take care of herself. She was found in the streets at one time arrayed only in a dressing gown, and had manifested other signs of being irresponsible. Her landlady became alarmed and called in an examiner in lunacy and it was decided to take Mrs. Logan to an asylum, where she died.

It was supposed at first that Mrs. Logan was penniless, but it was discovered on removing her to the asylum that she had a modest sum to her credit in the bank, and the story that she was given a pauper's funeral is not true.

SCALDED MAN BROUGHT TO HOSPITAL AT BRAINERD.

Brainerd, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas E. Canan, who was badly scalded about the legs and feet at Jamestown last week, was brought to the Northern Pacific hospital yesterday. He was accompanied to the hospital by J. P. Early, formerly of this city. Mr. Canan was burned on both legs from the knees down and on his right arm. While not dangerous, the burns are very painful, and he will be laid up for a week or more.

APPEALS FOR PROTECTION.

Threats Received By Judge Williams Who Sentenced the Boyles.

Mercer, Pa., May 21.—Judge A. W. Williams, who heard the case of the Royle kidnapers and who gave them such severe sentences, has been compelled to appeal to the town authorities to protect him and his family, as well as his property from destruction.

He has received so many threatening letters since the sentencing of the Boyles that the nerve of the jurist appears to have weakened. He has asked that an officer be placed on guard at his home during his absence for a few days now and it is understood that a private detective has been sent with the judge to Niagara Falls for a short time. Judge Williams has been threatened with awful death if he does not have the Boyle case reopened.

DEAF AND DUMB GROOM

And Tongue-Tied Bride "Pinched" for Being Too Noisy.

Kansas City, Mo., May 21.—Married after an acquaintance of one week, Ben Green, deaf and dumb, and Eliza Reamer, tongue-tied, will have to appear in the municipal court on a charge of disturbing the peace. They quarreled violently after arriving here from Lawrence, Kan., and made too much noise. They were married in Lawrence. They met a week ago in Wichita, and it was a case of love at first sight. The husband was unable to find work, and trouble resulted.

PUBLIC TO SEE

Wright's Aeroplane in Flight When President Awards Medals.

Washington, May 21.—Arrangements are being made for a public exhibition by the two Wright brothers in their aeroplane in Washington on the morning of June 10, preceding the presentation to them at the White House by President Taft of the medals awarded by the Aero Club of New York.

It is probable the flight will take place on the White House lot in the rear of the executive mansion. The site, however, will depend upon the pleasure of the Wrights.

The event will be under the auspices of the newly organized Aero Club of Washington, of which Thomas F. Walsh is president.

"OLD SLEUTH" LIGHTNING.

Bolt Struck Man and Revealed His Identity to Police.

Lima, Ohio, May 21.—George Gatton, who was struck by lightning last Saturday afternoon during the heavy electrical storm, is wanted by the authorities of Putnam county, and a warrant was dug up at the police headquarters when it was found Gatton was really the man wanted. Previous to the time of his injury, police were unable to locate him, but it was found that he had been working at the Snyder brickyard for some time. He probably will recover and will be arrested as soon as able to be removed from the city hospital.

La Crosse, Wis., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Duluth won from the local team yesterday, 5 to 1. It was rather a slow game with Duluth playing good ball and the locals performing very badly, having a total of four errors to their credit, or, rather, to their discredit, at the end of the session.

Duluth got its first score in the first inning. Lett was doing the pitching for the locals, and he was very indiscreet. He issued a pass to every man who came to bat, and it was his undoing. He was yanked from the box and Schardt went in to finish the game. He was somewhat wild, but managed to get away with his work pretty well until the seventh inning. That was a dark period for him, and Duluth got three runs.

Al Cummings, who is a great favorite with the fans up Duluth way, where he lives, was in the box for Duluth, and he was steady and effective all the way through.

La Crosse got its only score in the eighth, being aided and abetted by O'Brien's error, the only one Duluth made. Score:

GIRLS BEG ON STREETS

Little Tots Telling Story of Poverty, Seek Alms Here.

Declare Their Mother Sent Them Out to Collect Money.

Saying their mother sent them out to beg alms for the family, two little girls, Bessie and Lauretta Lavoy who reside at 617 Weeks avenue, Superior, are trudging up and down the streets of Duluth, enlisting financial aid of any one who will listen to their story of poverty and hard luck or will read it in the fly-leaf of the grimy book in which they ask the almsgivers to sign their names.

Bessie is 9 years old, and Lauretta is 11. They were here all day, and there seemed to be many names in their little book. They tackled everybody who gave them an opportunity, entering many office buildings and stores, importuning the workers for money.

They are bright-looking little girls, and they look as if poverty hung over their home. That is what the story of their case, written in misspelled English in their little red book, says.

According to their story, the girls' father ran away, leaving their mother with herself and five children to support. A boy 12 years of age is the eldest child.

The mother, they say, takes in washing and does other tasks which fall her way, but that the meager earnings are insufficient to keep the wolf out of the yard, so she sends Bessie and Lauretta out with their little red book to win quarters and dimes from strangers who hear their tale and do not have the heart to turn the tots away empty-handed.

The little girls say they find Duluth a better place to gather the stray shekels than their home city.

LINE STEAMER IS FREE

from the shore. When they reached the borders of the ice field a tug took them aboard.

The heavy eastern squall, which set in last night, broke up the ice pack and enabled the Mongolian to shake herself free. All night there was constant connection in the great field, the big bergs twisting and turning, while the pressure on the steamer was greater than ever before.

Dawn revealed open water within a few miles of the steamer. A little later a lead opened out through which the Mongolian steamed to comparatively safe waters. For the first hour or two it was slow work, as the ice was still heavy and continually driving in on the steamer. On getting further off shore the floes opened out more, and at 8 a. m. with fairly clear water, the Mongolian swung around and headed down the coast and around Cape Spear in the direction of Bay Bulls. It was thought at first that the Mongolian might try to run in Petty harbor, five miles south, but her captain decided to keep on the more sheltered harbor of Bay Bulls, where it is expected that the steamer will remain until the mouth of St. Johns harbor is cleared of ice.

In shipping circles the release of the Mongolian is looked upon as particularly fortunate as the conditions last night were very threatening and any easterly gale would have seriously injured the vessel.

STANDARD OIL TRUST LABOR HALTS DURING THE ROGERS FUNERAL

ident of the company, and one of the men who had helped materially to make it a great organization. Orders had been issued last night that all operations of the company should cease between 10 and 12 o'clock, and these applied to every one of the 67,000 employes—a condition which had not existed in the giant corporation since its foundation, more than thirty-five years ago.

John D. Rockefeller could not attend the funeral, as he is in Hot Springs, Va., with Mrs. Rockefeller, whose convalescence from a severe illness would not permit him to leave her. He sent, however, a long telegram to Mrs. Rogers, expressing his grief.

The funeral cortege left the Rogers home at 3 East Seventy-eighth street at 9:30 a. m. and proceeded to the Church of the Messiah in East Thirty-fourth street, where Rev. Robert Collyer, pastor emeritus, conducted the funeral service according to the Unitarian forms.

During the services a quartet from the Mendelssohn Glee club sang several selections, including the hymns of "Lead, Kindly Light," "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "Abide With Me."

On the list of pallbearers were the names of William Rockefeller, John D. Archbold, E. T. Bedford and James A. Moffett of the Standard Oil company; Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), E. H. Harriman, Elbert H. Gary, Melville E. Stone, James M. Beck, John D. Ryan, Charles A. Peabody, George W. Perkins, Dr. C. C. Rice, Raymond Dupuy, Gen. James Jourdan and Col. A. G. Payne.

The Lotos club, of which Rogers was a member, sent a number of members to the services, and a special delegation from the Norfolk, Va., board of trade, who were interested with Mr. Rogers in the building of his Virginia railroad.

Following the services in the Church of the Messiah the body was taken to the Grand Central station and placed on board a special train which left for Fairhaven, Mass., at 11:15.

The observances in the Church of the Messiah were exceedingly simple and followed closely the ordinary customs of the Unitarian church. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer, the venerable pastor emeritus of the congregation, who had known Mr. Rogers for many years.

"It is no time for a sermon," said Dr. Collyer, "only for some words about a dear friend."

Dr. Collyer spoke in a voice choking with emotion at times as he referred to the numerous incidents which occurred during his long friendship with the dead man.

"I found him one of the truest men I ever met in my life."

"He was ever quietly and generously charitable, always doing good things through others and avoiding the publicity of his biggest acts."

Refers to Benefactions.

Mr. Rogers' many benefactions to his home town at Fairhaven, Mass., were referred to by Dr. Collyer. The splendid church Mr. Rogers had built there to the memory of his mother—the church in which services will be held tomorrow—was also feelingly spoken about. "He was a mother's boy," said Dr. Collyer, "and seldom let more than a few weeks slip by without visiting her in Fairhaven. He told me once that the sweetest memory of his life was the remembrance of the light in the window which always welcomed him home to his wife and child when he first went into the oil regions of Pennsylvania."

Mr. Collyer spoke of the dead man's great fondness for children and said the school children in Fairhaven all had loved him.

"How glad I am to say these things about him because you all, many of you, have been his neighbors and business associates," said Dr. Collyer, and in conclusion said:

"The memory of his friendship will grow sweeter as the years pass by and the good things he has done will never be forgotten."

One hundred officers and employes of the Standard Oil company attended the church services in a body. Among the well-known men present were William Rockefeller, Percy Rockefeller, Dallas B. Pratt, Anthony N. Brady, Nathan Straus, George F. Baker and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Tank Wagons Pause.

Chicago, May 21.—Between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock this forenoon, while the funeral of H. H. Rogers was being held at New York, the vast machinery of the Standard Oil company in this city and at Whiting, Ind., ceased to move. Hundreds of employes ceased work for the hour. Tank wagons, acting under instructions, promptly at 9 o'clock halted wherever they happened to be, and did not move on until the hour had passed.

FIVE GOVERNORS TO ATTEND THE OPENING.

Seattle, Wash., May 21.—Five governors from the Pacific coast have accepted invitations to participate in the opening day ceremonies at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. They are M. E. Hay of Washington, J. H. Brady of Idaho, William Spry of Utah, F. W. Benson of Oregon and Gillett of California.

NOME'S '09 GOLD OUTPUT ESTIMATED AT $5,000,000.

Seattle, Wash., May 21.—Nome's gold output this year will be approximately $5,000,000, according to a statement made by Jafet Lindenburg, one of the pioneers of the Nome district, who is in Seattle. Mr. Lindenburg said it is possible to make a fairly accurate forecast this early in the season, although the cleanup of the boxes will not be taken until about the first of July. The gold output this year will be little if any greater than last year.

URGES AMERICA TO BOOST PEACE

Lake Mohonk Arbitration Conference Adopts a Platform.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., May 21.—The following platform of the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration was adopted today:

"The fifteenth annual Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, meeting on the tenth anniversary of the opening of the first Hague conference, reviews with profound satisfaction the signal advance of the cause of international justice in the decade, a progress unexampled in any previous period in history. The memorable achievements of this period are at once an inspiration and an imperative call to renewed effort.

"We urge upon our government, which has been so conspicuously and so honorably identified with the progressive policies of The Hague, prompt action toward perfecting important measures there inaugurated and the complete development of the system of arbitration. We especially urge its early initiative in the establishment of the international court of arbitral justice.

"We further urge the negotiation of a general treaty of arbitration between all nations, and look forward with increasing hope to the day when treaties of arbitration shall provide for the reference to The Hague of all international differences not settled by regular diplomatic negotiation.

"The clear logic of The Hague conventions prescribes the limitation and gradual reduction of the machinery of war by the nations parties to those conventions, corresponding to the development of the instrumentalities of law and justice for the settlement of international differences. The great armaments of the nations, whose intolerable burdens prompted the call of the first Hague conference, have in the decade increased so portentiously as to have now become, as recently declared by the British foreign secretary, a satire upon civilization. They fill the world with apprehension and alarm; they create an atmosphere unfavorable to the system of arbitration and their demands upon the resources of the people have become so exhausting as to menace all national treasuries and disastrously check the social reforms and advances which the interests of humanity demand. It is the opinion of this conference that the time has arrived for carrying into effect the strongly expressed desire of the peace conferences at The Hague that the governments examine the possibility of an agreement as to the limitation of armed forces by land and sea, and of war budgets, and address themselves to the serious study of this pressing question. Accordingly we ask our government to consider whether the peculiar position which it occupies among the nations does not afford it a special opportunity to lead the way toward making those weighty declarations a basis of public and concerted action."

DAILY PRIZES ARE POPULAR

Duluth Children Entering the Contest With Eagerness.

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

For the best pictures of cows—First prize of $2, William Wilbur 120 North Twentieth avenue west; second prize of $1, Lydia S. Weeks of 2305 West Eleventh street and Arthur W. Stevenson of 5719 Oneida street.

The daily prizes to the boys and girls of Duluth are the things that are attracting the most attention all over the city, and the little folks under 12 years are drawing pictures of cows and the older boys and girls are writing letters, and very good letters they are too. The prizes of real money, which of course are the very best kind, because then a fellow can buy what he chooses himself, are being paid every day and will be for a month.

The conditions are very simple and every boy and girl may try every day if he wants to.

Remember the conditions: Write a letter about Borden's Peerless Evaporated Milk, enclose with it the coupon from The Herald and a label from a can of Borden's Peerless Evaporated Milk and mail it all to The Contest Editor of The Herald. Then watch the paper the next day to see if you are one of the prize winners.

The boys and girls of less than 12 years may draw a picture of a cow and send it with a coupon and label to The Contest Editor to win their prizes.

Be sure that you observe every one of the rules.

It was so hard to decide which were the best cows, in yesterday's contributions that The Contest Editor decided to award two second prizes and the extra prize of $1 was given to Arthur W. Stevenson, 8 years old.

JAP LAWMAKERS HELD IN TOILS

Sugar Scandal Grows; Twenty Members of Parliament Arrested.

Tokio, Monday, April 19.—Day by day the scope of what is now known as the sugar scandal increases and the arm of the law is being stretched into places high and low to arrest and expose those responsible for the most flagrant series of irregularities ever brought to light in Japan. Aroused by public sentiment the government authorities are leaving no stone unturned and showing no mercy in the exposé. One member of parliament after another is placed under arrest. The Constitutional party, which carried everything before it in the last session of the diet, has been the chief sufferer and will find it extremely difficult to rally under the blow. There have been arrested so far twenty members of parliament and six directors of the company. A determined effort has been made for the last two sessions of the diet to nationalize the sugar company, that is to say, to get the government to take it over from the stockholders. It appears from confessions alleged to have been made by directors that in order to bring this about a sum of $60,000 was spent in bribery and the names of some fifty members of parliament, is is understood, have been mentioned in this connection. Even the upper house suffered a certain loss of prestige.

TRYING TO FIX THE BLAME

Inspectors Investigating Recent Boiler Explosion on Hoyt.

An examination into the cause of the accident to the steamer James H. Hoyt is being held in the steamboat inspector's office in Cleveland today. Capt. James Stone, supervising inspector, is conducting the examination of witnesses.

The Marine Engineers' Beneficial association is represented at the hearing. The Hoyt had been inspected and pronounced safe just before the accident occurred, and there is considerable difference of opinion as to where the blame should be placed.

At the preliminary hearing a few days ago, experts called to testify as to the probable cause of the accident stated that the metal had the appearance of having been overheated, and that such might result from low water in the boiler. They gave as their best opinion that low water caused the explosion.

The Hoyt is owned by the Provident Steamship company, of which A. B. Wolvin of Duluth is president.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

If there is a woman in Duluth who would be pleased to volunteer to do a part of the weekly mending, patching and darning at the Children's home, she is courteously requested to communicate with the president of the home board, Mrs. T. J. Davis of 1601 London road, or on the Zenith 'phone, 102.

To those who think of it for the first time, the weekly mending for a family of seventy-five is something appalling. And it is, in truth, just that, especially when regarded not as a good day's work in itself, but something to be taken up while the assistants at the home "rest themselves."

With so many demands on the funds that are available, it is impossible to keep one woman on the payroll whose duties shall be exclusively the mending for the children, and with the many other things that are to be done, the matron and her assistants find it difficult to get this necessary work done.

During the last few weeks a number of the church organizations have set aside a day during the month, and have met at the home to contribute their time and work for this purpose. The first volunteers were the members of the West Duluth W. C. T. U., and yeoman service they did that first afternoon. Since then two circles of the Pilgrim Congregational church have given their services on two afternoons, as have the members of the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian church.

Other volunteer societies will be welcomed to the list.

PRESENT OPERETTA.

Mrs. Stocker's Work Is Delightfully Given.

The vocal and piano pupils of Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker and Miss Stocker appeared in a musicale and operetta last evening, before a large audience at the Lyceum. The recital preceded the operetta, and the pupils were most cordially received. Miss Grace Wright, Dwight Hiestand, Miss Elizabeth Maddox and Mrs. W. C. Winton sang with the finish of professional concert artists. Miss Ora Wallen and Mrs. T. G. Bartholomew showed a little less freedom, but both possess voices of much beauty. The work of Marion Brown and Margaret Grannis showed the greatest advance since the last pupils' recital in February.

Miss Stocker has reason to be proud of the work of her piano pupils. They all played well, from the little tots, Dorothea Engel and Margaret Craig, to the larger pupils, Norman Cook and Seymour Sherwood. Helen French was the plaistic star of the evening, and her numbers, "Loure," by Bach, and "Au Rouet," by Godard, were received with a storm of applause. A vocal solo by Miss Maddox, "The Cuckoo Song," was also enthusiastically received.

Mrs. Stocker's operetta, "Beulah," was an elaborate production in two acts. It was prettily staged and costumed, and was so well received that it will probably be repeated later. The music and libretto are from Mrs. Stocker's pen, and there was much interest in the production, chorus and principals all did exceedingly well, especially Miss Evelyn Greenfield, who was charming in the title role. Miss Isabel Pearson as accompanist was excellent support to the people on the stage.

ABOUT SKOVGAARD.

Danish Violinist to Appear in Concert.

Skovgaard, the Danish violin virtuoso, who will appear in concert Sunday evening at Flaaten's auditorium, first came to this country to accept the position of concert-meister with the New York Symphony orchestra under Walter Damrosch. It is now his pleasure, however, to engage in a more notable personal career as soloist at the head of his own company.

Skovgaard was a favorite pupil of Joachim, the world's greatest violinist. He studied previously for many years with Carl Blair and Emanuel Wirth. He began to study the violin at the age of 4, toured the Scandinavian peninsula as a child-wonder at the age of 9, was concert-meister with the Philharmonics of Copenhagen at 15; toured England, Germany and France as soloist with the Meininger Holf-Kapelle at 19, and a little later visited the capitals of Europe as soloist with Sendig, Paderewski, Julius Roentgen and other noted artists.

Music is a passion with Skovgaard. Gifted with a poetic temperament and intellectual personality, he possesses the rare gifts of depth of comprehension and delicacy of coloring.

With such masterpieces of the Brahm's Concerto, the Beethoven Kreutzer Sonata and Mendelssohn's Concerto, he has won distinction of the highest order.

Skovgaard's violin was made by Antonius Stradivarius. The varnish is as bright and polished as if applied by the hands of its skillful maker but yesterday, and yet it is one of the oldest, as well as the most expensive violins in existence.

FINISHING SCHOOL

And What It Does For the American Girl.

At 7 o'clock the young ladies arise—but you can get an 8 o'clock dispensation, if you know how, writes Reginald Wright Kauffman in Hampton's Magazine for June, in an article on "Our Undisciplined Daughters." Dejeuner is served an hour later and there are prayers at 9. By mid-morning the lessons are begun, with a recess for fencing or gymnasium work, and beef tea and sandwiches at 11:30. A ride through the country frequently precedes the 2 o'clock luncheon, and a half hour for a nap always follows it. Between 4 and 5 o'clock there is a little otherwise unoccupied time which is devoted to a lesson or two more, and afternoon tea is scarcely over before preparations must start for dinner, to which none may descend without gowns of the sort socially prescribed. Lights are supposed to be extinguished at 10 and are never relit for a "fudge party" before 12.

On one evening in a fortnight your daughter may receive a properly recommended caller, if any is courageous enough to brave the supervision of a formidable chaperon, and every ten or twelve days a few of the sort of youth who don't part their hair are corralled for a dance at which the frigid formality of the etiquette outdoes a reception at the court of Spain. Lastly, on Saturday mornings, "the girls may meet for their sewing," while a teacher reads to them; but as a pupil's scholastic standing suffers if she does not "send her mending out," the attendance at these seances is generally slim.

I have intimated that these young persons are, as a class, familiar with the matrimonial records of the stage. Matrimonial records! What, one may now well inquire, is to be the matrimonial record of girls thus almost literally "finished?" It is a legitimate question, I take it, because even if marriage and motherhood are not the sole destiny of a woman, they are at least important enough factors in that destiny to deserve some consideration at the hands of those instructors who have in charge the shaping of her character to the mold of life. I have been at pains to collect some data and to draw some inferences therefrom.

Let us be just to the finishing school. It does make, in most cases, precisely what it promised to make of the general run of pupils who attend it. If your daughter is to inherit millions and you want her to be a typical woman of wealth, you could educate her in no better fashion. Nay, more: if you think the girl has a fair chance, poor as you yourself may be, of bagging a millionaire for a husband, you may rest easy in the certitude that the finishing school is the only place to train her for that station in life to which it will most likely please him to call her.

SUNDAY FOR REST.

No White House Social Affairs That Day.

Women in Washington are beginning to regret the introduction of the Sunday entertainment, for the round of social activity in the capital now counts seven days in the week.

It is said that Mrs. Taft is frowning upon the practice.

The innovation began with the diplomatic set, and was encouraged by Mrs. Perry Belmont and Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt and other New York women who spend part of each season in Washington.

Then Mrs. John R. McLean conceived the idea of Sunday breakfasts at Friendship, her place, ten miles from the city, and society suddenly found it had practically resigned its Sunday to social duties as exacting as those on other days of the week.

Clergymen preached against the tendency from the pulpit, but the entertainments were kept up. Now, however, several prominent women have taken the situation in hand and promise to restore Sunday to its old quiet and restful inactivity.

Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, wife of the secretary of the navy, is one of the leaders in the fight, and she has a strong ally in Mrs. James Bryce, wife of the British ambassador.

Mrs. Taft has made known her opposition to Sunday entertaining, it is said, and she will not hesitate to throw her influence to Mrs. Newberry and Mrs. Bryce in their attempt at reform.

TACT THE SECRET

Of All Successful and Happy Entertaining.

When inviting friends to one's house it is naturally to be supposed that it is for their pleasure, says an exchange.

No effort should be spared which may contribute to their enjoyment.

A warm welcome, a kindly greeting, a manner which shows that a hostess is sincerely glad to see her guests—these are some of the accomplishments that a hostess should try to learn.

She may give the quietest little dinner, a card party with the most inexpensive prizes, or she may do nothing more than invite a few friends in the afternoon for a cup of tea, and brew it and serve it herself, but if she is gracious, welcoming, winning in her manner, showing that she is fully compensated for any trouble she has taken by the pleasure of having her friends under her roof, they will enter into the spirit of good humor.

There will be a subtle influence which will make them happy and at ease.

Baby's Bibs.

It is the new fad of baby's mother. It is made of the same material as the gown.

It finishes the top of the new spring bodices.

It belongs with the new princess and three-piece suits.

Sometimes it is edged with embroidery or heavy applique.

Frequently, however, it has a finely worked border of scallops.

It is one of the pretty fads that are coming out for spring.

Fashionable Things.

Very dainty high collars for wear with summer shirt waists are made of all-over eyelet embroidery, sloped a little higher toward the back and firmly boned. From the front of the stock hangs a pleating of plain lawn edged with an insertion of all-over embroidery. Other stocks are made of handkerchief linen into which is set narrow insertion of cluny alternation with dots worked by hand on the linen. Pretty little tabs to match these collars are in pear-shape, scalloped around the edge and embroidered with little dots. Sometimes there are straight pleatings of the linen, finished at the bottom with pin tucks and insertions of the Cluny lace.

The shops show a great variety of beautiful colors, weaves and designs in stockings this spring, but most of them are so fanciful, that they can be worn only by extravagant dressers and only upon certain occasions. The stockings for general wear show but little change from those of former seasons.

There is but little change in gloves this season. The long sleeve of fashion has brought the short one-button and two-button gloves back to prominence and these are offered in every imaginable color or design, in every kind of material, from chamois to the finest and softest of kid.

Women's Activities.

Mrs. Rose R. Jameson of Colorado has applied for appointment as district water commissioner in Pueblo county.

The board of county commissioners certified her application, and Governor Shafroth, though expressing his surprise, declared that there seemed no good reason why a woman should not have the office, and he promised to give her application proper consideration. Mrs. Jameson is a widow, runs her own ranch and supports two small children and her aged mother.

THE EVENING STORY

A Midsummer Night

By Harlan C. Pearson.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

"All promenayde," shouted the prompter, wiping the sweat from his forehead with the back of one hand and holding a half-smoked cigar between the thumb and first finger of the other.

The two men with violins scraped away for dear life, the little fat fellow with the big bass viol sawed even more industriously, and the cornet, the trombone and the flute strained their lungs to drown out their opponents of the strings. The result was a very cataclysm of sound. O'Brien's orchestra had outdone itself.

The dancers having "promenayed" at full speed to the utmost limit allowed by the size of the pavilion, caught at its rail to steady themselves. Turning, they laughed and shouted their approval of the orchestra's endeavors until above their heads the gaudy paper lanterns, hung in long lines for fancied adornment, were stirred by the noise. Outside the tall pines stood in unmoved dignity, the darkness of their depths hardly touched by the incandescents that glittered here and there along rude paths.

Even on this hottest of summer nights it was cool out there in the blackness and on the other side of the pavilion, where the river plunged over a little fall, the air was almost chill. But not many of the dancers heeded the mute invitation of the woods and the river. For the most part they were content to spend the brief interval between the dances in quaffing cool lager with appreciative slowness from deep "schooners."

The few couples who descended the long board steps and strolled along the river bank soon seated themselves on the little scattered benches, none too large for two. All but one pair who did not stop until they had gained a point of land that jutted out into the river, where, upon the very edge an iron summer house hung above the falls. There the girl reclined comfortably in a corner and watched her companion light his pipe.

"It's nice out here, isn't it, Tim?" said she presently. "It's so cool and quiet and—everything."

"Sure it's next door to heaven; an' if you were nearer to me I could fancy the door was open."

Tim could see in the moonlight the color rise swiftly in the girl's cheeks, but she did not answer in kind the smile with which he showed his white teeth.

"You know how to say pretty things, Tim," she replied quietly. "I'm thinking you practice at it a great deal."

Tim smiled again in full appreciation of her retort, but quite undaunted by it.

"They'd be wasted on any other girl, in the lot, Annie," he said, "but when I'm with you it's as natural to say pretty things as it would be to take off my hat to the queen."

The girl flushed again, but this time she had no retort ready and the two sat in silence, looking out over the foaming rapids.

"I've had two jobs offered me since I saw you last," said Tim finally.

"You're doing well enough where you are now," replied the girl quickly. "I heard the Old Man tell Mr. Laurie yesterday that you were the best shipper they ever had. And I'll bet one of your jobs is with Dan Gile."

"So it is, Annie. How did you know? Did Maggie tell?"

"Did Maggie tell! Well, rather, not. Do you think she's fool enough to set her cap for a fellow and then go advertise it?"

Now it was Tim's turn to redden. "Aw, cut that out, Annie, there's no girl business in this. Dan's getting old and he wants somebody that he can trust to run the place. Why, this last barkeeper Dan's got, when he takes in any money he throws it up in the air. 'If ye stay up,' he says, 'ye belong to Dan; if ye come down ye belong to me.'"

Annie sniffed contemptuously. "Dan Gile's got plenty of money no barkeeper can steal from him," she said. "It's in houses and mortgages and bank books. He's got thousands of it we all know, but he's got no husband for his daughter, Maggie, and she's not so young as she'd like to be. It's five years now since she stopped giving those swell birthday parties of hers."

"Oh, I don't know!" spoke up Tim promptly, coming to the defense of the absent with chivalrous instinct and mischievous intent, "she's not so aged. There's no silver threads among the gold—"

"Red!" interjected Annie.

"Well, red, then. She laughs as often and shows as good teeth as any girl in the village. And dancing tonight I'll say for her she was as light on her feet as a feather."

"It's time you were dancing with her again if you like it so well," said Annie, springing up and starting ont of the summer house. "Let's hurry back. I should be going home now, anyway."

Tim was beside her with a restraining hand, holding hers. "Don't go yet, Annie," he pleaded; "sure I was only teasing. I'd dig in the ditch with the dagos before I'd tend bar, and you know it. But I told you I've two jobs offered me."

"And what was the other?" asked Annie, standing in the door and delighting in the grasp of Tim's powerful hand, big and warm, upon her little cold fingers.

"Killeen, the contractor, offers to take me in with him," said Tim, a touch of pride in his voice. "It'll be like learning a new trade for me, but Killeen knows the business if any man does, and he says he can put me on in time."

"Mr. Killeen's got some big jobs lately," interposed Annie appreciatively.

"That's one reason why he's willing to take me in. Killeen's not a rich man, and the last contract he got is too much for him to handle on his capital. He knows I've a little in bank, and so for the sake of the money he's willing to give me a chance."

"For the sake of the money, indeed!" exclaimed the girl. "He'll not find another such a man—" She checked herself, embarrassed by her own warmth.

"Nor I another such a girl," thought Tim, snifting the incense of her praise and laughing at himself for finding it so good.

"There's one hitch in the scheme," he said presently. "Killeen wants me to go up country and look after the quarries there, but I told him I couldn't go without I fixed things right with certain parties here."

"With the old man?" queried Annie.

"No; he's all right. I've spoken to him."

"Then maybe it's your brother Tom?"

"No, he's to have my place at the mills. The old man and Mr. Laurie were mighty good about that."

"I don't see why you should bother yourself without anyone else," said Annie, looking away from him, though, as she spoke.

Tim hesitated a moment, and when he did speak the words tumbled over each other in his haste. "It's you I want, Annie, I'll not go away unless you go with me. I can't leave you. I won't leave you. Will you go with me, Annie dear? Will you be my wife?"

Her hand trembled in his. "Are you sure you want me, Tim?" she asked.

He would have silenced her in the simple way all lovers know, but she checked him.

"Are you sure you'll never want another?" she insisted. "The love of women is in your blood, Tim. Whether it cost you dear or cost you naught you've always been ready to follow a pretty face. I couldn't stand that, Tim. It would kill me. Because—" she faltered a little—"I do love you, Tim, and—"

Tim joyously clasped her in his arms. But when she refused to meet his kisses and tried half-heartedly to release herself, he loosened his clasp and said solemnly—seldom, indeed, was Tim Foley solemn—"By the faith of God and the love of the Virgin Mary I swear to you, Annie, that I care for you as I never did or could for another woman. If I ever am unrue to you may God—"

The girl checked his words with a sudden, passionate kiss. "Don't say that, Tim," she whispered, almost voiceless with the tumult of her feelings. "Ask Him to make us always as happy as we are tonight."

WEST END BOY MISSING.

Thirteen-Year-Old Thomas McDonald Cannot Be Found.

Because of the continued absence from home of her 13-year-old son, Thomas, Mrs. J. McDonald, is grief stricken at her home, 413 Garfield avenue. The boy has mysteriously disappeared and the police are looking for him.

He was last seen at home on Tuesday night and since that his mother has been unable to locate him. He is supposed to have run away with Frank Kominski, aged 17 years, and it is thought that the two boys are westward bound.

The authorities in a number of the towns west of Duluth have been wired to be on a lookout for the runaways and it is expected that they may turn up in a few days.

Senator Works Will Speak.

"The Commission Form of Government" is the subject of an address to be delivered this evening at Sloan's Hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, by Senator S. D. Works.

CLUB IS IN NEW QUARTERS.

Twentieth Century Classes Will Have More Room Now.

The West end department of the Twentieth Century club has changed its quarteres from the basement of St. Luke's Episcopal church, where it has been established for the past two years, and has moved to 1806 West Superior street.

The growth of the classes is largely responsible for the change in location, as larger quarters were needed to accommodate the membership. At the new place there is a large reading room and a basement, which will be fitted up as a gymnasium.

A committee meeting of the West end department was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. F. L. Barrows presided.

WILL TALK OF PAVING.

Automatics have better insulation. They are better enameled. They have better shelves and superior adjustment.

The workmanship and quality throughout are better and stronger.

They have a better ice rack.

SECOND DAY OF CLEAN UP

Good Progress Being Made in Warfare on Rubbish.

School Boys Expected to Do Their Share Saturday.

This is the second of the three municipal cleaning days named by Mayor Haven, and the assaults on garbage heaps, untidy backyards and heaps of rubbish are already showing gratifying results.

Yesterday the atmosphere was rather chilly, but the coldness of the air only added an incentive to work the hoe and rake at a lively gait. The general public entered well into the spirit of the occasion, and by night good progress had been made.

Today they are at the work again, and dirtiness and untidiness are fast changing to cleanliness and tidiness. Tomorrow is the last of the three days named, and with the continuance of good weather, the city should be as clean as a pin by tomorrow night. Being Saturday, the school children will be home, and of course they will be expected to pitch in and help the campaign along.

Such of the boys who have entered the Y. M. C. A. contest, in which prizes are offered for the boys showing the neatest backyards by July 15, need no further incentive than this to work. There is quite a rivalry for the prizes, and many grown-ups are taking an interest in the contest.

POSSESSES MONOPOLY

How Duke of Bedford Taxes Food Supply of London.

Ancestors Paid $30 for Property Worth $255,000 a Year.

London, May 21.—English landlords are getting worried; particularly those holding vast estates in London. The government is said to be about to put a tax on all landed property, and London property-holders are trying to see how they can avoid their burdens. One of the most worried men in the British metropolis is the duke of Bedford, who owns 250 acres of the richest city lands on earth. His annual income has been estimated at more than $1,000,000. To the ordinary mortal, there should be no cause for anxiety with such a revenue. And yet, the duke is worried. He has sent out notices to many of his tenants that leases are not to be renewed save under exceptional circumstances.

The duke owns Covent Garden market and most of the surrounding district, to say nothing of 86,424 acres of land outside the metropolis. He recently offered his big estate known as Thorney to the government at the modest sum of $3,000,000; but, as the tax imposed by the government will knock the speculative value out of real estate for the time being, the government decided to wait for the drop in prices.

Of all the property owned by the duke, Covent Garden is the most interesting. It is the largest market in the world, and the most famous. Covent Garden supplies practically the whole of London with vegetables and is the distributing point for gargantuan supplies, which included an average of 3,000 tons of potatoes a day, 750,000 cabbages and 10,000 pecks of peas and beans.

Everything Taxed.

Every pound of this produce brings a big revenue to the personal estate of duke of Bedford, because the market, with all its "metes and bounds," belongs absolutely to him, in fee simple. His agents have an office within the precincts of the market, and they levy a tax of from 1 cent up to 5 cents on every crate, box, barrel or truckload of fruit or vegetables which passes through the greatest clearing house for farm produce in the world. The duke's income from these poundage tolls amounts to the neat sum of $125,000 a year; to say nothing of the rents which he charges for stalls and offices within the market itself, and for the ground rent on which the buildings stand. These rents have been estimated at another $100,000, which includes certain surrounding property in the immediate vicinity of the market.

Considering that the ancestors of the duke paid the small sum of a little over £6 in English money—about $30—for all the property on which the market stands, including seven acres of land nearby, known as Long Acre, the purchase of the market has not been a bad investment for the family. Just how the Bedfords originally obtained these valuable tracts of land has been described by Edmund Burke.

"The duke of Bedford," said Burke, "is the leviathan of all the creatures of the crown. The grants to the house of Bedford were enormous as not only to outrage economy, but to stagger credibility. The grants of land to the founder of the family were from the aggregated and consolidated funds of judgments iniquitously illegal, and from possessions voluntarily surrendered by their lawful proprietors with the gibbet at the door."

Thinks Idea Preposterous.

Of course, the present duke has nothing to do with the acts of his ancestors. He only collects the revenue from the estates so acquired, and, very naturally, resents the idea that the present government should step in and attempt to tax property which for so many years has remained in his peaceful possession. The notion that he should be called upon to restore to the community at large some of the property wrested in the early days from its rightful owners who gave it up to his ancestor when, as Burke says, the gibbet stood at their doors, seems preposterous.

What makes the London property owned by the duke of Bedford so valuable is the fact that under his early title deeds he possesses rights which enable him to wield a despotism over his tenants. Some time ago the London county council tried to compel the duke to render an accounting of his receipts from Covent Garden. His imposts on fruits and vegetables were so high that the council proposed to start an opposition market of its own, so that the poor of London could buy their fruits and vegetables at a cheaper price. The duke not only refused to give any accounting, but even succeeded in getting an injunction against the county council restraining it from building an opposition market within seven miles of Covent Garden.

His landed interests give him an exclusive monopoly over the market produce of London. Not only does he wield sway over the market itself, but levies a toll on all vehicles bringing produce to the market which come to rest in any street within a quarter of a mile of the market. In the early morning, nearly every street converging on the market is blocked with carts, wagons, barrows and steam lorries bringing truck from the country. Every one of these vehicles has to pay a toll to the duke for standing in the streets while waiting to be unloaded; and the consignees also have to pay an additional tax per pound on the produce itself.

Power Little Realized.

The power possessed by the duke of Bedford is little realized by the general public. In England for many years the house of lords as well as that of the commons was filled with landlords, who made laws to suit their own sweet wills. Today, much is said and written concerning the Englishman's home, but mental reservation should always be made on behalf of the superior landlord, for without his consent, no Englishman would possess a home which he could call his own. For instance, the system under which leases are granted on the duke of Bedford's London property gives to the duke absolute power over his tenants. The custom is for the duke to grant a lease for a term of years to a tenant, who, in turn, leases again to another tenant. The first tenant looks upon the duke as the ground landlord. Now, the ground landlord in England has remarkable powers. Should his ground rent not be paid at any time, he may invade the premises and seize the goods, even of the second tenant whose rent may be fully paid to the first tenant. A case illustrating this point came up two years ago, when the pictures belonging to the United Arts club, founded by J. Pierpont Morgan, Lafayette De Fries and other Americans, were seized by the ground landlord, though the club had paid its rent to the landlord holding a lease from the ground lord. But, as the ground rent had not been paid by the first lessor, the ground lord walked into the United Arts club and put a sheriff in possession. Though the arts club showed its receipts and proved that its rent had been paid in full to the landlord holding under the ground lord, the courts decided that the goods belonging to the club could be seized by the ground lord. Morgan and others were so indignant at this decision that they carried the matter to the house of lords; but lost their case, though the judge expressed his deep sympathy with the club, and regretted the condition of the English law which permitted such an injustice.

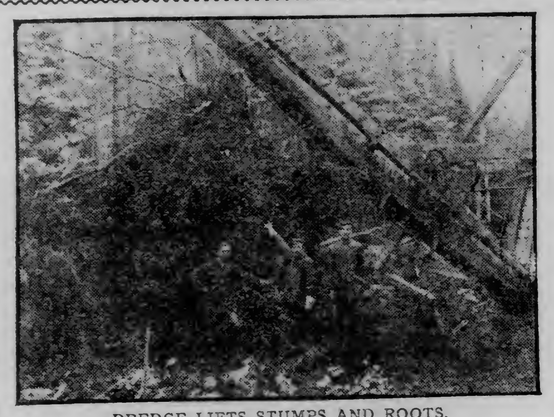
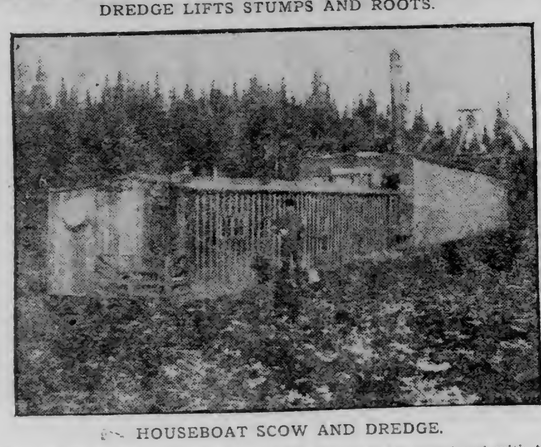
A ST. LOUIS COUNTY STATE DITCH WORK PROGRESSING



DREDGE LIFTS STUMPS AND ROOTS.



HOUSEBOAT SCOW AND DREDGE.

Eveleth, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work along the state ditches being built near here is progressing. Ward Bros., of Audubon, Iowa, have the contract for the work. As some of the work was done last year, four and one-half miles of ditch is complete. The ditch nearest Eveleth is sixteen miles south of here and runs parallel to the main line of the Missabe road for three miles. It extends nine miles out from the Big Stone lake and has two lateral ditches which extend each for two and one-half miles to the Miller trunk road. The first lateral ditch and the first section of the ditch out of the lake have been dug and the scow is now back to the intersection, from which place it will work straight to the end of the ditch. Ten men are being employed with the scow and dredge.

The ditch goes through swamps and bogs and will drain a large acreage. As the ditch is lower than the lake, the lake will be lowered four feet when the flow of water goes into the ditch. The ditch empties into the White Face river, which is crossed by the Missabe road. With the lowering of the lake considerable more acreage will be drained and much of the land which is now unsuitable for settlers will then be opened up. The county has a side contract with the contractors, by which the latter get $200 a mile for dumping all the dirt from the ditch on one side of the bank so that at any time a road can be built along side of the ditch. The same company is also digging two other ditches in this part of the state.

Construction of Steel Affair Is Expected Soon to Commence.

Biwabik, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The construction of the steel shaft house of the Bangor mine of the Pickands-Mather company will commence in a few days as the workmen are arriving to begin operations.

Drifting is in progress at the Bangor and it is expected that the workings will soon be in ore. Since the shaft was turned over to Pickands, Mather & Co., by the New York Foundation company, which put down the caisson, the development has been hazardous and difficult, but the work has progressed rapidly and without mishap.

The Bangor has about 5,000,000 tons of high grade ore and will be a consistent shipper. At present about 1,000 gallons a minute are pumped from the shaft. Powerful pumps capable of forcing 6,000 gallons a minute to the surface will be in operation when the developments are further advanced. When the ore formation is struck it is expected that the water encountered will force the pumps to be worked almost to their capacity.

NOAH DRUNKARD DECLARES ROSE

Milwaukee Mayor Also Says Prohibition Failed With Adam.

Peoria, Ill., May 21.—Arguing along the lines that prohibition does not prohibit, Mayor David S. Rose of Milwaukee, met Daniel R. Sheen before 2,000 people at the Collseum last night on the negative side of the question: "Resolved, That prohibition, as applied to the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages, is right."

The local advocate of cold water opened the debate with an address of one hour. He urged the protection of the homes, of the schools, of the churches and of the rising generation against the evils of the liquor traffic. Half of the criminals in the penitentiaries, he said, were there through the effects of alcoholic stimulants. The Almighty established prohibition first when the flow of water goes into the ditch. The ditch empties into the White Face river, which is crossed by the Missabe road. With the lowering of the lake considerable more acreage will be drained and much of the land which is now unsuitable for settlers will then be opened up. The county has a side contract with the contractors, by which the latter get $200 a mile for dumping all the dirt from the ditch on one side of the bank so that at any time a road can be built along side of the ditch. The same company is also digging two other ditches in this part of the state.

when in the garden of Eden, the speaker maintained, when Adam was prohibited from eating an apple. Since that time prohibitory legislation has been passed and had been more or less effective.

Mayor Rose argued that the Almighty's mandate regarding the apple did not prohibit Adam from eating it and argued that since that time the law as against the use of intoxicants had been no more successful. The Milwaukeean quoted scripture to support the theory that Noah had been a drunkard after leaving the ark; that the Savior drank wine as a beverage, and that down through the succeeding ages wine had been manufactured and had been drunk.

He referred at great length to the failure of the army canteen bill and in this connection said:

"You can never legislate men into morality and this whole question of temperance and of prohibition is a moral question."

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

Spread on Some Crackers—Not the Slightest Injury Resulted from Little Fellow's Escapade—In Most Positive Way Ingredients of

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment.

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chafings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; South Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, East London, etc.; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

WIDOW GETS FULL CLAIM

Recovers Total Amount Sued for From Chicago Contractors.

Jury Brings in Verdict of $5,000 for Mrs. Nichols.

Mrs. Charles C. Nichols will recover $5,000, the full amount sued for from Lindquist & Ilsley, the courthouse contractors, for the death of her husband. The jury returned a sealed verdict for that amount yesterday, and it was opened in court this morning.

In his closing argument yesterday afternoon, Attorney John Jenswold, Jr. said that life was the cheapest thing on the market. He said that when life got into court it was held cheaper than ever.

The case has been before Judge Dibell for several days.

The company endeavored to show that the man was responsible for his own death in that he had charge of the derrick that killed him.

The plaintiff claimed that the company was negligent because it did not provide a safe place to work.

The case was submitted to the jury this morning, and after but a short deliberation a verdict of $1,500 was brought in.

Hint Deposit Box for Every Theater-Goer.

In an endeavor to solve the problem of the big hat, an European theater has built a new cloakroom which has a safe deposit box for every seat. The boxes are large enough for the largest hat as well as for parcels a woman often carries with her to matinee performances. The person holding the ticket gets a key to the box, and she personally locks up the article deposited. In these modern times most people have a case of Golden Grain Belt beer in their cellar. It is excellent refreshment to have when company comes. See that you are supplied today. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

PLANS ARE ABANDONED

Curling Club Will Allow Project to Drop for Present.

Plans for a new $50,000 curling and skating rink have gone glimmering.

At the recent annual meeting of the curling club it was decided to construct a new building if the necessary funds could be raised. It was estimated that the project would cost about $50,000. The rink was to be a combined skating and curling rink, and it was to have seating accommodations sufficient to permit hockey games to be played here with the possibility of paying expenses on them.

But the project, for some reason, was not very enthusiastically received. The promoters were unable to find anyone who would subscribe for more than $25 worth of stock and these responses were so few and far between that the plan has been dropped for the time being.

It was a sad blow to the hockey enthusiasts, who have been hoping for years that a rink would be constructed here.

JUST IN TIME WITH HIS PROOF

Cripple Hobbles Into Land Office on Last Day.

Walking painfully on crutches, made necessary by an accident a few days ago that left him with a broken leg, Mortimer Shells of Cloquet came into the office of Receiver Morrison of the United States land office late yesterday afternoon, to offer proof on a stone and timber claim.

It was the last day the man had to prove up and rather than lose his claim he had braved the pain to be there on time. The claim was entered in June of last year for 160 acres, in the northern part of Cook county. Mr. Shells was much pleased that he was in time.

Directors' Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Commercial club this evening. Matters in connection with the furnishing of the new Commercial building will be considered by the directors.

The members of the various committees will be announced some time next week. It is believed that the first committee meeting will be called the last part of next week. The public affairs committee has been appointed, and as soon as the acceptances of the appointees are in the hands of the secretary of the club, the names of the committee will be made public.

WHO IS YOUR PLUMBER, JUDGE? Law Notes: In a recent case tried before him, Judge Mayes of the Mississippi supreme court remarks that "the business of plumbing is an honorable and necessary one." It is necessary all right but how about all those times the plumber has to go back to the shop after things?

CASES OF INTEREST

DIMINUTION OF EARNING CAPACITY OF TRAMP.—One of our American leisure class, with loving proclivities and a distaste for toil, having met friends, was regaled with intoxicants. Resuming his travels, he had progressed about two miles along the railroad track, when he was overcome with lethargy and drowsiness, and, having seated himself on a crosstie, soon lapsed into unconsciousness. While so seated he was struck and injured by an engine, the operatives of which had discovered him in full time to avoid the accident. The trial judge charged the jury that he would be entitled to recover just as much if he were a tramp as if he were a man a great deal different. The court of appeals of Georgia in Central of Georgia Railway company vs. Moore, 63 Southeastern Reporter, 642, held that the fact that defendant was a tramp was material, not only on the question of his credibility as a witness, but also in measuring his damages.

SALE OF LIQUOR AS CONTRARY TO WORD OF THE BIBLE.—In the endeavor to defeat the granting of a liquor license, appellant urged that the sale of intoxicating liquors to be drunk as a beverage at the place of sale was so destructive to the public health and so inherently immoral that no law upholding it was valid, either under the federal or the Connecticut Constitution. He further contended that as the people of the state, in the preamble of their Constitution gratefully acknowledge the good providence of God, in having permitted them to enjoy a free government, this is a recognition of God as the source of that government, that the Bible contains the "Word of God", that it condemns the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and therefore that the state cannot permit it on any terms. In Appeal of Allyn, 71 Atlantic Reporter, 794, the Connecticut supreme court of errors held that even when, in the early history of the state, the Bible was a rule of political government, it was never considered to contain any absolute prohibition of such a business as that for which the license now in question was granted.

NEGLIGENCE OF TELEPHONE OPERATOR CAUSING SPREAD OF FIRE.—The liability of a telephone company for failure of an operator to answer a fire call alleged to have resulted in the spread of the flames is discussed in Lebanon L. & L. Telephone company vs. Lanham Lumber company, 115 Southwestern Reporter 824. Plaintiff alleged substantially that a fire started in the boiler house at its plant; that on discovering the fire its watchman endeavored to obtain telephone connection with the fire department, but that through the negligence of defendant telephone company's operator no connection was established until the fire had spread to the other buildings, so that its efforts of the department, after arriving, were fruitless, and the plant was wholly destroyed; that if connection had been promptly established the fire company would have reached the fire at least thirty minutes sooner than they did, and before the fire had extended beyond the boiler house, and would, in such event, have been extinguished with no loss to plaintiff save a trifling damage to the boiler house. The Kentucky court of appeals holds that the complainant states no cause of action, because the facts on which a recovery is sought are too speculative and remote.

ORDINANCE PREVENTING USE OF RENTED PREMISES.—Premises, including a corridor, office bar, barber shop, cigar stand and billiard room were leased for hotel purposes. Thereafter a law was passed forbidding the sale of intoxicating liquors. The lessee claimed that he was entitled to a reduction of the rent because of his inability to further conduct the bar in the hotel. In Lawrence vs. White, 63 Southeastern Reporter, 131, the Georgia supreme court held that the mere fact that, when the tenant rented the property, it was thought that he could continue to sell liquor there would not entitle him to a proportionate abatement of the rent because the legislature subsequently prohibited its sale. The mere use of the word "bar" in the lease did not amount to a covenant or warranty that the law would continue to allow the tenant to sell liquor. It may be unfortunate for the lessee that he did not anticipate the possibility of the passage of a prohibition law and provide for such a contingency, but that he did not does not alter the contract as made.

UNION OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES.—The coalition of the Cumberland Presbyterian and the Presbyterian church in the United States has resulted in many legal controversies as to the status of the property of particular churches. The Kentucky court of appeals in Wallace vs. Hughes, 115 Southwestern Reporter, 684, after inquiry into the powers of the respective assemblies of the two branches of the organization, has sustained the union in so far as it affects property rights in that state. The action was brought by the officers and members of a local congregation of Cumberland Presbyterians to recover the church property from the defendants as trustees of the Presbyterian church. The Cumberland Presbyterian church not being congregation in form, the question as to how a particular church stood as to the union was regarded as immaterial. The power to make the change was vested in the general assembly and the presbyteries. Comparison is made between the Presbyterian constitution and the Constitution of the United States. When congress proposes an amendment to the United States Constitution and it is ratified by the legislatures of the required number of states, the people of a particular state have no voice in determining whether the amendment shall be adopted. So in this case, the union having been regularly authorized by a two-thirds vote of the general assembly, and their action having been approved by a majority of the presbyteries, it became final and was binding on all the members of the church.

INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY OF COMMITTEE OF INSANE PERSON FOR TORTS.—A question of first impression as to the individual liability of the committee of an insane person, for alleged negligence in failing to keep in repair the common passageway of rented premises, arises in Rooney vs. People's Trust company, 114 New York Supplement, 612. The suit was for personal injuries sustained by one of the tenants. The committee in exercising its authority under Code Civ. Proc. Sec. 2359, having rented the premises for less than five years without leave of court, as between it and the tenant, the relation of landlord and tenant existed. The court held that question of liability had no necessary connection with that of title, but rested entirely on the exclusive control and right of management, which became vested in the committee, subject to the control of the court. The court comments on the fact, as quite remarkable, that in these days of multitudinous reports, no decision on the point was cited or seemed to have been found. It concludes that if the committee rented the property under its charge in such a way that it retained control over the common passageways used by the various tenants, there was no conceivable reason why it should not be charged with all the duties of a landlord; that it could not be held liable in its representative capacity, as the estate of the incompetent should not be subjected to a liability for the torts of one who was not his agent in the legal sense.

INTERFERENCE WITH BUSINESS.—A wealthy banker, prominent in his locality, in a Minnesota village, set about to monopolize the barber's trade, and to collect the gleanings from the harvest of growing whiskers into a little hair lined mattress of his own. In Tuttle vs. Buck, 119 Northwestern Reporter, 946, the complaint alleges, in substance, that defendant, a banker, and man of influence in the community, maliciously established a barber shop, employed a barber to carry on the business, and used his personal influence to attract customers from the plaintiff's shop, not for the purpose of his own, but for the sole purpose of maliciously injuring the plaintiff, whereby plaintiff's business was ruined. In deciding whether such allegations state a cause of action, the supreme court of Minnesota lays down the general proposition that to divert to one's self the customers of a business rival by the offer of goods at lower prices is, in general, justifiable as fair competition. But when a man starts an opposition place of business, not for the sake of profit to himself, but regardless of loss to himself, and for the sole purpose of driving his competitor out of business, and with the intention of himself retiring upon the accomplishment of his malevolent purpose, he is guilty of a wanton wrong and an actionable tort.

ARSON BY BURNING WIFE'S HOUSE.—The common-law identity of husband and wife is relied on in State vs. Shaw, 100 Pacific Reporter, 78, as affording a means to the husband of escaping the just penalties of the law for the arson of his wife's property. Kansas General Statutes 1901, Section 2046, defines "arson," substantially as the willful burning of the house of another. It was contended that the words "of another" should have the same signification given to them as that in which they are used in the common-law definition of arson: the reasoning being that, as husband and wife are one, they cannot be properly separated from each other by designating either as "another," and therefore, that word cannot be applied to either husband or wife where one burns the house of the other. The Kansas supreme court held that the common-law idea that husband and wife are one, and that one the husband, was abrogated when the Constitution was adopted, which requires the legislature to provide for the protection of women in their property rights separate and apart from their husbands. Under this provision the policy of permitting husband and wife to own property and transact business independently of each other has been extended in Kansas until their property rights are as separate and distinct from each other as if they were unmarried. Hence a house belonging to a married woman is the property of another than her husband, and, if he willfully burns it, he may be convicted of arson.

INJURIES FROM LIGHTNING ENTERING BUILDING ON TELEPHONE WIRE.—A question as to the liability of a telephone company for injuries to an occupant of a dwelling caused by lightning entering on a telephone wire is raised in Southern Telegraph & Telephone company vs. Evans, 116 Southwestern Reporter, 418. The specific negligence charged was the company's failure to install with its arrester device a ground connection, designed to prevent a heavy charge of electricity from entering the house. During a passing rain storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, plaintiff's wife entered the room in which was the telephone. Suddenly there appeared a bright flash of lightning illuminating the room like a blaze of fire followed by a loud report. Members of the family rushed into the room and found the wife unconscious on the floor about four feet from the telephone, badly burned about the face and neck. In determining the company's liability, the Texas court of civil appeals concludes that, where a telephone company has reasonable grounds to apprehend that lightning will be conducted over its wires into the house, it must exercise due care in selecting and maintaining such known and approved devices for arresting it as are reasonably necessary to guard against accidents that may be fairly expected to occur. It having been found that the company had failed to do this, a judgment against it was affirmed.

NO PROGRESS IN MURDER CASE

Four Suspects Are Still Being Held By Police.

No further developments in the Nelson murder case came to the notice of the Superior authorities today, and no material progress has been made in establishing any possible connection of the four suspects now held with the killing of the boy. The past records of the men are being looked into.

Rewards aggregating $450 have been offered by the city and county for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of the murder. An additional reward of $50 for the recovery of the watch carried by the boy is also offered.

Superior Architect Plans Building to Cost. $80,000.

Plans for the reconstruction of the burned Grand theater at Superior, drawn by F. E. Johnson, a Superior architect, were accepted yesterday afternoon by the directors of the Superior Theater company. The new structure will be modern in every particular and will represent an outlay of about $80,000.

Bids on the proposed structure will be called for soon, as the directors are desirous of seeing the new theater completed this fall. The new building will have a seating capacity of between 1,500 and 1,700. The old Grand seated 1,200.

SURPRISED HER HUSBAND

Produced Four Children By Former Husband as Christmas Gift.

That he did not know when he married his wife that she had four children by her former husband was the statement made yesterday by William Simms in municipal court in a preliminary hearing on a charge of non-support.

Sims said that last Christmas his wife told him that he would receive a surprise, and while he was expecting a Christmas present, his wife ushered four of her offspring into the room. Since then the family has been a county charge.

Grocers Entertained.

The grocers of Superior were guests of honor last evening at an informal smoker given by the Commercial club. Among those who spoke were B. C. Cooke, William Tiedeman, F. E. Spring, Dr. H. J. O'Brien, F. R. Albright, N. J. Gill, Andrew Eckstrom and Clough Gates.

Setback for Bill.

Advices received from Madison late yesterday afternoon were that the Chapelle bill in which Superior is vitally interested, had been reported unfavorably by the senate committee on taxation. The bill, which passed the assembly, provides that the city may collect the tax on ore and merchandise docks, instead of the state.

Two Couples Divorced.

Two divorces were granted yesterday by Judge Smith of the superior court. Grace Flynn was released from all matrimonial relations with James P. Flynn and the marital ties of Mary and John De Vere were also broken. Cruel and inhuman treatment was alleged in both instances.

Seniors Humbled.

The Elaine senior baseball team was again defeated yesterday afternoon at Hammond park by the freshmen. The score was 16 to 5. Janeckie and Robinson were the battery for the freshmen.

O'Connor Appointed.

Chairman Emanuel Rossiter of the county board today named William O'Connor as a trustee to the asylum board, to fill the vacancy of Judge Charles Smith, who resigned recently. Mr. O'Conner is a grocer.

DERAILMENTS DUE TO FROST

Spring Thaws and Rains Hard on the Roadbeds.

Officials of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad this afternoon stated that the probable reason for the two derailments upon their road within the past two days was the fact that at the present time the frost is leaving the ground, and this puts the roadbed in bad shape.

They stated that the present time was the worst in the whole year for the roadbed of a railroad, and that it was probably due only to this fact that two derailments had occurred so close together.

There was some talk that the rails of the two Duluth range roads had been tampered with with an idea of assisting the cause of the striking seamen. This idea is scouted by the officials of the Missabe, who state that no attempt has been made to interfere with the operation of trains upon the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road.

At the recent meeting of the American Street and Interurban Engineering Association of Atlantic City, a new system of street railway construction was proposed. The idea was to form the car wheels without flanges, but, instead, to place the flnager on the rails. The new construction was ably presented and many good arguments were brought forward to show the superiority of such a system over the present one.

WIDOW WANTS $280,000 FOR LOST MINING LAND

Claims Title to It Was Secured By Fraud.

Suit Another Echo of the Clark Mine Case.

Mary Rogers, a resident of Tamaha, Okla., and one of the heirs-at-law of James M. Rogers, commenced suit in the United States court today for damages to the amount of $280,000 against W. G. Crosby of Duluth John M. McClintock of Collinsville, Ohio, and Edward W. Barnes of Portland, Or.

The action is similar to that recently brought by Mrs. Amanda Guinn, another of the Rogers' heirs and against the same defendants.

The plaintiff alleges that she is the second wife and widow of James Rogers, and that her husband at the time of his death was owner of 120 acres located in 28-58-20, on the Mesaba range. The Clark Mining company, claiming title by deed from James M. Rogers, had been operating the land for some time when the latter died.

Mary Rogers says that her husband did not at any time give a deed to the Clark Mining company, but that the instrument which the company claimed was from him had been given and signed by some one of the same name who had no interest in the land.

She says that McClintock visited her and represented the land as worthless, except for pasturage, and offered her $25 for a quitclaim deed. She claims he made other fraudulent representations and that she was induced by them to give the desired deed.

McClintock then, it is alleged, sold the land to the Clark Mining company for a large sum and that the profits of the sale were divided among the three defendants. The complaint states that McClintock made a visit to all the heirs and by fraud secured quitclaim deeds to practically all the land, which is worth about $720,000.

James M. Rogers left a widow and thirteen children, and the living heirs are now attempting to collect damages for the loss of their property.

DAIRIES IN FINE SHAPE

State Inspector Greatly Pleased With Conditions in Duluth.

Says Duluth Leads the State in Dairy Cleanliness.

"The average of cleanliness in Duluth dairies is higher than in any other city of the state," said H. R. Shields, state dairy inspector this morning. Mr. Shields is in Duluth to inspect the dairies and see if there are any law violations. He has nothing to do with the tuberculin test of cattle. On his round of inspection he is accompanied by R. W. Langslow of the local board of health.

"I am very much pleased with conditions as I find them here," continued Mr. Shields. "It is a pleasure to look over the premises of the different milkmen. Almost without exception they are clean and neat, with every possible provision taken to insure pure milk for the consumer. The stables are light and well-ventilated, and are kept neat and clean. The dairymen seem to have been educated up to the necessity of cleanliness, both as to cows and stables, and they apparently are making the most of this education.

"I am sure the Duluth health department, under charge of Dr. Patton, who has an able corps of milk inspectors, is deserving of high praise for what is deserving of high praise for what has been accomplished in making the milk supply more pure. Remarkable results have been attained in this direction during the past year."

According to a decision of the inspector general of the army, neither officers nor enlisted men will wear gloves hereafter when equipped for field service. Enlisted men will also dispense with the use of white collars when doing field duty. Officers will be allowed to wear a white collar with the service uniform when in garrison. The decision also forbids the use of white gloves, which were once looked upon as indispensable on some occasions by officers as well as enlisted.

BACK YARD GARDENS.

A Space 20 By 50 Feet Will Supply the Family Vegetables.

"A space, 0 by 50 feet, may, under intensive culture, be made to yield fresh vegetables for a small family through half the year," says Martha McCulloch-Williams in the Circle magazine. "With 40 feet by 50, or 50 by 100, there can be a garden spelling riotous plenty.

"Have the spading done as early as possible, use thoroughly rotted manure, and supplement it with some good commercial fertilizer, either broadcasted and raked in or put in hills or drills.

"It is a waste of seed, strength and time to plant a garden in poor soil. The seed will come up, the spindling plants will be harder to work than if they were luxuriant, and the resultant crop will be mostly conspicuous by its absence.

"So, if it is impossible to do more make small rich beds, four feet wide and as long as the manure holds out, and sow them crosswise with such things as radishes, lettuce, cress, parsley, beets and onions. Make the rows a foot to eighteen inches apart, or sow the radishes broadcast.

"Lettuce also yields more for broadcast sowing. Pull out the thriftiest as soon as edible and leave the rest to grow. Radish tops make excellent greens, something better flavored than mustard. By sowing thickly you can have dishes of greens.

"Say the garden is 40 by 50 feet, this is something what the planting of it should be: Dwarf early peas, medium early and late peas, beets, early and later; beans in succession, including bush limas; carrots, radishes, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers.

"Do not adventure upon corn unless it is sweet corn, planted on the pea space as a second crop, to come in just before frost. Make an asparagus bed all across one end of the plot, setting 2-year-old roots, and fertilizing the bed heavily in early summer just after cutting ceases.

"Peas are so hardy they may be planted before snow is past, provided, of course, the ground is right when they go in. Make it fine and light, cover the seed at least three inches deep, then tramp the earth over them, setting the feet so one track touches the other. A quart of seed will sow 100 feet of drill the proper thickness. An ounce of beet seed will sow the same row length.

"Cultivate your garden with a wheel hoe, or use the trowel and hand hoe—remembering Izaak Walton's adjuration as to the bait worm: 'Use him as though you loved him.' As one thing yields, pull it up and plant something else."

Mrs. A. Kruger Claims Husband Chased Her Away.

With Infant in Her Arms She Asks Police for Protection.

With her infant child in her arms and her 9-year-old daughter by her side, Mrs. August Kruger of Sixty-third avenue west and Elinor street, told the story of how she had been driven from her home by her husband, to the West Duluth police, at 1 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Kruger claimed that her husband had come home last night under the influence of liquor and had ordered her to leave the house or take a flogging. Not knowing of any other place to go, she said, she came to the police for protection.

Two officers were dispatched to the Kruger home, but found that Kruger had gone. The officers laid in wait for him for an hour and a half, but he did not make his appearance. A week ago a disturbance occurred at the Kruger home and the police were asked to take a hand by the man's son. By the request of Mrs. Kruger, the husband was not placed under arrest at the time.

No arrests were made last evening.

Both of the boats are speedy and an interesting contest is looked forward to by the motor boat men in West Duluth. The dancing party given by the team last evening at Wade's hall was a very successful affair, the hall being taxed to its fullest capacity. The next party will be given on June 5. Negotiations are pending between the U. M. C. team and an amateur outfit from Minneapolis for a game in the near future. The team will also play a number of the range towns this summer.

The body was taken to Virginia, where the funeral services will be held, and where interment will take place.

The accident happened while Cook was engaged in fixing the coupling apparatus of an engine. The engine had been run ahead a few rods, and it was while he was at work that the train of loaded coal cars followed down the grade, unnoticed by Cook, crushing him.

Cook was 22 years of age and had been married since last August. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, and a brother, Homer, reside in Virginia, and he leaves a sister, Mrs. C. C. Grisdale, at Bay City, Mich. The Cook family is well known in West Duluth, having resided on Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street for a number of years prior to moving to Virginia.

POPULAR PERFUMES.

Revival of Old Fashion---Right Place for Scent Sachets.

London Daily Mail: In the midst of so many present day fashions copied from those of a hundred years ago it is scarcely surprising that the habit of using scent in profusion should be numbered.

How they saturated themselves with sweet waters in those old, old days! We read of a very orgy of perfume in the time of Catherine de Medici, and learn that the men then were as prone to its use in profusion as were the women.

One great king perfumed himself with amber from head to foot, and every article of attire was scented.

The great Napoleon used floods of eau de cologne every morning, and the empress Josephine filled her dressing room with musk in all sorts of forms.

Today it is the scent fountain and the vaporizer the lady's maid scents her mistress before she leaves her room in the morning and after she has taken the perfumed bath.

The excessive use of sachets attached to the costume is becoming less modish than it was; there must only be an atmosphere, a mere suggestion of scent, instead of a definite aroma about the clothes. In order to perfume them the wardrobe has its long flat sachet of scented powder to fit each shelf.

When the boots and shoes are put away little sachets are introduced into them; the lace and ribbon drawer has its sachets also, and the only ones that need be worn by day are those sewn into the corset and into the dainty cap of muslin and lace in which the belle takes her early cup of tea or her basin of bread and milk the last thing of night.

When the hair is washed it is pleasant to use a scent that shall help to perfume the tresses, a permissible way of perfuming the person allowed under the regime of modern taste.

The hairdressers of Paris are now using eucalyptus leaves steeped in boiling water for the shampoo used for their customers' hair, and find that it makes the hair glossy as well as fragrant.

Every day seems to introduce new and coquettish developments of the scent craze. A famous perfumer of lingerie tempts her customers with handkerchiefs, motor veils, shoulder scarfs and lingerie threaded with ribbons the color of the scent that is her customer's choice.

Supposing the favorite violet perfume he associated with the elegante, her lingerie is threaded with violet ribbons, and she wears violet handkerchiefs, violet motor scarfs and other violet fal-lals.

If rose is preferred, it is a rose powder that is supplied, and to carry the idea to its utmost limit all the decorations of the belle's dressing room will be in shades of pink, while the pretty little lace boxes, gem cabinets and all her toilet table fittings repeat her choice in brocade, crystal and china.

Her writing table is of course supplied with perfumed leather, and she scents her stationery in order that it may be impressed with her personality as made manifest by her use of one particular perfume. It is a charming idea in daintiness.

During that time my wife caught up with her sewing, undisturbed by callers. We had three square meals a day and no one came in and my wife was not permitted to go out. We enjoyed two weeks of good, long nights' sleep and best of all, a cousin with four children arrived to visit with us, saw the sign on the door and left town so scared that she will never come back again. I wish to thank the city authorities and hope they will think of our comfort some time again.

FEEDING BIRDS IN SCANDINAVIA.

Pioneer Press: The transplanting to this country of the Scandinavian custom of feeding birds in winter, advocated by Christian T. Nelson of this city, is being indorsed by leading members of the humane societies throughout the Northwest.

"The custom of feeding birds in winter, I believe, had its origin in Scandinavia," states Mr. Nelson. "The 'juleneg' is a bundle of oats left unthreshed in the fall of the year and kept for this special occasion. It is tied to a pole or tree and left for the birds to feast on.

"In Scandinavia, when the farmer brings in the Christmas trees to sell to the people in the villages and cities, he also has with him a large supply of 'juleneg,' which he disposes of at the same time, so that outside of every home where there is a Christmas tree may be found the bundles of grain for the birds."

Friedman Clothes are creations. Each Friedman garment is different because each is designed for the individual wearer.

'Tis true we measure our client's body, but we also measure his age, his characteristics, his position, his tastes. That's why there's such harmony in Freedman productions—that's why it's "Good taste apparel."

HIS SON IS RETURNED

The 7-year-old son of Leonard Snell of 1118 Garfield avenue, who was kidnaped from home by his mother when she eloped a few weeks ago with a man by the name of Fredericks has been returned to his father.

After the disappearance of his wife, Mr. Snell started an investigation to find where she had gone, so that he might trace his little son and get him back. He is understood to have been satisfied to let the woman go her own way if only he could get back their child.

The Duluth man finally located his erring wife and his son, who goes by the name of Ray, in Hancock, Mich. Snell enlisted the assistance of Sheriff Byers, who visited the couple and forced them to give up the boy. Ray is now home with his father. Mr. Snell says he will take no action against his wife and will let her follow the path she has chosen without in any way interfering with her.

HOODOO SEEMS TO FOLLOW CHILI

Package Freighter Meets With Another Mishap at the Soo.

The steamer Chili, which ran aground the first of the week above the Canadian locks and was somewhat damaged as a result, met with another mishap yesterday afternoon that will further delay her down lake passage.

The vessel had made temporary repairs. Some of the grain had been lightered to float her and she was on the way down river when portions of the temporary patches forward tore loose. The Chili shipped so much water that the pumps were put in play, and the boat turned back to the Soo.

Divers are at work today and another attempt is being made to repair her without removing the cargo. None of the grain is reported damaged as yet. Two air compressors and pumps are keeping the vessel free from water.

It was announced at the local offices of the Duluth-Chicago Transportation company today, that the regular sailings of the company's vessels will not be disarranged by the accidents to the Chili. The steamers Gratwick and Alva, of the same line, will leave this port light to make the five-day sailing schedule possible.

The Chili will be taken to drydock for permanent repairs and it will be some time before she will resume her run between Duluth and Chicago.

MIGHT EASILY BE RECONCILED

Arbitration Board Wants Conference Between Strikers and Owners.

Detroit, Mich., May 21.—That misunderstandings between marine unions and the Lake Carriers' association, which have resulted in the lake strike might well be reconciled if the two parties would agree to a joint conference, is the conclusion announced by representatives of the board of arbitration from six lake states, who have been considering the strike situation here for three days.

In a statement on the results of their deliberations, the arbitrators stated that the union representatives had expressed a desire for a conference with the carriers, but that there had been no conference since the inception of the dispute. The arbitrators explained further that there was a great variance of construction or understanding of the terms and conditions of employment as understood by the separate parties to the controversy.

They have sent a telegram to Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the National Civic Federation, asking the co-operation of the federation toward bringing about a conference. A committee was instructed to take up with the arbitration boards of the various states and Canada the possibility of organizing a permanent arbitration board with broad powers.

CLAIM MEN ARE HELD IN PEONAGE

Union Officials Will Ask for Investigation By Government.

Chicago, May 21.—Thomas A. Hanson, treasurer of the striking Lake seamen's union, will ask federal investigation of an alleged system of peonage in the plant of the Illinois Steel company at South Chicago.

Hanson obtained affidavits yesterday from three men, who swear that they were forcibly detained inside the company's gates. They declared that they were in a party of five men brought from St. Louis May 11 by an agent of the Lake Carriers association. Two men escaped, it is said, before being placed on boats, but that these three were placed in a clubhouse surrounded by a stockade inside the Steel company's gates. They finally agreed to go on board a boat on the Calumet river.

The seamen escaped early this morning from the F. A. E. Widener, after, they said, they were shot at a number of times by officers of the boat in pursuing skiffs.

It is asserted by union officials that the same system of peonage is being practiced near Conneaut, Ohio, where recruits are said to be kept in an old ore boat in the harbor.

STRIKER IS WOUNDED.

Is Accidentally Shot By Private Detective at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 21.—The first local outbreak of the lake strike occurred yesterday and one union seaman, a striker, was shot in the arm. Chris Martin, the man wounded, the authorities declare, was accidentally shot by a private detective, who fired to frighten boys who were throwing stones at non-union men on the steamer Wisconsin.

Ten non-union men on the steamer Ericson are said to have deserted their posts here yesterday.

Wreckage Found.

Marquette, Mich., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Hugh Malloy of the Peter Anderson fish tug Columbia, who returned Wednesday from a trip to the nets in the vicinity of Grand Island, reports that he found wreckage about five miles south of the Grand Portal, ten miles east of Munising, which unmistakably belonged to the steamer Adelia Shores, which was lost with all on board in the storm of April 30.

The wreckage consisted of a part of the deck, about twenty feet square, on which was a coat, an oar and a piece of hose and standpipe, used for washing off the deck. The oar bore the name "Adelia Shores." In the pocket of the coat was a found a seamen's union card on which was the name of Peter Olson, West Allis, Wis. A hole had been broken through the deck and the oar stuck through it, which makes it probable that Olson had drifted for a time on the decking and had used the oar to steer his craft, but had finally been washed off into the sea.

Channel Is Clear.

Col. Graham D. Fitch of the engineers' corps has received from the branch engineer office at Houghton, Mich., the following notice in regard to the Portage lake ship canal:

"I beg leave to report that we succeeded in going all over the channel at the head of Portage river, where Capt. Stevenson, master, steamer North Wind, reports losing his anchor May 12.

"We swept the channel to a depth of 20.5 feet, towing the sweep back of our rowboat and covering the channel from bank to bank both above and below where the captain reports dropping the anchor, but could find no obstructions."

INSISTS ON PRINCIPLES

Culberson Makes the Senators Listen to Democratic Doctrine.

Aldrich Is Worried, But Has to Put Up With It.

Washington, May 21.—The question as to how long a time may be required to "deal with the fundamental principles of the Democratic party" was the subject of a brief discussion in the senate today between Senator Aldrich, Republican leader, and Senator Culberson, Democratic leader. The details of the tariff bill were receiving a degree of attention from the senate that was evidently gratifying to the chairman of the finance committee, as it was evident to the most casual observer that, delighted as he might ordinarily be to hear his rival speak, Senator Aldrich would have preferred to have the pleasure deferred.

Probably noting the change in countenance of his friend, Mr. Culberson began his remarks in a slightly apologetic manner, having stated his subject, he remarked in proper senatorial phrase that he would "not long detain the senate."

Sotto Voce.

"I fear it will take some time to deal with such a weighty subject," remarked Mr. Aldrich, sotto voce, but with feeling.

This remark the Texas senator interpreted as meaning that the chairman of the finance committee did not approve of a long speech from him at the time, and he manifested some spirit in his reply.

"I intend to occupy as much time," he said, "as I wish to."

Mr. Aldrich responded submissively that he had no intention of suggesting otherwise.

All obstacles removed, Mr. Culberson's speech was permitted to proceed. He plunged into his subject at once. "While there may be found," he said, "a Democrat who is a protectionist or another who is a free trader, yet the Democratic party believes in neither protection nor free trade. It stands for a revenue tariff, that is, for a tariff that will admit imports yielding revenue primarily as opposed to protective duties whether levied on finished products or on raw materials."

The protective tariff, he said, had undoubtedly contributed to the formation of trusts and had created a favored class which it had assisted in building up colossal fortunes.

With a few more sentences of a similar character, the Texas senator concluded, thus possibly demonstrating to his satisfaction, if not to Mr. Aldrich's, that the fundamental principles of Democracy are so simple that they can be outlined in a very little time.

When Mr. Culberson concluded his rival across the aisle was prompt in pressing the bill forward.

The Mica Section.

The mica section received first attention and the provision levying on that article a duty of 5 cents per pound and 20 per cent ad valorem, and on manufactured mica at 10 cents per pound and 20 per cent ad valorem was adopted, but with the understanding on the part of Mr. Aldrich that it might be further amended later.

The Dingley law placed a duty of 6 cents per pound on mica and 12 cents per pound on manufactured mica with 20 per cent ad valorem. Mr. Aldrich stated that electrical companies desired mica to be placed on the free list on the ground that the product was in the hands of a trust.

Mr. Gamble and Mr. Gallinger vigorously denied the assertion and cited wages of 10 cents a day in India as a reason why mica should be imported so cheaply as to shut down the American mines.

THROUGH ROUTES ORDERED BY THE COMMERCE BOARD.

Washington, May 21.—A decision was handed down today by the Interstate commerce commission in the Portland gateway case, in which the contention of the traveling public for through routes and joint rates from Eastern points, via Portland, Or., is sustained.

The roads that were defendants are required by order of the commission to establish, before July 1, 1909, through routes and joint rates, via Portland, and to maintain them for at least two years.

Chairman Knapp and Commissioner Clark dissented from the majority opinion of the commission, maintaining that satisfactory through routes and joint rates are already in existence.

SIX ORE CARS DERAILED

Missabe Train Is Delayed Several Hours By Wreck.

The Third Derailment In Two Days on Range Roads.

Six ore cars of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad were derailed at 8:15 this morning, one mile south of Alborn. Just how the cars happened to leave the track the officials of the Missabe at Proctor are unable to state.

There were about fifty cars in the train. The six cars were the only ones to leave the track. The engine remained on the track, and after clearing the track the rest of the train was able to proceed. The six cars will not be placed upon the track for a couple of days.

The passenger train due in Duluth at 10:30 did not reach the city until 1 o'clock. The track was soon cleared for traffic, and the officials of the Missabe state that no more traffic delays will result through the derailment of the cars.

Missabe officials state that no one was injured in the derailment. This is the second derailment that has occurred upon the Missabe in two days, some cars being derailed at West Duluth yesterday. There was also a similar wreck on the Iron Range road yesterday.

ADDITIONAL RANGE NEWS

SEVENTEEN TO LEAVE SCHOOL

Eleven Girls and Six Boys to Graduate From the Virginia High.

Virginia, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seventeen students, eleven girls and six boys, will graduate from the Virginia high school next month. The roster of the class is as follows:

John P. Bonner, Charles Butler, Gertrude M. De Noble, Herman J. Hovland, Lulu M. Martin, Stephen E. Quayle, Gerald C. Roskilly, Mary M. Savolainen, Ida Schmelling, Ray Simons, Viola B. Slavick, Bertha G. Smith, Anna Staff, Gertrude Steinberg, Eleline A. Wilkes.

At a meeting of the class Wednesday evening, the motto, colors and flower were chosen. The motto is "Esse Quam Vederi," which translated is "To Be Rather Than to Seem." The class colors are lavender and cream and the class flower the yellow rose. Stephen E. Quayle is president of the class and Ray Simons, secretary. Gerald C. Roskilly has the highest standing for the four years' work, and Ida Schmelling has the second highest standing. When the work now in progress is completed, every member of the class will have sixteen or more credits.

Subjects have been assigned for the commencement exercises, which will be held during the third week in June. The seniors are also making good progress in preparing for the class play, which will be given during the week beginning June 6. The parts have already been learned, and the rehearsals show that the class will give an adequate production of the difficult piece, "Saratoga," a comedy in five acts, by Bronson Howard.

VIRGINIA GRADUATES WIN AS DEBATERS.

Virginia, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former students of the Virginia high school have made good as debaters in the higher institutions of learning, which they now attend. Harry G. Neff, a graduate in the class of 1906, has made the first debating team of Wabash college at Crawfordsville, Ind., an unusual honor for a freshman. Sigvert Dahl, a graduate in the class of 1905, is attending the University of Minnesota. He has made the sophomore class debating team and his team won a cash prize in a university competition.

SIDEWALK BIDS WILL BE OPENED JUNE 4.

Eveleth, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the council meeting last night specifications for the new cement sidewalks to be laid on several blocks along three avenues were accepted and approved. June 4 was decided on as the date for the opening of the bids.

As the specifications for the pavements were not all in, especially for the concrete base work, the council decided to meet next Tuesday, when the engineer will be asked to have his specifications ready.

Pentilla & Nelson were granted permission to build a small building in the rear of their building, 8 by 16 by 16 feet. The matter of granting permission to J. M. Braidich and M. Stein for making alterations on their buildings was passed over, and the men will no doubt go ahead with the work, as has been done in like cases before.

MAY REST IN MEMORIAL HALL

The pictures of early times in Duluth painted so many years ago by Eastman Johnson, and presented to the city some time ago by Mr. Crane of Chicago, will probably be hung in the Old Soldiers' Memorial hall in the new St. Louis county courthouse, when that building is finally completed.

It is intended to make this room one of the most beautiful public rooms in the city, and the courthouse people are very anxious that the pictures be displayed in the new building.

The pictures are now on exhibition in the library of the Masonic temple. They were put there for the time being because the city had no place for them.

They are a most beautiful collection of early scenes in and about the Head of the Lakes. There are a number of Indian studies that are considered wonderful pieces of work, and there are scenes at Fond du Lac when that suburb was yet an Indian village and trading post.

One picture also shows Superior when it was the boom town of the Head of the Lakes. It was painted from the Minnesota side, which was at that time bare of dwellings.

SCARLET FEVER VERY PREVALENT

Number of Cases Not Decreasing — Measles Also Common.

Scarlet fever, amounting to almost an epidemic, is still prevalent in Duluth. There are over fifty cases now on file at the office of Health Commissioner Patton, and there seems to be no definite assurance that this number will not increase.

The epidemic of measles which spread over the city recently is now under control, and the number of cases is greatly reduced from last week's total, with the total still decreasing at a satisfactory rate.

Duluth is no worse off in respect to scarlet fever than various other towns in Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. Everywhere in this section of the country the disease prevails just now, and in several other places the number of cases in proportion to the population, is greater than in Duluth.

The health department, backed up by the doctors of the city, is doing all it can to prevent a further spread of scarlet fever, and has hope of being able to accomplish something in this direction.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IN HAMLINE CASE DENIED.

St. Paul, Minn., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge O. B. Lewis this morning denied a motion for a new trial in the case of A. Z. Drew, the Hamline ex-broker, convicted of receiving deposits when insolvent, and announced that he would pass sentence tomorrow.

Attorney J. P. Kyle moved for a stay of sentence for twenty days, which was denied.

The attorney then gave notice that he would apply to the supreme court for a writ of error.

USES OF RELATIVES.

How They Discipline a Man and Make Him Capable of Friends.

Mount Tom Magazine: I saw in an art store window down in Northampton the other day, in large type and all framed and ready to be hung on a wall, this motto.

GOD GAVE US OUR RELATIVES. THANK GOD WE CAN CHOOSE OUR FRIENDS.

I do not know how this strikes the members of the Mount Tom club in the nation at large, but up in New England while it may be a natural and at times a worthy and even devout sentiment, it strikes us as rather sweeping. It may do well enough, as far as we know, for a New York motto. But it seems to us in New England that we go to bone down and learn to love one's relatives, excepting in extreme cases, is slovenly. The people who fall on their friends and who have often failed on their nearer and more important arrangements for living—like husbands and wives—are nearly always the people who have failed on their relatives first. Our divorce courts in Boston are full of men and women who have failed on their relatives or who have not tried enough. Our original New England idea is that every man and woman is intended to do a certain number of relatives before he dies, and do them well. The harder the better. Nearly all of the hard things have been eliminated from life now except relatives. They are the only sure, all-round moral and spiritual training we have left, and we ought all of us to think twice before we abuse them to ourselves, or to one another, or before in a kind of vague, weak, anonymous way, for instance we aim mattoes in worsted or spatter work at them from our parlor walls.

Every man has been presented with a full set of relatives to do in early life, so that later he will know enough and be limber enough to have large circles of friends. People who have not done their relatives never have more than one or two kinds of sets of friends. Relatives are one of the preliminary provisions for this present life. They are intended as the great practice ground of human nature for being married or for belonging to a church or to society, for nearly everything, or for being president of the United States.

Where would a man like President Roosevelt be now if he had not practised on relatives for a long time, both North and South, before he tried on all of us? Our most representative or national men all have to be strained and filtered through relatives for years before they can hope to come to anything. Take any prominent politician or any prominent clubman and the success of his whole career might be summed up in a little confidential book under the modest title, "Relatives I Have Learned." He would not mention any names, but everybody would understand.

It looks, when one thinks it over, as if after all "God Gave Us Our Relatives. Thank God We Can Choose Our Friends" would hardly do as a motto to worsted, to hang up in one's house in worsted, or to use as a motto for a social, or to put up in one's house as a substitute for the old, plain but less brilliant "God Bless Our Home," which this nation was brought up on, and which has been the making of us.

P. S.—I am not saying that if this motto were given to me in worsted, I would not take it out and look at it occasionally and brood on it. But I do not see where, if I had one in the house, it could be hung. A nail in a closet would not do. Where is a safe place? That is the whole trouble with relatives. They belong in your closets any time if they want to. They can go and sit there by the hour. It is one of their rights. They can plump right down on you anywhere and be intimate with you. And you cannot say anything.

So I have come to the conclusion that the only practical thing that can be done with "God Gave Us Our Relatives. Thank God We Can Choose Our Friends," as a motto, is to keep it in our art store window down on Main street and not buy it. Thousands of relatives flock by it every day there, and it comforts them. They go on with a happy thought after it. God bless them!

Although the ancients knew the value of canals, they failed to hit on the simple device of the lock, which was not discovered till the fourteenth century. To this day the dispute has never been settled as to which country, Italy or Holland, is entitled to the credit of the invention.

BEARS RAID NORTH BUTTE

Sensational Decline Is the Feature of the Copper Market.

A sensational bear raid on North Butte, which carried the price of the stock off from $60.25 to $55.75, was the center of interest in the copper stock market.

North Butte opened at $60 and went to $60.25 during the first few minutes of trading, but that was the last inning the bullish side had during the session, for the selling began at once and prices were swept away at a furious rate.

There was no let-up of the hammering of North Butte, the lowest price of the day, $55.75, being recorded during the last few minutes of the session. The close was very weak, at $55.75 bid and $56.12½ asked.

There was no particular news out on North Butte, such as would induce a decline of this sensational nature.

The other listed coppers were somewhat irregular and closed with an easier tone.

The announcement came of the quarterly dividend of $6 a share on Calumet & Hecla. This is $1 a share more than last time.

Amalgamated opened at $82.37½, declined to $82.12½, rallied to $82.75 and closed at $82.12½ bid and $82.37½ asked. Anaconda opened at $49.75, advanced to $49.87½ and closed at $49.62½ bid.

Greene-Cananea went off from $10.50 to $10.25 and closed at $10.25 bid and $10.50 asked. Butte Coalition opened at $25.87½, declined to $25.25 and closed at $25.50 bid and $26 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $104.75 and closed at $102.75 bid and $104 asked. Climax opened at $7.87½, declined to $7.75 and closed at $7.75 bid and $8 asked. Superior & Pittsburg sold at $14.50 and closed at $14.25 bid and $14.62½ asked.

Butte & Superior advanced from $2.62½ to $2.87½ and closed at $2.62½ bid. Red Warrior sold at $2.12½ and closed at $2 bid and $2.25 asked; Dennison Arizona at $3.75 and closed at $3.75 bid; National at 51 and 52 cents and closed at 53 cents bid; Carman at $1.87½ and closed at $1.75 bid and $2 asked. Butte-Bullaklava at $10 and closed at $10 bid and $10.50 asked and Cactus at $3 and $2.87½ and closed at $2.87½ bid and $3 asked. Globe sold at $5 and closed at $5 bid and $5.50 asked.

Calumet & Sonora was inactive and closed at $11.50 bid and $12 asked. Mowluza at 94 cents bid and 97 cents asked, Lake Superior & Sonora at $2.25 bid and $2.50 asked, Copper Queen of Idaho at $1.62½ bid and $1.87½ asked, Cliff at $2.12½ bid and $2.25 asked, Chief Consolidated at $1.50 bid and part paid Butte-Alex Scott at $6 bid and $6.25 asked and full paid at $9 bid and $9.50 asked.

Madison, Wis., May 21.—The senatorial investigation committee is preparing to go to Milwaukee, probably tomorrow, to complete that part of the investigation which has to do with the discovery of Senator Isaac Stephenson's actual connection with the Milwaukee Free Press. The committee will examine J. K. CAR SICKNESS.

How It Differs From Seasickness—Traveling With Eyes Closed.

Youth's Companion: Car sickness is a very disagreeable affection, something akin to seasickness and yet differing from it in several particulars.

In seasickness it is rare to find the very old or the very young affected. If children are seasick they are very quickly over it, and running about at play as usual, but a baby will sometimes suffer from car sickness in its baby carriage, and the very old are not immune.

The symptoms of the two disorders are very much alike. They consist of pallor, quick pulse, clammy skin, giddiness, nausea and vomiting. Women are more subject to car sickness than men, and this is equally true of seasickness, and one strange feature of car sickness that has been noted by physicians is that it is frequently handed down through the women of a family from generation to generation.

If an individual is immune all through childhood and early life but develops car sickness ans an adult the fault will probably be found to rest with the eyes, and the way to avoid it is to travel with properly fitted glasses. It is easy to understand why this should be so. When the eyes need glasses the whole nervous equilibrium of the body suffers, even under the best conditions, and when to this struggle is added the vibration of the cars and the temptation to watch passing scenery through the windows the struggle turns into active revolt of the whole system against imposition.

The proof that car sickness and seasickness are not quite the same thing be found in the fact that a person may be a good sailor and yet suffer dreadfully with car sickness, and vice versa, while its occurrence in babies would go to show that the sense impressions, that is to say, the impressions gained by the ear, the eye or the nose, are not at the root of this disorder, because in very tiny babies the sense impressions are undeveloped or at the best very feebly developed.

As a further proof of this car sickness often comes on during sleep, and when this occurs the eyes of course are not the cause in that particular case.

The symptoms of car sickness may be of a most appalling violence, the state of collapse being so extreme that death is often feared. It is comforting to know that this fear is unfounded and that although people may be dreadfully ill they rarely if ever succumb.

BE THOROUGH-GREENHUT.

New York Sun: "There's one sayin' the Good Book," said old man Greenhut as he lighted a fresh cigar, "what no man hadn't oughter overlook if he's studying for to improve hisself in his poker.

"'Pears this here King Solomon was writin' motters f'r th' children of Israel for to stick up onto the walls o' their tabernacles in little wooden frames an' this one was wrote special f'r poker players. There's others, but this here shows, more'n most, what a hell-roarin' wise gazabo Solomon reely was.

"He says, 'Don't ever go for to see a man what's extry diligent in his dealin'. More'n likely he'll stand pat with kings.' Tain't hardly necessary for to inquire why he said kings 'stead of aces. That's what these here gospel sharps calls the higher criticism. But looks likely to me 't he had in mind what four kings an' a ace is. Just as good as four aces, an' a hellova lot more foxy, if t'other man has a ace full to go in.

"Trouble with most folks readin' the Bible is 't they don't study out the morals, bein' as there's moral lessons into a heap o' them stories, what'll do any man good 't he'll only foler 'em up. Moral o' this is 't a man had oughter be thurrer.

"Tain't no use for to begin a thing 'thouten you're goin' to be thurrer. If you don't practice till you c'n give y'rself kings when you need 'em you'd better not spend no time tryin' to improve y'r plain natural dealin'.

"Jim Silsbee was a shinin' example o' them 't begins well an' hasn't got stuff enough into 'em to foller a thing up proper, an' the last end o' sich as him is gen'ly disaster, as Scripter says.

"Jim was a neighbor o' mine over to Greenville, what was thought well of f'r a young man, bein' as his old men eddicated him careful, so's't he c'd hold his own into 'most anythin' goin', whether it were a fight or a game o' draw. Didn't pear to be no reason f'r him not doin' 's well 's the next, an' mebbe better, but somehow he didn't carry nothin' through.

"There was one night a stranger come to Greenville an' set into a game o' draw 't was goin' on into the back room when I was 'tendin' bar, an' fore long he begin 'cumulatin' to'able nigh all the fleathin' capital there was in sight. 'Pears he was one o' them crossroads gamblers what's lookin' f'r suckers in small towns like Greenville, an' he was sure some slick, havin' one or two tricks 't wa'n't gen'ly known them days.

"One on 'em I rec'lect was a grip with a rubber string up his sleeve, what he'd hold out with. 'Tain't never used no more now, but it had a run oncet.

"Well, juts about the time he'd done throwed a scare into them 't was playin' in, so 's 't they was nigh ready to quit, Jim Silsbee come in an' looked on a spell. Then he says he reckons he'll set in, an' he buys a hundred f'r a starter.

"I ain't a-sayin' whether Jim was consid'able slicker 'n this here stranger or not. I wa'n't so wise to the game then as I come to be later on, an' mebbe he was, but the way it looked to me was't Jim was havin' the luck.

"'Twa'n't more'n two hours afore that stranger lose all his winnin's an' was diggin' into his kick consid'able deep. He was good grit, though, an' he kep' on buyin' an' losin' till Jim Silsbee had night fourteen hundred of his wad an' 'peared likely to get the rest.

"More'n that, all them other Greenville citizens what had been losin' so heavy had got square or nigh about, 'peared like Jim sittin' in 'a kind o' turned the tide, on'y, as I say, I dunno whether Jim's talents 'r dumb luck did it.

"Anyway, just about the time 't the stranger was gettin' mealy faced, an' I c'd see 't his hands was shakin' a little when he went diggin' f'r fun, Jim says he reckens other hundred, Jim says he reckens he's got cold feet, an' anyway it's nigh bedtime an' he won't play no mo' that night.

"The stranger he started fer to put up a beef, an' then he 'peared to get a second thought, an' he says, 'All right, but you'll give me another chance, won't you?' An' Jim says, 'Sure,' an' he was to hold five it ought be some embarrassin' when it come to a showdown.

"More'n that, I reckon 'tain't hardly religious f'r you 'r any other man to be askin' too many questions when it comes to things that's writ into the Bible. There's a good many on 'em what has to be took as parables, an' all's you has to do is to pick out a moral to suit y'rself an' let it go at that.

"If you was to pin a man down to what's actly said in the Scripter, o' course nobody coul'dn't b'lieve none on it, an' there wouldn't be no more religion left. That's why the most it is wrote parabolic. Just so 's 't a man c'n use common sense about whether to b'lieve it."

"What King Solomon reely meant was 't a man has to be diligent an' thurrer in his dealin's when it comes to playin' poker. If he's thataway you want to be almighty careful about seein' of him when he puts up a big bet, bein' as he's more'n likely to stand pat onto a sure hand. Mebbe it's four acre 'r mebbe it's four kings an' a ace, either one on 'em bein' a sure hand them days, 'count o' straights not bein' played B. C."

"What in blue blazes does B. C. mean?" asked Jake Winterbottom. "O' course we all knows 't straights wa'n't played 'alays, an' like enough Solomon never heer'd on 'em, wise as he was. But what's B. C. got to do with it?"

"B. C. means before the count," said said old man Greenhut complacently. "They didn't have no almanacs them days an' o' course they didn't keep no 'count o' time. When them patent medicine fellers begin gettin' out almanacs o' course they had to number 'em an' so the years come to be called by the same number as the almanacs. Afore that they didn't have no numbers, an' they call it B. C."

Just then the stranger entered the saloon, and having first observed the customary courtesy of asking those present to join him he casually observed that he had been obliged to stop over in another boat and was looking for some way to beguile the interval.

"They was sayin' out on the levee whta there was a game o' poker on in here now an' again," he suggested.

Old man Greenhut admitted that the boys played sometimes, and without great delay a four-handed game was started in the back room, Blaisdell, Winterbottom and Joe Bassett sitting in to accommodate the stranger. Each bought a hundred and they played table stakes.

For the first few deals there was little doing. Then the stranger made a puzzling play.

It was Bassett's ante and Blaisdell had come in. The stranger raised. Winterbottom and Bassett both folded. Blaisdell raised back and the stranger dropped.

It seemed like a confession of weakness or the abandonment of a bluff, and in either case the home talent saw no reason to fear much, but the next deal showed that the stranger was at least bold, if not highly scientific.

Blaisdell had put up the usual two call five, and the stranger stayed. Winterbottom and Bassett both trailed and Blaisdell made it five more to play.

The stranger looked first at his hand and then very carefully at the pot. Seeing $25 there he put up his $5 to stay, after which Winterbottom and Bassett both dropped.

On the draw the players called for two cards each, and the stranger, without looking at his draw, bet $20. Blaisdell hesitated, but only for a moment. Then he called, showing three nines, and the stranger laid down his hand.

"I drew to ace, king, jack," he said with a laugh, and the home talent was more confident than ever.

It was Blaisdell's next deal and judging from what he had seen he concluded that the stranger would play high on an alluring chance, so he determined to give it to him.

Riffling the cards four or five times he offered them to Bassett for the cut, at the same time kicking him gently on the shin. Thereupon Bassett tapped the pack lightly and the stranger got the ace, queen, jack and ten of clubs in the deal. Possibly he might have received the king as well, but Blaisdell had fixed it so that the king fell elsewhere.

Everybody came in and the stranger raised it ten. Winterbottom trailed, and Bassett, feeling another bump on his shin, dropped out. Then Blaisdell made it ten more and the stranger came back with a whoop and fifty more.

Winterbottom looked grave and put up his money and Blaisdell shoved the rest of his pile forward. Then the stranger did likewise, and Winterbottom observed that he reckoned he hadn't no further interest.

On the draw each took a card and the stranger caught the seven of clubs, whereupon he showed down his cards, with a gleam of hope in his eye, which faded when he saw Blaisdell's four kings.

"Shows what a sure thing a man has when he leans onto the scripture," observed old man Greenhut, who had been looking on.

Then, when the stranger demanded half angrily to know what the scripture had to do with it, the old man said pleasantly:

So the stranger said he reckoned he didn't care to interrupt the meeting of no Bible class no further, and he went away from there.

THE COLUMBIA

OTHER LINCOLN STAMPS.

His Bust Has Appeared in Several Issues.

The Lincoln commemorative postage stamps are only one of several issues on which his head appears. Lincoln's portrait indeed has been a favorite with the engravers of stamps and paper currency, says the New York Sun.

The first use of his bust on a stamp was on a 15-cent stamp issued on April 15, 1866. This stamp was printed in black and on each side of the portrait of Lincoln were fasces, the old Roman emblem of authority. The stamp was used for registration purposes, the fee in 1866 being 15 cents. It is now moderately scarce in unused condition and is valued at $10.

The next stamp to bear his portrait was the 90-cent black and carmine stamp of the pictorial issue of 1869. It showed a three-quarter face in an oval. The portrait, reproduced from a photograph, was in black and the ornamental and scroll work in carmine. This stamp is rare now and is quoted at $40 in unused and $15 in used condition.

In 1870 Lincoln's portrait was placed on the 6-cent carmine stamp, the portrait of Commodore Perry being substituted on the 90-cent denomination. In 1890 his portrait appeared on the 4-cent dark brown stamp.

The last denomination previous to the commemorative issue which showed Lincoln's head was the 5-cent blue stamp of the 1902 issue.

The portrait on the commemorative stamp was taken from the statue of Lincoln by St. Gaudens in Lincoln park, Chicago.

Among the newspaper stamps of the issue of 1865 Lincoln's bust was shown on the 25-cent carmine red variety, and it was also on the 6-cent envelope stamp.

Lincoln's portrait has often been used on paper money of the United States. When the first paper notes to circulate as money were issued by the government in 1861, those known as demand notes, the $10 bills bore the portrait of Lincoln. These notes were the first greenbacks.

Lincoln's portrait appeared on the first of the legal tender notes of the issue of 1862, being shown on the $10 bill. In the fourth issue of legal tender bills of 1863 Lincoln's bust was placed on the $100 bill.

When the 1870-71 series of gold certificates was authorized Lincoln's bust was placed on the $500 bill, and it appeared on the same denomination of the third and fourth issue of 1875 and 1882. The latest United States note to bear his portrait is the $100 gold certificate of the series of 1908.

On the silver certificates of the issue of 1899 the $1 bill shows small vignettes of Lincoln and Grant under the chief device of the American eagle, with the capitol in the background.

His portrait is also found on the one year note authorized in 1863, which bore interest of 5 per cent. The $20 bill showed Lincoln's bust, the figure of Victory and a mortar. The compound interest note of the denomination of $20, authorized March 3, 1866, bore Lincoln's portrait.

Lincoln's portrait appeared on only one denomination and one issue of the fractional paper currency, the 50-cent note of the 1869-75 series. While the busts of living men were freely used on the issues of United States fractional currency in the early '60s, objection was soon raised to the practice, and a law forbidding it was passed by congress on April 7, 1866. The matter was brought to a head by the issue of two varieties of 15-cent fractional currency notes with portraits of Grant and Sherman.

The use of Lincoln's head on a United States coin has been attempted only once, in 1866, when the mint engravers placed his bust on a 5-cent nickel pattern coin. This did not get beyond the experimental stage, only a few pieces in copper and in nickel being struck, none of which was intended for general circulation.

ONE WAY OF GETTING RICH.

Evan Jones Dassent Work or He Will Get Too Wealthy.

To find out what opportunity there was in North Dakota for my Man with the plow and the Kiddies, says a writer in Harper's Weekly, I drove out over the prairie for seven or eight miles around Bottineau and visited a lot of farmhouses. In the course of the exploration I met for luminous example Evan Jones.

Now, Evan Jones is not his name, but he's a Welshman, a little, sharp-eyed Welshman with a brogue which at times is very dense. He is not yet turned 50, and before kind fate brought him to Bottineau he used to work long hours in the slate mines and later on farm lands in the old country and Canada.

On the grass patch which surrounded the tidy brick house he was walking with a big collie dog, looking at the garden, halting now and then in the shade of the big grove which formed a windbreak for the house. His coat and vest were off, for it was hot, and a big straw hat kept the sun off him. There wasn't another soul in sight.

"Are you busy?"

"Me? No, I'm not busy. Nobody's busy. It's all over. I'm simply eatin' three meals a day and watchin' wheat go up," he answered with a grin. Wheat was a dollar four and a fraction.

"Then you have some wheat?"

The grin widened. "Some," he said, walking toward the farm buildings.

Besides the great barn, which was filled with winter fodder, there were perhaps half a dozen smaller structures. Into one of these he led the way, or rather into a wagon house adjoining, where we climbed a narrow stair and looked in upon 12,000 bushels of wheat and more, which he had finished thrashing out a week ago.

Around the back of the building the land sloped away and left a place where, between the beams that were put up for extra braces to sustain the overloaded floor, wagons could be backed in and filled from a chute whenever Evan Jones needed a little extra money. He had a small elevator of his own, run by cable from an up-to-date engine in a nearby building. In another red barn were 7,000 bushels of oats.

"It must have cost you some work, such a crop as this."

Again he grinned.

"I don't work," he said. "The two boys do the work."

"All of it?"

"All but the thrashing."

"Then what do you do?" I asked, mindful of some skilful farmers in New Jersey who, aided by patent fertilizers, toil twenty hours out of twenty-four in every growing season in order to squeeze a bare living from 200 high priced and exhausted acres.

"I go South or somewhere in the winter, and in the summer I go up to Lake Metigashe, in the Hurtle mountains, for a couple of months. I've got a cottage up there. It's the finest place you ever saw."

North Dakota people are very proud of these mountains and this lake.

"Do you keep cattle?"

"Only about seventy-five head."

"How many horses?"

"Twenty-six."

"How much land?"

"About 1,100 acres."

"Were you a farmer before you came here?"

"I was a miner, but I've worked on the farm at home."

"It was harder work than this?"

"Good God!" he ejaculated, and burst into a laugh. "It never'd do to farm here the way we did over there. If we did, we'd get rich too fast. We never could spend the money."

"That man," said my conductor, as we rode away, "came here less than ten years ago with absolutely nothing. He lived in a sod house, borrowed money to start with, paid it off in no time, and went into debt for more land, a quarter section at a time. He has been offered $40,000 for this place, and laughed at it. He doesn't owe a dollar, and the farm is paying him thousands every year and growing in value. When he gets his price he is ready to sell and quit."

PLANT GUIDES OVER TEXAS PRAIRIES.

Philadelphia Press: "There is a plant which grows on the vast Texas prairies which is as good as a compass," said Harry M. Topping of Galveston, Tex. "Down that way it is a well known fact that no matter what the weather, whether rain, sunshine, frost, blizzard or gale of wind, this hardy plant turns its leaves and flowers to the north.

"Horsemen travelling across the prairies always consult this plant, determine directions by it and follow its instructions, always certain that the plant will not mislead or deceive."

POLICE PREVENT A STABBING

Merry Row in Incline Saloon Nearly Ended Seriously.

A stabbing affray in a Superior street saloon was narrowly averted this afternoon by the interference of the police, who took into custody William and Chris Reamer.

Four Austrians were drinking over the bar of the Incline saloon, 701 West Superior street, and the Reamer brothers, it is charged, insulted one of the men by casting a reflection on his nationality.

The offended foreigner pulled a knife from his shirt and made a dash for the Reamers. A merry mix-up ensued, but no one was hurt on account of the timely interference of the police.

BELGIAN CHILDREN.

London Chronicle: This delight in the family life is characteristic of all Belgians. One sees in Brussels and Antwerp monsieur promenading in the boulevard of the bois with a cigar in his mouth, madame leaning on his arm, and the children, hand in hand, walking sedately under the proud eyes of their parents.

One finds children in the restaurants and children in the music halls. The pleasures of father and mother are shared always with the nursery. To go junketing without the children would appear to the Belgian not only selfish, but dull. His happiness is the happiness of his children. He sees the circus half with his own eyes and half with theirs. The toy shops and book shops in Brussels tell the parabook shops in Brussels tell the parabook shops in Brussels tell the parabook

WHEAT AND FLAX REACH NEW HIGH MARKS HERE

Prices for Both the Grains Soar During the Session.

Bullish Sentiment Prevails in This Country and Europe.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 21.—Both wheat and flax hit new high marks for the crop during the session on the local exchange today.

May wheat went to $1.30, and July wheat to $1.29¼ here, while May flax sold up to $1.76¼ and July flax to $1.75.

"The cables favored the bulls in wheat and the Argentina shipments were light. They were 1,360,000 bushels, against 1,976,000 bushels last week and 3,552,000 bushels a year ago.

"The Modern Miller says:

"Weather conditions have favored the winter wheat crop. General rains have fallen throughout the recent dry districts of the Southwest and warmer temperatures forwarded the growth in practically all sections. Improvement is noted in both early and late sown crops. Cutting is expected to start in Texas next week."

Liverpool closed ½d to ⅝d higher, Budapest 5¾c higher, Berlin 4c higher and Antwerp 1¼c higher.

May wheat closed 1⅞c higher in Duluth, 1¼c higher in Chicago, 1¾c higher in Minneapolis, 2c higher in New York, ¾c higher in St. Louis, 1c higher in Kansas City and 2c higher in Winnipeg. The July option closed 1⅝c higher in Duluth, 1¼c higher in Chicago, 1⅜@1½c higher in Minneapolis, 1½c higher in New York, 1⅜@1½c higher in St. Louis, 1½@1⅝c higher in Kansas City and 1⅞c higher in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ½c higher in Chicago and oats ⅜@⅞c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Firmness characterized the early dealings in wheat, at which time offerings were light and values ¼d higher. Following the opening the market was well supported and prices showed an additional gain of ¾d. Argentina shipments were considered bullish, with a liberal decrease in the visible, and there were small arrivals reported from the interior. Early advices from Berlin reported the market there very firm, spot markets firm and from ½d to 1d higher, and there was a good demand for cargoes which caused shorts to cover. Our own cable from Odessa reported weather in the Southwest unchanged, rain still badly needed. Toward midday December eased ¼d and the nearby months responded in sympathy. Pressure was the result of a private cable reporting rains in the Caucasus district. At this time the market was still steady and ¼d higher to ½d lower than yesterday.

"Corn was steady and unchanged at the start. Later, July advanced ⅝d on the dearer La Plata offerings and a fair inquiry for parcels."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 5 against 42 last year, and at Minneapolis 179 against 123 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 184 against 165 last year. Chicago received 4 against 27 last year. Winnipeg received 42 against 101 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 228,000 bu, last year 359,000 bu. Shipments 177,000 bu, last year 487,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 72,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 362,000 bu, last year 502,000 bu. Shipments 231,000 bu, last year 471,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 1,000 bu.

Wheat was fairly active in the Duluth market. May wheat sold at $1.28½, went to $1.30 and closed there, a gain of 1⅞c over yesterday. July wheat opened ¼c higher at $1.28, declined to $1.27⅝@1.27¾, rallied to $1.29¼ and closed at $1.29⅝, a gain of 1⅝c over yesterday. September wheat opened ⅜c higher at $1.09⅞, went to $1.11⅜ and closed at $1.11¼, a gain of 1⅛ over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ⅜c higher.

May flax advanced from $1.73¾ to $1.76¼ and closed there, a gain of 2½c over yesterday. July flax advanced from $1.72½ to $1.73 and closed there a gain of 2½c over yesterday. September flax advanced from $1.51 to $1.52 and closed there, a gain of 1½c over yesterday. October advanced from $1.45½ to $1.47 and closed at $1.46½, a gain of 1½c over yesterday.

Course grains were unchanged.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat for May Delivery Touches New High Record Mark.

Chicago, May 21.—Wheat for May delivery touched today a new high record mark for the season, selling at $1.30½ per bushel during the early trading. The bulge was due to covering by shorts, and was followed by a reaction to $1.29⅝. The market in general was rather nervous early in the session, with sentiment inclined to be bearish, after a moderate advance at the start. Argentine shipments were a little larger than expected, and weather conditions in this country were generally favorable for the new crop. July opened a shade lower, to 1⅛@⅛c higher, at $1.15½ to $1.15⅞, sold up to $1.16, and then declined to $1.15⅛@1.15¾.

The market turned strong again on general demand, and continued strong the remainder of the day. May advanced still higher to $1.31¾, while July rallied to $1.16⅞. The close was strong, with May and July each up 1¾c at $1.31¾ and $1.14¾ respectively.

A moderate increase in receipts had a depressing effect on the corn market, following a moderately firm tone at the start. The market was also bearishly affected by ideal weather conditions for the newly planted crop. July opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher, at 68⅛@68⅜c, to 68¾c, and sold off to 62⅜@68½c.

The strength of wheat caused notwithstanding the advance of 2c in the cash grain. July advanced to 69¼c. The market closed firm, with July ½c higher, at 69¼@69⅜c.

Oats were strong on active buying by shorts. July opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 52⅛ to 52⅜c and sold at 52½@52⅝c.

Provisions were firm, owing to 5c advance in live hogs. Trade was light early in the day. Prices at the start were unchanged to 10c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Strong Closing Cables Make Prices Advance to New High Points.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 21.—News at the opening was bearish except for a few unfavorable foreign weather and crop reports. Light offerings made the market strong. The strong closing cables made this market advance to new high points. Local stocks decreased 775,000 bu for the week, against a decrease of 769,886 bu last week. Minneapolis today received 179 cars against 123; Duluth, 5 against 4; Winnipeg, 42 against 101. September opened high, $1.09⅝; low, $1.09; close, $1.10⅝. July opened at $1.27⅜; high, $1.29¾; low, $1.27½; close, $1.29¼@1.29⅝. Cash wheat was in fair to good demand. The country millers were in the market early and caused a little competition in buying. When they withdrew, leaving only local millers, the market was easier. No. 1 northern sold for 3½@1½ cents over the July option and No. 2 northern for 2c over. No. 1 northern $1.33 spot and to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.31 spot and to arrive; No. 3 wheat, $1.29¾@1.30. No. 3 yellow corn, 73¾@74¼c; No. 3 white oats, 56⅞@57⅝c; No. 2 rye, 83¾@85¾c.

Flax—Receipts, 4 cars today against 22; shipments, none. Light offerings made the market inactive. Prices were about the same as the Duluth July option. Closing prices, $1.75¾.

Barley—Receipts, 6 cars today against 13; shipments, 6. Demand was strong and prices advanced 1¾@1½c higher than yesterday. All offerings were sold early in the session. Inquiry was especially strong for feeding grades. Closing range 68@70c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,651 tons. Demand continued strong and far in excess of the supply. Brokers were a little bearish, but the millers said there was nothing in the situation to warrant any change. Shipments increased and prices held steady. Bran in bulk, $24.00@24.50.

Flour prices reached the year's high point today, on account of the strong wheat market. Demand was fair, orders being for small orders, on account of the higher quotations. Shipments increased over year. Shipments, 58,584 barrels; first patents, $6.20@6.40; second patents, $6.10@6.30; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.35@3.55.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Market Opened Slightly Higher But Yielded Near Close.

Persistent Absorbing of United States Steel Was Feature.

New York, May 21.—There was a moderate opening demand for stocks, and its effect in increasing prices was limited generally to small fractions. The feature of the market was the opening sale of 7,000 shares of United States Steel at prices varying from 59¾@59½, compared with 58⅞ last night. National Railways of Mexico first preferred rose 1 and New York Central ¾. Denver & Rio Grande declined ¾.

A long interval of dullness, in which prices were without essential change, was succeeded by a demonstration of strength, in which all of the well known stocks participated. Buying of the Harrimans, Reading and the United States Steel stocks encouraged purchases all through the list. Advance halted before the end of the hour, when small reactions were followed by renewed dullness. Delaware & Hudson, Consolidated Gas, Western Union and Pacific Coast gained 1½. St. Louis Southwestern and United States Steel 1¼, and Reading, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Rock Island, Amalgamated Copper, Colorado Fuel and the Republic Steel stocks 1.

United States Steel touched 60¼ and the persistent absorption of that stock was an influence in the quiet strength of the whole list. Northern Pacific rose 1¾. General Electric 2. Great Northern preferred, Norfolk & Western, Wabash preferred, Anaconda, American Woolen, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Westinghouse Electric 1. General Chemical preferred declined 1. Bonds were firm.

The market closed about steady and very dull. St. Louis Southwestern preferred and Southern Pacific preferred rose 1 point. After slightly hardening the general list yielded again. Atlantic Coast Line and American Beet Sugar preferred fell 1¼ below last night, and United States Realty and American Car and Malting 1. The decline was checked and prices wavered uncertainly.

CHANGE IN ENGLISH SOCIETY.

Guests Invited by Telephone—Others Not Invited at All.

In Lady Randolph Churchill's diverting reminiscences it is easy to see that society was more complex and great ladies more exacting thirty-odd years ago than they are nowadays, writes Ella Hepworth Dixon in the Lady's Pictorial. In one matter alone, that of informal invitations, there has come about what amounts to a social revolution.

Lady Randolph describes the present day telephone invitation as usually running in this fashion: "Will Mrs. S. dine with Lady T. and bring a man? And if can't find one she mustn't come, as it would make thirteen."

But perhaps the strangest part of the affair is that in a certain stratum of society—and very good society—the women often take their own men friends to dinners without the formality of a previous introduction to their host or hostess. Lady T or Miss X takes out her temporary admirer to dinner and bridge as a matter of course, and no one is the least astonished, except sometimes the young man himself.

The admirer, to be sure, is not usually kept long in high favor, for there is no "tiresome fidelity" about the modern hustling maid and matron. They change their friends and exchange their adorers as often as they order a new hat or take up a modish fad. What the French amusingly call la femme collante is hopelessly out of fashion. The modern wise young woman does not allow young Lothario to love and ride away, but jumps into her motor car at the psychological moment and is off herself before he has time to explain his perfidy.

On the serious side of social life it is certain that English women of birth and breeding have more political influence than have the women of any other country. Lady Randolph Churchill repeatedly points this out, and her experience is of many lands, including the United States, where ladies meticulously draw aside their robes from the defilement of current politics.

In France, as she shows, clever and astute as are the women of all classes, they have little or no influence on the government, nor can they organize among themselves such enterprises as the Women's Liberal association or the Primrose league. When the Comtesse de Paris, emulated by the dazzling success of the latter, desired to found a Ligue Rose in France she applied to Lady Randolph Churchill for the details of the scheme and sedulously set to work. The Ligue Rose was destined to failure, whether on account of the waning popularity of the Orleans dynasty or from lack of zeal on the part of aristocratic French women is not quite clear.

The reason of the enormous influence of the women of the English upper classes is that, as Mr. Chesterton has recently pointed out, "everything in England is done unofficially, casually, by conversations and cliques.

"The debates of the commons are sometimes important," he declares, "but only the debates in the lobby, never the debates in the house. Up to the coming of the present democratic government it was the secret of Pandilnello that England was ruled from the dining-rooms of four or five great country houses.
